

Grove Begins Duties As Mac Debate Coach

Noel Grove has begun duties as debate coach for the fall term at MacCollege.

Grove, a '59 Mac graduate will coach the squad until the arrival of Dr. Wayne Miller, associate professor of speech and religion, next semester.

Originally from South English, Iowa, Grove is employed by the McPherson Sentinel as a reporter. He will continue his work full time at the Sentinel.

Grove had one year of debate experience at MacCollege where he majored in English. Following his graduation he taught debate for two years at Inman High School.

Mrs. Grove is the former Deanna Goering. They are the parents of one daughter, Lisa, 21 months old.

During the summer of 1960, the Groves visited eight countries in Europe.

This year's debate topic is

Noel Grove

"Resolved, that the Federal Government should guarantee an opportunity for higher education to all qualified high school graduates."

Convocations Calendar

Tuesday, Oct. 1 — Assembly. Panel discussion by International Relations Club.

Friday, Oct. 4 — Assembly. Dr. D. W. Bittinger, president, will speak.

Seniors Eligible to Take Graduate Record Exams

The Graduate Record Examinations, an examination used by many graduate schools relative to admissions, scholarships and placement, will be offered to MacCollege seniors from one to four times this year.

This standardized test consists of a two and one-half hour general aptitude test given in the morning which provides a measure of general scholastic ability at the graduate level.

Advanced tests, each of which are three hours long are given in the afternoon. These tests measure the students comprehension of materials basic to success in his chosen major graduate field.

Each senior may inquire at the graduate school he might attend to see if the G.R.A. test is required. If a student is in doubt as to whether he should take the exams or not, he may contact Dean Geisert for more information.

The tests cost twelve dollars to take, and will be given in four parts of the state on five different dates this year.

The first test date this year is Nov. 16. Seniors who wish to take the test at this time should have their pre-registration in by Nov. 1, 1963.

Any student having more questions about the G.R.A. exams, or wishes to pick up a bulletin of information regarding test dates, times, places, and registration, should see Jean Geisert as soon as possible.

Delegates Attend Meeting Of New Kansas District

Seventy-eight delegates from thirty-eight churches of Kansas assembled in McPherson for the Brethren District Conference last week.

The main speaker for the conference was Dr. Edward K. Ziegler.

The District of Kansas is a recently formed district which is composed of the three original districts of Kansas.

The theme of the conference, "One In Christ to Heal the Broken Hearted", was "treated", according to the Rev. Gorman Zook, very comprehensively and forcibly by Dr. Ziegler. Dr. Ziegler also spoke to college classes and the College CBYF.

According to the Rev. Harold Bomberger, two important results were realized at the conference business meeting.

A resolution was passed by the conference which asks the Brethren Churches to reaffirm their racial position taken by Annual Conference and to work it out in their community.

The District of Kansas now includes six or more churches in the state of Nebraska. The Rev. Gorman Zook will serve as the District Executive Secretary to the new churches.

The Rev. Bomberger was elected the new moderator, and Paul Wagoner was elected to the District Board.

The attendance at the conference varied in size from 150 people on Friday to 250 people on Sunday noon. Approximately 250 visitors came for the Sunday morning worship hour.

Activities Begin Today For Parents of Students

Today marks the beginning of the Parent's Day activities on MacCollege campus. This evening parents are invited to watch the McPherson - Kansas Wesleyan football game.

Following will be a coffee hour in the Student Union for the parents and their sons and daughters here in school.

Tomorrow morning from 10:11:30 a.m., open house for the parents will be held in all the dormitories. At 1:15 p.m. Dr. and Mrs. Bittinger will give a presentation entitled "Around the World in 12 Months." They will tell about their world tour take last year.

From 2:30-4 p.m. parents will visit classrooms to become acquainted with classroom procedure.

They will be able to visit four classrooms for 15 minutes a piece, and will be able to chat informally with other teachers during the 10 minute break between shifts. Students are encouraged to accompany parents.

Campus Y's Meet at Emporia

The Kansas District YM-YWCA Conference convenes at Emporia Oct. 4-5.

Conference includes the controversial film "Harvest of Shame," a revelation of poor conditions of migrant workers.

Discussion and brainstorming groups will analyze problems facing today's college campus Y's.

The Conference will last from 7:30 Friday night until 5 p.m., Saturday.

Any one is eligible to attend. MCA will pay the registration fee of $2.50 per person for the first 25 persons to notify Barry Haldeman, New Men's Residence Hall.

Tickets Now On Sale For Cultural Series

Tickets for the 1963-64 McPherson College Cultural Series are now on sale. The tickets are available from the Alumni and Public Relations office at Room

104, Mohler Hall.

Ticket prices are: Adult season tickets, $7; Student or Child season tickets, $4; Single Admission tickets for adult and students, $2; and Single Admission for children (12 or under), $1.

Four musical features and one lecture are planned for the 1963-64 Cultural Series.

The Wichita Symphony Orchestra is scheduled to appear Sunday, Oct. 13 at the first program of the series. The orchestra, now in its nineteenth season, will be under the direction of Mr. James Robertson.

An American pianist, Thomas Schumacher, will present a concert on Nov. 19. Mr. Schumacher has studied piano at the Manhattan School of Music, in New York City and at the Juillard School of Music.

Joann Grillo, mezzo soprano, will perform on Jan. 18. Miss Grillo has starred in leading opera houses in the United States, Europe, and Latin America since her debut in 1958.

Mr. Gordon Hall, veteran of thirty-one months in the Pacific Theater and the Aleutian Islands campaign, will present a lecture on Feb. 10.

Mr. Hall will speak on how to lessen the burden and risk in a free society of the extremists on both the far right and far left.

Concluding the series on April 7 will be a program by the Porgy and Bess Singers. Members of the group have appeared in such Broadway productions as "Carmen Jones," "Boomer Girl," "Green Pastures," and others.

All of these programs will be presented in Brown Auditorium McPherson at 8 p.m., except the first one which will be at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 13.

Black Watch to Perform In Wichita During Tour

One hundred members of the Black Watch, Royal Highland Regiment, will perform in Wichita on Thursday, Oct. 3, during their second tour of North America under the auspices of S. Hurok.

Deriving their name from patrolling the Scottish highlands at night to insure internal peace, the unit distinguished itself in battles throughout the world, receiving many decorations from grateful and impressed governments.

The dark Black Watch tartans contrast with the bright red tartans of the Pipers as the more than 100 soldiers march and counter march to the traditional music of Pipes and Drums.

Highland dancing, the ancient victory rites which the dancers of the Black Watch have performed after Waterloo through the years to Korea and Berlin, will be a highlight of the program.

The program will include Scottish times that have become popular in this country as well as in Scotland. Scottish pageantry and tradition have long appealed to the American public.

It has a sense of tradition that comes from dedication and belief in the discipline and history surrounding the music and customs of that country. Each player, each dancer, performs as though he were leading the Regiment into the midst of battle.

Tickets for this program, to be held in the Field House at Wichita University, may be purchased from Irvin Wagner at $2 for theater section and $1 for bleacher section.

Time Set Aside For International Relations Week

The week has been set aside as International Relations Emphasis Week and will begin Monday.

The week is highlighted by a chapel program, Tuesday, Oct. 1, sponsored by the club. Members of the group will carry out discussions on intercultural communications.

Friday, Oct. 4, Dr. Bittinger will speak on international relations during that day's chapel program.

Included in the week long program is an exhibit, on other countries in Friendship Hall.

Slater Food Service

Students Prefer Hamburgers

Joe Clink, unit manager of Slater Food Service, says the favorite food of McPherson students is, "without a doubt, hamburger." The quantity of milk consumed in the past week was four hundred gallons.

Students may return for seconds in everything except the entre (main dish) and dessert. By not overloading trays much waste can be eliminated, according to Clink.

As many as eighty students have been on one pay roll sheet. Approximately thirty students hired full or part-time. Slater Food Service pays the going wage at each college it serves.

Starting wages are from 65 cents to $1 an hour. The amount of pay depends on the amount of training required and students work on an incentive basis.

Full-time personnel are hired directly by Clink through references. Each applicant is screened carefully.

Slater Food Service was once the dream of a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania. While living in a fraternity house, he saw the need for a food service.

In 1928, John H. Slater founded the Slater Food Service.

Since a merger with the Automatic Retailers of America, which is now on the New York Stock Exchange, Slater Food Service now offers an expanded service to students.

The A.R.A. Slater School and College Service which operated for one year in the old cafeteria, now offers students three meals a day at approximately 50 cents each.

Other schools in Kansas which are served by the Slater Food Service are Ottawa University, College of Emporia, Southwestern at Winfield, and Friends University at Wichita.

Through A.R.A., Slater Food Service has expanded its services. Four hundred and eight students are served in the cafeteria each day. The snack bar in the Student Union is open five hours daily.

Slater also maintains the vending machines in the Student Union and hosts private special parties and banquets.

Other services of the A.R.A. include hospital food management and business and industrial food services. In the past the A.R.A. was a vending firm. It now offers many more services.

Every meal of the school year is planned and balanced by dietitians in the main office at Philadelphia. These menus can be modified or varied by the unit manager with the assistance of two regional chefs and four dietitians.

Another service of the A.R.A. home office in Philadelphia is to assist in designing kitchens for schools and colleges.

Do Freshmen Need Initiation?

We are told that members of some primitive tribes conduct initiation rites to prove the maturity of their youth before they become members of the community.

The purpose is to give the initiate a sense of belonging when he has satisfactorily proven himself worthy of membership.

Among primitive tribes, initiation rites are rigidly enforced. If an aspirant fails to measure up to the standards set before him, he also fails to enter into membership.

On our campus we have just passed through an annual phase called initiation which somehow does not quite meet the standards that might be expected.

Freshman initiates can break all of the regulations they wish, because they know that legally nothing can be done to them if they refuse to wear their red beanies.

Thus, the first lesson they learn at McPherson College is that they really do not have to follow rules; no one will put any pressure on them.

Although the red beanies are a convenient means by which to identify freshmen, the remainder of our present initiation system is sadly obsolete.

We are doing freshmen a disservice by letting them think that rules may be ignored.

Perhaps McPherson College has, through a long process of expansion, slowly outgrown such a need for freshman initiation.

Perhaps—if there is a need for initiation rites — this can be better fulfilled by the campus organizations.

A student chooses to become a member of M Club or WAA with the understanding that he must pass through certain acts of "humiliation" first to prove that he is worthy.

This is an honor—and it can be a process which matures instead of giving a misleading first impression of McPherson College. BJJ

Unpaid Volunteer Reports News, Views of StuCo

By Chris R. van de Velde

It has always been one of my ambitions to practice and/or propagate my own brand of yellow journalism. My chance has arrived, to the delight, displeasure, or disinterest of all concerned.

It was my fellow legislative procrastinators, who unanimously gave me this great honor, because they just as unanimously did not want it.

All my life, I have been fascinated by politics, politicians, political science, and the entire intriguing world of man's legislative endeavors.

I will attempt in this weekly article, to imbue some or possibly all of you with at least some desire to think about the world we make for ourselves: our political environment.

My main job is to report the activities of the Student Council. For example, I might mention that at our last meeting we decided to hold our meeting on every Wednesday night at 6:30, and that anyone is welcome at any meeting.

We are not as exciting nor as dramatic as the major leaguers in Washington, but we do put on a fair show.

Once in awhile I might speculate on what might happen in the future. An example here, might be that I am chairman of a study group investigating possible changes in our campus dress regulations, and I hate to see women in public with their hair rolled up.

Go ahead, make a guess as to what the future holds for rollers on campus.

Simply because I am somewhat outspoken, and because all phases of politics fascinate me, I may depart temporarily from the Student Council activities.

I may mention, for example, the greatest legislative experiment in history. I am referring of course to the whole area of civil rights.

Never in history have social attitudes been altered by legislation, decree, or even conquering armies; maybe we can be the first nation in history to eliminate prejudices by due process.

If I do mention things of this nature or impressions I might have, it should all be taken with a grain of salt and a bit of thought.

This then will be the range of material you can expect to find in this article; some weeks may be better than others, but I hope every week you will find at least some value in reading this one individual's views.

Reader 'Curious' About Action On Book Store

Dear Editor,

Last semester, the editor of the Spec brought up the subject of a student book store.

What I am wondering is this: Has any consideration been given to the editor's proposal, or has the issue been pigeonholed as have so many other issues?

Perhaps you as an editor would be in a position to tell me what has been done.

My own personal opinion is that we should have something like this to cater to the students' needs in the way of more varied reading.

With a variety of books on campus, where students could easily get to them, they might do more reading.

We are continually reminded that we should be cultured. What better way to become cultured than to read books of the great intellectual authors who could inspire us in that direction.

What About Rules?

By D. W. Bittlinger

Last Sunday evening, Fredricka, the charming Queen of Greece, stood in what is perhaps the most magnificent building ever built, the Parthenon on the Acropolis in Athens, and spoke of democracy and freedom.

She said that as early as in the days of Plato and Aristotle, Greece had learned that to operate within understood and accepted rules is to achieve freedom; to try to operate without rules is social license, and such license always leads to chaos.

She said, further, that the great golden age of Greece ended because the Greeks destroyed themselves along the above lines.

What about rules at McPherson College, or in any social group which needs to develop a working understanding of how to live together constructively?

The answer is clear that there must be some rules. This was known even before the time of the Greeks.

Is the following a fair foundation summary for regulations?

1. Rules should, above all, respect personality.
2. In an institution focused on "Education Within a Christian Setting," rules should seek to uphold ethical, cultural, and Christian standards.
3. Rules should respect existing constitutions and charters; changes should be made in an orderly manner and within the provisions of these structures.
4. New legislation should be made through constituted authority: student, administrative, trustees; rules should not be set up by cliques or pressure groups, or gangs.
5. If we are to respect ourselves and our institution we need to abide by, and to enforce rules; if not, chaos ensues.
6. Communication concerning rules and all other matters should be free and easy between student and student authority; student and faculty, student and administration, faculty and administration; this should seek improvement at all levels and at all times.

Is something like the above a basis for a mature and happy intellectual community?

Confucianism—Religion of Li

By Peter Tham

Many err in saying that Confucius was a political reformer, and many more err in classifying Confucianism as a religion. This should not be surprising.

since Confucian classics, being historical, provide hardly any interest in the West today.

Yet Kung Fu Tse (Confucius) should not be misunderstood, and above all, he should not be misinterpreted by the half-hearted ones as being any Tom, Dick, or Harry.

These mistakes are certainly not to be taken lightly. Primarily Confucianism has been an historical school, and the Confucian classics constitute a very definite and well-defined system of moral and social philosophy.

To the Chinese, this system of moral and social order, based on history, is contained in the word, "li."

By itself li has a broad meaning and is hardly translatable in the narrow sense, it means, "ritual," "propriety," and just "good manners."

In the historical sense, it means the rationalized system of feudal order; in a philosophical sense, it means an ideal social order with, as it were, everything in its place.

And in the personal sense, it means a pious, religious state of mind, very near to the word, "faith," which has meaning as a valid, unified body of beliefs implicitly accepted concerning heaven and nature, and man's place in the universe.

Among the Chinese scholars, Confucianism is known as the "religion of li," the translation for which would be "religion of moral order."

It subjects the political order to the moral, social order, making the latter the basis of the former, to the extent that it disbelieves in a wide political solution.

Kung Fu Tze never originated this philosophy. Rather, it was as he said, "I transmit and do not create."

Being a passionate researcher of history, and the greatest editor of ancient books of his days, he discerned and established a clear and definite system of social and moral philosophy which, to a certain degree, relates to a Johnsonian diet of moral conduct.

Tucker Lost In Deep Drama

Dear Editor,

One feature of any magazine or paper is to bring the reader up to date on current activities.

Recently, Life ran articles on the Loch Ness monster for the amateur monster hunter, the U. S. conquest of Mount Everest for the chauvinist, the Wamamaker's beach party for the college student, and Salt Lake City's production of Shakespeare for the kids.

The Spectator does about the same things, only on a smaller scale.

Last week's paper had articles about the coming parents' day program, which is nice; the church's district conference, which is good; and the school play, which is either "Gold Colored Cadillac" or something else.

There was also a listing of the play's cast. One notes that from the number of novices in the cast there must be a high rate of turnover in the school's acting population.

But, wait, there are still a few veterans of McPherson College's production of "Othello" and "Hamlet" wandering aimlessly through the classrooms.

Perhaps theatrical talent is only a flash in the pan, and one seldom hears a veteran actor long for the glare of the footlights.

Let it be so. Let other colleges plunge into the murky depths of the drama.

We will quietly avoid the despair of "Darkness at Noon," the delight of "A Majority of One," or the demanding grandeur of "Antigone," and settle back to watch "The Real McCoys."

Coyotes, Bulldogs Seek To Offset Humiliations

Tonight the MacCollege Bulldogs play host to the Coyotes from Kansas Wesleyan. Comparing last year's game between these two teams, won by McPherson 13-12, and records of games played thus far this season, this should stack up to be an evenly contested, hard fought game.

An added incentive to each team is that they were both humiliated in last week's action and they will be out to redeem themselves.

Both teams have played two league opponents thus far this season. The Coyotes have a 1 win, 1 loss record, having beaten Friends in their first outing 27-7, and then losing to Southwestern last week by a score of 60-0.

The Coyotes have hopes for improvement this year over their 1-7-1 record of last year with the return of head coach Gene Bissell, who took a one year leave of absence last year to complete his doctorate.

With ten returning lettermen, Bissell will have some experience to work with on his squad which now numbers only 35 men.

Five of these lettermen are in the backfield and should give the Coyotes some added offensive punch. Terry Percival returns at quarterback, with Aaron Blair, Martin Brotherton, and Ken Hanson sharing the halfback position, and Lyle Walter returning to his duties at fullback.

Reazin Receives Honors as Mac Player of Week

By Jamie Oxley

This week a new series of weekly articles will start in The Spectator entitled "Player of the Week."

The first player to be selected is Tom Reazin, who played an excellent game, both offensively and defensively against College of Emporia last Saturday.

Tom is a 6' 180 pound sophomore fullback from Lyons.

Although Tom was one of the few standouts in the Mac offensive attack last week, he also played an excellent game on defense, leading the team in tackles with ten.

On offense he carried the ball nine times and gained sixty yards with some very hard running.

Tom who works for the state as a surveyor during the summer, is one player who never seems to get discouraged.

He had this to offer about last week's game with C. of E., "Even though we were way behind none of the boys ever gave up."

Upstill Leads Presbies To Defeat Mac Gridders

Mighty College of Emporia, led by Bruce Upstill, demonstrated their right to their high ranking in the conference and the nation as they stormed to an impressive victory over McPherson Saturday, 54-0.

C of E scored the first two times it got the ball in the first quarter, first on a 5-yd. pass from Upstill to Switzer and then on a 16-yd. run by Phillips. They scored again in the first quarter on a 4-yd. plunge by Switzer.

In the second quarter Moore intercepted a Bulldog pass and ran it back 39 yards for another 6 points. C of E scored again on a 10-yd. jaunt by Howl, to make the halftime score 34-0.

In the last quarter Upstill destroyed what was left of the Mac defense by throwing touchdown passes of 9, 33, and 11 yards to Tresky, Phillips, and Tesky again.

C of E, first downs 22, passing 26 of 40, rushing 222, punting 1 for 26, and yards penalties 40.

Mac, first downs 10, passing 6 of 19, rushing 157, punting, 6 for 35, and yards penalties 45.

YEA TEAM fight... fight... give em... the ax the ax the ax ...hold that line fight... fight... YEA TEAM whew pause

From the Locker Room

By Larry Morlan

Due to the unfortunate outcome of last week's game, I will refrain from any further comment on it.

Predictions:

C of E over Bethany
The Swedes pass defense is weak and Bruce Upstill will take advantage and have a good night.

Ottawa over Bethel
The Braves might run into a tough game here, but they have enough power to cope with anything.

Baker over Sterling
Baker is too strong for the Warriors to even come close to a victory.

Southwestern over Friends
The Falcons, hoping for four wins this year will not get one this game.

KWU 18 Mac -12
Hated to put it down, but the Coyotes will be seeking to avenge last year's one point loss. The Bulldogs may rally with the parents at the game.

KCAC Crown Race Tightens

The Kansas Conference title race began to take on a familiar look this week as College of Emporia, Ottawa, and Southwestern all scored impressive victories.

Bruce Upstill led C. of E. past McPherson 54-0, Ottawa had good, balanced scoring as they crushed Friends 60 - 9, and Southwestern's freshman quarterback, Leroy Blackwell, ran for 3 touchdowns and threw 4 more as Southwestern overpowered Wesleyan 66-0.

Leon Burch scored 3 times as Bethany defeated Sterling 40-10, giving the Swedes a 2-0 league record, best in the conference this year.

Rounding out conference action last week, Bethel surprised Baker 20-13 as Ken Koehn scored from 14 yards out in the final period to break a 13-13 tie.

In conference action this weekend, College of Emporia goes to Bethany, Ottawa plays Bethel, Baker tries for its first win at Sterling, Southwestern takes on Friends at Wichita, and McPherson hosts Kansas Wesleyan.

Bethel, fresh from their upset of Baker, may give powerhouse Ottawa a scare, and conference leader Bethany could show Emporia a tough game. The McPherson-Wesleyan game also should be rather close.

Festivities Will Mark Homecoming Weekend

Plans are being made for the annual homecoming festivities which will be held during the weekend of Oct. 18 and 19.

Starting the activities will be the presentation of "The Solid Gold Cadillac" under the direction of Mrs. Wilbur Yoder.

The play will be presented on Friday evening in Brown

Auditorium with curtain time at 8:00. This is the first time a drama has been incorporated into the Homecoming activities.

The Board of Trustees will also meet at 8 p.m. on Friday evening and will continue with their business meeting on the following morning.

At 10 a.m. Saturday the Alumni Board of Directors will meet. The Homecoming queen will be crowned and her attendants introduced at a pre-game ceremony scheduled to start at 1:45 on Saturday afternoon.

Following the seating of the queen and her court will be the gridiron battle between the McPherson Bulldogs and Bethany College.

During half-time the McPherson College Band, under the direction of Irvin Wagner, professor of music, will present a marching routine.

The New Men's Residence Hall will be dedicated in a ceremony which will immediately follow the football game.

Another Homecoming activity will be the charcoal cookout for all alumni, guests, and students. This supper will be served on the college lawn near the Student Union at 5 p.m. on Saturday.

The college play, "The Solid Gold Cadillac," will be presented for the second time on Saturday night in Brown Auditorium. Curtain time for Saturday evening is 7:30 instead of 8:00.

Immediately following the play an Alumni Coffee Hour will be held.

Other festivities will include the Queen's Banquet and Ball. The Student Council and Social Committee are in charge of these activities as well as the displays and exhibits that various organizations and dormitories will erect as part of the traditional homecoming weekend.

Ag Club Lays Plans for Year

The McPherson College Agricultural Club is planning programs for those of the college who are interested in agriculture and rural life.

The cabinet heading the club consists of Myron Welch, president; Dale Miller, vice president; Dallas Wine, secretary-treasurer; and Dick Welch, program chairman.

The purpose of the club is to teach all interested people more about rural living, and better ways of rural life.

The first meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 30, with all other meetings held the first Monday night of every month. The first meeting will be a get acquainted picnic held in Lindsborg.

Transportation will be provided for those who do not have a way to get to Lindsborg. After the picnic plans will be made for future field trips and excursions.

Other meetings have already been planned, and speakers are lined up. On Dec. 9 Duane Acker, associate dean of agriculture from Kansas State University, will speak.

Other speakers include a banker who will talk on rural living credit problems, and a soil scientist.

Graphic Art On Display

A graphic art exhibit by the International Artist's group is now on display in Friendship Hall. The exhibit contains examples by internationally famous artists now living in Paris. Included are works by Picasso, Braque, and Hayter.

The colored and black and white lithographs and etchings are mostly signed and numbered. Purchases can be arranged by contacting Miss Mary Ann Robinson, 113, Mohler Hall.

Richard Luster, a graduate of Kansas State University and an art teacher at Lindsborg High School, has done some of the ceramic work on display in Friendship Hall.

The south end case contains ceramics done by Mrs. Garth Ellwood, instructor of art at McPherson College.

On Sept. 31, the International Relations Club will have an exhibit in Friendship Hall.
