Fete, Parade Highlights Of All-Schools Events

Highlights in the entertainment for this year's All Schools-Day celebration are a parade, the May Fete, a carnival, and other activities.

A parade beginning at Main Street at 11 a.m. will include the McPherson College float constructed by the sophomore class. Phil Miller, Adel, Iowa, served as chairman of the float committee. Theme of the float is "Fifty Golden Years Will Uphold the Future."

The May Fete celebration this year will be held Thursday evening only. The McPherson College Concert Band will perform during this affair at Lakeside Park.

At 9 a.m. Friday, the McPherson High School Band will present a concert on Main Street. Following this, the drum and bugle corps from St. Johns Military Academy, Salina, will perform.

A professional family act, the Browning Family Show, provide entertainment at 3 p.m., following the eighth-grade graduation exercises at City Auditorium.

The Browning family, from Lee's Summit, Mo., consists of Mr. and Mrs. Browning, their six daughters and two small sons. Their show consists of both vocal and instrumental numbers and dance routines with the whole program interspersed with comedy.

At 7:30 p.m. the Browning family will appear again. There will be an admission charge for the evening show.

Metzler Closes Career at Mac Counting 'Many Compensations'

"There are many compensations in teaching," stated Dr. Burton Metzler, professor of philosophy and religion. "One of these is to see students grow, intellectually and spiritually, throughout their college course.

"It's also very gratifying to look back through past Quadrangles or class lists and to see the names of former students who are now pastors of churches, college presidents, teachers, missionaries, and constructive leaders in their communities," added Dr. Metzler who will be retiring from McPherson College this spring.

For the past 26 years, Dr. Metzler has been teaching at McPherson College. Among his former students are several instructors here at Maccollege and the presidents of Manchester College and Elizabethtown College.

Dr. Metzler was born in Indiana in 1894, grew up on a farm, and as a young boy decided to make farming his life vocation. However, while in college he decided to enter Bible teaching.

He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Manchester College and then taught for two years in a one-room country school. Leaving the country school, he went to Manchester Academy for one year where he taught algebra and geometry.

Working for the goal of teaching Bible, he went to Bethany Biblical Seminary and received his Bachelor of Divinity degree. During his stay at Bethany he married Alma Stump, also from Indiana.

He and his wife filled a one-year pastorate in a small Indiana Church before entering Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. J.

Dr. Metzler obtained his Bachelor of Theology from Princeton and then began work on his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

He taught for eight years at Bethany and served a four-year pastorate in Indiana before coming to McPherson College in the fall of 1937.

Dr. Metzler first taught in Sharp Hall in a combined classroom and office. Later, his classroom and office were moved to what is now the new biology lab on third floor. When Mohler Hall was built he moved his office to the first floor of the new building.

During his years at McPherson, he has preached in various churches of many denominations. Dr. Metzler has also served on different boards and committees of the Church of the Brethren on local, district and national levels.

Dr. Metzler plans to do some writing and reading after his retirement.

Board Picks Freshmen For Publications Spots

Three Maccollege freshmen have been named to publications positions by the Board of Publications of the Student Council.

Named to the position of assistant editor of the Quadrangle is Judy Hoover, Denver, Colo. Rod Peterson, Wichita, will become assistant business manager of the Quadrangle.

Mike Hildibrand, Montpelier, Ida., will fill the position of campus editor of the Spectator.

The position of assistant business manager of the Spectator remains to be filled. Anyone interested may contact Mrs. Homer Brunk or Ken Ullom.

Judy will be assistant to Marcia Yoder, junior from McPherson, who will serve as editor of the Quad. Rod will work under Daryl Standafer, junior from McPherson, who will become business manager.

On the Spectator staff, Beverly Judge, junior from Marshalltown, Iowa, will serve as editor-in-chief, with David Anders, junior from McPherson, as managing editor.

CBYF Slates

Campfire Sunday At Black Canyon

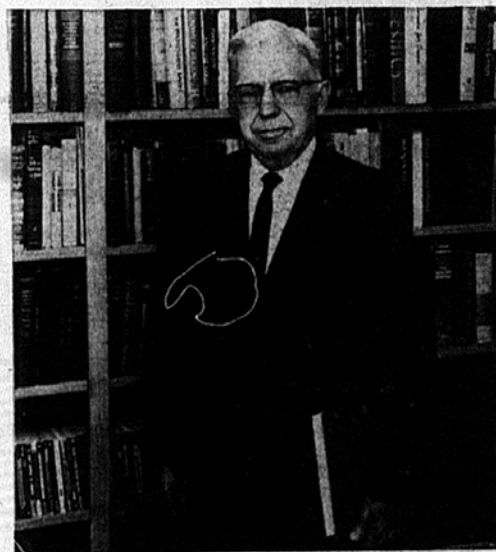

A campfire service at Black Canyon will be the program for College CBYF this Sunday evening.

Those planning to attend will meet at Dotzour at 6 p.m. and leave at 6:15. Transportation will be provided.

Dr. Burton Metzler, professor of philosophy and religion, will give a devotional talk to close the campfire.

Other activities planned are the election of the cabinet for next year, trombone entertainment by Irvin Wagner, a monologue by Duane Strickler, music by Larry King, Vance Alexander, and Dave Ankenmann, and camp singing.

In case of rain, the campfire will be held at the Boy Scout Cabin near the lagoon.

DR. BURTON METZLER—stands with a textbook in his hands at the conclusion of 26 years as professor of philosophy and religion at McPherson College.

Blickenstaff Will Assume Teaching Spot At Fort Hays

Marvin Blickenstaff, assistant professor of piano, has accepted a position on the music faculty of Kansas State College at Fort Hays for the 63-64 academic year.

Mr. and Mrs. Blickenstaff will remain in McPherson this summer where he will give private lessons in conjunction with the summer school session. Following summer school, the Blickenstaffs will move to Fort Hays where he will assume his responsibilities as assistant professor of music.

The Blickenstaffs came to McPherson College in the fall of 1961 after acquiring their masters degrees from the University of Indiana. Mr. Blickenstaff has been assistant professor of piano, while Mrs. Blickenstaff has been a part-time instructor in art.

This spring Mr. Blickenstaff won the state and district contests in the Young Artists Auditions and was one of the three finalists in the national contest which was held in Pittsburg, Pa., last April.

Other distinctions achieved by Blickenstaff include the Huributt Award as the outstanding performer in the graduating class of 1959 at Oberlin Conservatory of Music, and the Robertson Award as the outstanding Bachelor of Music candidate.

American Youth Accomplish What Billions of Dollars Cannot

While the 88th Congress battles with President Kennedy over his new foreign aid request, our most effective program for aiding the emerging nations continues to grow in size and respect—the United States Peace Corps.

Originally derided as everything from a "juvenile experiment" to "an expense-paid vacation for youth," the Peace Corps has done more to alleviate the problems of the developing nations than the billions of dollars we have spent in huge government to government aid programs.

One of the major reasons for the success of the Corps is that it attacks the foundational problems of the underdeveloped nations. Sure these countries need to build industries and expand their trade, but social, educational and cultural barriers must be hurdled before they can achieve any long-range economic gains.

These barriers are not broken down by donating several billion dollars to inefficient and many times corrupt governments. But they can be gradually eliminated by skilled young people, trained and willing to do something at the grass-roots level.

It is the Peace Corps volunteers who help educate these people to practical methods of raising their standard of living. It is the Peace Corps volunteers who live and work with the people they are assisting rather than dictate from a far away capital.

Congress may mutilate the President's aid request, but the effectiveness of an expanding Peace Corps will do much more to compensate for any slash in our foreign aid budget. WMB.

Council Business Touches On Wide Variety of Items

By Roger Emmert
First item of business at the Student Council meeting of Thursday, May 9, was to appoint Shirley Vanderau to the final position on the Student Union Board.

Recommendations were brought from the Board of Publications for the appointment to publications positions for next year.

Judy Hoover, assistant Quad editor; Rod Peterson, assistant business manager of the Quad; and Mike Hildibrand, campus editor of Spectator; were approved for the respective positions.

Bids were made by the Sentinel and Miller's Printing for the printing of next year's Growl. The bid from the Sentinel was accepted.

The Council voted to cancel dress-up night for May 16 because of All Schools Day.

Another item of business was to determine how to fill the position on next year's Council vacated by Sharon Allen. The Council decided to refer the matter to the Student Court for interpretation.

The Council discussed the possibility of allowing Bermuda shorts anywhere on campus at anytime during finals week. A motion to allow Bermudas in the Student Union at mealtime of exam week was defeated.

It was decided, however, to investigate the apparent ban of Bermudas from the library, and to see if it could be lifted during that week.

Slater Style Turns Western For Cook-Out at Lagoon

By Margaret Hess
Wind doesn't stop Slater Food Service. Last Thursday night dress-up night changed course and was called Chuck Wagon Cook-out.

To set the mood for the scene Joe Clink, Slater Food manager, with the help of Charles Coleman, a junior from Chase, attached some unique wooden bows to the chassis of an antique gasoline tank wagon which they borrowed from Kenneth Weber, Standard Oil Co. representative.

riett Swinger, sophomore from Essex, Mo.

They also added a frame and covered it with plastic. What would great granddaddy say about such an outfit? The wind almost blew it over. Because of this it was set in the protection of a tree at the lagoon.

Transporting the wagon to the lagoon seemed to present a problem, but Mike Garber, Slater Food Service assistant manager, Joe Clink, and Coleman seemed to solve it very well by taking the harness in hand and pulling it to the lagoon.

Most of the regular student working crew, in western costume, took their place at work behind the serving lines.

The regular cooks, with the aid of Joe and Donalda Clink served approximately 300 students 900 charcoal broiled hamburgers. Baked beans, potato salad, carrot and celery sticks, and watermelon were also served.

Student Points To Financial Side of Housing

On top of the increase in tuition, the college is attempting to live on campus next year. This may be justifiable from a moral standpoint, but from the financial side, things are looking pretty bleak for some students.

It is a well-known fact that living off-campus is cheaper about $300 cheaper in my own case. I can see the reasoning behind the attempt to move all the men on campus, but I fail to grasp the meaning behind the requirement of on-campus living.

In the first place, it is fairly reasonable to assume that both dorms are already very nearly full. With the influx of new students in the fall it is very possible that the dorms will overflow by the time all new students are enrolled.

This would create a necessity for off-campus housing. I emphasize again that this situation is very likely to occur, as it has in other years.

If this should happen I see no other alternative than to allow off-campus housing. In that case it would seem only fair to allow those students who must live off campus due to financial strain to enroll as such.

The actual situation is that the college is requiring us immediately to reserve a room in the dorm. A better solution would be to wait until fall to see if any extra dorm space is available.

I simply cannot see why some students must be forced to withdraw from school when otherwise they may be able to continue.

Readers Express Thanks for Help

We who initiated MacCollege's first annual Fine Arts Festival wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone who cooperated to make the Festival the success we feel it was:

First, KNEK for their numerous spots about the Festival and other area news media for their coverage.

The MacCollege administration, faculty, and staff.

Dr. Geisert and Mrs. Dell for their wonderful help in making Brown Auditorium arrangements. Marvin and Darlene Blickenstaff, Cara Lou Ellwood, Doris Coppock, and Irvin Wagner. And other faculty who look of their time to attend the sessions.

Mrs. Martin for her mimeographing. And Paul Wagoner for his help in publicity.

Especially, Pop Rubner who helped us in about every physical way in the Auditorium.

We wish to thank all of the contributors to the Festival; and all of the students who participated.

And especially Harvey Hess who really began the Festival with his fine address.

A big "Thank You" goes to the Fine Arts Festival committee: Orville Neufeld, Weyland Beegly, Sharon Keith, Sharon Knop, and Thelma Stump.

Once again, one big "THANK YOU!" to all who had courage to help and attend the Fine Arts Festival.

Sincerely,
Michael C. Begole and
James E. Weaver

Mac Extends Sympathy

McPherson College extends sympathy to Mrs. Audrey San Romani, associate professor of piano and organ, on the death of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Waite.

Mrs. Waite passed away at the age of 96 on Sunday at the Hickory Manor Rest Home.

Survivors besides Mrs. San Romani include another daughter, Mrs. Ardis Gaston, and one son, Fred H. Waite.

Planning Committee Member Considers Arts Festival 'Success in Many Ways'

By Jim Weaver
As a member of the committee which organized McPherson College's first Fine Arts Festival, I feel that the Festival was a success.

A success in many ways, the Festival primarily succeeded in providing MacCollege authors, composers, artists, and poets an educational chance to see, and hear their works performed, and hear their works criticized by fellow students.

Harvey Hess, III, opened the Festival with a very fine address on the relationship of religion and art. In essence, he said that the artist is similar to God: The similarity, or "Relationship," is in the creativity of God and in the creativity of man the artist.

Harvey, who graduated from MacCollege in '61, stated Saturday evening that he was amazed at the interest and accomplishment shown for the first time on Mac-campus in such a way as the Fine Arts Festival.

The three day Festival lasted over the weekend of Friday, May 10.

MacCollege A Cappella Choir sang original compositions by David Weimer, "Psalm 150;" Irvin Wagner, "Annoint Us Lord" and Harvey Hess, "Three Motets." Doris Coppock instructor in music, directed the choir on Friday afternoon.

Poetry readings by James Weaver, Melvin E. Longmire, and Edwin Mohler, preceded Friday evening's dramatic production, "A Serious Vaudeville in Four (4) Acts."

Michael C. Begole, author and director of "Serious Vaudeville" attempted to slam the extremes of man by picturing the extremists in the forms of animals (cat, jackal, woodchuck, and eagle) and people (queen, prince, and master bowman).

Darlene Blickenstaff, instructor in art, led a symposium on art Saturday morning. She was assisted in this peripatetic discussion session by Cara Lou Ellwood, instructor in art, and many of the students who had paintings and pots on display in Friendship Hall.

Mrs. Blickenstaff stated that she felt that the work in general which was submitted for the Festival was of high quality.

She was pleased with the versatility of the many contributors; the versatility showing the contributors' realization of the interrelationship of the various media in art.

Saturday afternoon featured two drama productions, two poetry readings, and a recital.

The recital included "Petite Duet" by Dwight Oltman, performed by Irvin Wagner, assistant professor of music; and Warren Harden, junior from McPherson.

"Five American Dances," by Leon Albert, performed by Marvin Blickenstaff, assistant professor of piano; and the poetry of Faye Ellen Trostle Winger, read by Jimmy E. Neher, junior from Cahoon, Mo.

The poetry readings were by Jimmy Neher and Harvey Hess. The first play Saturday afternoon, "Cafe Society" by Ed Mohler, was staged in arena staging and was set in a roadside cafe in the Pacific Northwest.

Ed showed one scene of one group of people, in an attempt to show the shallow life of this group of human beings.

The second play, "Men of Values" by Peter Ford, was set in the fo'c's'le of a 17th century 100 gun, British capital ship. Peter was showing the typical reaction which one group of men showed to a man of high ideals.

Cabinet Sponsors Hike In Colorado in August

This year's Colorado Trail Hike will be held from Aug. 25 to 31. The hike is sponsored by the Western Regional Youth Cabinet and is a continuation of the camping program for college students.

As in the past years the hike will be held in the Colorado Rockies. The beginning will be near Aspen, Colo., and will end approximately 35 miles later in the ghost town of Marble.

The approximate cost of the hike will be $35.

McPherson, both of Mac's losses came in singles play.

Qualified Students Eligible For Year's Work in France

Brethren College students having a mastery of the French language to the level of the completion of the second college year, now have the opportunity for a year of study at a French university under the Brethren Year Abroad program.

The program, similar to the one used for students studying at Marburg, Germany, is cooperatively sponsored by the six Churehes of the Brethren colleges.

Students accepted for this program will study at the University of Strasbourg. Depending on ability, students will be placed in an "elementary," a "middle" or an "advanced" program.

Located approximately 250 miles east of Paris, Strasbourg is a city of 200,000 population. It is the capital of Alsace. Special conversational tutoring in Strasbourg will precede course work at the university.

Application blanks for this year's Brethren Year Abroad in France program may be secured from Wayne F. Geisert, dean.

From The Locker Room

By Larry Moran
Sports schedule for McPherson College has rapidly drawn to a close for the 1962-63 school year. This year's sports program has produced many fine athletes and gentlemen who will graduate.

Congratulations to these men and good luck to them as they leave McPherson College far behind. Let us hope that the future sportsmen are as good as the previous ones.

The athletes of McPherson College have made a fine show of themselves on and off the field, court, and track throughout the school year.

Some clarification is needed on the basketball schedule for next year. The tournament in Nebraska is not really a tournament. It will be a double game affair with no tournament involved.

In other words, Mac will play the host team, Nebraska Wesleyan, on both nights.

Eight More Seniors Sign Teaching Contracts

Latest additions to the list of seniors who have signed teaching contracts for the 1963-1964 school year are: Marvin Elliot, Milford; John Heidebrecht, Pope; Wayne Grossnickle, Gilbert Grove, Iowa.

Glen Lorei, Gypsum; Mrs. Vealeen Luginsland, Elyria; Marilyn Martin, Harmony School (near McPherson); Royce Roesch, Logan; and Kay Weber, Hutchinson.

At the league track meet, Lynn Warner will be seeking to accumulate his 100th point for the 1963 track season. Up to the league meet, Lynn will have amassed a total of 94 points.

Most of Lynn's points come from his specialties, the mile and two mile, while at times he has gained a few points on relay teams.

Men Participate In Doane Relays

Ten trackmen from McPherson College competed in the 15th Annual Doane Relays held last Saturday at Doane, Neb. Thirty-three schools participated in the meet.

Charles Horner, Larry Bierworth, Jim Steinle and John Chance placed fifth in a field of twelve teams in the medley relay event with a time of 3:43.

In the two-mile relay, the Mac trackmen won sixth place with a time of 8:24. Don Cordill, Gerald Book, John Tegler and Lynn Warner were the Bulldog runners in this event.

Galen Huffman placed fifth in the pole vault and Donavon Koehn participated in the discus event but did not place.

THE SILVER SPEAR—leaves the hand of Duane Pope as he prepares for today's KCAC Meet at Bethany. Pope a sophomore, industrial arts major, has placed first in the javelin event at three track meets this season.

Brown Posts Top Record Of '62-63 Mac Debaters

Mac debaters competed at four-teen tournaments in five states during the course of the 62-63 debate season.

Mike Brown, sophomore from Wichita, compiled 227 points while winning almost 67 per cent of his debates to be the outstanding debater on the 25-student squad.

The squad started the season by winning sixth place at the Kansas State University novice debate tournament. Several weeks later the teams of Holmes and Brown, and Ullom and Beeghly won 87 per cent of their debates to achieve the best overall school record at the Edmund, Okla., meet.

After the Christmas recess, Brown and Holmes started off the new year by winning four and losing none at the Rockhurst tournament to take third place. Later that month, Beeghly and Ullom placed third at the Nebraska Wesleyan tournament while Brown and Dadisman won fourth.

At the St. John forensic meet in early March, Beeghly and Ullom

Bittinger Serves On Study Group

Dr. D. W. Bittinger, president of McPherson College, has accepted the invitation of the United States Office of Education and is currently serving as one of three American scholars in an "East-West Seminar."

The seminar, being held this week and next in Karachi, Pakistan, brings together American and Far-Eastern educators to give lectures and lead discussions for the seminar participants — mainly students and teachers from the Far East.

Dr. Bittinger will fly from Formosa to Karachi via Hong Kong, Bangkok, Calcutta, and Bombay. He will return to Formosa to join Mrs. Bittinger, and they will leave immediately for America via Tokyo and Hawaii.

They are due to arrive in McPherson by May 30.

College to Give Student Awards In Assembly

The Maccollege annual awards assembly will be held Tuesday, May 21.

At this time, athletic awards will be given to students participating in football, basketball, track, tennis and golf. Cheerleader, M-Club, WAA, and Pep Club awards will also be presented.

Student Council awards will be given to those students in charge of publications, activities, and student government.

Music, speech and drama awards will be presented and Who's Who awards will be given to Sharon Keith, Garth Wood, Carl Wenner, Thelma Stump, Joe Funderburk, Kay Weber, Stuart Frazier, Elmer Gooding, and Art Hoch.

The McPherson College Honor Scholarships will be given to top-ranking sophomores and juniors.

Bank Displays Work of Alumna

Nine water-color paintings by a 1904 alumna of McPherson College are now on display at the Peoples State Bank in McPherson.

The paintings, mostly landscapes, were done by Miss Luccetta Johnson, a former English teacher in the Wichita school system.

The 84-year-old artist started painting soon after she retired from forty years of teaching. Several of her paintings have been displayed at the Union National Bank in Wichita.

Among the pictures on display at the Peoples State Bank is one she did last summer while taking an art class in New York. While the rest of the class painted a nude, Miss Johnson sketched them painting the nude.

Also included in the display is a painting of oak leaves done on Japanese rice paper.

Miss Johnson's paintings will remain on exhibition until the end of May.

Bomberger to Deliver Sermon on 4-H Sunday

The Rev. Harold Bomberger, Pastor of the Church of the Brethren, will speak on "Four H's for Four H's," at the Sunday morning service.

Quad Contracts Myers To Print Yearbooks

The contract has been signed for the 63-64 Quadrangle with the Myers Yearbook Company, a division of the American Yearbook Company. The contract was made for 700 books with 120 pages.

This number is 100 more than the number contracted for this year because of the increase in interest shown by different churches of the region.

Marcia Yoder, next year's Quadrangle editor, is now in the process of completing her staff for the yearbook. Anyone interested in helping with this publication may contact her.

Gabon Requests Peace Corps To Send Secondary Teachers

Sitting astride the equator, lies the country of Gabon. Gabon is bordered on the north by Spanish Guinea and the Republic of Cameroon, on the south by the Republic of the Congo, and on the west by the Atlantic Ocean.

Gabon, which is approximately the size of Colorado, gained its full independence from France in August, 1960. Gabon, though remains a member of the French Community and sells 75 per cent of her exports to her associates in the European Common Market.

Gabon's government has requested the Peace Corps to provide 40 secondary school teachers to help meet the goal of 100 per cent school attendance by 1964. In contrast to other emerging nations, Gabon has 80 per cent of school-age population (6-16) enrolled in school.

Gabon stresses great importance on education due to the fact that the Gabonese need to train young people to fill important positions now filled with French officials.

Especially acute is the need to upgrade educational facilities in the rural areas. This needs to be done to help correct the inequalities that exist between the traditional, subsistence sector of the economy and the modern sector of the towns and lumber camps.

During March of this year, 45 Peace Corps Volunteers arrived in Gabon and undertook as their first project, a public school construction project which is designed to fill a need for better school buildings and teacher housing.

Some 40 three - room school buildings and from 40 to 120 teacher's houses will be built of permanent materials to replace the mud and wattle huts which deteriorate rapidly under the climatic conditions of the country.

The teachers scheduled to begin training in 1963 will, to an extent, staff these schools.

Gabon's secondary schools will receive 40 secondary school teachers who will teach both academic and commercial subjects. All instruction will be conducted in French.

The teachers will not only teach in regular classroom situations but provide on-the-job training for the Gabonese teacher trainees who will be expected to carry on after the Peace Corps Volunteers have left.

Most people have never heard of Gabon, but they have heard the name of Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Dr. Schweitzer is probably the most famous person to live in Gabon. Volunteers will have an opportunity to visit his hospital, both during in-country training and afterwards.

The Republic of Gabon is not a place where large numbers of Americans have lived. In addition to a stimulating personal experience, the volunteer returning from two years of service there will find that he has become something of a regional specialist whose broad familiarity with this newly-independent nation will provide him with a general understanding of the problems of emerging Africa.
