Debaters Place Sixth At K-State Tournament

Rolling over teams from Hutchinson Junior College, Kansas State Teachers of Emporia, Nebraska University, William Jewell, and five other schools, Mac debaters compiled a 9-7 record and captured sixth place at the Kansas State Tournament held last weekend in Manhattan.

Debaters from 26 colleges and universities participated in this year's tournament which was won by Pittsburg State.

Five teams represented MacCollege at the K-State Meet. Norman Howell and Rod Peterson debated four rounds, winning three and losing one. Margaret Dadisman and Christine Rhodes won two debates and lost none.

Staff Sets Deadlines For Spectorator Stories

Do you have a story for the Spectorator? If you do, there are certain deadlines the staff must meet in order for the article to be published on Friday.

All stories must be in by Tuesday noon. However, it is much easier on the staff if the stories are in by Monday noon. Any stories turned in after these deadlines will have to wait and be in the next week's paper.

The Spectorator office will be open every day for anyone wishing to leave a story for the paper.

Remember you too are a part of this paper, so you can help in turning in news stories.

'Religion Influences United States History'

By David Anders

"Many of the founders of our nation were religious men, and the Christian religion has to a great extent influenced the life and thought of American people.

"It is so intertwined with American history and manners of life that we really cannot understand our culture without understanding something about the Bible and the Christian faith," states Dr. Burton Metzler, professor of philosophy and religion.

"One cannot be a well-educated person without knowing something about the Bible. Furthermore, the Bible helps to answer our most important questions concerning life, such as what is man? Whence did he come? Where is he going? and How should he live?"

Dr. Metzler who is teaching his 26th year at McPherson College, sees much value in the required religion and Bible courses.

Dr. Metzler, who was born in 1894 in Indiana, grew up on a farm, and as a young man decided to make farming his vocation. Later on as he states it, "Being in college changed my plans, and I decided to go into Bible teaching."

"After receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree from Manchester College, he taught for two years in a one-room country school. He Fahnstock Hall open house will be held Sunday, Oct. 28, from 2 until 4 p.m. At this time, faculty, students, families, and friends are welcome to visit the rooms.

Mrs. Elizabeth Russell, house-mother, said the house council is in charge of the open house. Officers in the house council are Gale Burkholder, president; Wayne Moritz, secretary; Larry Crumrine, Arthur Hoch, and Carl Werner, floor managers.

Gale Burkholder and Mrs. Russell will act as host and hostess in the lounge where punch and cookies will be served by the other officers.

Sixty-two men are living in Fahnstock Hall this semester.

Home Ec Club To Hear Kuntz Discuss Cleaning

Ted Kuntz, from the Superior Dry Cleaners, will speak on dry cleaning and the many problems we have with fabrics, at the McPherson College home economics club meeting next week.

The meeting will be held Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 6:45 p.m., Harnly 203. A short business session will precede the program.

Yoder Names 'Miracle' Cast

Cast members have been announced and rehearsals are underway for "The Miracle Worker" which will be presented at MacCollege Brown Auditorium, Dec. 6 and 8.

Mrs. Una Yoder, director of dramatics, is directing the play, which is the story of Annie Sullivan's early encounters with Helen Keller and her family. The play was written by William Gibson.

Connie Andes, junior from Mound City, Mo., will play the lead part of Annie Sullivan. Opposite her will be Peter Ford, junior from Rochester, Minn., as Keller.

Joyce Martin, freshman from Sterling, Ohio, will portray Kate Keller, and James Keller will be played by Lowell Flory, sophomore from McPherson.

Other cast members include Carolyn Lunkley, freshman from Udell, Iowa, as Helen Keller; Curtis Cristy, freshman from Garrison, Iowa, and Judy Atwater, freshman from Larned, as Percy and Martha.

The Doctor will be Vance Alexander, sophomore from Geneseo, and Anagnos will be Richard Wilmer, sophomore from McPherson.

Elois Nelson, senior from Inman will be Aunt Ev. Viney will be played by Vida Sue Werner, sophomore from Winona, and Sarah, the favorite blind child, will be played by Winnie Brown, sophomore from Hutchinson.

Elaine Groff, junior from Bakerfield, Calif., will characterize Alice; Beth Looker, senior from Des Moines, Iowa, will be Beatrice; and Donna McBride, sophomore from Fredericksburg, Iowa, will be Mary.

Nine Students Serve As Library Assistants

Library assistants in the McPherson College Library for this semester are: Margaret Dadisman, Barbara Dille, Janice Fasnacht, Sharon Knop, Lena Miyasaki, Joyce Shobe, Janice Stand- aker, Sue Warrick, and James Weaver.

Assistants help the librarians, Miss Virginia Harris, Mrs. Kathryn Bechtel, and Miss Eleanor Draper, by typing, shelving, processing books for circulation, checking, and working at the circulation desk.

Students applied for work in the library last spring, and they are paid for their time.

then taught algebra and geometry at Manchester Academy for one year.

Dr. Metzler went on to Bethany Biblical Seminary where he obtained his Bachelor of Divinity degree. While at Bethany he married Alma Stump, also of Indiana.

Before entering Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton, N. J., he and his wife filled a one-year pastorate in a small Indiana church.

He received his Bachelor of Theology degree from Princeton in one year, then entered the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., where he earned his Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Prior to coming to McPherson College in the fall of 1937, he taught at Bethany Biblical Seminary for eight years and served four more years in an Indiana pastorate.

Dr. Metzler succeeded Dr. Roy Petry at McPherson College. During most of his 25 years here he has been the only teacher in the Philosophy and Religion Department.

For a time he was helped by Prof. Richard Wareham, and the last four years Dr. Dale Brown taught in the department. Now

Prof. David Eiler has succeeded Dr. Brown.

Woodworking is Dr. Metzler's hobby, and he spends some of his spare time in his shop in the basement of his home.

Life and Teachings of Jesus and Introduction to Philosophy are the only courses which he is teaching this semester.

He says that it is a relief to be teaching only six hours. "but I find that one could easily spend all his time on the two courses."

During his years at McPherson he has preached in various churches of all denominations far and near. Dr. Metzler has also served on different boards, and committees of the Church of the Brethren on local district, and national levels.

All three of the Metzlers children are closely connected with church work. Their son, David, is studying for his Ph. D. after teaching in a Church of the Brethren college in the East.

Mary, the wife of Paul Wagner, director of alumni affairs, is active in the McPherson Church of the Brethren.

Ann, the wife of David Albright, assists her pastor husband and has done some writing recently for the Gospel Messenger, official Church of the Brethren weekly publication.

College Installs Heat Line For Industrial Arts Building

Among several changes on the campus at McPherson is the new heat line installed to Frantz Industrial Arts Building from the main heating plant.

Formerly, Frantz was heated with a boiler. The new heat line will provide more adequate heat at a cheaper rate.

Bare spots on the campus green mark places where grass is being replaced with the Kentucky 31 grass. This grass is also being seeded in with other grasses, so that it will eventually replace entirely all old grass.

Problems, such as drainage, have prevented the seeding of the new grass until now.

The new grass stays green almost all year, making a more attractive campus. An important area being seeded is the football field, where Kentucky 31 will provide a better turf.

Jordan

Christ's Life Guides Koinonia

"The Koinonia Farm is based upon three guiding principles," commented Clarence Jordan, founder of the cooperative, interracial religious community near Americus, Ga.

"First, Christian fellowship today must take seriously the teachings of Jesus. It's the foundation on which integration is based. Christianity allows no segregation.

"Second, we feel the Christian fellowship, is composed of people dedicated to peace and non-violence, must renounce all forms of violence and warfare. We have been willing to be killed but not to kill.

Third, we have within the farm, economic equality so we, like the early church, hold all things common. Distribution is made according to need.

Although there are many other things which characterize life at Koinonia Farm, these are the most outstanding factors."

Begun in 1942, Koinonia is an 1100 acre farm located in southwestern Georgia. Over twenty people live in their individual families, but the farm is operated as one big family.

Koinonia was started "from a deep belief in the principal failure of the church to realize these objectives. The church is a segregated, militaristic society. The gap between the church and society led us to want to do something about it in a constructive way.

We believe Koinonia should be concerned not only with its own salvation, but with the whole society in which we live. The farm's outreach consists of three factors. First, is agricultural mission work. Secondly, the commercial egg production which brings in more income than cotton and peanuts combined. The cow lending library, the third factor, lends cows to needy families."

Jordan feels that the Meredith Case is another part of the overall negro struggle for citizenship along with all other citizens in the U.S.

"It takes a tremendous amount of personal courage to be ahead of this in Mississippi. It has demonstrated an on-going individual victory of the Negro in his struggle, and has deepened the pessimism of the segregationist.

All are aware that it is a matter of time and the day is not too far off—perhaps within ten years—that the negro will be given the same political rights as anyone.

However, social and economic rights are not so close at hand.

College students can keep well informed and read as much as possible to understand what the problems are so they can form the correct attitude.

While in college, students are awful brave, but they become cowards when they are out. It is then when they have to get a job and their bread and butter are threatened.

Root your beliefs in a solid foundation so you are not so easily swayed when you get out of college."

Cultural Series

Mexican Boys Sing As Artists With Mellow, Bell-Like Tones

By Clarice Brown
(Editor's note: Clarice is a senior music major from Quinter).

A child's voice is the most beautiful of all the instruments. This was shown to those who attended the first program of the McPherson 1962-63 Cultural Series, The Singing Boys of Mexico.

These boys, ages ranging from eight to twelve years, demonstrated some outstanding artistic abilities. While they were on stage they performed as artists, and not as children.

This choir sang with two different styles of singing. The most beautiful of their singing were the crystal bell-like tones, sung on the soft passages. The sopranos especially had this quality.

This soft pure tone is the tone we most often associate with children's voices. The Gregorian chant, "Ubi Caritas et Amor" was particularly beautiful as it was sung with the pure voice quality. The purity of their voices suit this song well, as chants are plain songs.

The other style of singing was the rich full mellow tones. There is much controversy among those of the music world over this style of singing for children. Some feel that a child's voice is light in quality as well as in volume, if it is not light, it is quite damaging to the child's voice.

From listening to the strident cries on the playground, some feel that the child's voice is quite flexible, and believe this fuller voice can sing. Which of these ways is the most correct will not be stated, but with the latter, problems do arise.

Children of this age do not have fully developed voices, and care needs to be taken not to ruin a voice for life. However, children of this age need to keep singing in order to develop mature voices.

If proper vocal techniques are used this is not much of a problem. Another problem of this style of singing is that of intonation, especially in the high register. Along this line a strident or forced quality may appear. One other problem is that of breathing, support and breathing together.

The Singing Boys of Mexico did an exceptionally fine job with the soft delicate passages of music. They showed their flexibility in their loud passages. The low voices had a very rich and mellow quality.

As a whole, had command of the above problems; of course, there were a few problems present.

Mr. Luis Berber did a fine job of directing the group. He appeared to have the attention of the children at all times. The children sang with enthusiasm and showed a great interest in their job of singing.

Music is a universal language, but each country has its own styles. One difference between our music styles are the slurs. We do not think they are of good musical taste, but it is apparently of good taste in Mexican music.

There was a taste of the Spanish language in the American text. This would be expected of a foreign group. The costumes of the choir added much to the Mexican style as well as to the brilliance of the program.

The program included a wide variety of numbers. The first section was primarily standard classical and romantic music. The second part was somewhat more contemporary, and the next part was composed of a lighter type of song, including our "White Christmas."

The final part was primarily Mexican music. "Tres Antifonas Para Mexico" by Jimenez was a medley of Mexican songs, written for the choir. This was, what I imagine, a good taste of contemporary Mexican music.

We Get Letters . . .

Howell Replies To Pvt. Atwater

You state that you are at present a member of our armed forces and that you are concerned with the thoughts of having to be sent either to Cuba or Viet Nam.

I am wondering just what your motives were when you joined the National Guard last spring. The tone of your letter leads me to believe that you, like the many who were called up last year to active duty, joined the National Guard as an easy way out of military service.

The advertisements say six months active service and six years in the reserve—with pay. Did you join for this reason or did you join for the honest purpose of wanting to serve your country at any cost.

I detest the thought of killing another human being or being killed myself. But I'm ready to preserve the ideals of our country at any cost because that is what I believe in. If it comes to open conflict, we, as Americans, must pay the cost of freedom as we have in the past.

I do not attempt to blame our present situation upon any one administration. Our leaders have all been faced with grave situations and have acted in the way they thought best. Some of the decisions have proved wrong; but the past cannot be undone.

You asked if the "alerting of units and forces is the calling of Mr. K's bluff and will it work?" I don't know the answer to that, nor does any one else, but we are soon to know and the whole country, indeed it seems the whole of the Americans agree with our President's decision. We can only pray for the best and be prepared for the worst, and that, Pvt. Atwater, is what you signed up for.

Reader Rips 'Rallymaster'

I write these words during a wave of deep patriotic emotion to express my appreciation for that small but inspired group of dynamic young leaders on McPherson College campus who show such honest political insight in their paper, the "Rallymaster".

We owe them a debt of thanks for pointing out the great truth that a man's accent has an important bearing upon whether or not he will make a good president.

They have shown us the true meaning of democracy—the right to browbeat a person whose political belief differ from their own.

They have proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that the only true patriots left in America belong to the political party which they endorse, a party which has become a sort of religion.

It is their ideal that no political party should work for votes, but only for the good of mankind. Truly they are noble.

I am inspired to know that these gifted young intellectuals will lead America toward her rendezvous with stupidity.

President Signs Bill Abolishing Loyalty Oath

President Kennedy signed legislation last week that a student will no longer have to sign a non-Communist oath to qualify for a government loan under the National Defense Education Act.

The oath was "discriminated against college students and was offensive to them," stated Kennedy. It has caused 32 colleges to stay out of the student loan program and many others participated reluctantly.

The law originally required a student to sign an oath declaring he neither believed in, belonged to, nor supported any organization that taught or believed in overthrow of government by force or illegal means.

Now it makes it illegal for anyone to apply for a loan or grant if he is a member of a Communist organization registered under the Subversive Activities Control Act.

How glorious it is—and also how painful—to be an exception. —Alfred De Musset.

More Of Tom, Dick, And Mary

Shades

By Ed Mohler

Chapter 1
New Hedon College sponsors weekly dances for all students. What fun. Everybody goes, sometimes. And everybody who goes takes their favorite records.

Tom brings recorded speeches, Dick takes folk-songs, and Mary takes jazz. Have you ever danced to "Take Five" or "Hey Li Lee Li Lee" or Bill Joe Hargus?

New Hedon does not have a record library for their dances either.

Chapter 2
Dick is a theoretical democrat since he does not really like Alexander Hamilton. He is a theoretical republican too. He does not like Tom Jefferson too well either. He is also a theoretical Communist, for he does not like General Walker. Maybe he is trying to be controversial. Maybe if he tried being for something he would start a real controversy.

Chapter 3
Tom does not hate anything. He likes everything. Tom is a pseudo-intellectual American-idealist. He is trying to say the least especially now while he is trying to be a super-intellectual. Boy, is he serious. He wears tapered pants and sweaters. When he really wants to impress people he will even wear dress shirts and sneakers. Someday he will forget to get his hair cut. Look out then!

Maybe he should throw away that greasy kids' stuff.

Mac Diner Cites Dress-up Night

The so-called "dress-up night" is undoubtedly impressive in spite of the fact that the supper is barely palatable on this "formal occasion."

This high ideal would be fine were it not impractical and bothersome as far as time and effort are concerned.

It must be made clear that the amount of inconvenience to students, especially at the Warren, is great if transportation is not available for students who need a ride to return to their dorm rooms merely to change clothes.

The sack lunch, moreover, is simply inadequate for a supper. Double expenses are necessary to get enough sustenance. Why should there be such unnecessary troubles and expenses?

Baker To Test Mac's Defense

The nation's leading small college offensive team will challenge the Bulldogs tomorrow night at MacCollege field at 7:30. The Bulldogs will play host to the Baker Wildcats from Baldwin in one of the feature games of the conference.

Baker tests its vaunted offensive power against the stout MacCollege defensive line. The Wildcats have been averaging almost 400 yards a game against its foes and will attempt to keep that average at Mac. Baker needs the win to keep in contention for the conference crown.

Baker's league record reads four wins and one loss. The Wildcats hold wins over Sterling 34-0, Bethel 37-0, KW 59-6, and Southwestern 40-6. C of E inflicted Baker with its lone loss by a score of 15-6.

In comparison, the Bulldogs record is three wins and three losses. These include wins over Sterling 12-0, KW 13-12, Friends 39-0, and losses to C of E 39-0, Southwestern 26-7, and Bethany 7-0.

Baker's offensive threat can come from any number of players. John Jacobs is the leading ground-gainer and scorer. Gary Gore, ranks close behind Jacobs, and Wilber Hedrick, the Wildcat quarterback, runs and throws with uncanny ability. Baker also has two fine pass receivers in John Johnson and Dennis Delay.

One fact many observers overlook is Baker's fine defensive unit. The Wildcat defensive team has yielded an average of only 107 yards per game. Only 39.9 of the 107 yards have been made on the ground.

The McPherson offensive unit must come up with some new and varied plays in order to compete with the tough Wildcat defense. Mac must also score quite often to keep pace with Baker's powerful offense.

SU Sponsors Table Tennis Tournament

A table tennis tournament began Oct. 15, and will end Dec. 1. Robert Crabb, junior from Spartanburg, S. C., and Clarence Clark, freshman from Wheaton, Ill., are in charge of the tournament which is being sponsored by the Student Union. Anyone may enter, all playing is done under international table tennis rules. A player may challenge a competitor within two places above himself. Challenges must be played within 48 hours or lose by forfeit. All games must take place in the McPherson College Student Union.

B-Team Defeats Bethany 27-26

McPherson College's B-team gained at least a little satisfaction for McPherson, as far as Bethany College is concerned, by defeating the Bethany B-team 27-26.

This game was played last Monday afternoon at the MacCollege field. McPherson's winning touchdown was scored in the last minute of play.

Bethany scored three touchdowns and one extra point in the first two periods to lead at half-time 19-7. The second half was a different story with the Bulldogs scoring 20 points to the Swede's 6 points for the final victory.

C of E Grabs KCAC Lead; Wildcats Rip Southwestern

College of Emporia now maintains sole possession of first place in the Kansas Conference. With the defeat of Southwestern at the hands of Baker, C of E leads the conference with a 5-0 record. Three teams, Baker, Ottawa, and Southwestern, with 4-1 records, hold down the number two spot. Southwestern went down to its first defeat of the year at the hands of Baker. Baker, whose only loss is to C of E, man-handled the Moundbuilders to the tune of 49-6.

Baker, playing without the services of John Jacobs, their leading ground-gainer, scored twice in each of the first three quarters and ran up a total offense of 380 yards. Southwestern gained 241 yards, mostly against Wildcat reserves in the second half.

C of E stretched its conference record to five straight wins, with a 34-6 victory over Bethel. Mary Williamson scored three touchdowns for Emporia, all on passes from Bruce Upstill. Williamson ranks fourth in the nation in pass receiving.

In a battle of the cellar-dwellers, Friends shoved Sterling farther into last place by defeating the Warriors 7-3.

Ottawa remained in contention for the title by sneaking past KW 13-12. A combination of a fired up Coyote team and a sleeping Brave team, almost led to the upset of the year in the conference.

Team Competes At Wichita Meet

McPherson College cross-country team participated in its first meet of the season Thursday, Oct. 18, at Friends University in Wichita.

Southwestern won the triangular meet with the lowest score of 29 points. Friends was second with 44 and McPherson finished third with 47.

The race was three miles long over a course laid out around the campus. Each school entered five runners making a total of 15 men.

Individual honors went to Danlay of Southwestern with the winning time of 15:37. A teammate, Glenn, was second at 15:41, and Lynn Warner of McPherson was third with a time of 16:20.

From The Locker Room

By Larry Morlan

There isn't really too much that can be said about the Bethany game, except that the Swedes have a very tough defense.

McPherson didn't play one of its best games of the year either, in the loss to Bethany.

District 10 NAIA statistics have been released, and show the Bulldogs ranking in three divisions.

McPherson is fifth in team rushing with an average of 221.2 yds. per game. They also rank fifth in team rushing defense, allowing the opposition an average of 138.4 yds. per game on the ground. The Bulldogs received fifth place in total team defense by holding their opponents to an average of 242 yds. per game.

Larry Crumrine, the Bulldog quarterback, ranks fourth in total scoring with 36 points for the season.

My crystal ball received its first crack of the year when the Swedes beat the Bulldogs. It taught me not to get sentimental in my predictions and to stick with the favored team.

Bulldogs Bow To Swedes 7-0

Playing before a capacity homecoming crowd, Bethany College defeated McPherson 7-0 last Saturday afternoon on a wind-swept field. The win evened Bethany's record at 3-3, while the loss also placed McPherson's record at 3-3.

Bethany put on an outstanding defensive show before the large crowd in holding McPherson to just 74 net yards passing. At the same time, the Swedes gained 262 yards rushing and 71 yards passing.

Bethany scored the only touchdown of the game the second time they had the ball. The 80-yard drive was capped by full-back Bob Thompson plunging three yards for the touchdown. Tom Pennington kicked the extra point.

The Swedes threatened the McPherson goal for almost the entire game. They were stopped in the first period on the McPherson 11-yard line, in the second period on the 19 and 16-yard lines, and then in the third period Bethany was stopped by a great Bulldog goal line stand on the 1-yard line.

Three Sophomores Lead Marching Band

Leading Macollege's marching band are drum major Larry Blair, sophomore from McPherson, and majorettes Bonnie Eberly, sophomore from Fostoria, Ohio, and Peggy Messick, sophomore from Bethesda, Md.

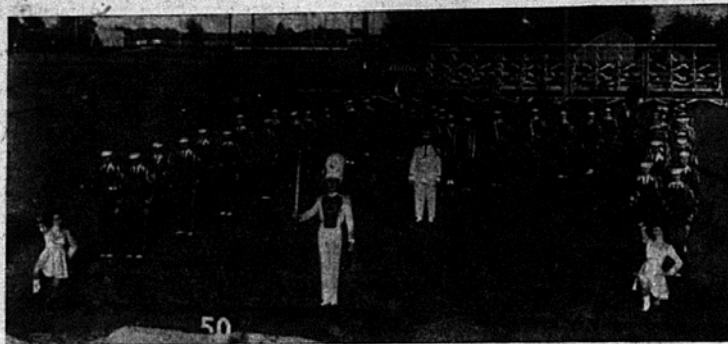

Bonnie, who plans to be a nurse, hopes to transfer next year to Western Reserve in Cleveland, Ohio. She is a member of the Home Economics Club, MCA, and Women's Council, and enjoys sewing as well as trying new, different recipes in cooking.

Before coming to Macollege she was a normal control volunteer at National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Md., and was on the project at West Side Christian Parish in Chicago for 1½ years in BVS.

Bonnie was a majorette for three years in high school, and was head twirler her last year.

Peggy has also been a band majorette the past two years. As an elementary education major she plans to teach in the lower grades.

performances to lead the band. Before a performance they practice daily and attend all marching practices.

Anyone interested in being a majorette next year should contact Peggy or Bonnie.

Larry, a music education major, plans to get his masters degree and possibly teach on the college level.

This is his first year as drum major. He is also a member of MENC, wind ensemble, marching band, dance band, trumpet quartet, and orchestra. Larry writes the music activities for the Spectator.

His major instrument is the trumpet and he likes to write and arrange music.
