One-Car Mishap Fatal to Student

Janis Ratzlaff

Janis Ratzlaff, McPherson College freshman from McCune, died as a result of injuries suffered in a one-car auto accident early Saturday morning, Nov. 16.

Janis was a passenger in a car which hit loose gravel and overturned into the ditch north of McPherson.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ratzlaff, Janis was born April 13, 1943. She was graduated from McCune Rural High School last spring.

Surviving besides her parents are a brother, Charles, Kansas City; a sister, Mrs. Dwight Frantz, Colorado; and a grandmother, Mrs. Leonora Ratzlaff, Canton.

Memorial services were held Tuesday at the Osage Presbyterian Church near Girard. Miss Edna Neher, housemother at Dotzour Hall, and several students attended the services.

Recital Features Variety Of Numbers by Groups

Music Department personnel will provide a student recital this evening in Brown Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

A variety of numbers will be presented by several groups.

Brown Auditorium basement is alive with activity as the McPherson Concert Band and College Orchestra prepare for programs to be given in December.

The Concert Band, consisting of sixty members, rehearses at 4:30 every Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons.

At present they are practicing numbers to be presented in a concert Tuesday, Dec. 17.

"Festival" by Williams, "The Golden Eagle March" by Walters, "Chorale and Alleluia" by Hansen, and "Selections From Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin are a few of the numbers to be presented.

A Wind Ensemble will be formed from the Concert Band at a later date.

The Orchestra consists of the same people who accompanied the choir in "Te Deum." They rehearse every Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 4:30.

At present they are preparing for part of the program to be given here Dec. 13. The orchestra will accompany the choir in a special Christmas number entitled "The Spirit of Christmas."

They will also perform several of the dances from the ballet "The Nutcracker Suite by Tchaikovsky."

Night School To Provide Six Classes

Six night classes will be offered next semester at McPherson College. This compares with seven classes that were offered last semester.

In the science department, Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, professor of Chemistry, will have a three-hour course in Astronomy.

Another education course will be Language Arts Methods taught by Mrs. Maxine Brunsel, McPherson elementary teacher.

Landscape Gardening, a three hour Agriculture and Rural Life course will be held by Dr. John Ward, professor of agriculture and rural life.

Students may join MCY by making a commitment to accept its purposes and paying the $1.50 membership fee. Members are eligible to subscribe to Motive or Intercollegian at reduced rates.

MCY is replacing the former MCA which had served as the center of religious life on campus for several years.

MCY is connected with the national and international YMCA-YWCA movements while MCA was an independent campus organization.

Students now join MCY by making a choice, whereas students were automatically members of the MCA.

Irven Stern, visiting professor of philosophy and religion, and David L. Eiler, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, are faculty sponsors.

Arrangements will be made to take orders for books which are not in stock.

Members of the Student Council planning committee who presented this arrangement were Daryl Standafer, chairman, McPherson; Steve Mohler, Warrensburg, Mo.; Terry Reyher, Wiley, Colo.; and Bev Judge, Marshalltown, Iowa.

Paperback book fairs have been held on Macampus for the past two years. These three-day annual affairs resulted in the sale of 1400 books.

Paperback books will go on sale to students and faculty members in the Student Union immediately following Thanksgiving vacation.

Sponsored by the Student Council, the books will be sold at the base of the stairs leading to the Student Union basement.

Approximately 250 titles will be displayed from after Thanksgiving until Christmas. After Christmas vacation, the Student Council hopes to move the display to more spacious quarters so that a greater variety of books may be displayed.

Karl Taylor, owner of the Campus Store at Sterling College, Sterling, will provide the book cases and supply the stock for this arrangement. He will also hire students to operate the store.

These students have been selected by the Student Council and the store hours will be arranged to fit their class schedules.

Titles will be selected by a student committee from suggestions submitted by faculty members.

Schools Plan College Days

Macollege representatives have been attending various college and career day activities at different high schools in Kansas and Colorado.

During career day, various high schools arrange for representatives of many colleges to meet with their students, particularly seniors, in regard to their college plans.

Generally, students are able to attend sessions of three different colleges.

During a session the college representative gives a general idea of what the college is like, of its offerings, and of its costs then students have time to ask particular questions.

Guy Hayes, director of admissions, assisted by Paul Waggoner, director of alumni affairs, is representing Macollege at these programs.

On Nov. 25, Macollege will be represented at McPherson High School and in Holyrood for the Quivira League schools.

Burlingame is on the schedule for Nov. 26, and Central High School in Kansas City, Mo., for Dec. 10.

Donors Surpass Goal Of 160 Pints of Blood

Approximately 196 pints of blood were donated to the Red Cross Bloodmobile last Monday.

Although the statistics are not complete on this yet, the goal of 160 pints was definitely exceeded, and last year's total of 186 pints was exceeded.

One hundred and ninety prospective college student donors were present Monday, 60 more than last year's 130 prospective student donors.

The Macollege Home Economics Chapter, under the direction of Anita Ledell, sophomore from McPherson; Judith Penny, junior from Garden City, Mo.; and Miss Mildred Siek, professor of home economics; served the meal to the donors and the Red Cross personnel and volunteers.

Homemade cakes for the meal were baked and donated by 15 women of the college hill.

College men assisted in unloading and setting up the equipment, consisting of 10 bed units, at 8:30 a.m. Monday and helping take it down and reloading it that afternoon.

About 50 students helped at the bloodmobile. Thirty girls helped with the canteen, and around 18 worked as hostesses and receptionists. Generally, four hostesses worked each half hour from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Besides the 50 students, the help of 15 Red Cross nurses was required to carry out this project.

"Last One In Is A Vacillating Old Reactionary"

The Scholiast

By Christopher R. van de Velde

Perhaps when it is all over, the tally sheet will show us that this year's Student Council did not actually accomplish a great deal.

I personally was beginning to feel as though there was a better way to spend the earlier part of every Wednesday evening. Deciding who should get what rating for the Sportsmanship Award is really a very dull occupation.

Talking about things that might be done to make the students' college life more enjoyable or worthwhile is very interesting, but to see week after week bring little or no action is very disappointing.

At last week's meeting, however, I felt a new air enter the previously foggy Student Council room.

From a tired corner of the room came another suggestion—this one involving the committees to which the Student Council appoints members and gives financial assistance.

The administratively sound idea was that they report their activities every second meeting of every month.

This was only the beginning, however, because from another less often heard from corner of the room came still another suggestion; this one was a suggestion that perhaps there could be a clear statement given by the school's administration as to just what the role of the student and the student's council should be at McPherson College.

Things did not even stop there. The Council even decided to undertake to bring the student handbook (The Growl) up-to-date. Perhaps it could be broadened to a point where it might even prove helpful to new students in exploring the "ins" and "outs" of McPherson.

It is strange how it happens sometimes. Most of last week's meeting was the same routine atmosphere for some relatively interesting problems—the book store (see page one), salaries for publications personnel, and what to do about the required public Student Council meeting—but then suddenly the entire Council seemed to resent the rubber stamp role it is apparently being handed.

I have long felt that college students should have some legitimate voice in things which affect them or which they effect, and it looks as though the rest of the students' representative body just might have the same idea.

Frantz, Dell At Dedication

Merlin Frantz, professor of education and psychology, and on the Board of Directors of Bethany Theological Seminary, and S. M. Dell, professor of industrial arts education, represented McPherson College at the Dedication of the Bethany Theological Seminary, Oak Brook, Ill., Nov. 11.

The new "three million dollar campus" climaxes six years of planning and work begun in 1957 when the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren approved the relocation of its Seminary.

The move was also accompanied by a change in the name from Bethany Biblical Seminary to Bethany Theological Seminary.

Macollege Extends Sympathy to Ratzlaffs

McPherson College extends sympathy to the family and friends of Janis Ratzlaff, Janis, a Macollege freshman from McCune, was fatally injured in an automobile accident last Friday evening.

Campus Life Provides Topic for Discussion

Letters to the editor from students, faculty members, or others are welcome. All letters must be signed, but the name of the writer need not appear in print. Letters may be submitted to the editor or placed in the campus mail. Contributions do not necessarily reflect the policy or opinion of The Spectator, the administration, or the faculty of McPherson College.

Diner Retaliates Against Charges

Dear Editor:

Usually not the irascible type, but hardly masochistic enough to permit an injustice to be administered against my person without some form of retaliation. I have found the time (while waiting in line at the cafeteria; to work myself into a frenzy which has possessed me to write what I, at least, consider to be an angry letter.

The antecedent of my contempt is a letter appearing in the Nov. 15, edition of The Spectator, which condemns as egocentric maniacs unfit for the human race those few who display the common sense to avoid an otherwise voluminous line by waiting until the last five minutes of serving time before going to eat.

I take this personally because of these few. I am proud to number myself.

Tragically, I was not always a member of this elite intelligencia. In fact, having spent half of my college life in what I sometimes vulgarly refer to as a lunch line, I can double as the voice of experience.

I can vaguely remember (vaguely because it was just before my collapse—from hunger, I think) one particularly hideous Sunday afternoon.

I started my unholy pilgrimage toward my meager noon-time meal somewhere in the vicinity of the SUQR (that stands for Student Union Quiet Room) and was injected as a rebellion against what strikes me as being the McPherson College version of the New Deal vernacular.

At any rate, I happened to notice at the outset the attractive girl standing in front of me—I am really quite perceptive about things like that.

By the time I reached the front of the line, however, I found no less than eleven half-starved cannibals separating me from my initial companion. Also to my dismay, I discovered that, instead of my lunch, I would now be eating my supper.

Naturally, I could indulge in crowding practices myself, but, having a great animosity for those who do and being enough of a non-hypocrite, I have managed to refrain thus far.

Before my temper calms, I would like to deny the charges as made in the already mentioned letter.

It would be quite impossible to hurry through the cafeteria in the five minutes just before the scheduled closing time due to the simple fact that, in addition to always opening late, those who are serving are very rarely open for business during those last five minutes.

Cold 'Greetings' Bother Reader

Dear Editor,

It is very disappointing to me to pass a person and be "greeted" with a cold, expressionless face, or the side of a turned-away head.

Why is it so hard for some people to smile? Do they not know it takes far less effort to smile than to frown?

When you pass someone on campus—even though you would rather be sleeping in a nice, warm, cozy bed than on your way to take a test you know you will flunk anyway—do you smile, or offer some friendly gesture?

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. Would you not agree that we have quite a lot to be thankful for? Let's show it by our attitude toward life and toward the people with whom we live.

We should come back from Thanksgiving vacation with renewed spirits and uplifted attitudes. Let's not hide it; let's smile.

Sincerely,
A Friend of Yours

Criticism Merits Public Response

To the Editor:

It is somewhat disappointing that such a criticism as that which Peter Tham expressed in the Nov. 8 Spectator (concerning curriculum and educational process) did not evoke rebuttals from the educated, liberated students.

Or is it true that we are absorbing, by the "sponge process," the "inflexible emphasis of the educational process;" and that we lack the objectivity to see the issue so that we may respond to it.

The point of this letter, however, is to criticize the response which was given to the letter. Did you see or hear it? Most unlikely.

How does a college office defend its "closed" response (by letter to the criticizer) to an open criticism?

Would not a public defense of the public criticism be better than a private response suggesting that other colleges are open to students finding this one unacceptable?

It seems to me that Tham's criticism was calling for a response defending the college policy. We are still waiting for this response.

'Dishes' Help Scientists See Space Gases

Radio Astronomy was the subject of Dr. Hugh M. Johnson's talk Nov. 18. Dr. Johnson is an associate scientist at the National Radio Astronomical Observatory in Green Bank, W. Va.

He presented Radio Astronomy as a second window in the electromagnetic spectrum and stated that only since 1931 have we been able to see through this window with large "dishes," as radio telescopes are called.

Whereas visible light lets us observe stars and galaxies, radio noise permits us to see dust and gas clouds in space and in galaxies.

One of the major advances made by radio telescopes has been the mapping of our galaxy in greater detail than is possible with optical telescopes.

Dr. Johnson also said that just three weeks ago, a new line had been discovered in the radio noise wave lengths which is due to the OH radical: This is the most recent discovery in Radio Astronomy.

Dr. Johnson was sponsored by the American Astronomical Society.

Colleges 'Morally Obligated' To Allow Press Freedom

(ACP) — Professor Melvin Mencher of the Graduate School of Journalism at Columbia University said that colleges and universities are "morally obligated" to guarantee full freedom of expression to the college press.

Professor Mencher addressed student newspapermen at the annual convention of the Associated Collegiate Press in New York.

He said too many school administrators do not believe the college press can serve any academic function. "Furthermore," he added "officials constitute the major obstacle to freedom of the student press."

He listed three "basic truths" discussing freedom of student expression:

1. Most College publications are not free. Despite administrators who contend otherwise, most college papers "are subject to restraints prior to publication." Administrations limit areas into which the college press can go.
2. Most administrators do not want full freedom of student expression. "These people are dedicated and hard working men, but they are concerned with placating legislatures and donors. The student press is interested in issues, not edifications."
3. The argument that freedom of the press depends on responsibility is "spurious." There is no "definition of freedom of expression which makes freedom behavior."

"Actually," he said, "the student press acts responsibly but looks into issues which the university might not want examined."

"The point administrators make is that they seek restraints on the campus press to protect the dormitory cook from being libelled and to prevent some disappointed student actor from making broad hints in a play review about the personal life of the head of the drama department."

"They say, that is, that they are concerned about good taste and libel."

"This simply is not so. Those who want to limit the student press do so for far better reasons and they demean themselves when they talk such nonsense about the so-called irresponsibility of the student press. "They really want to keep students from examination of some political and social issues that might embarrass the university," he said.

Professor Mencher said the college's moral obligation to the student press is the same as its obligation to faculty members' freedom of expression and the sanctity of the classroom.

"The university recognizes that one of its major functions is to encourage the expression of ideas and the testing of theories," he said. "This recognition," he went on, "should be applied to the student press."

Coach Picks Young Squad

Twenty-four hopefuls reported for basketball practice on Nov. 11, when coaches Sid Smith and Don Widrig made the call to Maccollege students.

Three lettermen from last year's squad are back again plus three boys who have experience from last year's squad. During the first week of practice the squad was cut to fifteen.

Five freshmen survived the cut, as did eight sophomores, and three juniors. No seniors had reported for practice. This adds up to a young squad, but the experienced players should make this a very successful season, and bring some winning teams in future years.

All the players have a lot of enthusiasm and are looking forward to a very successful season. Several of the players commented that if the school gets behind the team, it could lead to a league championship.

The three returning junior lettermen are: John Tegeler, Marion Enke, and Doug Kenhans. All three of these boys have been teammates through high school, as they all attended Owensville high school in Missouri.

Tegeler is 6'2" and a two-year letterman here at Mac. During his high school days he was all-conference. Kenhans is also 6'2" and a one year letterman here at Mac. He was all-conference during his high school days, and also honorable mention all-state. Enke is a 6'2" two year letterman at Mac also.

Three returnees from last year's squad are Jim Haddox, a 5'11" sophomore also from Owensville, Mo.; Larry Moran, a 6'1" sophomore from McPherson; and Lynn Warner, a 5'7" sophomore from Union, Ohio, who had no high school basketball experience.

Other sophomores on the squad are: Jerry Barrows, a 5'10" two-year high school letterman from Waterloo, Iowa; Dick Welch, a 5'11" all-conference high school performer from Delphi, Ind.; Junior Hendricks, a 6' two-year high school letterman from Kingsley, Iowa.

The rest of the sophomores are: Warren Leinen, a 5'10" high school letterman from Simpson; and George Czaplinski, a 6'3" transferee from Kansas University. George is from McPherson where he was a three-year high school letterman and made the all-state team.

The five freshmen are: Tom Worthing, 6'3" from Wamego; Gene Czaplinski, 6'1/2" from McPherson; Jim Lambert, 6'2" from Inman; Duane Lewis, 6'2" from Industry; and Terry Reyher, 6'4" from Wiley, Colo.

The winners were Kathy Kienberger, a pre-nursing student, Kansas City, Mo.; Diana Ferris, a business major from Topeka; Jeanne Peterson, a business major from Wichita; Diane Ebberts, an elementary education major from Wichita; and Betty Grimm, an elementary education major from Denison, Iowa.

Ron Cassidante, Denver, and Merv Penner, Olathe, also tried out at the meeting.

The B-team cheerleaders will lead cheers at all B-squad basketball-games this year.

The cheerleaders felt that students at Mac should strive a little harder to promote school spirit at games and other activities.

Two specific problems discussed were poor attendance at away games, and lack of solid cheering support when people do attend games.

"Cheerleaders can cheer louder, and the boys will play harder if they know they have someone to back them up," the new cheerleaders stated.

"Our teams are supposed to do real well in basketball and have a chance for the conference title this year," one of them said. "We can really help by giving both A and B teams our support."

Betty Grimm added that she would like to see more people in an organized Pep Club, and a white-shirt section for interested men.

The new cheerleaders will begin their duties Nov. 26, when McPherson plays its first game against Tabor in the McPherson High School gym starting at 6:30 p.m.

CBYF to Feature Thanksgiving Service

A Thanksgiving worship service will be presented at College CBYF, Sunday, Nov. 24, 6:45 p.m., in the church basement.

Instrumental music and group singing will be presented in the one-half hour long service.

Presbies Win Tenth Victory

By Wendell Kuhlman

All-conquering College of Emporia swept to its tenth victory in as many games this year by trouncing Southwestern of Winfield 48-6.

Jim Switzer, C of E fullback, scored two TD's in this game to set a new NAIA single-season scoring mark of 168 points.

The other five Emporia touchdowns were scored by five different players. Southwestern tallied their only points in the final period.

C of E's star quarterback, Bruce Upstill, missed this game also because of a knee operation.

Ottawa made good use of the forward pass to down Baker 28-13 Friday night. The win gave the Braves solo possession of second place in the KCAC final standings.

Standings:	W	L	T
C of E	9	0	0
Ottawa	8	1	0
Bethany	6	3	0
Baker	5	4	0
S'western	5	4	0
Bethel	4	5	0
McPherson	3	6	0
Wesleyan	3	6	0
Sterling	2	7	0
Friends	0	9	0

The All-District 10 NAIA football team announced Friday contained eight players from undefeated College of Emporia. District 10 includes all NAIA members in Kansas.

Offensive choices from C of E were end Marv Williamson, tackle Eldon Moore, guard Bill Swartz, center Joe Kiley, quarterback Bruce Upstill, and fullback Jim Switzer.

Defensive picks from the Presbies were halfback Rick Tresky and Moore again at tackle. Moore was the only District 10 player named to both the offensive and the defensive teams.

Other KCAC players named to the District 10 defensive team were Chuck Wanamaker, Bethany end; Val Finney, Ottawa tackle; Marshall Guyer, Ottawa guard; Phil Hower, Southwestern linebacker; and Jon Krebs, Ottawa halfback.

Ottawa's Finney also received honorable mention for the offensive eleven, as did halfbacks Andy Honeycutt, Ottawa, and John Phillips, C of E.

The KCAC totaled 13 of the first 22 from District 10.

Harrison, Kuhlman Serve As Football Co-Captains

Captains for the McPherson College football team this year were John Harrison and Don Kuhlman, both seniors, and both rather small for the game of football.

John is an English major from Beloit. He plans to attend graduate school after teaching for a year following his graduation. John was a leader for Maccollege all year; he was one of the few players who played on both the offensive and defensive units this year. Being a thinking ballplayer, he was usually Mac's defensive caller.

John, 5'10" and 170 pounds, typifies the Bulldog team this year in that his best weapons are his head and his heart, not his heft.

Another typical Bulldog, Don

Kuhlman stands 5' 11" and weighs only 155 pounds. He was the McPherson signal caller this year, playing nearly all the offense and also saw considerable action at defensive safety near the end of the year.

Don's major is philosophy and religion; he plans to attend Wartburg Seminary at Waverly, Iowa, after graduation. He initiated the Bulldogs' pre-game prayers, and was the leading participant in them.

Don's home town is Athol, but he attended high school at Kensington.

Harrison, a center, and Kuhlman, a quarterback, led the team physically, mentally, and spiritually throughout the entire season. They were elected by squad vote before the homecoming game with Bethany.

Pottery, Kwok's Paintings In Friendship Hall Exhibit

Pottery of two nationally known artists will be included in the December art exhibit in Friendship Hall.

The exhibit will also feature twelve casein paintings, and Chinese brush paintings by Winky Kwok, sophomore from Hong Kong.

Winky, who is currently an art student of Macollege, studied in Hong Kong for two years.

The casein paintings and semi-abstracts by Lily Shuff, are from the Old Bergen Art Guild.

Angelo Garzio, whose pottery will be represented, is head of the ceramics department at Kansas State University at Manhattan.

Garzio, who owns a retail shop in Manhattan, makes pitchers which are quite plastic in feeling.

The pottery of Toshiko Takaezu, from the Cleveland Art Institute, consists of a variety of sculptural shapes. Her round "pillow" pots are done on a potter's wheel but are altered in shape.

Spectator Position Open For Student Applications

Applications for campus editor of The Spectator will be accepted until Tuesday, Nov. 26.

Selection will be made by the Student Council from the recommendation passed by the Board of Publications. The new campus editor will be named after Thanksgiving vacation.

Three semesters of work are involved in editing The Spectator. For the first semester, the student is in charge of reporters, as campus editor.
