

Macollege Will Be Host For SKSTA Convention

McPherson College will be host to the tenth annual Student Kansas State Teachers Association Convention on April 10-11.

The convention theme will be "Focus on the Future - The Teacher as a Change Agent." Students from twenty 4-year colleges and ten 2-year colleges will attend the conference.

The featured speaker will be Richard Carrigan, director of the Student National Education Association and assistant secretary for the National Council on Teacher Education and Professional Standards.

The convention will be held in Mohler Hall, Brown Auditorium, and the Student Union. Lodging will be arranged with McPherson motels and hotels.

Committees for various convention arrangements have been chosen. A cabinet member of the Student National Education Association will work with the committee chairmen.

The committees are as follows: Art, Lois Fruth, SNEA cabinet coordinator, LaVonna Howell, chairman, William Loeven, Jim Neher, and Mary Ellen Scott.

Housing, Shirley Vanderau and Nick Petrucci; Program, Karen Oltman, cabinet coordinator, Karen Andes, chairman, Sharon Poff, and Connie Weddle.

Publicity, Lena Miyasaki, cabinet coordinator, Elaine Flory and Charles Snyder.

Registration, John Harrison, cabinet coordinator, Sheryl Hollis, chairman, Sylvia Albright, Anjie Benton, Jan Fasnacht, Margaret Hintz, Linda Jamison, Joyce Martin, Colleen Neher, and Vida Sue Werner.

Stage, Edwin Johnson and Phil Miller; and Tea, Carol Christy, cabinet coordinator, Judy Penny, chairman, Pearl Fruth, Bethel Miller, and Elva Stryker.

College Sponsors Conference For Regional Brethren Youth

Robert Mays

By Joyce Birkenholz

An enrollment of over 400 is expected at this year's Western Region Youth Conference of the Church of the Brethren. This means that Macampus will be flooded with conferees and dorms will overflow as high school students check in for weekend lodging.

The conference, held on Macampus each year is being held this year from March 6-8, beginning on Friday rather than Thursday as it has in previous years. Registration will begin at 10:30 Friday morning.

Theme for this year's conference is "... Unto the Least of These ..."

The featured speaker for the conference will be Robert Mays, pastor of the Olympic View Community Church of the Brethren in Seattle, Wash.

The Rev. Mr. Mays was born in Denver, Colo., where he was a member of the Prince of Peace congregation. In 1943 he graduated from McPherson College. He then served for two years in Italy with the Brethren Service in the first overseas unit of Brethren Service Commission.

In 1950 Mr. Mays graduated from Bethany Theological Seminary, and that fall came to Macollege as Alumni Secretary and Director of Public Relations.

In 1954 Mr. Mays left for full-time pastoral work. He served nine years as pastor of the Church of the Brethren in Santa Ana, Cal., and last September moved to Seattle where he now serves as pastor.

Mr. Mays has always been interested in youth work and has been involved in it since college as local and district advisor, director of youth camps, speaker at conferences — and was three times the leader of the LaVerne College Christian Association retreats. He has always been interested in counseling and group therapy.

In addition to his youth work, Mr. Mays has been president of the Santa Ana Council of Churches, president of the Ministers Association and moderator of the Southern California district.

During the conference, Mr. Mays will deliver four messages. The first, "Beginning with the Least" is scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m.; the second "Serving the Least" will be presented Saturday at 9:30 a.m.; the third, "The Least Costs Most" will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m.; and the last message, "Champions of the Least" will be given Sunday morning at 8:45.

Other events of the conference will be a concert by the A Cappella Choir Friday evening. After the concert, the movie "For the Love of Mike" will be shown.

On Saturday Irven Stern, visiting professor of religion and philosophy will begin the day with the message "The Word of God Speaks for Our Day." After the messages by Mr. Stern and Mr. Mays, the speech contest will be given at 2:45.

The assigned title for this year's speech contest is "The Peculiar Ones." The four students participating are Steve Williams from Clovis, N. M.; Steve Rogers from Brooklyn, Iowa; Lethia Brown from Hutchinson; and Peggy Slater from Denver, Colo.

The speeches are limited to 1500 words and must be original. The judges for the contest are Dr. Wayne Miller, professor of speech and religion; Bob Wise, McPherson County attorney; and Paul Matthaal, pastor of the First Methodist Church of McPherson.

The winner of the contest will have his way paid to the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren which will be held in Lincoln, Neb., this summer.

A banquet will be held on Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Daryl Standafter, Macollege senior, will be the speaker. As a high school sophomore in 1958, Daryl was winner of the speech contest. He is one of the youngest contestants to win.

A Hootenanny after the banquet will feature the Macollege Balladeers, a folk-singing male quartet composed of Al Blough, Barry Haldeman, Jim Ockerman, and Larry King.

The Conference will close on Sunday with the installation of new regional officers, and closing worship, then conferees are invited to stay for church services at the local Church of the Brethren. Pastor Bomberger's sermon title will be "Model-T Parents and Jet-Age Teenagers."

During the Conference a book display will be set up in Friendship Hall. All books will be for sale. The committee in charge of the display is composed of Lois Beery, Max Gumm, Beverly Judge, and Janice Standafter.

The Western Region of the Church of the Brethren covers a large area, extending from the Mississippi River westward to the Rocky Mountains, and north to south from Canada to Mexico. This takes in fifteen states, which involves seven districts with a total of 139 congregations.

Student Committees are in charge of planning the Conference. On the Executive Committee are Leah Standafer, Colleen Neher, Lois Fruth, Judy Hoover, Phil Miller and Ken Ullom. Advisor to the group is Floyd Bantz, executive secretary of the Western Region.

Other student committees working on the conference are Lodging, Registration, Publicity, Banquet, Details, Recreation, Worship, Music, Book Display, and Ushers Committees. Glee Yoder, secretary assistant to the Western Region, is also working with these groups as they make final arrangements.

Jackson Speaks In Chapel Hour On Thursday

Colin Jackson, world traveler and lecturer from London, England, will pay his ninth visit to McPherson College, Thursday, March 6.

Tuesday's Chapel will be moved to Thursday so the total student body can hear his lecture. He will be speaking on international affairs.

Colin was educated at St. John's College, Oxford University. He has traveled widely in the Far East, Africa, Near East, and Europe, and has lectured at such universities as Yale, Stanford, Texas, and South Carolina.

Mr. Jackson is a regular Radio and Television commentator for the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Cast Chosen For Production

A tentative cast has been announced by the Drama Department for "The Doll's House" by Henrik Ibsen to be presented April 17 and 18, in Brown Auditorium.

Dell Ann Larsen, sophomore from McPherson will be playing the role of Nora Helmer, the protected, pampered "doll" of Torvald, her husband.

Torvald Helmer, played by Bob Slater, sophomore from Denver, Colo., is Nora's somewhat straight-laced husband who finds he does not understand his "doll" at all.

Azita Ledell, sophomore from McPherson, will play Mrs. Linden, a lonely widowed school friend of Nora's.

Vance Alexander, junior from Geneseo, will portray Nils Krogstad, a man who has taken the wrong turn in life and has become bitter and defeated.

Dr. Rank, portrayed by Nelson Stump, senior from McPherson, is the devoted, melancholy friend of the Helmers.

Anna, played by Joyce Martin, sophomore from Sterling, Ohio, and Ellen, played by Peg Messick, junior from Bethesda, Md., are the faithful servants of the Helmers.

Rehearsals will begin immediately.

Administrators Arrange Summer School Schedule

A tentative summer school schedule has been set up to convene on June 1, and continue through August 21.

Twelve 3-hour courses will be offered. They are: History of Social Thought, June 1-19, Dr. Kenneth Bechtel, professor of sociology and language; Arts and Crafts, June 22-July 10, S. M. Dell, professor of industrial arts education.

Elementary Economics, June 22-July 10, Dr. Oscar Olson, professor of economics and business administration; Educational Psychology, June 22-July 10, Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor of education and psychology.

School Health Education, June 22-July 10; General Biology, July 13-31, Dr. John Burkholder, professor of biology; Geography, July 13-31, Professor Leland Lengel, assistant professor of history and political science.

Introduction to Education, July 13-31, Dr. Rothrock; Life and Letters of Paul, July 13-31, Irven Stern, visiting professor of philosophy and religion; Physical Science, August 3-21, Short Story, August 3-21, Harley Stump, professor of English; and Field Session in Mexican History, August 3-21, Dr. Raymond Flory, professor of history and political science.

Dr. Flory will teach American Politics from June 8-19.

Dr. Wayne Miller, associate professor of speech and religion will teach a two-week (two-hour) course in advanced speech from June 1-12. On June 15 Miller will have a one-week workshop on speech correction.

A Special Education Workshop: The Gifted Child will be given for one-hour credit from June 1-5, and a natural science workshop for one-hour credit beginning June 8.

Organ and piano lessons will be available by appointment. Students will be permitted to take only one course at a time. Tuition fees are $22 per semester hour.

Enrollment will take place during the first hour at the beginning of each course sequence.

All classes are scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. each day.

Fisher Will Assume Duties With Quadrangle

Gary Fisher, sophomore from Bethlehem, Pa., was selected to the position of Quadrangle assistant business manager, in a Board of Publication and Student Council meeting this week.

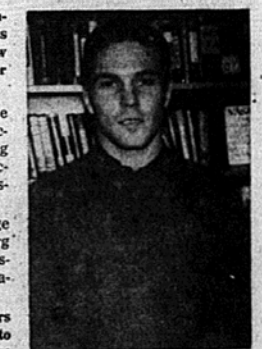

Next fall Gary will move immediately into the business manager position which is now held by Daryl Standafer, senior from McPherson.

The business manager for the Quadrangle handles the financing for the yearbook by selling ads and keeping all of the records of sales and other transactions.

Gary transferred to Macollege this fall from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, Stroudsburg, Pa., where he participated in several sports.

He was in the Paratroopers and has also worked as an auto mechanic prior to his entrance to college.

The Quadrangle staff is headed this year by Marcia Yoder, senior from McPherson and is assisted by Judy Hoover, junior from Denver. Judy will become editor next fall.

Why Not Abolish StuCo?

Why not do away with the Student Council, and instead of that organization, set up a Student Grievances Committee?

It would serve the same purpose.

There was no vote taken but it was decided

Dear Trustees:

We welcome you to McPherson College.

Your visit among us is an important visit. In a sense the college belongs to you; we who are a part of it, therefore, are greatly dependent upon you. Those of us who are teachers would like to be able to impart good education and those of us who are students would like to receive an education which is of the best. As we who are students move into the future, we will often speak of the college from which we came. We would like to speak of it with pride. We would like to have our McPherson College experience be a springboard from which we can continue to grow into a rewarding and serviceable life.

You have received the college from a long line of trustees who preceded you. They have done well through more than 75 years; you have been venturesome and courageous in recent years.

We encourage you, therefore, to continue in this spirit. Give concentrated thought to McPherson College's faculty, its student body, its educational facilities, its immediate and its long-term future. We who are students have concerns which are often quite immediate and close at hand.

We who are the faculty have concerns which may be immediate, but also of longer range. You who are trustees must think of the short-term concerns but more than any of us you must think also in terms of 20 years, 40 years, 100 years.

Welcome to our campus. May God bless you as you work with the college administration, faculty, and students, for the good of "our college".

Yours Sincerely,
Student Body, Faculty, and Administration

that the minutes of the StuCo meetings should be placed in the Student Union.

An SGC could have taken care of this very easily. The men of Fahnestock Hall wish a coke machine — an SGS could also take care of this.

StuCo elections are a farce; they are merely popularity contests. Instead of "May the best win," it has been changed to "May the most popular win." Campus politicians forget campaign promises after election. Student leadership positions are status symbols for those who serve as leaders of organizations which are figureheads with no power.

Instead of a large useless body of people known as the Student Council, why not set up a small group of students who could do the same job?

Students with gripes or suggestions (such as the Model U.N. and the paper-back bookstore) could go to this committee and work through it.

In other words, let's abolish the useless and powerless Student Council and replace it with something that would come closer to what it really is — a Student Grievance Committee. daa

Scholiast Will Feature Diversified Activities

By Christopher R. van de Velde

Last week's column may have caused some people to wonder what I was trying to say. To begin with, it was nothing more than a meaningless phrase — the result of some imagination and a memory of soap opera titles.

There was, however, a point to it; I was sorry for the level of letter-to-the-editor writing which was caused by my article.

I was also glad that the President of the College pointed out the mistake of degrading aspects of attacking men rather than ideas.

I wish to apologize to Mr. Lawrence for what has been construed as a personal attack; I was trying to point to an ever-growing weakness — that of leaping before looking.

I think that generalities which demonstrate no preparatory thought are as degrading to the dignity of man, as anything else we can begin to do — man's unique gift of reason should never be allowed to stand idle. I was, therefore, glad to see Mr. Lawrence clarify his reasons for disliking the editorial policies of our previous editor.

There has been some discussion recently (public and private) of the fact that this column has failed in its duty to report Student Council news.

This discussion intrigues me for several reasons: I am not a Student Council reporter; I thought people would understand comments as being just exactly what they are; and anyone seeking objective facts about the Student Council can come to meetings — all are open to the public.

Student Council meeting minutes will be posted in a bulletin board in the Student Union, and this article will contain only comments on Student Council, campus, and world activities — more national and international than in the past.

I have been challenged to outline my political views in this column, but I am sure everyone is aware of the limited space, and the impossibility of my ever completely outlining my political views while everyone is awake.

Skipping many important contemporary issues, for the present, I would like to make some brief comments on what many consider to be the basic contemporary question: "Shall the individual and the community or the Federal Government lead this nation to her rendezvous with destiny?" West Virginia will serve as my example.

West Virginia is an economically depressed area for several reasons: its role in the national economy has been deleted because of technological advances; its populace is too poorly or in-

We Get Letters . . .

Letters to the editor from students, faculty members, or others are welcomed. All letters must be signed, but the name of the writer need not appear in print. themselves bonafide members of the intelligentsia appear to regard sitting on the back of their necks during every convocation as a mark of their superior social and intellectual distinction.

The interpretation they apparently intend to transmit is that they are above the need to learn, since they obviously know it all.

However, the actual interpretation of this adolescent behavior results in a feeling of pity and contempt for such an ignorant attitude. At the very least, students should afford to the speaker or the program participants the elementary courtesy of attention.

The decision of the Air Force Academy to which I alluded earlier was that church attendance in an educational institution was primarily intended as education. I think that we could profit from this interpretation relative to our own situation.

Attendance is expected in academic classes; attendance should be expected in an educational convocations.

The challenge, therefore, is to present convocations which are educational. Religious convocations, far from being a time for indulging in the luxury of sleep, should be a time for expanding horizons. Is there one among us who is so positive that a God exists that intellectual pursuits are no longer necessary?

I believe in the freedom not to worship just as vigorously as I believe in the freedom to worship. But in an educational institution, religion should properly be treated as educational in nature. Therefore, the trite expression that students should not be forced to worship does not apply.

But let's not linger on our quasi-religious chapels. There is an obvious need for cultural and intellectual assemblies. Political discussions, social issues, and campus concerns should be discussed in a convocations period.

Since I have linked convocations periods with academic classes, I feel that they should be regarded in the same light. Therefore, students should be given credit for convocations attendance. I propose that a minimum of one-half hour per semester be given credit for convocations attendance. I propose that a minimum of one-half hour per semester be given to those students who are regular in their convocations attendance.

Perhaps this would dispel some of the student apathy toward issues other than cafeteria food and coke machines. Students would be encouraged to give their attention, because the presentations would be informative and because students would be granted credit toward graduation in exchange for their educational tolerance.

Something had better be done, or Brown Auditorium will become another dormitory.

Daryl Standafer

Attention Please During Chapel, Advises Author

Dear Editor,

Since Mr. Neuberger's letter, very little has been seen in the Spectator concerning convocations programs. This letter has been prompted by recent utterances on this campus, and an administrative decision at the Air Force Academy relative to compulsory church attendance.

At the onset, let me state that I am aware of the deplorable attitude of the student body concerning convocations decorum.

Many students who consider adequately educated to cope with this problem; and until recently there has been no constructive plan for West Virginia's economic recovery.

I do not want to paint a heart wrenching picture of poverty, but many of us have never seen it, much less experienced it; it is, however, a hardship which humans should not have to endure. I am confident that in time, perhaps several generations, the individuals of West Virginia could overcome the hardships they now endure.

The question is, should they have to spend many painful years pulling themselves up from a misery that society created for them, or should society make a supreme effort to expedite the elimination of human suffering — in West Virginia first, somewhere else next?

Rather than using valuable space to outline specific economic-social-political programs, I would like to express my opinion that "too many cooks" do not "spoil the broth," they contribute to its being the best available broth.

In short, what I am saying is that the Federal government is not an inorganic monster — it is, rather, the vehicle by which society can best right its wrongs.

By pooling our brain power resources in a "total picture" cooperative effort, West Virginians can be spared many grueling years of inhumane suffering.

We need a strong central government to dispatch our problems, and we need to constantly examine this vehicle to be certain that all of its functioning parts are well lubricated.

Everyone knows that the most profits can be reaped from a business venture if it is a monopoly; there is a definite demand for the products of government, and the greatest returns can only be realized if we pull together in once, central (monopolistic) government.

Women End Ball Season

Basketball season officially ended for the McPherson College girls Feb. 19, when they defeated the Bethany College girls 56-17 at Lindsborg. The win was the sixth for the Macollege sextet in their seven games this year.

The only mar on McPherson's record this year is a 46-43 defeat at the hands of the Bethel Threshers at McPherson on Jan. 18.

The Macollege girls defeated this season, in order, Ft. Hays, Sterling twice, Bethel (loss and then win), Sterling again; and Bethany.

In all, the Mac girls scored 232 points and held their opponents to 225. Anne Kruse led individual scorers with 127 points for an 18.15 average.

Nancy Erritt tallied 92 points this season, good for a 13.15 average. Janet Rhinehart and Karen Andes collected 26 and 19 points respectively.

Outstanding defenders for Macollege this season were Shirley Vanderau, Anna Hutchison, and Connie Weddle.

Connie's husband, LeRoy Weddle, acted as coach for the girls this season in the temporary absence of Doris Coppock, who is on sabbatical leave. Acting manager was Anne Kruse.

Drama Class Will Present Short Plays

Students of advanced play production class under the direction of Mrs. Wilbur Yoder, director of dramatics, will present a series of short dramatic productions as term projects for the class.

The first of these, "The Terrible Meek," will be presented in chapel March 20. Betty Varnier, junior, Kansas City, Mo., will direct. Casting for this play has been completed, and rehearsals will soon start.

Other productions to be given are Checkov's "The Marriage Proposal," directed by Carolyn Lehman, junior, Lincoln, Neb.; "Those Doggoned Elections," a comedy, directed by Roger Solomon, junior, McPherson; and a mystery thriller, "Sorry, Wrong Number," directed by Jacquelyn Raymond, junior, from McPherson.

A short operetta, "The Lowland Sea," will be presented under the direction of Nelson Stump, senior from McPherson.

Several of these plays will be presented the evening of May 16 on the stage of Brown Auditorium.

Three Women Join NCTE Organization

Three additional students joined the National Council for Teachers of English.

They are Marcia Yoder and Lois Fruth, seniors, and Jan Fasnacht, junior.

All three are enrolled in the Language Arts Methods Course for elementary teachers, taught each Wednesday evening by Mrs. Maxine Brunsell, teacher from Lincoln School.

Slack Becomes Points Chairman For Pep Club

Roberta Slack, sophomore from Imperial, Neb., was elected by the Macollege Pep Club as points chairman for second semester. She is replacing Lynn Olwin, junior from Elgin, Ill., who resigned when she moved from the dorm.

As the basketball season draws to a close the pep club's main purpose of providing organized yells at games will end. However, the organization will still be responsible for promoting enthusiasm for track and tennis meets, music programs, and other campus activities.

Booster buttons and megaphones are still available to those students who would like to purchase them for next year. Buttons are 25c and megaphones are 65c. Those interested may contact Leah Standafer, pep club president.

Season Ends With Victory

BALDWIN — The McPherson College Bulldogs closed out their 1963-64 basketball schedule here last night by defeating Baker University 96 to 81 in a Kansas Conference game.

McPherson completed the season with a conference record of 10-8 and an overall seasonal record of 15-12.

George Czaplinski scored 12 field goals and nine additional points at the free throw line for a total of 33 points for McPherson. Marion Enke had 16 and John Tegeler 20.

High scorer for Baker was Beck with 24 and Hutton had 18.

McPherson took an early lead and led all the way. At the half the Bulldogs had built up a 55-39 advantage.

McPherson scored well from the field, hitting 47.5 per cent of its shots. Baker was held to 36.5 per cent of its shots. The Bulldogs outbounded Baker 37 to 23. The box score:

Juniors, Seniors Hold Festivities April 25

The Junior-Senior banquet and prom will be held this year on April 25.

Committees for the event are: Band, Larry Kitzel and Larry Blair; Food, Earl Saffer, Vida Werner, Carol Christy, and Larry Bowman; Program Bill Grove, Ellen Sell, Leah Standafer, and John Miller.

In charge of decorations are Margaret Hintz, Sandra Hoover, Vance Alexander, and Dennis Emmert.

The event will be held in the Student Union.

Teams to Be Active In Track, Tennis, Golf

Officially recognized varsity spring sports in the KCAC are track, tennis, and golf. McPherson College has an active program in all three sports.

Head track coach Donald Widrig issued the call to check out track gear on Wednesday, Feb. 26. The first meet of the year will be the Kansas State Indoor Meet at Manhattan March 14.

Widrig has six returning lettermen this year. They are Larry Bierwirth, John Chance, Marion Enke, Duane Pope, Buddy Taylor, and Lynn Warner.

Larry and John are dash men. Bierwirth's specialty is the 100-yd. dash, while Chance runs every race up to and including the quarter mile, his best distance.

Enke and Warner run the mile and two-mile distance races. Lynn, a first semester junior, garnered more points than any other Macollege trackman last year.

Duane Pope earned his letter mostly by throwing the javelin, but he also runs the 800 - yd.

distance. Bud Taylor runs the hurdles and pole vaults. Other trackmen to watch include versatile Jim Steinle and half-miler John Tegeler.

The outstanding tennis squad of last season is nearly all gone. The only remaining letterman is the "M" Club president, Bill Kelly. The remainder of the squad must be picked from unknown talent, and it will be, at best, an inexperienced crew.

The outlook for golf is considerably brighter this year. No less than four lettermen return from last year's team. They are Doug Knehan, Phil Miller, Dave Sherck, and Bob Williams.

Another returning golfer, Larry Bowman, earned a provisional letter in this sport last year.

It appears as though Macollege should at last hold its own this year in track and golf, while the tennis program is in a sweeping rebuilding phase.

Bulldogs Beat Friends While Losing to Swedes

In basketball action last week the Bulldogs split a pair of league games; losing to the Swedes of Bethany on Feb. 19, by the high score of 101 - 91, and on Feb. 22, winning their last home game of the season 97-94 over the Friends Falcons.

The Swedes, who have already captured the league crown, pulled away from the Bulldogs at the beginning and held the lead throughout the game. The Bulldogs gave the Bethany team a scare when they pulled within 5 points in the closing minutes of the game, but the hot-shooting Swedes were able to overcome this late rally.

The Swedes presented a balanced scoring attack with Bob Ahlstedt, Paul Johnson, Harvey Daniels, and John Darrow all shooting very accurately. They ended up hitting 43 field goals in 70 attempts.

For McPherson, Marion Enke was high point man with 25 counters. John Tegeler was close behind with 23, George Czaplinski tallied 19, while both Dick Welch and Doug Knehan made 12. The Bulldogs ended up with 40 field goals in 81 attempts.

In their last home game of the season the Bulldogs played a very fine game against a hustling Friends team. The Falcons, behind their 5' 8", freshman scoring ace, Keith Lucas, took the lead early in the game, but by half time the Bulldogs' superior rebounding power pulled them ahead.

Marion Enke had his best night of the season for the Bulldogs, tallying 33 points and 12 rebounds. John Tegeler was second in scoring and rebounding with 20 points and 10 grabs. George Czaplinski added 19 points, while Dick Welch hit for 12 and Doug Knehan 5.

These two games left the Bulldogs' league record at 9 wins and 8 losses, with only the one game against Baker remaining.

Japanese Prints on Display During March Art Exhibit

By Karen Oltman

Japanese prints obtained from Mrs. M. Onomiya, a Japanese dealer in prints from Minneapolis, Minn., will be on exhibit in Friendship Hall during March.

The exhibit is of very fine quality, and represents various periods in the history of Japanese prints, block prints, line drawings, and wash. The most important graphic artists of Japan are to be seen from the works of Hiroshige with his well-known wave, to the prints of Harunobu and other famous names.

Here can be seen the extreme sensitivity of the Japanese artist, his keen appreciation and observations of nature. The Oriental landscape is one into which man fits, and is an element of significance.

In the western landscape man often appeared as a creature apart - lost and alone. This speaks well for the way these artists value the individual and all life.

These artists not only manifest extreme finesse and sophistication in the use of their medium, but they display rare humor, and a great delight in the little comedies of life. Much is expressed by limited means, a line or color becomes highly charged with meaning.

The loving attention to details in flower petal and animal outlines, shows that the eastern man is one who takes time to stop and savour the beauty around him - to contemplate the beauty of line in a tree or a dashing wave.

The print, beauty of arrangement and of line, can achieve as much significance as the subtle balance of a classical structure.

McPherson College has the rare opportunity of obtaining these prints at low cost, some for as little as 75c. A print may be purchased by contacting Miss Robinson.

Math Course To Be Given

"Foundations of Mathematics," a modern math course, is being taught at McPherson College by Dr. Robert Bechtel, professor of mathematics at Kansas State University, Manhattan.

The class meets in Room 218, Mohler Hall, Saturdays from 9-12, Feb. 15-May 16.

Designed primarily for elementary and junior high school teachers, this course serves as credit for either graduate or undergraduate work.

The Department of Continuing Education, Kansas State University, in cooperation with the McPherson Public Schools and McPherson College sponsor this course.

Fees are as follows: residents of Kansas, $30 for undergraduates and $42 for graduates; non-residents, $42 for undergraduates and $54 for graduates.

The instructor, Dr. Robert Bechtel, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bechtel. Dr. Kenneth Bechtel is professor of sociology and language at McPherson College.

Band to Hold Concert, Sunday

A band concert to be given by the McPherson College Concert Band Sunday, March 1, at 3 p.m. in Brown Auditorium will feature many contrasting styles of music for concert band.

Conducted by Professor Irvin Wagner, the band will perform "Block M" march, a concert march by Blikk, "When Jesus Wept" and "Chester Overture" by Schuman, and "Prelude and Passacaglia" by Purcell.

Four movements from "Lincolnshire Posy", a survey of British folk songs will include: Dublin Bay, Harkstow Grange, Lord Melbourne (a war song), and The Lost Lady Found.

"Barnum and Bailey's Favorite", a circus march, and the "Band of America March" by Lavalie will also be played.

Trustees To Discuss Plans For Budget

Trustees of McPherson College arrived on campus yesterday and will be here through Saturday.

Dr. D. W. Bittinger, president of the college, outlined the business for this meeting. The major area of business is faculty additions, salaries, and re-employment.

Another item of business involves almost $1 million as the Trustees discuss the budget of the coming year.

What to do with Arnold Hall will be decided as the Trustees discuss "anything that needs to be done."

Steve Mohler, student council president, will report to the Trustees in regard to student affairs.

The 85th Anniversary of McPherson College in 1972 and the 90th Anniversary in 1977 will serve as dates by which these goals may be attained.
