Beeghly Library Receives Grant from Association

A grant of $300 has been awarded to the MacCollege Beeghly Library by the Association of College and Research Libraries, a division of the American Library Association.

The grant made to the library was one of 64 selected from among 280 applications. McPherson College and Friends University, Wichita, are the only two Kansas colleges receiving this grant.

The McPherson College grant will be used to purchase books on literary criticism.

The ACRL Grants Program was initiated in 1955 with a grant of $30,000 from the U.S. Steel Foundation.

The program, directed to the general needs of all colleges and universities, is designed for improving the quality of library service to higher education through fundamental research in librarianship and otherwise aiding in the best use of the most modern teaching and learning materials.

Arts Festival to Draw Talent from College

McPherson College's second Fine Arts Festival will be held the weekend of May 8, 9, and 10. As last year, it will be an opportunity for students and faculty to present original works of art, literature, or music.

The schedule for this year's program is being formed by a committee of students working with Professor Porter. The committee is presently contacting contributors and working to encourage others who might be interested in the festival.

The committee "hopes to be able to encourage an even greater variety of art forms than were displayed last year by accepting contributions from students of Central College and McPherson High School, as well as students, faculty, and alumni of McPherson College."

Jim Weaver, a senior from Edwardsville, Ill., is serving as a coordinator of the committee activities. All students interested in contributing may talk with him. A deadline of March 20 has been set for contributions.

The festival's format will be much like it was last year with presentations by the artists followed by discussion and talk-back periods.

"Because of this," a contributing student stated, "we must encourage all the rest of the students to feel completely free to contribute. It is a valuable opportunity for free artistic expression, so people must take part in it both as artists and observers."

Collegians Work in Europe Under Auspices of ASIS

This summer, college students throughout the United States will be able to spend their summer vacation working in Europe under the auspices of the American Student Information Service.

All positions are pre-arranged before students leave for Europe with ASIS making all required arrangements including work permits, health and accident insurance, tax exemptions and living accommodations.

The ASIS program also offers each job applicant the opportunity to apply for a travel grant ranging as high as $1,000.

More than 5,000 summer job openings are available to both men and women through ASIS including work at resort hotels, offices, hospitals, construction sites, summer camps and farms.

Wages range as high as $400 per month for the highest paying positions in West Germany.

Working conditions are the same as those of the Europeans with whom the students work.

Living accommodations in Europe are pre-arranged by ASIS for all students placed in European jobs. In most cases, room and board are provided free. When room and board is not provided, students live independently in the city where they are working.

Additional information on the summer job program is contained in the 24-page ASIS prospectus which may be obtained by writing to: American Student Information Service, Dept. III, 22 Avenue de la Liberté, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

Job and travel grant applications are included in the prospectus. To cover cost of handling and air mail reply, $1 is required with all inquiries.

Dramatists Postpone Production of Play

"The Doll's House" by Ibsen which, was to be put on March 13 and 14, has been postponed until April. Una Yoder, director of dramatics, will be in charge.

Group to Visit Capital For Educational Tour

About 35 students in the American Politics class will spend nine days sometime in April observing the national government at work.

Dr. Raymond Flory, professor of history and political science, said the students will spend four days in Washington, D.C., and one day in New York interviewing, listening to committee hearings, and visiting one of the national party headquarters.

Miller Becomes Member Of MacCollege Faculty

Dr. Wayne L. Miller, associate professor of speech and religion, joined the MacCollege faculty Feb. 27.

News Service Informs Public About MacCollege

McPherson College News Service, headed by Paul Wagoner, director of public relations and alumni affairs, is helping to keep the public informed by keeping Mac in the news.

Beverly Judge, senior from Marshalltown, Ia., works part time for Mr. Wagoner to help prepare stories designed to inform the general public of various activities involving college students, faculty or staff.

General stories are sent out to local and daily newspapers, while hometown papers receive stories dealing with the achievements of their students that now attend Mac.

Students Pledge To Draft Lodge

A national Students for Lodge Committee has been formed to solicit signatures requesting Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge to return from South Viet Nam and seek the Republican Presidential nomination.

The Committee feels that Lodge, who has served in the US Senate, as US Ambassador to the UN, and as the Republican Vice Presidential candidate in 1960, may be receptive to a draft movement.

Students interested in representing the Students for Lodge Committee may contact Students for Lodge, Box 93, Cambridge 39, Mass.

Judge Deserves Recognition For Service to Spectator

Beverly Judge, editor of last semester's Spectator, deserves a good round of applause and congratulations for completing five semesters of editorial work for the Spectator.

She began as campus editor, second semester, her freshman year and worked through the editorial positions.

When the managing editor's position was left open by a resignation second semester last year, she agreed to return to the Spectator and has very capably filled the managing editor's position and the editor's position.

I have enjoyed working with Bev the past two semesters. Of course we haven't always agreed on issues, especially politics (as you may have noticed in the last issue of the Spectator.)

For some reason or another she likes to razz Goldwater. We always argued politics in fun though.

As I am a Goldwater fan and a conservative, I'd like to get in a last word and publicly print what a conservative is.

The following is an excerpt from Senator Carl J. Curtis' definition of a conservative.

"A conservative is one who seeks to conserve the forces of progress.

"A conservative believes in the dignity, ability, intelligence, and destiny of the individual; that the individual, with the aid of Divine guidance, plus education, vision, and hard work, can meet his responsibilities in life with a minimum reliance on government.

He believes that individuals can be trusted to own property, that equitable rules should govern the economic contests among men, and that in such contests government should be the umpire and not a participant.

"He believes that men ought to be masters of their government and that government should be limited to the public needs of the people as a whole."

Goldwater fits these characteristics of a conservative.

We Get Letters...

Letters to the editor from students, faculty members, or others are welcomed. All letters must be signed, but the name of the writer need not appear in print. Letters may be submitted to the editor or placed in the campus mail. Contributions do not necessarily reflect the policy or opinion of The Spectator, the administration, or the faculty of McPherson College.

Student Opposes Retired Editor's Usage of Reality

Dear Editor: Many editorials in past issues of the school publication I have found far too "liberal" oriented to suit my way of thinking. But of all issues of the Spectator that ever took a flying dive into my trash can, the Jan. 17 issue made it in record time.

The literary gem that got my Irish up this time was a subtle remark in the editor's note preceding another typical collection of garbage aimed at Senator Barry Goldwater.

The little bit of wisdom to which I refer contained a dubious usage of the word "reality," which is "obviously intended to mean anything opposed to what Mr. Goldwater stands for."

Armed with this reasoning, let me attempt to define "reality," using various examples of its application in our government.

Reality is to put faith in an agreement with a nation whose very policy is to break treaties. In the words of Communism's worshipped policy maker, "Promises are like pie crusts: made to be broken." Lenin Reality is getting out of debt by spending for more than is taken in.

Reality is giving huge quantities of wheat to an enemy sworn and dedicated to destroying us and our American way of life. I say "giving" because we are extending the Russians credit on this deal, and one will get you ten if they ever pay. Americans will foot the bill with their taxes.

Reality is attempting to negotiate for settlement of differences while Communist victories claim their toll over millions around the world.

Now that "reality" has been defined, let us make one further observation. Patrick Henry said, "Give me liberty or give me death," and he is considered a great spokesman for freedom, as he should. But when Barry Goldwater asks, "Why not victory?" he is labelled a radical crackpot. Why?

Democrat Urges Students to Join YD Organization

Dear Editor, Last Thursday night following the final day of exams, the McPherson College Young Democrats Club held a dinner in the private dining room of the student union.

Club business included plans for a membership drive to increase its membership. The club is taking strides for joining the national organization.

The Young Democrats will meet every second Tuesday of the month in the Quiet Room of the Student Union.

We urge persons interested in learning of the aims of our organization to talk to Norman Howell, Ted d Brumbaugh Chris van de Velde or Robert Crabb. You might even come to a meeting!

The Scholiast

By Christopher R. van de Velde

I would like to begin this article by publicly expressing the Student Council's appreciation to Professor Ward. Dr. Ward has been serving on the Council in Dr. Flory's absence, and throughout the first semester has contributed many useful ideas and much stabilizing advice.

I remember one point, early in the semester, on which Dr. Ward and I disagreed (there may have been others). The question was whether or not the Student Council should ask the faculty to refrain from giving tests during the week immediately preceding exam week.

Dr. Ward's position was that faculty members would probably object to the slightest student interference in their teaching procedures. Now that another semester has come to a close, I feel even stronger that many more academic benefits would be derived from a week of planned review than are gained in chaotically finishing the material in order to give those last tests before exam.

Now that we have a walk-in book store, it is up to us as well as the proprietor to make it a success. With this in mind the Student Council, moved to see that the advertising and display problems are improved or eliminated. We want to see the bookstore serve successfully its intended purpose—that of adding to the academic opportunities of our college community.

In the world of the natural sciences, perhaps, perfection can be achieved. In the indefinable and ever-changing world society and social institutions, however, perfection can never be achieved.

Though we may work diligently to perfect solutions, there will always be room for refinement and, or, change. This year's Student Council is leaving no visible stone unturned in its attempts to bring about serviceable and profitable changes or refinements in this particular social institution.

A new study group, chaired by Junior Hendricks, has been formed to study ways of improving the atmosphere on cam-

Krehbiel Wins Honors At Missouri Debate

Georgianna Krehbiel, freshman from McPherson, was one of the two top debaters named at a tournament Jan. 11 at William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.

Georgianna and her debate partner, Emilee Solomon, sophomore from McPherson, won three out of four debates.

Harden Estate Bequests Funds For Macollege

McPherson College has received a $5,000 scholarship bequest from the estate of the late Mr. Len Harden public school administrator and teacher and a 1925 graduate of McPherson College.

Earnings from the amount are to be used for scholarships for upper class students studying in the sciences, mathematics, or in pre-medicine.

Mrs. Harden, formerly Stella Bowman, is also a McPherson graduate. She is currently residing in Salina.

plus through further beautification. Ideas that will receive consideration by this committee will range from painted college seals replacing paper stickers on glass doors to decorated trash cans.

If you have any particular ideas or feelings, which you think would be of value to this committee, please make them public—this plea includes faculty as well as students.

The Student Council may relieve the faculty of a task we are sure they find exceedingly onerous—taking tickets at athletic contests.

If the details can be worked out the Student Council will assume responsibility for this task in the near future.

In my last article you may have wondered what I was referring to when I mentioned the questionnaire. The Student Council had hoped to have one ready for the last chapel of the semester, but we were not satisfied with our efforts, and decided to try to have our questionnaire ready for today's chapel.

I hate to appear in the role of the village idiot, and I hope you will bear with me when I err in writing about events which are supposed to occur after this article goes to press.

Aukerman, Mickel Give Views At College Peace Conference

By Robert Shank

Students from McPherson, Bethany, and Tabor colleges assembled on campus Jan. 23 and 24 for a Peace Conference to discuss their views and formulate their beliefs on Christian pacifism and non-pacifism.

The pacifist view was presented by Rev. Dale Aukerman, and the non-pacifist view was represented by Dr. Howard Mickel.

A basic difference between the two viewpoints was the basis on which each depended for his viewpoint. Though both placed an emphasis on Christ's teachings, Aukerman based pacifism on his interpretation of Christ's exemplary life.

In contrast, Mickel stated that we should ascertain God's will for our life in our time and situation, not try to ape Christ's actions. According to Mickel, Christ did God's will in his time and situation.

Mickel seemed to imply that the life of Christ as such had few, if any, ethical implications on our time; Christ's teachings, however, have transcended time and are applicable today.

Friday morning each participant gave his view on how to ascertain this "radical will of God."

Aukerman contributed the idea that the will of God is ascertained through the human life of Christ, God's Son.

A panel composed of Robert Porter, Jim Weaver, Orville Neufeld, and Tedd Brumbaugh, described their convictions on pacifism and non-pacifism.

In the afternoon Aukerman demonstrated how the American way of life was built around militarism by listing the latest facts on our deterrent force.

General conclusive peaceful alternatives were: more strenuous negotiations with the Soviet Union through East-West conferences; co-operative US-Russian aid program; disarmament and arms control through the United Nations, US-Russian technological exchanges through exchange students; individual political education.

These ideas were presented not to change one's mind but to strengthen his viewpoint, although for those who had not decided between the two, it was an excellent opportunity to examine the facts and consequences of the decision.

The bulk of the presentations was from the pacifist point of view, since peace is the main hope of pacifists.

It was not the aim of the conference to determine the authenticity of God or Christ or the validity of Christian ethics, but was to give the premises upon which pacifism is built and to challenge persons with goals to strive for.

Run, Americans, Run

See the girl, says The Red and White, University of Georgia. She is a pretty girl. See her checked madras skirt. And cotton blouse. And Weejuns. And puffed out hair. She is a college girl.

See the boy. He is a college man. See his tapered slacks. And Ghant shirt with the loop. And cordovans. With no socks.

See them at a dance. Watch them twist and yell and wave paper cups in the air. It is hot and noisy. See them after the dance in the girl's parking lot. They are in his car with the loud muffler.

Now it is 12:30. See the girl run from the car. She must get inside her dorm on time. She is a big girl. See them in class. The boy is slumped in the chair. He is asleep. The girl is slumped in her chair. She is asleep too. The professor is very dull. See them studying. It is 4:30 in the morning. They have a test today. See the little pills. They keep them awake. See the bottles under the boy's bed. They put him to sleep.

Now they are taking the test. See the little pieces of paper in their laps. They help them pass the test. It is hard. They are college students. Their adult friends call them "Young men and women." And "Future leaders of America."

God save America.

Bulldogs Face Final Weeks of Action

Opponents Fall Before Quintet

Three opponents, Friends University, Tabor, and KWU fell before the attacks of the McPherson Bulldogs, since the Bulldog's defeat to the Bethany Swedes. On January 16 at Wichita, the Bulldogs defeated the Falcons in league action by the score of 87-78.

The Bulldogs shot 48 per cent from the field in this game. John Tegler was high point man with 25, followed by George Czaplinski with 22 points, Marion Enke tallied 16 points, while Doug Knehans added 10 and Dick Welch 9.

In the other ball game, the Bulldogs stopped the Tabor College Bluejays for the third consecutive time this year by the score of 77-66 on the Tabor home court. It was a non-league game.

In this game the Bulldogs also shot a hot 48 per cent from the field. John Tegler was once again high point man with 24 points. Enke tallied 19, while Knehans added 15 and Welch 12.

In basketball action this past week, the Macollege quintet defeated the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes 90-79, on Tuesday evening at McCollege's home court. This was an important victory for the Bulldogs, as the Coyotes were in a second place tie in the conference, and had previously beaten the Bulldogs in Salina.

The Bulldogs started off very fast gaining an unsurmountable lead of 49-31 by the end of the first half. During this half the Bulldogs shot a very fine 55 per cent from the field. The closest the Coyotes were able to get was at the final buzzer.

Four of McPherson's players hit in double figures with both John Tegler and Marion Enke garnering 24 points. Doug Knehans followed with 16 with George Czaplinski adding 11, and Dick Welch 9.

With his 24 points, Marion Enke's 16.1 average, which was good for eighth in the conference, ought to raise his standing, in the individual standings. Before this game the Bulldogs were ranked third in free throw percentages; and fifth in field goal percentage.

Cagers Seek Foes' Defeat

Basketball action for the McPherson Bulldogs starts its final month tomorrow when Mac plays Bethel at Newton. The Bulldogs' next two games are both at home against Southwestern and Sterling on Feb. 4 and 7, respectively.

The Bethel Threshers have already met the Bulldogs twice this season. Mac won the first game, and Bethel captured the second during the McPherson Tourney, so this game decides the series between the two schools this year. Last year Bethel beat Mac 2 out of 3.

The Southwestern College Moundbuilders make their first appearance in the new McPherson "Roundhouse" on Tuesday Feb. 4.

Southwestern beat Mac in a real thriller at Winfield in Dec., and they seem to have overcome a starting slump which saw them lose their first four games.

Southwestern is one of the 3 conference members which hold series leads over the Bulldogs. The Bulldogs have now won 5 and lost 10 to the Moundbuilders since 1954.

The Sterling College Warriors visit Mac for a league game on Friday, Feb. 7. The Warriors have been having their share of troubles this season, but they boast the conference's top scorer in Dudley Boeken.

Boeken, a 6' senior guard from Lorraine, has been averaging over 26 points per game, and he alone can be enough to make Sterling dangerous. He led the Warriors in an upset of second-place Emporia on Jan. 14.

All of these games are league contests, and they offer Mac a good chance to improve on its 4-5 mark for the first round of conference games.

Tipton Tries Hand At Making Ceramics

Mrs. Lorretta Tipton, secretary to the business manager, is trying her hand at ceramics. She makes vases and flower-pots, for decorations in her new home.

Mrs. Lorretta Tipton

She and her husband, Mr. Ernest Tipton, have built a new ranch style home this past year. Her husband worked out the floor plan and did a lot of the building himself. Mrs. Tipton has done all of the interior decorating and has "really enjoyed it."

The house has an intercom over which they can talk to each other and also can play radio and will be able to play their Hi-Fi.

Mrs. Tipton enjoys some classical and popular music, but her favorite is Broadway musicals.

Needlepoint is another one of her hobbies. She is now working on chair covers for her home.

Her tastes in art run to landscapes and scenery done in soft colors.

Mrs. Tipton has traveled in approximately 40 of the 50 states and has been in Canada and in Mexico City twice.

The Tiptons have a married daughter in Louisiana and a married son in Denver. They have three grandchildren, a boy and two girls.

Mrs. Tipton went to Macollege for two years then worked in Wichita as a dental assistant. She married and finished her junior year. After raising her family she came back to McPherson and graduated, then began working here in the Business Office.

Brethren Board Seeks Donations For Elevator

At the Jan. 5 council meeting of the Church of the Brethren, plans were authorized to install an elevator and an additional stairway at the northeast corner of the church.

The Finance and Trustee Board hope to have the donations and pledges for the approximately $5000 cost of the elevator by Feb. 1, 1964.

Anyone wishing to contribute may mark an envelope "Elevator" and place it in the church offering.

The elevator which will go from the basement to the balcony is expected to be completed by April 1, 1964.

The reason for the elevator is that many elderly people do not attend church because they can not climb stairs.

Dell Presents Gift To Fahnstock Hall

By Karen Olman

A picture of Mr. S. E. Fahnstock was presented to Fahnstock Hall by Prof. S. M. Dell, dean of men, at their Christmas party, Dec. 18. This picture is a duplicate of a photograph in the museum.

Dr. R. E. Mohler, former professor of science, told the residents the history of the man for whom their hall is named.

Mr. Fahnstock came to McPherson College in 1889 to teach commercial courses. He was a very good pen artist and was in great demand since typewriters were not in wide use at that time.

Dr. Mohler called him "Mr. McPherson College." Although he was never president of the college, he literally ran it and being a splendid business man was able to take the college through the depression. Mr. Fahnstock was quite a politician and was very active in civic affairs.

He drowned while swimming in Calif., in 1909. He was only in his early 50's. It is believed he had a heart attack.

His wife remained at McPherson College teaching Bible classes and was dean of women for several years. She died in 1948.

The Fahnstocks made such a large contribution to the college both in service and money and were so highly respected that two buildings were named in their honor: the first dormitory, which housed both men and women, and the present men's dormitory.

Bittinger, Olson Attend Meeting For Economists

Dr. D. W. Bittinger, president of the college, and Dr. O. A. Olson, professor of economics and business administration, attended a conference for college and university economists, in Topeka January 24 and 25.

The conference, which began early Friday evening, was sponsored by the Washburn Fund for Economic Education, The Kansas Council on Economic Education, and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

The theme was "Economic Education." Featured speakers were Dr. Ben W. Lewis, chairman of the Department of Economics at Oberlin College, who spoke on "Economics Understanding: Why and What", and Dr. Adel F. Throckmorton, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who spoke on "Economics Understanding: When, Where, and How."

Dr. George L. Fersh, assistant director of the Joint Council on Economics Education in New York, led a roundtable discussion on Saturday.

Dr. Olson expressed a concern for better understanding of economics. In a recent survey he conducted in his own classes, he learned that only 12 per cent had taken economics in high school.
