MCA to Sell Paperbacks At Book Fair April 24-26

A "Paperbound Book Fair" similar to the one held on campus last year will be sponsored by the MCA, April 24-26. The fair will be located on the first floor of the library.

In order to give students an opportunity to browse through the selections at their leisure, the fair will be open throughout library hours.

The Book Fair is an attempt to make students aware of significant books and to encourage them to start a personal library.

"Over the span of his schooling, the average college graduate invests perhaps 8,000 individual study hours with books, few of which he ever owns! More often than not he is discouraged from owning them," stated William Emerson Hinchliff, chief librarian at Santa Barbara, Calif., Public Library.

Paperbound books offer great assorted works at a price suitable for the average student. Improved quality of content, paper, and binding make these books more valuable.

"Because of such improvements, over three hundred million of these powerful little packages of knowledge and entertainment were sold in 1960, almost 45 per cent of all books produced in this country," stated Mr. Hinchliff.

Over 500 different titles will be displayed with the selection including popular novels, classics, and books pertaining to specialized fields.

Books will be sold at regular prices ranging from twenty-five cents to two dollars.

Students will be working throughout the day at the fair. Anyone wanting to work may contact Carolyn Trapp or Miriam Oliver.

Smith to Teach In West Africa

Donald Smith, senior at Mac, has been accepted for the Teachers-for-West Africa Program.

The program was inaugurated in 1962 by a grant from the Hershey Chocolate Corporation. It seeks to help schools in Ghana and Nigeria to obtain the services of American teachers, primarily at the secondary level, and—at the same time—to assist qualified American teachers wishing to serve in Africa to find suitable jobs.

Smith will be stationed in either Ghana or Nigeria. His wife, Anita, and son, Sammy, will accompany him. Mrs. Smith has been the school nurse the past four years.

In August, they will participate in a two-week training period and will leave immediately following.

Smith will be teaching in the Industrial Arts area in what is called a teacher-training school.

Brown, Holmes Compile 6-2 Record at Convention

Mike Brown and Larry Holmes, competing against teams from Ohio to the Pacific, compiled a 6-2 record at the Pi Kappa Delta National Convention held March 19-23 at the University of Southern Illinois, Carbondale.

Pi Kappa Delta is the oldest and largest debate fraternity in the nation with a total membership exceeding 35,000.

Over one hundred colleges and universities from nearly every state in the union were present at the five-day convention. The national convention is held every other year and is festival oriented rather than being strictly a championship debate tournament.

Brown and Holmes whipped Kent State University of Ohio, Ottawa University of Kansas, Wisconsin State at River Falls, Pacific Lutheran University of Washington, Ferris Institute of Michigan, and Northern Illinois University.

They dropped decisions to Eastern Illinois University and Westminster of Missouri.

The Illinois Convention boosted Brown and Holmes' season's record to 26-14—a winning average of 65 per cent.

Except for a novice tournament in Oklahoma in May, the Pi Kappa Delta Convention marked the end of Macollege's 62-63 tournament schedule.

Mac debaters are now engaged in an intrasquad tournament on a double elimination basis. The final debate of that tournament will be held near the end of April.

STEVE MOHLER SITS BEHIND—the desk he will occupy next fall as President of the Macollege Student Body. Bill Grove, (right), was elected Treasurer of the Student Body in Friday's balloting.

Mohler Will Occupy Top Council Position

In a run-off election Tuesday, Steve Mohler of Warrensburg, Mo., defeated John Harrison of Beloit, 210-171, to become the Student Body President of McPherson College for the 63-64 school year.

Three hundred eight-one votes were cast in the election which became necessary when neither candidate was able to poll over fifty per cent of the vote in last Friday's three-man race. Over seventy-one per cent of the student body voted in the Tuesday election.

Results of the Friday election were announced at 10 p.m. in the Student Union.

Bill Grove, sophomore from Redfield, Iowa, was elected treasurer of the Student Body for the next school year. Grove defeated Sandra Hoover of Plattsburg, Mo. Bill succeeds Roger Emmert, also of Redfield.

Over 78 per cent of the student body voted in Friday's election. The sophomores and freshmen had the best record with 82.3 per cent of each class voting.

Under a recent constitutional amendment, eight Student Council members were elected at large.

Those elected are Sharon Allen, David Anders, Merlin Dresher, Ronald Grout, Junior Hendricks, Allan Miller, Kenneth Ullom and Chris van de Velde.

Also elected were two representatives from each class. Charles Horner and Dick Welch will represent next year's sophomore class. The juniors of next year have elected Don Merryman and Leah Standafer. Next year's seniors named Lois Fruth and Daryl Standafer.

The freshman class will elect its representatives when it assembles on the campus next fall.

Twelve students were elected to positions on the Student Court in Friday's balloting.

This year's freshmen picked Karen Andes, Junior Hendricks and Dale Marrs. The sophomore class named four representatives—Carol Christy, John Miller, Phil Miller and Kenneth Ullom. Junior Court members will be Sharon Allen, Connie Andes, Merlin Dresher, John Harrison and Steve Mohler.

The 63-64 cheerleaders will be Judy Atwater, Mary Ann Bryant, Glenna Fields, Claudia Kimmel and Genelle Mohler.

Workers Complete Two Walls Of New Men's Residence Hall

Both the north and south walls of the new Macollege men's dormitory have been completed. Construction on the dorm which will house 158 men, is proceeding rapidly.

There will be 79 men's rooms, each 15' 10" deep by 11' 8" wide, in the new dorm. The rooms form the perimeter of the building and encircle what is called a "core."

This core consists of a laundry room on the first floor, a study room on each of the next two floors; the shower and lavatory area, a storage room, and an electric drinking fountain, and a telephone recess for each floor.

The study rooms will be furnished with conference tables and chairs, and with typing tables. To the north of the core on each floor is a lounge which will be furnished with lounge furniture and checker-chess tables. Each lounge will have a television outlet.

Each room will be furnished with a three-section wardrobe, two built-in desks which have shallow top drawers and deep filing drawers, and two built-in beds, each of which will have two storage drawers underneath it.

Each desk forms the headboard for a bed, has three adjustable-height shelves above it, and has a surface area larger than the desks in the Dotzour rooms.

In the housemother's wing is the guest room which has an adjoining bath. The guest room will be furnished with twin beds, a writing desk and chair, and a wardrobe.

The housemother's apartment will include a combination living-dining room, a kitchenette, and a bedroom with an adjoining bath.

Also in this wing is a powder room and lavatory for the men's dates, and a central reception desk.

This desk is connected to each room by a buzzer system much like the one used in Dotzour. The mailboxes are also in this area.

If the weather remains favorable, construction will be completed ahead of schedule.

Academy Slates Science Meeting Here April 20

Kansas Academy of Science has received from the National Science Foundation a grant for the purpose of financing this year two state-wide conferences on the improvement of science teaching in Kansas.

The second conference of this year will be held at McPherson College on April 20. The theme of these conferences is the responsibility of the college in pre-service and in-service preparation for teaching science in the elementary grades.

May 2-4, the Kansas Academy of Science will hold its ninety-fifth annual meeting. The meeting will be held at the University of Kansas, Lawrence.

Room Reservation Fee Due at Business Office

April 19 is the deadline for paying the ten dollar room reservation fee which will give students preference over new students in the selection of rooms for next fall.

The fee can be paid in the Business Office.

Two Groups to Tour Area As Mac Representatives

Two deputation trips to churches of the Western Region have been slated for the week of April 21-28.

The Trombone Quartet, consisting of Larry Kitzel, Warren Harden, Merlin Grady, and Merlin Dresher, will represent the college in the churches of Ivestor, Greene and Fredericksburg in Iowa; Root River, Lewiston, Barnum and Minneapolis in Minnesota; Beatrice and Bethel in Nebraska.

The Quartet will be accompanied by Guy Hayes, director of admissions.

A second group will carry out the theme of the current church year—"To Heal the Broken," at churches in the northern part of the Region.

Members of the speaking group include Lois Berry, worship leader; Gloria Hull and Ellen Sell, music; and Carol Christy and Elaine Flory, speakers.

This group will contact churches at Minolet-Surrey, York, and Cando, N. D.; Grandview, Mont.; Sheldon, Curlew, and Kingsley, Iowa; Worthington, Minn.; and Lincoln, Neb.

Harvey Lehman, director of development and public relations will accompany the speaking deputation.

Houston Group Appears in Final Cultural Program

The Woodwinds of Houston will appear in McPherson College's Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m. on Friday, April 26, as the final program in the McPherson College-Community Cultural Series.

Members of the ensemble are Byron Hester, flute; Raymond Weaver, oboe; Jeffrey Lerner, clarinet; Paul Tuoci, bassoon; and Thomas Newell, horn.

This quintet is made up of experienced performers, teachers and scholars of music who have been soloists with the Houston Symphony Orchestra and other music groups of the Southwest.

With the exception of Mr. Newell, all are on the faculty of the School of Music of the University of Houston.

TWO GNARLED CONIFERS—add a touch of the old to the new men's residence hall being constructed east of Farnestock Hall. The dormitory is scheduled for completion before the fall semester and will house 158 men.

Washington's Woes Center On Paradoxical Government

In a few days, cherry blossoms will again burst forth and line the banks of the Tidal Basin in Washington, D. C. The annual Cherry Blossom Festival will be underway, and the nation's capital will welcome tourists from across the United States.

But optimism over another record-breaking tourist season has declined in recent weeks. Hotel reservations are off by 30 per cent, and several school tours have been canceled due to the wave of crime that is surging across the city.

Washington's problems plague many American cities, yet this city is in a unique situation. For Democracy's Hometown is, paradoxically, a city without its own government.

The District, unlike any other city in the country, has no elected government. It is dependent on the U. S. Congress for its laws, its police force, and its judges.

The Congress has established committees to govern this city and these committees are, in turn, dominated by senior Democrats from the one-party South who make political capital out of Race questions.

They win votes at home by telling how bad things are in integrated Washington where over half of the population is Negro. And, they keep things bad by their control of the policies and purse-strings.

Juvenile crime increased by 17 per cent in 1962, yet the District subcommittee of the House led by McMillian of South Carolina, cut appropriations to the Commissioner's Youth Council which is working on the juvenile delinquency problem.

For many years, the juvenile court had only one judge. Last year, after five years of delay, Congress added two additional ones.

McMillian and his colleagues have also succeeded in hamstringing other agencies in a concentrated drive to prove the detrimental effects of desegregation. Washington could be a city for the world to admire, but changes will have to be made. Schools, now overcrowded and inadequate, have to be increased and modernized. More and better recreational facilities should be provided. Hospitals and housing developments need to be constructed.

All this takes money and good government—both of which Washington is without. WMB

Many Christians Observe Reality Of Resurrection

On April 14, many Christians in different parts of the world will observe the resurrection of Jesus Christ. This event is one of the most sacred as well as the most astonishing acts recorded in the life of Christ.

To many of us who are living in a modern scientific age, the reality of the resurrection is hard to accept as true. We say to ourselves that such a thing is contrary to all the laws of science and that it is humanly impossible.

Following his resurrection, Jesus appeared to many Christians who were without faith and hope. The disciple Thomas was an example of a man without hope because of the death of his Lord.

Thus, Thomas was in a state of doubt and discouragement. When Christ appeared to him, Thomas was not able to accept the reality of the risen Christ. Not until he placed his hand into the wounded side of the Master was he able to accept the reality of the resurrection and the risen Christ.

In many respects the disciple Thomas could very adequately represent the common Christian of today.

In certain areas of life, doubting can lead one astray or it can be a wholesome origin for intellectual growth.

The Christian of today must be aware of the fact that the resurrection of Christ is a vital part of the Christian faith. Without believing in the resurrection of the body, there can be no hope in the Christian heart for life eternal.

With His death and resurrection, Christ reconciled the world unto Himself. May this Easter be a blessed occasion for everyone, but let us ask ourselves whether we are a "doubting" Thomas or a believer in the resurrection of Christ.

Seven Sign Contracts

Seven seniors have signed contracts to teach for the next school term. Two students Judy Miller and Sandy Walby, have signed contracts with the Omaha, Neb., school system.

Marcene Gridley will be teaching in Lorraine, Elois Nelson in Newton, and Linda Sebes will be teaching in Kinsley.

Leon Brewer has signed with the Olathe system, and Art Hoch will be teaching in Buhler.

because of this, he is able to communicate with us on the level of McPherson College.

His grasp of facts and figures is phenomenal, as is his ability to use them to establish his side of an argument. Yet he is able to entertain as well as inform. Perhaps the true secret of his approach lies in his deep feeling for people.

This empathy is a quality which allows him to have deep admiration for the people of China, yet deplore the evils of their government. And it is this which allows him to make fun of his own foibles, and touch on some of our own "great institutions" as well.

If he is typical of the British, let's hope that there will always be an England, and that occasionally a bit of it will touch our lives.

Reader Lauds Chapel Program

To the Chapel Committee:

Mr. Jackson is certainly the type of lecturer we need on our campus. He is, as it were, the living "window," through which current global affairs could be pursued with intelligent understanding.

I appeal to you, therefore, to engage more programs of the similar nature; only a living personality can stimulate the inertness, and only an eye-witness can be an open-eye.

Parable of Two Elegant Houses

Dear Mr. Editor:

Listen, my children, to a parable!

Once upon a time not too long ago nor too far away, two mothers and their two sons lived in the small village of Kampfburg. Richard and his mother lived in a very fine house on Aufwachstrasse; Jimmy and his mother also lived in a very elegant house on the same street.

Richard's mother was quite proud of her beautiful home and rightfully so, for it was exceedingly fine. She thought that Richard should enjoy growing up in it and that he should learn to respect it for all its beauty.

Consequently, she warned him again and again about being careful in it; he could not mark on the walls nor track across the finely waxed floor in his muddy sneakers; neither could he leave his toys scattered promiscuously about. On some occasions Richard even found the door locked when he returned from school.

But Richard, in his unsophisticated immaturity, did not understand. As a result of this lack of understanding, he became a selfish, self-centered, spoiled brat.

When left alone in the beautiful home he spat upon and kicked against the walls; he purposely scuffed the floor with his soiled and muddy shoes; he threw tantrums and kicked the furniture. Richard and his mother were both most unhappy.

The scene in Jimmy's home, however, was different. Although Jimmy's mother loved her beautiful home, she also realized that it was the only home he had; here he would acquire his attitudes toward life; here he would mature and become a man.

Consequently, Jimmy was not scolded severely when he tracked the floor or smudged the wall; occasionally his toys were scattered about.

Peculiarly, this attitude on the part of the mother seemed to create wholesome attitudes within Jimmy. He also learned to take pride in his beautiful home.

He learned to be thoughtful, considerate, and mature. Needless to say, Jimmy and his mother were happy.

Evidently, Jimmy and his mother had learned two important lessons. The first was that a golden mean lies between the two extremes.

Surely in between a wild, unthinking, irascible, irresponsible imbecile, immature anarchy and an immovable, unyielding, unthinking, unloving, selfish, self-centered totalitarianism lies the golden mean of democratic social existence. Aristotle envisioned it before most of the present inhabitants of this world were born.

The second lesson that Jimmy and his mother learned was that happiness or joy or fun—any one of these is an attitude, a condition of the human mind.

St Francis learned this when he gave up all the things and pleasures of the world and sought to live a secluded life; St. Paul learned it and wrote about a third of the New Testament while he was in prison; Martin Luther learned it while he was in hiding and translated the Holy Bible into the German language setting the standards for German usage for centuries that would follow.

Republican Trio Protests Editor's Political Views

Dear Editor,

We are glad to see that your two years in the great Sunflower State have not been in vain since you recognize the "rugged individualists" of our state. We feel that our state rather than warping political prospectives, enlightens them.

A more pertinent question to ask Dr. Smith would have been: "What do you think of the gallop toward socialism?" rather than "What do you think of the drift toward socialism?"

While the definition of socialism could be debated until time immemorial, certainly Medicare, increased farm controls, and federal aid to education are not in the best interests of the free enterprise system on which America was founded and grew.

Republicans would like a chance to solve the problems of unemployment and agriculture. However, they would not dictate compulsory laws to the people in a vain attempt to solve the problems by an increased "power grab" of government.

We are glad to see that you come from such an enlightened state where the people elected a Democrat governor who campaigned for liquor-by-the-drink. We seriously question which is the lesser of the two evils, a Democrat or liquor-by-the-drink.

At last the Republicans have not reverted to campaigning for liquor-by-the-drink in order to get elected, but stand on the grounds of good government.

Now, about that hiding behind the traditions, nostalgia and accomplishments of the past. Please think, WMB, just why do we study history? Is it not so that great philosopher, Dr. Flurac, hath once said, "Ye old history hath taught all men great lessons."

Anyhow, we are glad that you have attained favor in the eyes of one of your future professors. We are really sorry that Mr. Smith was not elected, for now he is corrupting the minds of political orphans.

Editor's Reply

Gentlemen:

While the issues that divide our two political parties are always open to debate, I feel compelled to reply to your last paragraph. In the first place, I'll assure you that I have not, nor do I intend to send a copy of that Spectator to Dr. Smith. And secondly, since I am not majoring in history, there is no assurance that I'll ever even have a class under the man.

Retarded Child Will Be Studied Here June 3-7

Teaching the Retarded Child is an upper level course to be offered at MacCollege June 3-7 for one credit hour. It is designed for regular elementary classroom teachers.

This is MacCollege's first venture into the study of this education problem. Plans are being made for more such workshops in the area.

Miss Lena Knoche, a visiting professor who had taught retarded children for fourteen years in the Hutchinson school system, will lead this workshop.

She also taught four years at Fort Hays State College.

Jackson Offers Observations Of World from Wide Perspective

By Ed Mohler

Our world is what man's actions have made it. It has been studied for centuries, and it is continually being studied. Colin Jackson is one of the few people who have had the opportunity to see the action of change and revolution first-hand, and he has been able to present it to us in an entertaining way.

By studying the past, as it is revealed in history, he has become well enough informed to understand a little of the process of society changing in our modern time. He sees history related to the present, and presents an image of man's struggle for self-respect and orderly life emerging from the chaos of daily life in South Viet Nam.

While received by most of the students as a news analyst, perhaps many of us overlooked a more important aspect of Mr. Jackson, that of the expert politician. His presentation was designed to give a favorable picture of his views to the more "conservative" audience of our student body.

As an expert in the use of language, he carefully selected words which would present his stand as favorably as possible.

Another striking part of his personality was his interest in what was happening locally. His conversation touched on topics ranging from school policy to campus politics to Dotzour Hall, as he rambled through informal periods, sharing opinions, and gathering material on contemporary U.S. opinions.

This canny Scot is undeniably far more aware of what we think than we should like to admit, and

From The Locker Room

By Larry Morlan

In commenting on Art Hoch's letter, which was printed last week, concerning the work patrol at a college, I would say that I agree with Art 100 per cent on the good of the patrol.

I would also say that I was pleased to see that the men on the patrol had such a grateful attitude toward the whole deal.

KHEA to Focus On Professions

Professional opportunities in home economics will be the main focus of the state meeting of the Kansas Home Economics Association and Kansas college chapters at Hays, April 19-20.

A banquet for the college chapters will be held Friday evening. Guest speaker will be Dr. Maurice Albertson, director of the Colorado State University Research Foundation, who will speak on the Peace Corps.

A program of "Fashion Frolics Through the Ages" will be held with each college having a model representative. Anita Ledell, freshman at Macollege, will model a 1923 dress.

Metzler Hosts Students

History of Philosophy class members attended a discussion held at the home of their instructor, Dr. Burton Metzler March 25.

After watching the track meet at McPherson last Friday, I have a lot more respect for the men who put out the time and effort to compete.

Watching the men run, especially the long distances, I realized just how hard the track grind is on them. More college students should show up for the meets, especially the home meets, just to see how hard these men put out.

Two new rule changes will go into effect the next basketball season, it was announced a few days ago. These changes are:

The clock will stop after every whistle, not just for fouls and time outs. It is expected that this rule change will add about 12-15 minutes to games.

The second change states that time outs for equipment changes, such as tying a shoe, will be charged as an official time out to the player's team instead of being an official time out as before.
