

Macollege Skate Club Combines Service And Fun

Active Macollege Skate Club members have found a worthwhile way to combine service with club fun.

More than twenty students in the club have volunteered to help thirteen retarded children from the McPherson area learn to roller skate.

The thirteen retarded children and thirteen Mac students meet every Wednesday afternoon from 2:15 to 3:15 at the McPherson Skate-O-Rama.

This is the first time the Skate club has ever assumed a responsibility in the line of instructional service. The president of the club Ken Dauer, Dunkirk, Ohio, noted that thus far it has proven to be a tremendous opportunity.

He stated that after many students returned to the college with tired backs from stooping and instructing one of the club members commented, that "You never stand so straight as when you stoop to help another."

Ken went on to say that this instruction opportunity has been an avocational outlet for service and has made participation in the club worth more than if it had just served as a form of entertainment.

The entertainment aspect of the club is not to be overlooked entirely however, for it is a major portion of the club's purpose.

In line with this notion, Ken announced the next Skating party to be held Saturday Nov. 21. Plans have been made to go to Roller City in Hutchinson.

All interested students can meet in front of Dotzour hall at 6 p.m. Rides will be provided, and anyone that can drive is asked to contact Ken Dauer.

Members of the Macollege Skate Club combine service with fun by helping retarded children learn how to roller skate.

Trustees Take A Forward Look

By D. W. Bittinger

Following many hours of discussion the trustees adopted a plan which foresees both increasing size and increasing excellency for McPherson College and its future.

Included in the plan which will reach its fulfillment with the celebration of the 55th anniversary of the college in 1972, is a total financial goal of more than 4 million dollars. An intermediate, or first place goal, focuses on the celebration of the 80th anniversary of the college in 1967. The financial figure attached to this goal is one million, one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

The break-down of the specifics, with both the shorter range 1967 thrust and the longer range 1972 thrust, are as follows:

1. Academic and institutional progress and excellency.
2. Endowment.
3. Dormitory improvement and/or expansion.
4. Scholarships and student aids.
5. New library - classroom building.
6. Sustained operational support.

Of these six arms of the program the one to which the largest single new money aim is attached is number one, Academic progress and excellency. This has in its first phase $521,000 and its total phase $1,000,000.

The W. R. Cumerford Corporation of Kansas City has acted as consultants in working out this long-range plan. They will continue as consultants as it is inaugurated and developed.

Where is the money to come from?

The sources include all of the publics of the college, including the students now and after they become alumni.

Others among the publics are: the churches, individual donors within the churches, alumni, parents of students, friends of the college, the McPherson community, faculty, corporations, foundations, industry, and some further possible government borrowing or grants for specified building expansions. It is hoped that all current giving can be upped to an average at least one-third and that some giving will be increased much more than that. Included in the increase will be costs to students. Following the general trend of the nation; tuition, which was not upped during the current year at McPherson; will increase by $50.00 per semester next year. This will be $23.50 per semester hour.

To offset this, government loan maximums will rise from $600 to $1,000 per year. Scholarships and aids in general will rise somewhat in proportion to the amount of increase in tuition. Already McPherson is in about the $40,000 bracket in scholarships and aids expenditures. This will considerably increase to assist the students who need it.

Other charges at McPherson were not changed by the trustees. This leaves the overall costs at McPherson several hundred dollars less than those of similar colleges on the east and west coasts.

The alumni remarked at Homecoming time this year that they were pleased, indeed overwhelmed, at the progress McPherson is making.

Courageous trustees planned through these long-term goals that present students will be able to return in five, ten, twenty, and fifty years with similar feelings and remarks.

By Doug Rapp

In March 1963 several students had visions of a Campus Model United Nations.

During the succeeding months under the sponsorship of the Student Council and in joint action with the International Relations Club, the McPherson College Model United Nations was founded.

The main machinery behind the organization has been set up by its steering committee under the leadership of Fumitaka Matsuoka, senior, from Japan, with assistance from Gary Wilson, junior, New Orleans, Dick Welch, junior, Delphi, Ind. and Norman Howell, senior, St. John.

As it is now set up, the Model U.N. is in its 1964 session which will terminate later this month with a meeting of the General Assembly. It is planned that another session will be scheduled, with new leaders, for later on in the school year so that the Model U.N. will remain a continuous and permanent campus organization.

Approximately 40 students volunteered to participate as members of the General Assembly representing eleven specific countries: Brazil, China, France, India, Nigeria, Poland, South Africa, USSR, United Arab Republic, United Kingdom and the United States.

As there are 112 countries in the official U.N., the organization could easily hold 200 students or more.

Officers for the General Assembly are: President - Terry Summers; Secretary - General-Ali Kherbek; Parliamentarian-John Treadwell; Secretary - Kathy Parks.

The General Assembly meeting will take place on Saturday, Nov. 21, 1964 in Brown Auditorium beginning at 9:30 a.m.

The topic for debate is the admission of Red China, formally stated as: Restoration of the lawful rights of the people's Republic of China in the United Nations.

All interested students and faculty are invited to fill the gallery during the session.

Here is the agenda for the day's activities:

9:30 a.m. Registration
10:00 a.m. Orientation session, Election of assembly and steering committee officers for next year.

10:30 a.m. Opening remarks by the President of Model United Nations. Speech by guest speaker.

11:30 a.m. Recess
1:15 p.m. Seating of Delegations

1:30 p.m. General Assembly
3:15 p.m. Recess
3:30 p.m. Resume Debate
4:45 p.m. Adjourn
8:00 p.m. Reception at the Student Union Basement.

Cooperation is of course the main by-word of the organization and so far it appears that the Model U.N. will be a success.

Student Grades to be Available November 17

The Registrars office reports that nine weeks grades will be sent to the counselors on Nov. 16. Students will be able to pick up their grades on Nov. 17. Two copies of the grades will be made. The original copy goes to the student and the duplicate will be sent to the parents.

WAA Float Wins

After viewing all the outstanding homecoming floats, the judges reached a difficult final decision as to the winners.

First place went to the Women's Athletic Association. They received a prize of $30. The sophomore class float received second place and the prize of $20. Ten dollars went to the freshman class for their third place float. Honorable mentions went to Arnold Hall, Dotzour Hall, Fahnestock Hall, the junior class, and the senior class. They each received a prize of $5.

The judges were Mrs. Dale Renberger, Mrs. Robert Stover and Mrs. Kenneth Yingst.

Today's Superstitions Develop From Unusual Backgrounds

By Kathy Simpson

Friday the 13th—expect the worst to happen today — that is if you believe in superstitions.

In the Bible, in the book of Ecclesiastes, Solomon, the wise King of Israel says, "Curse not the king, no not in thy thoughts; and curse not the rich in thy bedchamber; a little bird of the air shall carry the voice and that which hath wings shall tell the matter."

The expression, "A little bird told me," is only one among hundreds of superstitious ideas in which human beings and birds are related to each other. One of these, that birds have a speech of their own and can bring information, is very ancient. Who knows, its origin may have been scriptural.

According to an old Oriental custom the test for a last-time bachelor to see if his marriage would be successful or not was to put a flower known as a bachelor's-button, into his pocket.

He would pick the flower early in the morning with the dew still on it and then not look at it for 24 hours at which time if it was still bright and fresh it meant wedded bliss. The consequences if the flower had withered, of course, were just the opposite. Rather than take a chance on an unhappy marriage often the young man who found his flower shriveled would refrain from matrimony.

Have you ever wondered why a bridegroom must strain under the load of carrying his new wife over the threshold of their first home? The superstition that this will bring good luck stems from the old Roman custom that it was considered bad luck for a bride to trip going over the threshold, so the husband carried her to prevent it.

Another superstition that women belong to the weaker sex has been proven out-of-date as Thoman Dunn English writes in his poem:

When greater perils men envision,
The women show a front of iron;
And gentle in their manner they Do bold things in a quiet way.

Statistics show that women have a higher disease resistance, and that there are two women for every man who reaches the age of one hundred. Even as far back as 200 years ago, Dr. Samuel Johnson recognized the power of a woman's feminine ingenuity, intellect, and intuition. He is quoted as saying, "Nature has given women so much power that the law very wisely gives her very little."

The Commentator

Now Is The Time . . .

By C. L. Dadisman

"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party." This great old saying dates back many years, and perhaps it would be well for a certain political party to do so. But now is also the time for all good men to come to the aid of their school, for I fear that unless something is altered or changed in this school, we will see decreases in enrollment and in actual college life.

I believe that there is a need on this campus to stop pretending that McPherson College is a summer camp lead by enlightened counselors. This is college. This is what will prepare you to live in the working world and to face the reality of other cultures, philosophies, ideals, concepts, and personality traits. Do you really think that you are even partially prepared to cope with these facets of that world? Perhaps, but only if you do not journey away from the Mid-West where all of these facets will be unchanged from those to which you are already accustomed. Too much of the time people become shocked at the actions of others around them because their narrow backgrounds won't allow them to even understand why others act as they do.

Many of you would be completely shocked and horrified at what some colleges are like. I am in no way condoning the actions of "more liberal" colleges, or am I criticizing them either, but we need to become aware of just what is happening around us and to at least understand that many things are being done that our principles won't allow us to agree with. We must not close our eyes to "sin", to actions we feel are wrong. This in itself should be a sin if it isn't already. Narrow minds on this campus are not camouflaged; not in the least.

On the other hand, the rebellious liberals are quite noticeable, too. Those which are hard to find because they fear ostracism by the narrow-minded are those broad-minded individuals who don't shun others who have adapted cultural habits not akin to this area. There is extremely little room in the "outside" world today for those people who wear little hats because of having a narrow mind. We MUST look objectively at our actions which go against our ingrained traditions.

The remodeling that needs to be done needs to encompass every person either on this campus, or connected with it. This means from the lowliest of freshmen to the actual heads of the school. This is a very controversial statement, but we need to be aware that, although the idea of "one big family" is very good and is useful in keeping unity on the campus, we need to go beyond this concept in understanding. That competitive world of work will not be a Sunday School class. It will not be a discussion group in a student union, an assembly program on ideals, or a seminar in traditional principles of Mid-Western people.

I make these statements as a challenge to every student, teacher, and to others who are in some way involved with this campus to re-evaluate tradition and ideals and to see how they fit into the world today.

(Editors Note: Air Force Lt. Clifton Cushman is a former Kansas University and Olympic track star who calls Grand Forks, N. D., his home. He won second in the 400-meter hurdles in the 1960 Olympic Games at Rome but recently failed to qualify for the 1964 Tokyo Games when he stumbled on a hurdle in the trials in Los Angeles. Cushman, though disappointed, refused to feel sorry for himself and recently wrote the following open letter to a Grand Forks newspaper, challenging the youngsters of that community to strive to do their best and become better citizens. The letter, carrying a message to all youth follows.)

Don't feel sorry for me. I feel sorry for some of you! You may have seen the U.S. Olympic Trials on television Sept. 13. If so, you watched me hit the fifth hurdle, fall and lie on the track in an inglorious heap of skinned elbows, bruised hips, torn knees, and injured pride, unsuccessful in my attempt to make the Olympic team for the second time.

In a split second all the many years of training, pain, sweat, blisters and agony of running were simply and irrevocably wiped out. But I cried! I would much rather fall knowing I had put forth an honest effort than never to have tried at all.

This is not to say that everyone is capable of making the Olympic team. However, each of you is capable of trying to make your own personal "Olympic Team," whether it be the high school football team, the glee club, the honor roll, or whatever your goal may be. Unless your reach exceeds your grasp, how can you be sure what you can attain? And don't you think there are things better than cigarettes, hot-rod cars, school dropouts, excessive makeup, and duck-tail grease-cuts?

Over 15 years ago I saw a star—first place in the Olympic Games. I literally started to run after it. In 1960 I came within three yards of grabbing it; this year I stumbled, fell and watched it recede four more years away.

Certainly, I was very disappointed in falling flat on my face. However, there is nothing I can do about it now but get up, pick the cinders from my wounds, and take one more step followed by one more and one more, until the steps turn into miles and the miles into success.

I know I may never make it. The odds are against me but I have something in my favor—desire and faith. Romans 5:3-5 has always had an inspirational meaning to me in this regard. "...we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope, and hope does not disappoint us..." At least I am going to try.

How about you? Would a little extra effort on your part bring up your grade average? Would you have a better chance to make the football team if you stayed an extra 15 minutes after practice and worked on your blocking?

Let me tell you something about yourselves. You are taller and heavier than any past generation in this country. You are spending more money, enjoying more freedom, and driving more cars than ever before. Yet many of you are unhappy. Some of you have never known the satisfaction of doing your best in sports, the joy of excelling in class, the wonderful feeling of completing a job, any job, and looking back on it knowing that you have done your best.

I dare you to have your hair cut and not wilt under the comments of your so-called friends. I dare you to clean up your language. I dare you to honor your mother and father. I dare you to go to church without having to be compelled to go by your parents. I dare you to unselfishly help someone less fortunate than yourself and enjoy the wonderful feeling that goes with it. I dare you to become physically fit. I dare you to read a book that is not required in school. I dare you to look up at the stars, not down at the mud, and set your sights on one of them that, up to now, you thought was unattainable. There is plenty of room at the top, but no room for anyone to sit down.

Who knows? You may be surprised at what you can achieve with sincere effort. So get up, pick the cinders out of your wounds and take one more step. I dare you!

Rush, Mac Prof, Taught President Johnson In 1928

By Tim Bomberger

Professor R. R. Rush, visiting professor of physics at McPherson College, cherishes an experience few teachers can. He was a former teacher of President Lyndon Johnson.

Mr. Rush was head of the physics department at Southwest Texas State Teachers. In 1928 a student by the name of Lyndon Johnson enrolled in his freshman physics class.

Professor Rush recalls that in physics, Lyndon was a poor student because of his lack of math background and lack of interest in the subject. However, in the social science courses, especially history and sociology, Lyndon was an excellent student.

Lyndon graduated from Johnson City High School when he was sixteen. After a trip to California to seek his fortune, Lyndon's mother persuaded him to enroll at Southwest Texas State Teachers College. This college was located in the town of San Marcus, which was about 50 miles from Lyndon's hometown, Johnson City.

While in college, Lyndon was persuaded to go out for the debate team by Professor Green, who taught history and coached the debate team. A very fond relationship developed between Johnson and Professor Green. It was probably from this professor that Lyndon developed his liking for history and his keen interest in political science.

Because Johnson came from a poor and humble family and started college right before the depression, he found it very difficult to meet tuition costs. Johnson had to borrow money and worked as a slunkie, sweeping floors and doing other odd jobs to earn money to pay for his education.

Although Mr. Rush had Johnson as a student 26 years ago and never dreamed that some day he would be President of the United States, Professor Rush still remembers Lyndon's friendly and courteous attitude.

Student Teaching Not 'Dry Routine'

By Linda Kurtz

The sophisticated first grader who signs his name "Cameron J. Wiggins"; a little boy who dressed as a hawk for Halloween but who remarked wistfully that he couldn't fly; the boy who disliked drinking at the water fountain with his loose tooth because the tooth was "turned around"—the experience of student teaching encompasses much more than a dry routine of daily work.

Anjie Benton (Costa Mesa, Calif.), who teaches at Roosevelt Elementary, marvels at the honesty and frankness of her first graders. One "little one," as she calls them, wept mournfully at recess time, until Anjie asked him what was wrong. "Oh," he replied, "I'm crying because nobody will play with me."

The younger children seem to be completely fascinated with the student teachers and always evince a willingness to co-operate in class. Anjie reported the following incident to illustrate: Tommy is the class "cut-up," but when the supervising teacher had to leave the room for a moment, Tommy, eyes twinkling, said, "Don't worry,

Hank Gier (McPherson) reported that he has been in charge of taking names for detention hall in his class at Park Elementary School. Adding to his list the name of one of the more obstreperous students, Hank was met with the comment, "You can give me only half-detention; you're only half a teacher!"

Student teaching is an experience which all the Macollege seniors who are participating in the teaching block will long remember. Anjie Benton summed up the majority opinion concerning the experience of teaching: "I'm going to hate to see these nine weeks end."

Have You Read Pages 7-9?

By Ron Cassidente

McPherson College is a liberal arts college operated under the auspices of the Church of the Brethren. With this in mind, the McPherson college catalog continues to list the aims of our institution.

One can read from pages seven to nine in the catalog and feel proud and sometimes amazed at what the college aims to undertake in educating its many students.

Yet after one reads these pages of well written and high minded goals, one wonders if many of the students have read, understood, and agreed with what it said there.

Have you read pages seven through nine? These three short pages can give any student an idea of what he can expect from his four years at McPherson.

If he agrees with what's said, it will point the way to a life based on a liberal education emphasizing religious development, professional education and personal development.

But how many students really understand what pages seven through nine mean? How many have ever really taken the time to read and comprehend all that is involved in this official policy.

And of those who have read and do understand it, how many agree with all or any of it? How many would or could say anything for or against it?

By now everyone might be asking "Just what is this guy trying to say, or what kind of trouble is he trying to stir up now?"

It's simple. As far as I can see these three pages, although general in nature and content, spell out the why's and what for's of four years of life here at Mac.

They help to point to what the administration feels is necessary for college and college students as far as goals for life.

But do all of the students here have the whys figured out yet?

Have many of them taken the time to find out for themselves what they want out of four invested years of their life? Do they have goals? Do they need answers?

Sometimes as I observe students around campus, I feel the answer to this is no.

And it seems a shame, for without the students knowing the answers for their life, how will they ever be able to figure out if the whys on pages seven through nine are the ones for them?

Mac Stomps Bethel 25-13

By Wendell Kuhlman

McPherson College ran up 445 yds. offense, rolled to 22 first downs, and scored in every quarter as they trampled the Bethel Threshers 25-13 in the Bulldogs' Homecoming last Saturday.

Maccollege completely dominated play, running 66 offensive plays while Bethel had the ball on only 26. The Bulldog offense was stymied only twice: they ran out of downs on the Bethel 12-yd line and were forced to punt once from their own 40.

The McPherson defense limited Bethel to only 53 yards rushing and 9 first downs, 2 of them by penalties.

Nick Petrucci and Tom Reazin both had 7 tackles to lead the Bulldog defensive squad.

Offensive heroes for Maccollege were plentiful: Bob DeTour was the workhorse of the afternoon, carrying the ball 25 times for 125 yds.

Jerry Murphy gained 52 yds on 12 carries and caught one pass for 24 yds.

Buddy Taylor ran for 70 yds on 9 carries, completed 5 of 10 passes for 80 yds, and ran a kickoff back 13 yds to lead the Bulldogs in total offense with 172 yds.

Jim Steinle returned to the Maccollege line-up and celebrated by rushing for 76 yds on 8 carries and catching 2 passes for 39 yds. Jimmy seemed to give the Bulldogs the big play when they needed it most.

DeTour scored twice and passed for the lone extra point to Steinle, who also scored a touchdown on another pass from Taylor.

Murphy also scored 6 for Mac. Bethel's offensive leader was their quarterback, Peters, who completed 11 of 16 passes for 107 yds, 6 first downs, and one touchdown.

Maccollege stayed on the ground throughout the first half, picking up 12 first downs (all by rushing) and over 250 yds. They could score only twice, however, and the half ended with Mac on the Bethel 18, first and ten.

Both teams took to the air in the second half, Bethel almost completely, and Maccollege as a complement for their running game.

Bethel scored on a 7-yd pass after an 88-yd kickoff return following McPherson's third TD of the afternoon. They also scored on a long drive in the closing minutes after Coach Sid Smith had cleared the bench.

Hey! Wait a second, where is the professor? These members of the archery class are taking a more intense aim than a mere straw target would justify.

Sport News

By Wendell Kuhlman

Ottawa, C of E, Southwestern, and Baker all won their games last weekend to remain in a four-place deadlock atop the KCAC standings. This assures a two-way tie for the championship since the top contenders face each other on the final week of the season.

Ottawa beat Bethany 27-6, C of E slipped past KWU 27-14, Southwestern clobbered Sterling 47-7, and Baker shut out Friends 44-0.

This weekend Baker goes to Ottawa and C of E plays Southwestern at Winfield in the featured games of the entire campaign. Bethany goes to Newton to play Bethel, Friends hosts KWU, and Mac visits Sterling.

Soccer Team Defeats St. John

By Tim Bomberger

Last Friday, Nov. 6 the McPherson College soccer team won its first game of the season by defeating a hard-playing St. John's Military Academy team by the score of 5-0.

Although both teams were handicapped by the thick mud, McPherson's tough defense and accurate field goal kicking proved to be too much for the visiting team.

Fred Mugoli and Ben Akamou were the leading scorers for McPherson. Fred scored three field goals and Ben scored one goal. McPherson also scored in the fourth quarter when they capitalized on a recovered fumble.

Both teams had to rely heavily on their substitutes, since the players soon became tired playing in the thick mud.

Basketball Practice To Begin Nov. 17

Basketball practice will start Tuesday, Nov. 17, for everyone wanting to play basketball for the Bulldogs this season.

For the first practice everyone trying out who is not a letterman will have to bring his own practice equipment. After the squad has been cut all members will be issued equipment by the athletic department.

Sterling, McPherson To Award Trophy

Starting this year, McPherson College and Sterling College will award a trophy each year to the winner of the Sterling-McPherson football game.

Starting with the Nov. 14 game, the winner will be awarded the trophy and will get to keep it until the next football game.

Volleyball Schedule

The week of November 16-20 will be the last week of Intramural Volleyball. The Volleyball tournament started yesterday and will be completed on Thursday, Nov. 19.

The schedule is as follows: Monday, 6:15, 6 plays 7, 14 plays 8, 7:00, 13 plays 14, 11 plays 5.

On Tuesday Nov. 17 the winners of the Thursday Nov. 12 games will play and the winners of the Monday Nov. 16 games will play.

On Thursday Nov. 19, the winners of the Tuesday games will play at 6:15 and the two winners of these games will play the one remaining game at 7:00.

There are several schedules posted around campus.

Persons Selected Player of the Week

By Ronnie Murphy

One of the biggest football players on this year's squad is Jerry Persons, 6 ft. 192 pound tackle chosen player of the week by his teammates this past week.

Jerry's offensive block has been outstanding all year, but was especially noticeable in the game against Bethel where his bruising jolts broke several backs away for long gains. A big tough lineman like Jerry is especially appreciated by those who need his protection the most, namely the backs behind him.

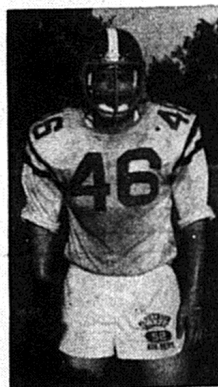

Football was also a major part of Jerry's high school life, as he lettered four years at Ballard Community High School in Ames, Iowa.

Jerry is a sophomore at Maccollege and this is his second year on the Bulldog grid team; he earned a varsity letter as a freshman.

Jerry is a music major and plans to teach music following graduation. He is taking the following courses: physical science, music history, music theory, string methods, and private music lessons.

Commenting about the upcoming game with Sterling, Jerry said, "We know enough to beat Sterling. The only reason we could lose the game would be by mental letdown."

Mac to Clash With Sterling

By Tim Bomberger

A 43-year rivalry continues tomorrow night when the McPherson Bulldogs travel to Sterling, Kansas, to play the Sterling College Warriors.

McPherson holds the edge in victories over the past years. McPherson has won 12 games, lost 9, and one game with Sterling ended in a tie.

Last year Sterling defeated McPherson by the score of 13-9, in a very close and exciting game. McPherson will be out to avenge last year's game and to try and win the final game of the season.

So far this season, McPherson has a 3-5 record. The Bulldogs hold wins over Kansas Wesleyan, Friends University, and Bethel College.

Sterling has not had a very good season this year, as they have only won one game all season.

Sterling's backfield is made up of all freshmen, and Henry Cooper, the left halfback, is a good runner. Sterling will probably try many passes during the game, since both of their ends are excellent pass receivers.

Sterling probable offensive lineup will be: C. Al Spots, 190 lb., So.; G. Lawrence Frank, 200 lb., Jr., Carl Baker, 185 lb., Fr.; T. Larry Boyd, 190 lb., Jr.; Russell Cerretti, 195 lb., Jr.; E. Jim Nystrom, 175 lb., Jr.; Ywlan Zimmerman, 165 lb., So.; Q.B. Terry Woodberry, 185 lb., Fr.; F.B. Hershall Fuller, 195 lb., Fr.; H.B. Morris Inciong, $65 lb., Fr., Henry Cooper, 170 lb., Fr.

Pope, Petrucci Named 1964 Bulldog Co-Captains

Duane Pope and Nick Petrucci were named co-captains of the 1964 Bulldog football squad by vote of the squad members before the homecoming game with Bethel.

Pope, 6'3", 190 lb. end from Roxbury, Kansas, was named Player of the Week against Baker. He has lettered all four years he has attended Maccollege, and he is a prime candidate for all-conference honors at defensive end.

Petrucci, 6', 200 lb. strong man from the Pennsylvania coal mines country, earned his first varsity letter from Maccollege last year. This season he has very effectively plugged the middle of the Bulldog defensive line.

"Mad Dog" was selected Player of the Week against Southwestern and led the Bulldogs in total tackles going into the season finale against Sterling.

Both captains are defensive stalwarts, both are seniors, and, oddly enough, they have roomed together all through college.

Freshman Class Largest At McPherson With 216

The largest class of McPherson College this year is the freshman class with a total enrollment of 216, which include 136 men and 80 women. This class is the largest one to attend McPherson College.

Several honors have been given to this class. In the Mental Maturity (I. Q.) Tests the class ranked very high, with 29 1/2 per cent in the upper quarter and 52 1/2 per cent in the second quarter. This is a combined total of 82 per cent in the general superior intelligence grouping.

The freshman class also did well in scholarship. Fifteen students received competition; eighteen, high school merit; nine, music and academic, and seven received junior college scholarships.

Twenty-two states, three foreign nations and one protectorate are represented in the Freshman class.

High School To Give Production

Nov. 20 and 21 at 8:00 p.m., the McPherson High School will put on Irving Berlin's musical play "Mr. President." It will be held in Brown Auditorium. The prices are $1.00 for adults and .75 for children.

The main stars are Roger Swanson, Marsha Vetter, Susan Frederick, Dennis Swick, and Cameron Knackstedt, all of McPherson. It is being directed by Mrs. James Kohler, head of the vocal music department at the High School. Mrs. Jackie Raymond, McPherson, and Charlie Dadisman, Nevada, Iowa, are assisting with the direction and music.

"Mr. President" is a story about a simple everyday family who ends up in the White House. It tells of the many problems and exciting things that happen to the President, also about their teen age daughter and the problems that she has with the secret service men.

"Mr. President" is Irving Berlin's comeback after a long absence from Broadway. The scenery, songs, and the patriotic feeling assist in making this an enjoyable production.

4, California 4, Minnesota 4, Idaho and New Jersey 3, Texas and Nebraska 2, and Michigan, Washington, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and West Virginia, with 1 each. Students from outside the United States are two from Nigeria, one from Greece, one from Germany, and one from Puerto Rico.

Prospective Teachers Apply to Comm.

The Education Department has announced that all prospective teachers who have reached the classification of a junior should make application to the Teacher Education Program.

These applications are usually processed in the Introduction to Education Class, but since some juniors will not be taking this course until the second semester this year, it is necessary for them to pick up the application forms from the Department of Education.

After a student's application form has been completed it is presented to the Teacher Education Committee for their approval. If the application is rejected by the Committee the student may not continue his preparation for teaching. Juniors should complete their application by the end of November.

"Antigone" Cast Begins Rehearsal

Jean Anouilh's modern version of the classic drama, "Antigone," has been cast, and rehearsals are well under way, according to Loren D. Reyher, professor of dramatics and speech.

To project the sense of tragedy and despair that pervades the play, the setting will be very severe, in what Prof. Reyher defines as "presentational style."

The audience, gathering in full view of the set, will see only drapes, steps, and limited furnishings. Lighting techniques are expected to enhance further the aura of tragedy.

The McPherson College Players will present "Antigone" on Dec. 10 and 12.

Skate Party Nov. 21

The next Skating Party will be held Nov. 21. Everyone is to meet at 6:10 in front of Dotzour Hall. Cars are needed because the party is to be held in Hutchinson at Roller City.

Fisher Plans Quad Finances

By Doug Rapp

"Don't put all your eggs in one basket," so the saying goes, but for Gary Fisher, sophomore from Bethlehem, Pa., and his job, business manager for the Quadrangle, this is the precise plan of action. Gary works all year long for the fruits of one day, the day the Quadrangle is released.

Basically the job consists of making all transactions necessary to keep the Quadrangle on a sound financial basis. This includes selling advertisements, regulating the budget, and paying all contracts such as for printing, binding, and photography.

Gary also draws up and constructs the advertisements and presents them to business men for purchase. Speaking of the ads, Gary said, "If it is possible to make ads interesting, and I think it is, I want to do it by getting more pictures into them." Gary constructs the ads in their entirety before contacting the purchaser. "When they see your definite plan of action they're much more likely to buy."

The job of business manager is worth $150 a year plus a $50 bonus if the project makes a profit. Running in the black will be more difficult this year than ever though since Judy Hoover, junior from Denver, the Editor of the Quad., has decided to add an additional seventeen pages at the cost of $300.

"This and the fact that costs are higher than in past years due to price rises make it a real challenge to make both ends meet!"

Summarizing his job Gary commented, "You never know what you're in for when you take this sort of job, but I like it a lot."

Peace Corp Test To Be Given Nov. 14

An on-campus Peace Corps Placement Test will be given on Saturday, Nov. 14, in Mohler 227.

The test is in three parts and consists of a General Aptitude Test, The Modern Language Aptitude Test, and a French or Spanish Test for those who have previously had experience with these languages.

Peace Corps Placement Test results are used to help find the most appropriate assignment for each applicant, therefore, the test is "non-competitive", and there are no passing or failing grades.

For further information on the test, contact Leland Lengel, professor of history, Mohler 107.

Larry is not a "newcomer" to the position, for he worked in the Business Office while attending college.

Since graduating from Macollege, Larry has been in Brethren Volunteer Service for two years in Garkida, Nigeria.
