Group to Sing For Series

The Porgy and Bess Singers are the featured entertainers on the Cultural Series program to be presented April 7, at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

The Porgy and Bess Singers are composed of a trio, of a tenor, Levena Hutchinson; Lucia Hawkins, a soprano, and Aven Long, baritone.

Levern Hutchinson, tenor, has played the original tenor lead as Joe, in the Broadway production of Carmen Jones. He also portrayed Porgy in New York's production of George Gershwin's opera, Porgy and Bess.

Lucia Hawkins, the female soprano, has played Cindy Lou in Carmen Jones. She is also known for her singing of songs by Jerome Kern, Rogers and Hammerstein, and arias from Madam Butterfly.

Third member of the Porgy and Bess Singers is Aven Long. He has appeared on television with parts in The United States Steel Hour, Garroway at Large, and his portrayal of Cain in the TV production of Green Pastures.

This three member group will appear only for this cultural Series program.

Convocations Calendar

Tuesday, March 31 - Chapel. Children's Choir from Wichita schools, directed by Mrs. Ruth Holloway.

Friday, April 3 - Assembly. Dr. Bittinger will speak.

Wagner Receives Leave To Work On Doctorate

Irvin Wagner, assistant professor of music and director of bands and orchestra at McPherson, has been granted a leave of absence by the college to work toward a Doctor of Musical Arts Degree at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.

He will be doing his work at Eastman in the field of performance and pedagogy. This will entail work on the trombone and fields related to the trombone.

His leave of absence is for the 1964-65 academic year. He will start at Eastman this summer, continue through the year and work through next summer.

Professor Wagner, a 1959 graduate of McPherson, received a Masters of Music degree from Eastman in 1960.

He has been a member of the McPherson College faculty since 1960.

State Brings X-Ray Unit To McPherson

The Kansas State Department of Health Chest X-ray mobile unit will be in McPherson County from March 21 to April 7.

The unit will be in McPherson March 31 through April 7.

On March 31 the unit will be stationed in McPherson on West Kansas Avenue just south of the Grand Building, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce room at the end of this building will be used by the staff.

The first day the mobile unit will go to the NCRA Refinery and the Alliance Companies building. The rest of the time, April 1-7, it will be open for the general public.

It has been two years since the unit has visited McPherson County.

Musical Groups to Tour As Deputation Teams

A Cappella Choir and the Trombone Quartet will be sent by McPherson College on deputation tours during April.

Touring Iowa, April 11-19, will be the Trombone Quartet and Kenneth Yingst, director of development and public relations.

Members of the quartet are Merlin Grady, junior from Waterloo, Iowa; Warren Harde n, senior from McPherson; Larry Kitzel, junior from Omaha, Neb.; and Tim Matthaai, freshman from McPherson.

The trombones will play at a McPherson College Alumni Meeting in Waterloo, April 11; Waterloo City, South Waterloo, and Garrison Churches, April 12; and Cedar Rapids, April 13.

Tentative plans include a McPherson College Alumni Program in Des Moines, April 14.

On April 15, the group will be in South English; April 16, South Keokuk; April 17, Libertyville; April 18, Monroe county; and April 19, Ottumwa and Fairview. The group will give several high school programs which the ministers will arrange.

A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Donald R. Frederick, professor of voice and director of choral organizations, will tour Kansas and Northern Oklahoma, April 16-20.

Programs will be given in the Peabody and Minneha Schools and the Wichita Church of the Brethren, April 16; and Bell Plaine and Garber, Okla., High Schools, and Billings, Okla., Auditorium, April 17.

April 18, the group will travel to Garden City and tentative plans include a visit to Northwestern University Campus in Alva, Okla.

The Choir will sing at the Garden City and Eden Valley Church of the Brethren April 19; and St. John, Fairfield, and Nickerson High Schools, and the Hutchinson Church of the Brethren, April 20.

Students to Vote April 16 For Council Members

Student Council Elections will be held from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursday, April 16.

Petitions for prospective candidates may be obtained in the Student Council Office from 12-1 p.m. each day and 5-6 p.m. every day except Saturday beginning Friday, April 3. They must be turned in by 5 p.m. Thursday, April 9.

Any student desiring to run for office must secure the petition, personally, and have 50 members of the student body sign it. The exception to this rule, Student Council Class Representatives, require only 25 signatures of members of the respective class.

If a run-off election is needed, it will be held April 17.

All students running for President of the student body will be granted space on the Spectator editorial page to make statements concerning their policies and purposes.

These statements would appear in the April 10 issue of the Spectator and must be submitted to the editor no later than Sunday night, 8 p.m., April 5.

Coming . . .

Friday, March 20 - Tuesday, March 31 - Easter recess.

Friday, April 3 - politics trip begins.

Saturday, April 4 - International Student Conference.

Tuesday, April 7 - Cultural Series, Porgy and Bess Singers, Brown Auditorium, 8 p.m.

Friday, April 10 - Student KSTA Convention.

Friday, April 17 - Play, "A Doll's House," Brown Auditorium.

Saturday, April 18 - Play, "A Doll's House," Brown Auditorium.

IRC to Promote Cultural Exchanges

How can McPherson College and other American college campuses promote a worthwhile cultural exchange between American and International students? This will be the topic for discussion at the International Student Conference to be held on Macampus April 4.

The conference, first of its kind at Macollege, was proposed by Fumitaka Matsuoka, Macollege junior from Japan, and is being sponsored by the International Relations Club. The idea for the conference came after a similar discussion at the February 11, IRC meeting.

International Relations Club members from Bethany, Central, Bethel, Sterling, Kansas Wesleyan, Friends, Hesston, Tabor, and Southwestern have been invited to attend.

The meeting, which will be held in the Student Union, will begin with the discussion period from 2-4 p.m., led by Matsu.

The student body will be included in an international dinner Saturday evening. The dinner, which will be a dress-up meal, will feature dishes from various countries.

From 7:30-11:00 p.m. students are invited to "Dance Around the World." The dance, which is semi-formal, will be held in the Student Union basement.

Carlos Green will be in charge of the program. Featured in the program will be Charles Dadisman and Steve Benysek, both doing piano numbers; Peter Thom doing a number on the harmónica; and Carol Klotz and the Balladeers.

Committees in charge of the conference are: Decorations - Ann Rodabaugh, chairman, Winky Kwok, Ina Stamp, and Ron Cassidente; Refreshments - Joyce Eikenberry, chairman, Dan Zinn, Shirley Petracek, and Charlotte Metzker; Program and Publicity - Carlos Green, chairman, Ngida Gadzama, and George Snavelly.

On the Reception Committee are Fumitaka Matsuoka, Winky Kwok, Dan Zinn, Lowell Flory, Judy Hoover, Anjie Benton, Marilyn Marsh, and Marty Mohler.

Economists Will Observe Home Economics Week

Home Economics Week in Kansas is March 15-21. The Kansas Home Economics Association has 444 members, the American Home Economics Association 28,500 members, and the 16 college Home Economics Chapters in Kansas have 500 or more members.

Although Home Economics is mainly a profession for women, more and more men are entering the field. They are particularly interested in fields of family life, family economics and housing.

Career opportunities available to those in the Home Economics field are teaching in elementary school through college, extension work with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Dietitians Nutrition Specialists in health and welfare organizations, and food testing and recipe developing.

Equipment demonstrators, clothing and interior designers, buyers in fields of clothing and textiles, nursery school directors, and housing consultants are other job opportunities.

The Peace Corp has a great need for home economists. Sargent Shriver has asked for 400 home economists for agriculture extension teaching and work in rural community action programs.

High Tea To Be Served At Exhibition

High tea, will be served at the April Art Symposium tentatively scheduled for April 10.

Small group discussions of the April art and pottery exhibits will be held in Friendship Hall at 7:30 p.m. Following this, high tea will be served in the cafeteria for $1.

Students interested in attending this symposium may contact Winky Kwok through campus mail.

Tryouts to Be Held For Spring Comedies

"Doggone Elections" and "The Marriage Proposal" play tryouts will be held March 31 at 6:30 p.m. in Mohler 227.

Roger Solomon, junior from McPherson, will direct "Doggone Elections," a folk comedy involving the graft and humor that grows out of the election of a sheriff in backwoods America.

Three men, a boy, and a woman are needed for this play which will be given in Chapel, April 24.

Russia provides the setting for "The Marriage Proposal," a one-act comedy by Anton Chekhov. Characters in this play are the father, daughter, and a young neighbor man. Carolyn Lehman, junior from Lincoln, Neb., will direct this play May 5, in Chapel.

Carolyn and Roger are directing these plays as projects for Advanced Play Production Class.

MCY Closes Recruiting Drive

The McPherson College Y has closed its membership drive with the addition of 38 women and 39 men for the 1963-64 year, accruing a total of 77 members, according to Professor Irvin Stern, MCY adviser.

The cabinet members "have been happy over the response of the McPherson students to the first year of activities with the Y program."

The interest group meetings will continue throughout the rest of the school year with an all group session once each month as announced in the brochure.

On April 9, the MCY will hold a business meeting at the 6:45 meeting time to elect officers for next year and to discuss other items of business.

Some of the highlights in the future are: April 24-25, a leadership training conference for new officers and advisers in the Kansas City-Topeka area; June 9-15, Estes Y Conference at Estes Park, Colo.

Merlin Drescher, senior from Canton, and Art McAuley, freshman from Elizabethtown, Pa., have been accepted to work with the MCY project in Hong Kong.

Grades Due in Office During Easter Break

Midsemester grades are due in the Registrar's Office during Easter recess, according to Dean Reynolds, registrar.

On April 6 McPherson College students will be able to obtain their grades from their faculty advisor.

Committee Extends Festival Deadline

The deadline for written materials submitted for the second annual Fine Arts Festival has been extended until Sunday, April 5, announced the Fine Arts Festival Committee.

This extended deadline is to accommodate several contributors who stated that their works could not be completed before Easter.

The deadline for all visual art, sculpture, and ceramics is May 1.

An added feature of this year's festival will be the awarding of certificates to contributing artists. Additional awards will be given to those artists whose work is of outstanding esthetic value.

A panel of faculty members will review works accepted for the festival and confer awards of special merit.

Teachers asked to be judges include Paul Sollenberger, associate professor of music; Wayne L. Miller, associate professor of speech; Wesley DeCoursey, professor of chemistry; Harley Stump, professor of English; and Mrs. W. D. Ogg, art instructor at McPherson High School.

Gary Wilson, sophomore from Peabody, Kans., has joined the Fine Arts Festival Committee, replacing Orville Neufeld, a senior graduating at the end of the first semester.

Others on this committee are Jim Weaver, senior, Edwardsville, Ill.; Del Ann Larsen, sophomore, McPherson; Bonnie Robinson, sophomore, South English, Iowa; Jim Neher, senior, Cabool, Mo.; and Winky Kwok, sophomore, Hong Kong.

These students, working with Robert Porter, assistant professor of German and literature, will edit material submitted and schedule it for the weekend of May 8-10.

The committee expresses its hopes that students will take advantage of the extended deadline and actively participate in the festival.

Students' Degree of Interest Makes or Breaks College

By Steve Mohler and Dave Anders

During this time of the year, a young man's fancy turns to what girls have been thinking about all winter, so the saying goes. Also during this time of year, some people's fancy turns to the upcoming student body elections. The purpose of this joint editorial is not to necessarily promote romance (although there is nothing finer), but to promote the student body elections.

The United States is great only as its citizens participate and take an active interest in determining its future. It seems that the same thing could be said of McPherson College; only as its students take an active interest in its success or failure can Macollege continue to move forward in the future.

This means that avenues between the students and the administration or faculty must not be one way, but must carry a heavy flow of traffic both ways. StuCo is the principal traffic way to the administration and with StuCo elections approaching this means that each individual student should decide in what way he can best contribute to the future of Macollege.

To some this may mean running for an office, to others this may mean making a decision to campaign for a certain candidate, but regardless of what this means, since nominations are made by petitions which are secured by the individual, only we can decide what our role is to be.

The last two elections have been good elections with debates and bull sessions scheduled with the candidates for student body president. Now is the time to start talking up support for the one you feel would make the best candidate for the respective position. During the time allotted for campaigning, schedule debates, and try to work up bull sessions in the various dorms.

Those elected to the student body positions will have the valuable experience of working in student government and with other students and faculty members. Positions in student government entail much responsibility, especially the higher positions, but the experience and responsibility are a real asset to the individual.

Last year a new system was instituted for electing several at-large student council members. These members, along with others, have to seek their position by petition. This system means that the student must take the initiative in seeking the position instead of being nominated due to popularity or otherwise.

Students interested in StuCo positions may be interested in attending StuCo meetings to see how they are run and how the student council is operated.

Get out and talk up your candidate. Talk about issues; for example, "The student body should have representatives on faculty committees." This and other issues could provide plenty of material for good debates.

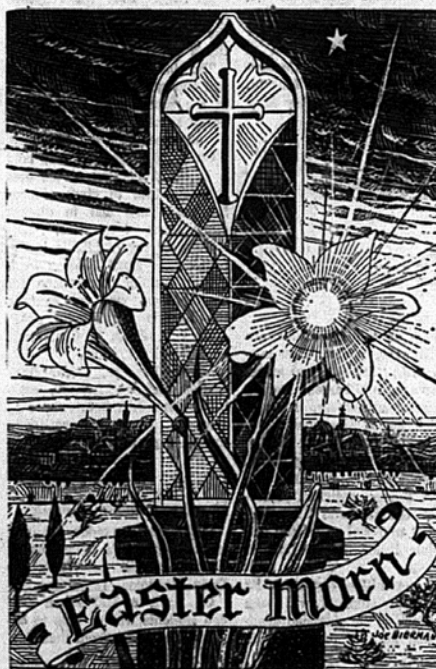

"Student elections can," stated Weyland Beeghly, former Spectator editor, "offer a wealth of educational opportunities for voters who are willing to actively work for their candidate and candidates who will aggressively seek the office."

Special Service On Good Friday

A special Good Friday Service will be held at the First Congregational Church beginning at 12 noon. The theme of the service is centered on the personalities related to the crucifixion. The Rev. Paul Matthaei will serve as chairman and liturgist. Seven different pastors of the city of McPherson will participate in this three hour service.

On Thursday evening, March 26 at 7:30 p.m., the Church of the Brethren is planning a Love Feast Service. New members will be received into the church by baptism at 5 in the afternoon on Palm Sunday and at the evening service on Easter day.

Ecce Homo!

By D. W. Bittlinger
President of the College

One evening Irene and I pushed open a small door-way and entered a little garden in Jerusalem. The sun was dropping in full August heat toward the blue Mediterranean. The flinty hills of Judea were cooling. The shadows were lengthening in the garden; a little trickle of water laughed its way down between rose bushes; birds dipped thirsty throats into the water. It was quiet in the garden; Irene and I were alone; we did not talk.

Before us there was an empty tomb; back of it a grassy hill rose to a rounded summit. Part of the hill was shaped like a skull. There were no crosses on the summit, but in our imagination we could see them there.

Before us was a drama of Easter. The stage was set. We seemed to see the actors fulfilling their roles. Up there He died. At the foot of the cross His mother wept. In this tomb He was laid.

But now the tomb was empty. Presently the gardener came and quietly sprinkled water from the little irrigation ditch over the roses.

What was the meaning of this hill and this garden? Had something really happened here? Was it important then? Is it important now?

Many things have been written about this event; to us the open tomb at the foot of the rounded hill said one thing clearly. It said it so clearly that it has reached across the centuries. It said: "You cannot kill a Man like that."

We left the empty tomb after awhile; we went down to the valleys of the world. In these valleys we saw the hungry and the uneducated. We tried as best we could to be helpful. We met others of varied colors speaking a hundred different languages who also are trying to be helpful.

No, you can't kill a Man like that! He lives eternally in the hearts of those who love Him. This is one of the meanings of Easter.

We Get Letters . . .

Letters to the editor from students, to faculty members, or others are welcomed. All letters must be signed, but the name of the writer need not appear in print.

Letters may be submitted to the editor or placed in the campus mail. Contributions do not necessarily reflect the policy or opinion of The Spectator, the administration, or the faculty of McPherson College.

Dear Editor:

Several weeks ago you suggested that it might be more realistic to replace StuCo with a "Student Grievances Committee." You supported your suggestion by: (1) citing several items recently on the Council agenda which could have been handled by a S. G. C.; (2) that the positions sought are merely powerless status symbols; and (3) by stating that the Council is useless and powerless anyway.

The most serious and questionable of these ideas is the statement that the Council is useless and powerless.

I can hardly see how an organization which so far this year has been directly responsible for such diversified items as, a walk-in paper back bookstore, a juke-box in the S. U., a more realistic attitude towards the administration of dress-up night, and two exchange chapels, to mention just a few, can be called useless or powerless.

While the manner in which the Council takes action may give the illusion of no real, constitutional power, the fact remains that the administration has adopted or approved all recommendations made by the Council this year.

You may disagree with what the Council has done, but it does not appear very realistic to say we have done nothing, or in other words, are useless and powerless.

One of the most serious implications of your editorial is that we as students are capable of nothing but griping or criticizing, and that this is useless.

While we do feel that the Council has taken positive action this year (see above) which does not come under the heading of griping, I would hasten say and agree that one of the most important tasks or responsibilities of the Council is, in my opinion, to make student grievances known to the administration and that this is a valuable and worthwhile concern, but it should not be and is not the total area of Council action.

The last issue which I wish to disagree with is that StuCo elections are a farce because only the most popular are elected.

First of all, while I do not wish to draw a complete or exact analogy, I would say that few would deny that the most popular candidate won the last national presidential election.

This is just to say that filling positions by election leaves the responsibility of electing capable representative Council members with the electorate, or Student Body.

Furthermore, and very importantly, this method of selecting council members does enable those who do not agree with the actions the Student Council has taken to find other people for the job, or even to do the job themselves.

Stephen Mohler

Dear Editor

Many students will agree that as we are entering upon the Easter vacation, it was a pleasure to have had The Rev. C. Wayne Zunkel on our campus. He was a speaker who stimulated much thought and challenged each student's faith. He is truly a great inner-city churchman.

It was only appropriate that The Rev. Zunkel stimulate much thought at the Easter Season. Easter inevitably brings all Christians back to the Cross of Christ. We are reminded to renounce temptations and take up our crosses and follow Christ in unselfish service to all human need, especially spiritual need.

This Easter, let us share our Christian faith and love with at least one stranger or friend, for this is truly the spirit of Easter.

The Scholiast

Sometime in 1963 the nation opened its eyes and discovered poverty; discovered that around one-fifth of the population of the wealthy United States lives in poverty, as most sociologists define it.

This is the richest country on earth, yet on any given day in New York City alone, 430,000 people live on relief.

In our "affluent society," around 8 million Americans are receiving public aid.

A society that has acquired the technological progress to wipe out poverty, seems to be just holding its own; perhaps even causing an increase, because we have not yet solved the problem of rapid automation adequately.

Worse than this, sociologists now begin to believe that a kind of permanent "underclass" is forming; people whose fathers were on relief, who are on relief themselves, and whose children appear headed for a similar existence.

Poverty, it appears, is predictable in certain family circumstances based on race, locality, education, and age.

The late President Kennedy had become intensely aware of the problem, and just three days before his assassination, he and the chairman of Council of Economic Advisors, Walter W. Heller, had agreed to declare war on the nation's poverty.

President Johnson found the rough outline on his desk when he took over, and in his State of the Union message he asked for a bundle of 11 proposals.

His 11 proposals included: the now approved tax-cut; an enlarged food-stamp program; expansion of the area development program; aid for youngsters in useful projects; a National Service Corps; expansion of unemployment compensation; more minimum wage coverage; special aid to schools in depressed areas; hospital insurance for the elderly; revision of housing and urban renewal programs; aid to Appalachia; more libraries, hospitals, and nursing homes.

After the writing of this article but before its publication, the dedicated group of sociologists and economists headed by Sargent Shriver will give to the President, for public presentation, the detailed "poverty package" they have drawn up.

Some will say that this is an area into which the Federal government should not go, that Federal stopgap or emergency measures will become permanent handouts, and they will be right.

They will be right, if the only measures taken are executive orders for temporary relief of suffering. If, on the other hand, Congress thoroughly studies Shriver's committee report and other data on the subject, and writes legislation that corrects or solves basic problems, then we could begin to help one-fifth of America progress.

Sprinter Runs 9.3 Hundred

Macollege has a 9.3 100-yard dashman this year. John Treadwell, a junior transfer student from Tuskegee Institute has repeatedly run the 100 yard dash in 9.3 seconds against the top competition of the country.

He was clocked at 9.3 last year in the Tuskegee Relays running against Robert Hayes of Florida A&M, who holds the world record in the hundred at 9.3.

Last summer Negroes for the first time were invited to the A.A.U. district meet in Atlanta, Ga., and here John, one of the few Negroes invited, was again timed in 9.3 seconds against stiff competition.

John runs in the other sprints also, and has a fine 20.1 second clocking in the 220 yard dash.

John is not a one sport man, however; as he was also a standout on the Tuskegee football team. He was voted all-conference halfback in the SIAC Conference of which Tuskegee is a member.

Both John and Hayes were given plaques last year as the outstanding athletic performers of that conference for the entire year of 1962-1963.

When asked why he is now at Macollege, John replied that he did not want to graduate from an all-Negro school, and through friends of Silas O'Neal, former standout football player at McPherson, he decided to try McPherson.

"I like it here," John commented, but he did say that the weather is different. The weather is always warm where he comes from, and the wind does not blow so hard for so long.

Looking forward to this season John feels that if he can get in good shape, which he is now attaining, that he may be able to hit the 9.3 mark again, although the asphalt track at Mac is different than he has ever run on before.

John is also looking forward to attending summer school and to doing a lot of running in different meets, possibly leading to the tryouts for the Olympic squad which travels to Tokyo this summer.

Table Tennis Players Vie For College Championship

Today the Macollege Table Tennis Tournament ladder play comes to a close. Those players who made the top 16 will meet in a single elimination tournament to decide who is Macollege's table tennis champion.

The roll-off will be a single elimination tournament with the winner having to win 2 out of 3 games per match to reach the next bracket. As of last Monday, the top position is held by George Czaplinski. Second place is held by Bob Crabb, third place by Gene Czaplinski, fourth by Lynn Warner, and fifth by Clarence Clark.

These top five have been battling each other as soon as the rules permit for the much sought after first place. The top five are not the only possible winners, for there are several other players capable of beating the leaders.

In some of last week's action, George Czaplinski and Bob Crabb played two challenge matches, with Bob Crabb capturing first place for three days, only to be defeated in the second match and returning to second place.

The outcome of the tournament will be decided Sunday, April 4, at 1 p.m.

Basketball Team Guests At NAIATournament

Through the courtesy of Citizens State Bank and Peoples State Bank of McPherson, the Macollege basketball team spent March 10 in Kansas City viewing the NAIATournament.

These two banks footed the entire cost of the one-day trip.

with Fred McKenna Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Co. and Sid Bacon Motor Co. furnishing the transportation.

Leaving McPherson at 5 a.m. the team saw a total of eight games before returning to McPherson early Wednesday morning.

The team saw Emporia State, the only team from this area in the tournament, play and win its first game.

Pyle Leads Pup Victory At Manhattan

Tom Pyle scored 22 points for the McPherson High Bull Pups as they beat Manhattan 54-53 for third place in the Class AA State basketball tournament at Lawrence.

The Bull Pups staved off a last ditch Indian rally to cap the victory, their second in three tries against the team it tied for the Central Kansas League championship.

Mac High beat Leavenworth in the first round of the state 77-74, as Jim Buss scored 20 points. McPherson jumped off to an early lead, but they were caught and passed and had to come from behind to win.

Shawnee Mission North defeated the Bull Pups 50-44 in the semi-finals. Buss again led Mac scoring with 12.

McPherson finished the season with a 21-3 record.

Rothrock to Attend Educators Meeting

Dr. Dayton G. Rothrock, professor of education and psychology, will attend the state meeting of the Kansas Association for Student Teaching at Kansas State College in Fort Hays on March 21.

The meeting will be held in the Memorial Union Building.

President M. C. Cunningham, and a representative of the Jefferson County Public Schools will be featured speakers for the meeting.

Dells Entertain Seniors In Industrial Arts

Professor and Mrs. S. M. Dell entertained seven senior industrial arts majors and their wives or dates at an informal smorgasbord in Assaria on March 9.

The seniors are: Bill Klein, McPherson; Roland Kreider, McPherson; Ralph Kreutziger, Marion; James O'Neal, Hutchinson; Dean Regehr, Inman; Robert Reisen, McPherson; and Charles Stark, Hutchinson.

Professor and Mrs. Alvin Willems were guests also.

S. M. Dell is professor of industrial arts education and Alvin Willems is associate professor in industrial arts and mechanics.

Athletes Swing Into Competition

Tennis season officially opens for Macollege this afternoon when they host the Tabor College Bluejays on the newly resurfaced courts of McPherson College at 1:30.

Bill Kelly, as the only returning letterman, will lead the Bulldogs in quest of another successful season.

Macollege golfers will swing into action Friday, April 3, also against Kansas Wesleyan at Salina. The experienced Macollege contingent opens their season at 1 p.m.

Women Prepare Formal Meals As Assignments

Dona Hutchison, senior from Thomas, Okla., and Constance Nichols, senior from Hutchinson, were chairmen for two meals served by the Quantity Cookery class.

Dona's class project was the Father-Son Banquet held at the Church of the Brethren on March 18. Sheryl Hollis, senior from Waterloo, Iowa, was hostess.

Table centerpieces and room decorations were of a wild life and conservation theme.

Mrs. Nichols was in charge of a buffet dinner served to the faculty of the college on March 13 at the Church of the Brethren.

A St. Patrick's Day theme was followed. Elva Stryker, junior from Haxton, Colo., was hostess.

Each Quantity Cookery student must plan, prepare and serve a meal during the semester to at least fifty people. Other meals are scheduled for April and May.

Miss Mildred Siek, professor of home economics, serves as supervisor for all of the meals.
