Original Works Main Emphasis Of Initial Fine Arts Festival

The Fine Arts Festival will feature the original works of students, faculty, and alumni of Maccollege this weekend.

Harvey Hess, III, a 1961 graduate of McPherson College, opened the first McPherson College Fine Arts Festival this morning in Assembly with his talk on "Religion and the Arts."

Sessions will begin this afternoon in Brown Auditorium with a recital of original music composed by alumni. A poetry reading will follow the recital in Friendship Hall.

Two poetry readings will start this evening's activities.

A play, "A Serious Vaudeville in Four (4) Acts," will be presented by Michael C. Begole at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Members of Mike's cast are Queen, Sharon Keith; Cat, Dell Ann Larsen; Jackal, Peter Ford; Woodchuck, Dennis Emmert; Eagle, Vance Alexander; Master Bowman, James Weaver; and Prince, Jerald Wray.

Mrs. Darlene Blickenstaff, instructor in art, will hold a symposium on art Saturday, May 11, at 10:30 a.m. in Friendship hall.

The symposium will be open to all for discussion. Mrs. Blickenstaff and student contributors will discuss their own works.

Edwin Mohler will produce his play, "Cafe Society," Saturday afternoon. The play will be presented in Friendship Hall.

Members of his cast are Harry, John Harrison; Lucy, Kay Shever; Slim, Dave Ankenman; George, Bob Slater; Jay, Ted Brumbaugh; and Bill, Jim Weaver.

A music recital, poetry reading, and play will fill out Saturday afternoon's Festival activities.

The play, "Men of Values," will be directed by Peter Ford, the author. His cast will include Black Tom, John Harrison; London Harry, Ed Mohler; Poppet Sam, Vance Alexander; Jonathon, Duane Strickler; Dick, Jim Weaver; Rum Bottle Jack, Lee M. Harris; Edward Martin, Bill Grove; the ship's surgeon, Mike Begole; and the Bo'sun, Lowell Snyder.

The Spring Formal, which will be held in the Student Union, will feature during its program, numbers arranged by Nelson Stump.

Nelson Stump's senior voice recital will be the last session of the Fine Arts Festival of 1963. He will sing a number composed by Dwight Oltman, entitled "Night."

The purpose of the Fine Arts Festival is to give Maccollege friends and students a chance to view and hear the creativity that goes on while, or after, one is here at Maccollege.

Also, the Festival was planned so that amateur authors and painters could see, hear, and discuss their works. For this reason, there will be discussion sessions after the poetry readings, plays and art symposium.

"Pleasure Garden" to Welcome Dancers Tomorrow Night in SU

An evening in the "Pleasure Garden" awaits Maccollege students at the Spring Formal to be held tomorrow night in the Student Union. The College Stage Band will provide music for the dance which will begin at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Raymond Flory and Weyland Beeghly are masters of ceremonies for the short program which is slated for 9:15. Entertainment will feature the Lords and Ladies, choral group, and a surprise package by Ken Smucker and Vance Alexander.

The formal is sponsored by the Student Social Committee. No admission will be charged and refreshments will be provided.

Committee chairmen for the annual event are Beverly Judge, decorations and theme; Larry Kitzel, publicity; Karen Scott, refreshments; and Barry Haldeman, clean-up.

As part of the Fine Arts Festival, the Stage Band will play an original melody by Larry Blair, sophomore from McPherson. A bossa nova arrangement of Desa Finado by Jobim-Mendonca and arranged by Blair for a six-piece combo will also be featured.

The College Stage Band is made up of seventeen people.

Playing the saxophones are Dennis Dusek, Clarice Brown, Sandy Hoover, David Royer, and Glen Weber. The lower brass section consists of Larry Kitzel, Warren Harden, Merlin Grady, and Merlin Dresher, all playing trombones.

The five trumpets are Larry Blair, Dale Marrs, Ron Achilles, Jim Burnett, and John Allen.

Jim Neher is on the string bass, Terry Tietjens is at the piano, and Rollyn Wall is on the drums.

The band is directed by Irvin Wagner.

Stump to Appear Sunday In Senior Voice Recital

Nelson Stump, Maccollege senior from McPherson, will present his voice recital Sunday, May 12, at 3 p.m., in Brown Auditorium.

He will sing numbers by Bach, Handel, Purcell, Debussy, Vaughn Williams, and others. Jolene Johnston, sophomore from El Dorado, will accompany him.

Other students who will assist him are Judy Miller, senior from Adel, Iowa; Dorothy Brown, senior from Hutchinson; Sandra Hoover, sophomore from Plattsburg, Mo.; Colleen Neher, sophomore from Quinter; Dennis Dusek, freshman from Ravenna, Neb.; and members of Lords and Ladies.

Paul Sollenberger, assistant professor of music theory and stringed instruments, and Mrs. Darlene Blickenstaff, instructor in art, will also assist Nelson.

Nelson will sing a number written by Dwight Oltman, '58, entitled "Night." This number was submitted for the Fine Arts Festival.

Nelson will graduate next January, and plans to enter graduate school or teaching. He is a secondary music education major.

While at Mac, he has been a member of the A Cappella Choir, Mixed Quartet, Male Quartet, Band, and Orchestra.

Nelson studied under Donald Frederick, professor of voice and director of choral organizations, here at Maccollege.

He studied under Joseph Wilkins, professor of voice, and Meribah Moore, associate professor of voice, at University of Kansas at Lawrence, where he attended college last year.

College Classes to Dismiss For All School's Celebration

Maccollege students will have a short vacation next Friday. Classes will be dismissed in observance of the annual All School's Day celebration, May 17.

The Chamber of Commerce, which was originally known as the Commercial Club started the celebration in 1913. In the beginning, it was called May Day.

The purpose of the observance was to honor eighth grade graduates of the county. A parade was held, and the graduates walked before the people.

Floats were entered, for which prizes were given, and many bands played. A queen reigned over the celebration and a carnival was also presented.

All School's Day has become a well-established tradition partly because it is not a commercialized event.

This year marks the fiftieth anniversary of the celebration, and the theme will be "Fifty Golden Years."

Maccollege participates in the observance each year. The concert band will be participating in the May Fete program on Thursday night.

Each year, the sophomore class prepares a float for the parade. Students working on this project are Phil Miller, Dennis Emmert, Marion Enke, Roberta Bell, Sharon Knopp, Bill Grove, Larry Bowman, Dick Blough and Carol Christy.

On All Schools Day, the College library will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Coming . . .

Friday, May 10—Skating party, 6:15 p.m.

Friday, May 10—Saturday, May 11—Fine Arts Festival.

Saturday, May 11—Spring Formal, Student Union, 8 p.m.

Sunday, May 12—Voice Recital, Brown Auditorium, 3 p.m.

Friday, May 17—All Schools Day.

Sunday, May 19 — Music recital, Church of Brethren, 2 p.m.

Rush to Teach Physics Here

Mr. R. R. Rush of McPherson, has been acquired to teach physics at Maccollege on a part-time basis for the 63-64 academic year, according to Wayne F. Geisert, dean.

Professor Rush took his B. A. degree and his M.A. degrees from the University of Texas, with a major in Physics and a minor in Mathematics.

He was head of the Physics Department at Southwest Texas State College, San Marcus, Tex., for a period of thirty years prior to his retirement there and his move to McPherson.

In 1961, Professor Rush was awarded a National Science Foundation Scholarship, and spent the summer of that year in the Nuclear Physics Institute of Oklahoma University.

In Chapel Next Week

Tuesday — Worship program by Miss Robinson's Christian Education class.

Friday — No chapel due to All Schools Day.

Professor Rush is currently teaching at Central College in McPherson on a part-time basis, and will continue his work there as well as teaching part-time at Maccollege.

Excuses Fail to Justify Denial Of Access to Paperback Books

Now that the paperback bookfair is over and the excitement of the 1963 student elections has died away, the idea of a permanent paperback book display will probably be swept under the rug as a noble thought, but entirely unfeasible under the prevailing circumstances.

The fact that McPherson College students are being denied access to thousands of educational paperbacks, and the recent evidence that these students will buy paperback books if given the opportunity, will be

Travelers Find Surprises In Educational Mexican Tour

Surprises of all kinds awaited the 24 tourists to Mexico from Kansas State April 6-14.

The Rev. and Mrs. Warren Rempel, advisers of Wesleyan Foundation of Kansas State which sponsored this educational as well as sightseeing tour of Mexico, accompanied the tourists.

Those included on the tour from MacCollege were: Robert Porter, assistant professor of German and literature, Dave Royer, Jeanette Weddle, Harry Stine, Carolyn Lehman, Ed Mohler, John Beckwith, and Carol Betzen.

Mexico City, a city of 6 1/2 million, impressed Carolyn as a modest city where a person would not think of wearing slacks or shorts on the streets. They are very easy going, happy people.

A great contrast between the rich and the poor can be seen very well in their attire and their homes.

Ed enjoyed the Mexican art. He seemed to think that the abundance of mural art work in public buildings is used as a common medium of exchange between the literate and illiterate classes. It is a strongly nationalistic country, and the murals are a part of communicating this ideal.

Robert Cuba Jones, a Quaker, was responsible for all the contacts made by the tour group. Most of the tour members discovered the understandings that are created, across culture boundaries, by communicating with a group of university students.

Harry found great interest in visiting the Mexican government agencies and taking an archeological trip to the Pyramid of the Sun. It is part of an exchange project to locate the site of the historical civilization of the Mayan Indians.

Harry's eating habits in Mexico seemed to get mixed up. He discovered that he could not be served a noon meal until 3 p.m. and the evening meal was served at 9 p.m.

Dave was impressed by the expansion of the Mexican's Social Security similar as to what U. S. calls government welfare. They are busily tearing down city slums and building new apartments that hold 83,000 people in one part. Three buildings for 90,000 people each are planned.

Professor Porter enjoyed eating in the open terrace of Cochina Economica and getting acquainted with the sights in that area. He said, "Mexico City, with all its boulevards, parks, and gardens, was prettier than I expected."

They all agreed that it was a well organized tour and an interesting and worthwhile vacation.

The group encourages other students to participate in tours of this kind.

overlooked in the light of three major obstacles.

I. "There is no room for a paperback book display." This is the favorite "whipping boy" and might be a valid objection were it not for the fact that practically every inch of space north of the counter-window at our present bookstore is occupied by textbooks—textbooks that will lay on those shelves and collect dust 15 weeks out of every semester.

It seems to me that three weeks after the beginning of a new semester, these books could be stored elsewhere and that area made available to books that will be bought and read.

Of course a door will need to be provided north of the window, and it would remain locked at the start of each semester while the texts are being sold.

II. "The selection of books would be too limited." While it would be nice to have a larger area, and hence offer a wider selection, this is no reason to deny students access to all paperbacks. If the north side and east end were pegboarded and wooden security cases used on the south side, well over 500 titles could be displayed at one time.

In addition, the paperback book wholesaler in Salina stated that the titles could be changed every three weeks if desirable.

III. "The theft rate would make such an arrangement financially unsound." This is a standard argument and could be a valid one if students would be allowed to carry briefcases and other concealing devices into an improperly supervised area. But no efficient walk-in bookstore is managed that way.

Mr. Curtis, the Salina wholesaler, stated that at his high school book fairs he has a theft loss of one per cent. The SU soft drink machines are more efficient thieves than that.

These three arguments do not justify the rejection of a walk-in bookstore. I really believe the situation boils down to the attitude that we have a secure, "convenient" arrangement now. Why rock the boat? WMB

Council Selects Members Of Three Major Committees

Three of the major student committees for next year were chosen at the April 18 meeting of the McPherson College Student Council.

Next year's Food Committee will consist of Meredith Haun, Earl Saffer, Merin Dresher, a freshman to be appointed next fall, and several faculty members.

Roger Emmert was named chairman of the Social Committee which will also include Jerry Barrows, Carol Christy, Ronald Grout and Harriet Swinger.

The Student Union Board for the 63-64 academic year will be made up of Steve Mohler, Roger Emmert, Wayne Moritz, and one other member to be chosen later in addition to the specified faculty representatives.

This year's Student Council and the one elected for next year are planning a picnic supper in Dr. Flory's backyard on May 23.

Mac to Offer Math Course This Summer

A Modern Mathematics Workshop is scheduled June 10-14 as a part of the summer session at MacCollege.

Steps are currently being taken to alter the traditional approach to teaching mathematics in order to get meaty mathematics into the elementary and secondary curricula.

The visual approach is invaluable in making sure that children sense the action in problems.

Modern mathematics is varied—number line charts, colored geometric figures, modular arithmetic, mathematic games and stories, and modern equations (n-7 equals 5).

Miss Ruth Hoffman will teach modern mathematics to be used in the elementary and junior high classroom.

She holds a B.A. and M.A. degree from the University of Colorado in mathematics and Ed.D degree in mathematics education from the University of Denver. She has taught mathematics at junior high, senior high, and college levels. She is now an elementary school principal.

Miss Hoffman served as consultant in modern mathematics at Colorado State Department of Education. She is an author of two pamphlets and a ninth grade textbook published in 1960.

Friendship Hall Features Section Of Arts Festival

By Darlene Blickenstaff
Friendship Hall is now featuring the section of the Fine Arts Festival devoted to the visual arts. It is felt to be an unusually fine selection of works created by McPherson College students and faculty.

The exhibited works, which include painting, drawing, photography, ceramics, sculpture, and woodwork, were selected on the basis of their integrity as unique expressions of the individual, and also according to the technical proficiency exhibited in each work.

Each submission, if it is a work of quality, must communicate its reason for having been created and must stand as a complete statement of the artist.

In each category, a wide variety of styles and approaches are demonstrated—indicating a very high level of creative thinking on the part of these student artists, who do not depend upon standard techniques and cliches.

We Get Letters . . .

Group Responds To Court Appeal

To the students of McPherson College:

We wish to agree with the Student Court's letter which was published in last week's Spectator. It has been evident to us and most of the student body that many of the student leaders have been acting in ways not becoming to McPherson College students.

When students who have been elected to responsible positions by the student body do such things as throw food and napkins across the cafeteria, we can do nothing but wonder who is mature.

If this were an isolated instance, it would be trivial; but it has happened often this year.

As long as a group like this one can be student leaders and also act in such an immature manner, McPherson College will not be a first-rate school.

Men Seek Right To Off-Campus Room Facilities

Dear Editor,

In the past couple of weeks, several McPherson College men have attempted to secure permission to live in off-campus housing during the forthcoming school year. These attempts have been unsuccessful.

One student went to the Dean of the College, who sent him to the Dean of Men, who sent him to the Dean of Students, who said that the matter would be referred to the Personnel Committee, one-third of which is composed of these Deans.

There are, however, reasons for refusing students the right to live off-campus; and, after giving them careful consideration, one would realize that they are quite valid.

First, students living off-campus would be much more susceptible to the vices of sin than would be on-campus students. It should not be expected of college students at a Christian college to have the moral fiber to withstand temptation.

Second, the image of the McPherson College Family must be maintained. If any students attempt to be individualistic by living outside the beautiful conformity of the dormitory, they will destroy the image.

Third, it is a well-established fact that students naturally do a much better job of studying and developing creativity when there are at least fifty living on each floor of the building where they live. When a person is alone, or with only one or two others in his living group, he can't think as well.

Fourth, and finally, McPherson College needs money; and it is well-known that students living off-campus are attending school cheaper than those on campus.

As I said, it is obvious that the reasons for keeping students on campus are valid; because, after all, we students do exist for the benefit of the college—not the college for our benefit.

Patron Declares Status of Vendor

Dear Editor,

I would like to make a declaration.

Based on cold statistical evidence obtained at 8 o'clock, Monday, the sixth day of May, I have concluded that the "ice cream vendor" in the basement of the Student Union is not really an "ice cream vendor," but actually a selfish, stupid idiot that only likes to play with money.

This conclusion was reached after much time and effort, first running my dime through nine times with no result other than a tinkle in the coin return. (Of course, proponents of the "vendor" will retort that at least the green monster returned my dime.)

With saliva dropping on the floor, I ran a nickel through six times with the same result—a tinkle. Therefore, that thing is really after all a selfish, stupid, idiotic green monster.

I hereby declare under the penalties of perjury that this declaration has been examined by me and to the best of my knowledge and belief is a true, correct, and sufficient—for the conclusions warranted—declaration.

Library Includes New Dictionary

"To furnish an adequate account of the meaning, origin and history of English words now in general use, or known to have been in use at any time during the last seven hundred years," is the stated purpose of the Oxford English Dictionary.

This thirteen volume publication was recently purchased, processed, and placed upon the shelves of the McPherson College Library.

Each entry of this dictionary is illustrated in a way that makes even the most subtle distinction clear. This makes it a dictionary which is indispensable to anyone with a serious interest in the living language with which we communicate.

From the Christian Science Monitor comes this comment: "A work unique in the annals of philology... the most complete and most scholarly dictionary of the English language."

Golfers Finish Second, Lose In Recent Meets

Mac golfers finished second in a triangular meet last Friday, but were whipped in a dual meet at Southwestern on Monday.

At the Emporia triangular meet, Mac golfers scored 12 1/2 points to beat Friends with only 4 points. C of E scored 20 1/2 points to cop the win.

Results played in threesomes:
Krupa, E, 79; Rheads, F, 91; Williams, M, 98
McGuire, E, 79; Murray, M, 91; Conover, F, 93
Saboc, E, 78; Shenek, M, 95; Roberts, F, 107
Ware, E, 90; Miller, M, 101; Donham, F, 110
Knehan, M, 97; Schmidt, E, 97; Lansbourne, F, 122

The Moundbuilders defeated the Bulldog golfers on the Winfield course 12-3 in a dual meet last Monday.

Result:
Davie, S. over Bowman, M, 99-102; Watson, S. over Williams, M, 85 - 91; Harris, S. over Scherck, M, 84-96; Wood, S. over Miller, M, 92-96; Strand, S. over Knehan, M, 97-99.

Nine from Mac Hear Historical Papers at Omaha

Dr. Raymond Flory, dean of students and professor of history and political science, and eight MacCollege students attended the annual meeting of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association held in Omaha last Thursday and Friday.

The conference brings together leading historians and writers. Papers are presented before the conference followed by criticism of them.

President of the organization was Ray Billington, author of several books on western history. In his presidential address Thursday night, he spoke on the subject, "Frederick Jackson Turner."

Those attending the conference from MacCollege were Lowell Flory, Linda Jamison, Charlotte Erritt, Allan Miller, Chris van de Velde, Gary Bailey, Donovan Koehn, Dick Sitts, and Dr. Flory.

From The Locker Room

By Larry Morlan
Due to the lack of student interest, the sports poll is discontinued. The support of the sports poll is getting to be the typical support that athletics received on the MacCollege campus.

It really is too bad that the students on the campus do not wish to even honor the top athletes at the end of a school year.

Maybe next year, which is getting to be a trite remark about events on campus, the sports poll will be able to get better support.

Thanks go to the few students who supported the poll and the other events on the campus. None of this little attack is aimed at these loyal supporters.

Kansas Wesleyan recently announced they had filled the head basketball coach vacancy created when Swede Backstrom resigned.

Kenneth Cochran, basketball coach at Bonner Springs High School the past three years was named as the new head basketball coach at KWU.

In the recent National Basketball Association draft meeting, Don Turner high scoring center from Southwestern College, was drafted in the fifth round by the San Francisco Warriors.

Bulldogs Split In Tennis Play

Bulldog netmen split in tennis action last week, winning over C of E and dropping a match to the Moundbuilders of Southwestern.

In a meet at Emporia on Friday, the McPherson College tennis team defeated C of E 7-2. The meet was highlighted by a long doubles match to end the meet.

McPherson's only two losses came in the number one and number three singles matches.

Weddle-Yoder, M. defeated Aardvark-Choke, E, 10-16, 6-6, 22-20.

Southwestern proved to be too much for the Mac netmen as they were defeated 6-3 on the Moundbuilder courts last Monday.

McPherson won two singles matches and one doubles.

Kimberly, S. defeated J. Sonafank, M, 6-2, 6-3.
Henderson, S. defeated D. Priddy, M, 6-0, 6-3.
Scarth, S. defeated Wachtman, M, 6-2, 6-3.

Germimbessidou to Return To Greece After Four Years

Litsa Germimbessidou, a MacCollege senior from Ioannina, Greece, has spent her four college years here under a Fulbright scholarship. She majored in Home Economics.

She will return to her home this summer.

On July 1 she will fly from Wichita to Kansas City and from there she will fly to New York where she plans to visit relatives before flying to Paris.

While in Paris, Litsa plans to visit other relatives and also attend the International Home Economics Convention the latter part of July.

From there she will travel by train via Italy to Greece. After four years abroad, she will again see her family.

Litsa plans to teach Home Economics in the high school from which she was graduated. She also would like part time work as a supervisor of extension agents in Home Economics.

Litsa worked in this capacity last summer in McPherson. After several years of teaching, she hopes to enter this supervisory position full time.

Allen, Poff

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Allen, Wichita, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Anne, to Jerry N. Poff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Poff, Leola, Pa.

Sharon is a junior majoring in history; and Jerry, a senior, is a chemistry major.

The couple plans to be wed Sept. 1.
