Walk-In Bookstore In New Location

A walk-in bookstore has been installed in the basement of the Student Union. Textbooks, supplies and novelties are now in stock, with a shipment of paperbacks expected soon. The bookstore is under the business office and is being managed by Mrs. Marcia Cotterill.

The bookstore occupies the area which had previously been the music and television rooms of the Student Union. The partition between the two rooms was removed and steel shelves line the west and south walls displaying books and supplies. On the north wall a large peg board displays clothing and novelties such as stickers, nighties, and sweat shirts.

Dr. Flory, vice president of McPherson College, did the carpentry work for the new walk-in bookstore during the summer. A counter was installed which is decorated by a large "M". Shelves will be provided outside the bookstore where students may leave their books and belongings. Students will not be able to take these into the store.

Mrs. Marcia Cotterill, the manager, is a native of McPherson. She has twin daughters and five grandchildren. Among her many interests are reading, canasta, and knitting.

Helping Mrs. Cotterill are five student assistants: Carol Christy, senior, Garrison, Iowa; Georgianna Krehbiel, sophomore, McPherson; Terry Reyher, sophomore, Wiley, Colorado; Ellen Sell, senior, Conway; Helen Thomas, junior, Wilberforce, Ohio.

Students will be able to charge textbooks and supplies until October. Accounts will be due then and delinquent after November 8. Stamps will be sold and students will be able to mail packages from the bookstore. Stamps, clothing, and novelties may not be charged.

The bookstore hours are as follows: Monday through Friday: 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and 1:15 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Saturday: 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

'Sabrina Fair' Tryouts To Open New Season

The 1964-65 theater season at McPherson College will begin this year with tryouts for "Sabrina Fair," the first major production of the season. Tryouts will be held Monday, Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Professor Loren Reyher, new head of the dramatics department, is encouraging everyone interested in dramatics to try out for the play, regardless of their past experience.

There will be leading roles for five males and five females. Smaller parts and walk-ins will be cast Monday with the main roles. Scripts have been made available on a reserved basis in the library for anyone interested in reading the play.

Anyone interested in helping as stage hands or in other general production work should contact Professor Reyher sometime after the tryouts are held.

As the first play of the year, "Sabrina Fair" offers quite difficult technical problems with an outdoor garden setting on New York's Long Island. Many special effects and lighting techniques will be involved in producing the play.

The play is scheduled for performance on October 23 and 24

Eleven new faculty members assumed their duties at the opening of school this year.

One of the most recent appointments was given to Mrs. Herbert Schmidt, Newton, who will teach part time in second year French. Mrs. Schmidt was born in India. During the past summer she studied in Paris.

taking courses in conversational French.

Mr. Gordon Zahradnik will teach part time in ceramics. He holds a master's degree in ceramics from Fort Hays State College, where his thesis was in the field of Education.

during the Church of the Brethren Regional Conference to be held here.

Plans have also been released by Prof. Reyher for a brand new concept in McPherson College theater. This will be an arena theater to be installed on the stage of Brown Auditorium. The arena will completely surround the acting area and will seat 200 spectators.

The arena will be used for future major productions, and serve as the home of a proposed laboratory theater.

George Snavelly, sophomore from Lebanon, Penn., seems to be getting pleasure from making Dan Heefner, sophomore from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, suffer as he goes through what all students must at the business office during the three days of enrollment.

Objective Measure of Rhythmic Motor Response." A test was devised by Dr. Coppock to evaluate the rhythmic element in dance, and was administered to 122 subjects.

Besides working for her doctorate, Dr. Coppock also taught one class at the University.

She received a graduate assistantship for the entire year, and received a teaching scholarship during the past summer.

Satisfied With Your Life?

Is it worth it? This is the question many of us have asked ourselves and will be asking ourselves about college.

Shouldn't one just take a steady, secure job and forget all this fuss over education. Why spend the time?

School can be some of the most creative years

Why? And What For?

By President D. W. Bittinger

"John, why did you come to college?"

"It seemed like the thing to do. I finished high school with reasonably good grades; all my friends were going to college somewhere; my folks wanted me to go; so here I am. OK?"

"Yeah! OK!"

"Why did you come to college? same reason?"

John and Bill had met casually along one of the walks of McPherson College during the first week of college, 1964. They were just making conversation. The conversation revealed some things about McPherson College, however, Bill answered John's question.

"Not quite. It's a long story and it took a long time. I doubt if you want to hear it. I'm lucky to be here."

"Go ahead. It will do you good to talk. I have time to listen."

"Well stop me if you get tired. I grew up in Appalachia. Our town sprawled along a low mountain and dropped down into a winding mountain stream. The stream was black. We all dug coal; the mountain seemed full of it."

"Are you a coal miner?"

"Not a real one. The coal began to become depleted before I was big enough to take on a man-sized job. I helped in all kinds of jobs. I greased coal trucks as far back as I can remember. I delivered groceries up the hills to some of the families where the 'old man' had 'lung sickness' from too much coal dust. When my own father came down with bad lungs I sometimes took his shift in the mines. This wasn't good for me and sometimes I was laid up with coughing for a few days, so I tried to get most of my jobs above ground."

"How did you get your high school finished?"

"I missed a lot of it. My grades are not very strong and I didn't get to do much in athletics. But it was like that for most of the kids in my town. After I graduated I had to work three years to help my folks get ahead a little and to save some money for college. I think I can make it now but I worry some about the folks back home."

"Glad you're here. I surely hope you make it all right. Look at that fellow over there. Wonder where he is from? Hello, there! How are you? Where do you hail from?"

"O, I feel a little lost. I am from Greece and I miss the sea."

Welcome lads and lassies. Welcome from wide backgrounds. Conversations like the above happen at McPherson. They reveal that different backgrounds are not really important at McPherson.

But fellowship is important. Students and faculty, let's build a rich fellowship in 1964-65. For is it not true that the world greatly needs to experience intellectual curiosity, generous sharing, and deepening fellowship?

Juniors to Take Proficiency Test

Macollege juniors will meet tomorrow at 8 a.m. for the English Proficiency Test.

All graduates are required to pass the test which will consist of an essay section and an objective grammar test.

Students must establish a 50 percentile rating on the objective part and their essay must receive a satisfactory rating from two members of the English Department.

Seventy-five Observe Classroom Situations

Approximately 75 McPherson students spent a week during the remaining days of their summer vacation observing a classroom situation. Students generally observed in their home community, which included communities from the states of Maryland to Washington.

Reflecting on the experience, which was to acquaint the student teacher with the process of how school work is begun in the fall, students commented: "It made me anxious to teach." "It made me feel more interested in teaching."

of one's life. One can find great stimulation and fulfillment in the world of classrooms and books.

More important, college is a means of achieving an interesting and satisfying vocation. Many people go through life in a job they despise simply because they did not take the time to get into something worthwhile.

If you are not satisfied with your life, don't be afraid to do something about it. Your life is the most important life in the world to you; How can you afford not to be satisfied with it?

It's like the sax player in a little off-beat night club, who at age 25 decided he really wanted to be a psychologist. But then he started worrying about the time it would take—first there would be college, then medical school and internship. By the time he got through he would be 40. He worried about this for 15 years and decided not to do it. Now he's 40 anyway. csl

Flory Replies to Queries Regarding Stuco Functions

By Lowell Flory

In the past several months a seemingly countless number of people have asked me what the Student Council is going to do this year. That always seems to me to be a somewhat tricky question.

The Student Council is the representative government of the Student Body. As such, it performs all the various perfunctory tasks that fall to organizations of this type. But in addition to these, as I think I have said before, I believe a Student Council should serve two other less easily definable functions.

On the one hand it should be a sounding board—a receiver and a co-ordinator of student public opinion, interests, and activities when they are articulated, and on the other hand, a stimulator and director of the same when they are not carefully articulated.

It is in this area where a Student Council meets its greatest challenge and in making progress in this area where it makes its greatest accomplishment.

As I suggested at a student leader roundtable last week, I hope the Student Council as well as the leaders of the various extra-curricular activities will work to establish a high level of student interest this year. Many of the organizations have planned new and ambi-

"Let's Bring Complaining Back To Our America"

By Charlie Dadisman

Ah, sweet mystery of life! Ah, sweet opening of school! Eechhh! Yes, opening days of another school year are here, and familiar scenes again bless our campus.

Those nostalgic scenes of limping football stars, green-hued freshmen, confused organizations, conceited seniors, endless "food" lines, chaotic class meetings, watered sidewalks, private crowds at ten o'clock in the front of Dotzour, unenthusiastic dances, mass hypnosis in chapel, uncoordinated intramurals, terrifying term papers, and the awaited arrival of freshmen girls by eager upperclassmen. Though they appear to be uninspiring, these are only some of the little things which will remain with most of us until we grow too old to remember.

However dismal these images may seem, better things are yet to come. Even, or should I say especially, the nominated candidates for governmental offices are feeling optimistic. With the advocacy of draft abolitionism by that character from Arizona, and the slicing of taxes by that guy with the cattle ranch in some state down south, what do Americans have left to complain about? They're taking away our national image. We have to complain about something or the Europeans will begin to think we are not Americans at all.

I think that we here on this campus can do our part to help this campaign. We have so many golden opportunities for complaining here on the home front. Let's all get out and complain much more this year. Make it the dawn of the age of complaining!

Look around you right here and jot down some ideas for some complaining. There's always freshman initiation which really doesn't do anything but serve as a means to unify the class and enable them to face responsibilities. Or the food that you get from Slater Food. (It's easy to cook for six hundred starving people and satisfy them all.) Or perhaps you could complain about mid-term or semester grades, but who would you blame, the professor or yourself?

Now that you have a start, really dig in and start your complain campaign. Let's bring complaining back to our America. . . "sweet land of liberty."

Student Dress Policy

As it was last spring, there is at present no specific policy on dress. It is expected that students will dress in a manner becoming to mature college persons.

As it has been in the past, Sunday noon is still "dress-up" as are occasional evening meals.

Dean Announces Class Changes

Due to changes in professor's schedules, Dr. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, has announced that the ceramics class will meet Monday from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The second year French class will meet Monday and Thursday at 11:25. Both of these changes are contrary to previously scheduled times.

Mrs. Schmidt, instructor of the second year French Class hopes to have a French table in the Student Union where all students who can converse in French will be able to come and participate in discussions in French.

Beginning Activities Occupy All Students

By Ron Cassidente

The opening week of school here at Mac has seen both students and faculty participating in varied activities.

Dorms opened for all students at noon Saturday, and the task of moving in and settling down began. Old and new students alike began to unpack and become acquainted with new surroundings, faces, and responsibilities.

The first activity of the school year was a retreat Sunday at Dr. Bittinger's house, for student officers and leaders.

Monday saw a majority of the students up early to begin the grueling task of enrollment. No serious injuries were reported, but many cases of writers cramp, and sore feet from waiting in lines were noted.

Monday also saw the start of freshman orientation meetings, where all freshman began the process of learning the ropes. Later that evening, however, the freshman gathered in a lighter mood for a get-acquainted party hosted by Guy Hayes.

Time was spent learning names and faces, consuming goodies and having fun. The unity of the entire freshman class was begun, and other smaller unities were started also.

Tuesday saw some people testing, while others recovered from enrollment and prepared for the all school movie and party which followed that night.

Last minute enrollees scrambled around Wednesday before the women attended a tea that afternoon, and the men a dinner that night.

The highlight of the tea was a fashion show for all the females. The men became better acquainted while they shared in a chicken dinner sponsored by the Men's Council.

An all school talent show followed later, as the upper classesmen displayed their talents and gave the freshmen some ideas for displaying their own.

Thursday heralded the long awaited convening of classes. Many potential dropouts were stopped from returning home only when consoling faculty members assured them that the shortened class schedule happened only once a semester, and it wasn't always as hectic.

Today found the faculty members right as things settled down and morning classes began on the regular schedule. Tonight the students will be guests of the faculty at a reception and program to be held in Brown Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The freshmen talent show will come to pass followed by a watermelon feed tomorrow night. A pajama parade is scheduled for the 17th followed by studying, football games and such.

Of course, the many activities associated with the initiation of the newest members of the student body will be carried on with great enthusiasm. For some people, this might make the first week of school seem like a holiday.

Fifteen Lettermen Return To Aid Football Squad

Fifteen lettermen return this year to form the nucleus of the MacCollege football squad. A total squad of 49, including four teen freshmen, reported for practice on Monday, August 31, when the Bulldogs began two-a-day practice.

Of the fifteen lettermen, eight are backs. Buddy Taylor, a 175 pound junior from Thomas, Okla., and Nick Petrucci, a 200 pound senior from Trafford, Penn., return at quarterback.

Four lettermen have returned at the fullback position, however. Bob DeTour, a 200 pound sophomore from McPherson, will probably do most of the work on the offensive squad. Tom Reazin, 180 pound junior from Lyons, Laurel Patrick, a 165 pound junior from Marquette, and Larry Bowman, 170 pound senior from Quinter, are all fullbacks but specialize at the defensive linebacker position.

Although only seven lettermen are returning in the line, several others have had much game experience and are expected to provide much of the strength in the forward wall.

Wendell Kuhlman, a 165 pound junior from McPherson, is the only letterman returning at the guard position. Merlin Grady, a 215 pound senior from Waterloo, Iowa, Jerry Persons, a 200 pound sophomore from Ames, Iowa, and Edwin Johnson, a 180 pound senior from Quinter, are all returning at the tackle position.

Four centers are shooting for the number one spot in that position. Doyle Ralston, a 170 pound junior from Sheldon, Iowa, will see a lot of action at this position.

At the tackle position are Myron Ediger, a 200 pound freshman from Buhler, Ralph Barr, a 200 pound sophomore

Jerry Murphy, sophomore halfback from Hope, and Jerry Persons, sophomore tackle with College of Emporia on September 18, from Ames, Iowa, work hard on the two man

Outstanding Players To Receive Awards

Several plaques rewarding outstanding achievement in leadership and hard work will be given to individuals on the MacCollege football squad this year.

The football squad will vote after each game to decide if any individual has played an outstanding game. This player will then receive a plaque as player of the week. However, if the team feels that no outstanding performances were present in the game, then no plaque will be given for that week.

The two co-captains, who will be voted on by the squad at the end of the season will also be awarded with plaques.

Each plaque will bear the name of the person who earned it, and will give the reason why he earned it.

Miller's Shoe Store in downtown McPherson has also added incentive for the players to do a good job in the first game, especially members of the defensive unit. Each year Miller's gives a pair of football shoes to the MacCollege player who makes the most tackles in the first game.

Smith Wants Tough Squad

Sid Smith, coach of the MacCollege football squad, wants it known that anyone who feels that he is tough enough still has an opportunity to try out for the Bulldog grid squad.

Anyone who has had experience with statistics and managing an athletic team or would like to gain experience in an interesting field, the football squad could also use men to fill positions as managers and statisticians.

Defending Champions to Be Strong Contenders for Title

By Wendell Kuhlman
KCAC defending champions of 1962 and 1963, College of Emporia's Presbies have 21 lettermen returning to help them be strong contenders for the title again this year.

Included among these lettermen are all-KCAC selections Rick Tresky, Bill Swartz, Joe Kiley, and Frank DeVilling.

C of E, while still ranking as co-favorites in the KCAC title race, is not considered as strong as in the past three years.

The Presbies, undefeated the past two years, lost their entire starting backfield from last season via graduation and three regular linemen the same way. This results in a weaker C of E backfield and a few weak spots in their front line.

But do not sell the "weakened" Presbies short!

The optimistic word from Emporia's head coach, Bill Schnebel, is this: "Enough experienced personnel will be on hand to make the Presbies a contender for the KCAC championship this fall."

C of E buried the Bulldogs 54-0 at Emporia in Mac's second start last season, but the Bulldogs have been showing more strength and spirit in practice than they have for the past three years.

The rejuvenated Bulldogs give the "rebuilding" Presbies their first KCAC test of the season here at McPherson Friday, September 18, at 7:30.
