Reyher Chooses Cast For "Sabrina Fair"

Miss Jane Funk, sophomore from Arvada, Colorado, has been chosen for the title role in "Sabrina Fair." Miss Funk was chosen during auditions which were held in Brown Auditorium on Monday evening, Sept. 14. She is portraying Sabrina Fairchild, a young girl who goes to Paris and returns a sophisticated young woman.

The supporting cast was chosen as follows: Pat Greenway, a freshman from Indianapolis, Indiana, will portray Maude Larrabee; Karen Andes, junior from Mound City, Mo., will play Julie McKinlock; Ron Cassidente, sophomore from Denver, Colo., will play Linus Larrabee Sr.

Vance Alexander, senior from Geneese, Kansas, will play Linus Larrabee Jr.; Don Kussart junior from Cerro Gordo, Ill., will portray Davis Larabee; Gloria Hull, junior from McPherson will play Margaret.

Ansel Neuburger, senior from Hutchinson, will portray Fairchild; Velma Hoyer, junior from McPherson, will play Gretchen; Leah Standafer, senior from Worthington, Minn., will play a young woman; Nancy Steffen, a sophomore from Elkart, will portray another young woman.

Mary Ellen Scott, senior from Warensburg, Mo., will play a singer, and David Heffley, a junior from Texarkana, Arkansas, will play Paul D'Argenson.

The parts of two young men are still to be cast, along with other minor roles. Anyone interested in a small role in the play is asked to see Mr. Reyher immediately.

Rehearsals for "Sabrina Fair" started on Tuesday evening and will continue nightly until the opening performance on October 23 and 24.

Tryouts for the season's second major production, "Antigone", will be held in mid-October before "Sabrina Fair" is given. Two other major productions are scheduled for the second semester, along with a play a week in the round.

Drama Dept. Plans Laboratory Theater

The Dramatics Department is planning a laboratory theater program, involving an arena theater, for the purpose of giving all students who like to act a chance to get into some productions.

Alpha Psi Omega and the Player's Club met Sept. 15 to discuss some of the points of this program designed to build a strong drama department and to develop student talent.

The arena theater will be installed on the stage of Brown Auditorium. The arena will completely surround the acting area and will seat 200 spectators.

The arena will be used for future major productions, as well as serve as the home of the proposed laboratory theater.

The laboratory productions will be supervised and produced by Alpha Psi Omega and the Mc-Pherson College Players Club. They will consist of one act plays or cuttings from three act plays.

One laboratory play will be scheduled each week, and Alpha Psi Omega will be responsible for scheduling tryout and performance dates.

This laboratory will enable all interested students to gain valuable experience in acting and directing. It will also serve as a springboard for actors into major productions.

At the conclusion of each week's play, a member of the fine arts faculty will present a critique on the play.

Prof. Reyher stated that "This type of theater will give an actor the greatest experience of concentration and self discipline he will ever face."

Admission to the laboratory theater will be free, and Prof. Reyher has asked that everyone interested in theater support the plays through attendance or performance.

Maccollege Will Host Parents' Day, Oct. 24

Parents' Day, an annual event at Maccollege which acquaints parents of Maccollege students with the school and its facilities, will be Saturday, October 24.

With registration starting at 12:30, the afternoon will be filled with campus activities, with the evening highlighted by the Baker University vs. McPherson College football game.

All parents will receive an invitation and information concerning the big day.

Dance Tonight In Student Union

A dance will be held tonight immediately following the football game with C. of E. It will be in the Student Union basement, and no admission will be charged.

Music will be furnished by records tonight.

Plans for future dances include combos or bands.

Frequent dances will be sponsored by the Social Committee throughout the year, and each dance will have a different atmosphere.

625 Student Enrollment

Enrolled this year are 625 students with only 597 last year. The freshmen have the majority with 222, sophomores with 130, juniors with 116, and seniors with 104.

Michalski To Begin 1964-65 Cultural Series

Tickets for the 1964-65 McPherson Cultural Series will be on sale after Sept. 23. Raymond Michalski-basso, featured soloist, will be the first performer, on Sunday, Oct. 11, at 3 p.m.

All of the programs will be in Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m. except for the first number which will be at 3 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 11.

Ticket prices are: adult season tickets $7; student and child season tickets $4; single admission, adult and student $2 and single admission child (12 or under) $1.

Tickets can be purchased at the switchboard located in the Public Relations Office in Mohler Administration Building.

Mr. Michalski, the first performer, has sung with the Philadelphia Grand Opera Association and on NBC television. He is currently with the Lincoln Center Young Artists Group sponsored by the Metropolitan Opera Association.

On Nov. 7, the Burke Family Singers will perform. The group includes the parents and ten children ranging in ages from 11 to 24 years.

The Burkes' repertoire is sung in 8 languages and consists of sacred and classical choral music ranging from the chant to such composers as Palestrina, Bach and Mozart, as well as madrigals, spirituals and folk songs.

A recital by Alirio Diaz, renowned classic guitarist, will be presented on Jan. 23. Born in Venezuela, Mr. Diaz began his studies at the Caracas Conservatory with Prof. Raul Borges.

After being awarded the "Prize Extraordinary" at the Madrid Conservatory in 1950, he then attended Andres Segovia's advanced course in classic guitar in Siena, Italy.

He has been soloist with orchestras in major music centers in Europe, North America and South America.

The Turnau Players, who will appear on March 26, include a company of eight singers and the musical director-accompanist.

They have staged over 450 performances of 40 operas, including five premiers of contemporary works. Their performance this season will be Puccini's renowned opera "La Boheme." The opera is performed in English.

The final performance of this year's series is scheduled for April 8, as Philip Hanson, a company of one, presents his program.

Alone on a bare stage without costume or make-up, he assumes the total identities of more than 100 characters in his presentations.

His repertoire includes such classics as Melville's "Moby Dick," Shakespeare's "Kings and Clowns," and "Villains and Fools," and Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

Social Committee Plans Entertainment

By Charlie Dadisman

Exciting things will be happening in the area of social life this year on Mac's campus. This year's committee of social excitement has been hard at work to create a stimulating social life for this year since last May.

The committee is comprised of George Czaplinski, junior, McPherson; Charlie Dadisman, senior, Nevada, Iowa; Shirley Fassnacht, sophomore, McPherson; Harriet Swinger, senior, Essex, Mo.; and Lynn Christy, junior, McPherson, chairman. Mary Ann Robinson, Dean of Women, and Robert Keim, assistant professor of sociology, are faculty representatives.

The social season began with the movie "The Brothers Karamazov." This is only the first of a multitude of motion pictures scheduled for this academic year.

Others on this list include "One-Eyed Jacks," "The Greatest Show on Earth," "The Great Locomotive Chase," "Captains Courageous," "Anna Karenina," "Hatari," "Gigi," "The Inform-er," "Houdini," "The World of Suzie Wong," "The Desert Rats," and "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

A large profit was noted from the initial movie on this list last Tuesday night, and as a result of this, subsequent prices will be dropped to twenty-five cents per person.

One concern of the social committee is in returning the profits realized from these movies back to the students in some form. It is their desire to bring a name group on campus. (Example: Peter Nero Trio, Chad Mitchell Trio, etc.)

If, by chance, this appears to be impossible during the latter part of the year, free movies or lavish parties may be in order.

Other activities to be presented during the year will include a street dance in front of Dotzour Hall, numerous post-game dances, pizza parties, hayrides, and any other novelties which this Committee for the Prevention of Boredom can create.

Watch the Spectator closely for coming social activities.

Mac Students Will Debate Employment

"The Federal Government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed" has been selected as the debate topic for the year. The debate teams first met Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. in Mohler, room 229.

Dr. Wayne L. Miller, associate professor of speech and religion, and director of debate activities, has announced that debate teams will participate in inter-collegiate programs within the McPherson area as well as with other colleges and universities.

In addition to the assigned topic, there will be opportunities to debate on such subjects as alcohol, peace for the world, and many others.

The first scheduled debate will be held the first of next semester.

SNEA Plans School Picnic

SNEA will sponsor a picnic at the south shelter of the Lakeside Park on Monday, September 21.

Before the picnic there will be recreation, probably softball. The game, which will start at 5 o'clock, will last for approximately one hour with the eating to start after that.

A short program centering around a humorous skit concerning the teachers of the past will follow along with folk singing featuring Vance Alexander and Dave Ankeman. The officers will be introduced and the year's activities will be outlined.

SNEA, Student National Education Association, is a group on campus for those who are planning to enter the teaching profession.

Everyone is welcome, and the SNEA will take care of all the food. Everyone on the meal plan at the cafeteria should notify the SNEA of their meal ticket number if they are planning to attend the picnic.

Anyone interested in going to the picnic may sign up in the student union from Monday, September 14 until Friday, September 18.

Editor Urges School Spirit

Tonight we battle C of E in our first football game of the season.

Most students will probably attend the game, and most students, according to pattern, will sit like a "bump on a log" the entire evening. Perhaps a freshman or two, unable to restrain his excitement, will let loose with a forbidden scream, but most students will sit calmly on their seats with a look of complacency on their faces and perhaps muster up enough energy to turn to their neighbors and utter, "How nice."

This example, of course, is slightly exaggerated, but yet it all too closely reflects the general attitude of students at Mac college football games.

It is quite a shock to freshmen to attend their first college game after enthusiastic high school games when students actually lost their voices from yelling so much.

What causes this lack of enthusiasm? Do college students consider themselves so "suave" and "sophisticated" that they feel it beneath their dignity to support their team? Or is the lack of enthusiasm at games just one area of the general apathy of the students?

If students are interested enough to go to the game in the first place, surely it isn't impossible to work up enough enthusiasm to yell a few times.

This is the first game of the year. Let's get behind our boys, show an interest in our team, and start this season off with strong school spirit.

Point of View

Goldwater Offers A Choice

The definition of conservative government in 1964 is as follows: "a wise and frugal government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government, and this is necessary to close the circle of our felicities." (Thomas Jefferson)

Since the days of the New Deal and continuing through the present administration, the federal government has increasingly assumed more and more control in all areas of public life.

The current President is a confirmed new dealer who is bound and determined to not only sustain, but to expand federal control through the 1960's. His administration's action in the fields of medicare, education, taxes, states rights, TVA, farming, labor - management, civil rights and the national economy will verify this.

He simply tells us in 1964 that if we will just leave everything to the federal government, our troubles will be over. I contend that this road to dictatorship and socialism, with its total disregard for individual initiative and incentive, can only and will only lead to disaster. "I nominate Senator Goldwater... to keep government from becoming the master instead of the servant of the people." (Senator Everett Dirksen)

Senator Goldwater is not against helping the poor or aged, he is for helping them. He is not against civil rights, farming, foreign aid, labor-management, or aid to education, he is for these.

He is, however, against the present federal laws and policies which are merely buying time while compromising respect, freedom, liberty, democracy and our republic. He believes that these problems can be solved by the American people along the lines of their created constitution.

He believes that man's problems are best solved by man's initiative and a sense of purpose working through a proper balance of individual, local, private, state, and federal organization.

These ideas of 1964 conservatism correlate well with the Jeffersonian and Jacksonian Democracies which were once prevalent in our nation.

In 1964 Senator Goldwater does not say leave everything to me and your troubles will be over. Far from it. He does say he will lead our following if we will pull up neck and neck with him so that our following is in effect also a lead.

In 1964 Barry Goldwater offers a choice and not an echo, a challenge and not apathy, freedom and liberty not a false sense of security. We need Barry Goldwater and we need strong, free and true Americans.

The Commentator

Enthusiasm Is Important In All School Activities

By G. L. Dadisman
I think, perhaps, that an explanation of the term "Commentator" may be in order so that you as a reader of this column may gain some insight as to the author's position in this capacity.

Generally, the term "Commentator" refers to the difference between potatoes in quality. By this I mean the difference between those potatoes of royalty and those of peasantry. The first are called Royal-tators. The second are named Peasant-tators. The difference, naturally, would be a Commentator!?

Specifically, "The Commentator" would take the position of the middle of the road, not leaning to the right, or the left. Although this matches closely with the methods of politicians, politics will be seen rarely from this author. I feel that the best way to keep from being burnt is to stay out of hot water.

Now that I have taken the position of the middle of the road, I would like to pick on those people who lack enthusiasm in their college and student life, academically and socially. I fail to see how some students are able to go through college without becoming wrapped up with a certain amount of enthusiasm or interest in their life at Mac.

I had always held the impression that enthusiasm was contagious, but I apparently was wrong. I see professors exuding enthusiasm, students emitting enthusiasm, and even Ross, the Slater Food Service manager, seems to have a certain amount of enthusiasm this year. Yet, there are those of us who appear to be in a vacuum and fail to let ourselves become involved.

With so many groups on campus representing so many different areas of interest, with so many people working at so many activities, with so many things to do right here on our campus, I cannot understand the lack of interest on the part of some students.

There appear to be those students who are content to wake up, eat, go to classes, eat, go to classes, eat, study, drink a Coke, go to bed, wake up, eat, etc.

Here, I am concerned with those who fail to become interested in activities, who fail to take the initiative to join some group which interests them.

Get more out of college than just book learning. That is only a small part of college life.

Take a look at the whole of college living, find the area in which your interests lie, and make known your wishes to be a member of that group. Let yourself go. Complacency means stagnation!

Students Disregard Initiation Procedure

Letter to the editor from students, faculty members, or others are welcomed. All letters must be signed, but the name of the writer need not appear in print.

Letters may be submitted to the editor or placed in the campus mail. Contributions do not necessarily reflect the policy or opinion of the Spectator, the administration, or the faculty of McPherson College.

Dear Editor,

My topic is one that I have viewed with some concern this week as Freshman initiation began. I have noticed a total disregard for initiation procedures by both Freshman and upper classmen alike.

I find this disturbing in a way, for I feel if we are to continue with any initiation activities at all, we must have the entire support of the upper classmen in carrying out initiation rites.

To do this with any zeal or enthusiasm, the upper classmen must have a definite idea as to what purpose initiation serves.

Why do we initiate the newest members of an adult college student body with menial tasks, rites, and debasements?

Do we do this to show the superiority of the "great" upper-classes? If so, aren't some of the childish methods used to do this more debasing to the upper-classes than the freshmen?

It is my opinion that initiation is not for the purpose of showing the superiority of any group, but is a way that all members of the student body can (with much good humor) help the freshman relate themselves to a very different situation.

Most of the Freshman have just recently come from home town high schools where they were the "big wheels". They are now in a very different situation going to school with others who have experienced college life for one or more years.

Because of this they need to be reminded that they have many years of life and experience ahead of them, and just because they made it to college does not mean they have made it to the top of the heap.

With this idea in mind, every upperclassman should consider it his duty to remind the Freshman that they are again beginners in the game of life.

In fact, each time we degrade a "poor" Freshman by yelling "Button, button," or "Hey Frosh what do you know," we are really helping him adjust to a role he needs to understand and appreciate.

Therefore, I feel that for the next initiation, more information should be released by the initiation committee as to the purpose of initiation, and who is in charge.

Frosh Relax After Week Of Initiation

By Tim Bomberger

Tonight marks the end of a week of servitude and bondage for the freshmen of McPherson College. During the past week the freshmen were required to perform many tasks for their merciless superiors.

Shoe shining, room care, carrying books, singing performances of the school song and fight song, reciting lines of "poetry", and a tug-of-war between the sophomores were just a few of the duties the freshmen performed.

Wednesday the freshmen covered their heads with paper sacks; while Thursday they had to tie their legs together with rope, and had it removed at the annual pajama parade held in downtown McPherson.

At the football game tonight the freshmen will get to remove their signs saying "beat C of E." of a course beanie wearing was a must for all freshmen this week.

Intramurals Begin With Volleyball

The intramural program at McPherson College will be ushered in Tuesday, September 22 when the first games of volleyball will start. Included in the intramural program for this year, besides volleyball, are basketball, bowling, which will start next semester at Starlight Lanes, and in the spring, softball.

The intramural sports being offered are not limited to men. Women are encouraged to participate in these sports, not only for the benefit of the exercise, but this program also gives a person a chance to make many new friends. The purpose of intramurals is to give persons who do not compete in a varsity sport a chance to engage in athletic competition.

The volleyball games will be played in the gymnasium starting at about 6:30. All persons who signed the volleyball sheets are advised to watch the bulletin board to find out what team they are on and for the schedule of their games.

These intramural games are supervised by the Intramural Committee, which, because they are using the Physical Education Department's equipment, asks that the all persons participating in intramural games please help to take care of the equipment. The kicking of a leather volleyball is frowned upon by the committee, as this causes it to become lopsided.

Anyone who has not signed up to play volleyball and is interested in playing is advised to contact Coach Widrig, or Buddy Taylor.

Boost
The Bulldogs

Arnold Groff, sophomore guard from McPherson, practices his place kicking in preparation for the season opener against College of Emporia on September 18. George Newbeck, junior quarterback from Maul, Hawaii, is holding for the kicker. Groff and all the MacCollege place kickers are expecting lots of action this week and throughout the season, as the Bulldogs are expecting to score many touchdowns.

Bulldogs Challenge Conference Champs

By Ronnie Murphey

The McPherson College football squad opens its grid season tonight when the Bulldogs play host to defending conference champion, College of Emporia.

When a coach loses two men who stood high in national rankings, he usually begins to worry about the next season; but that was not the case with the coach of College of Emporia.

Last season the Presbies had a good year when they took the conference championship. However, they lost Upstill who was third in the N. C. A. A., and Switzer who was first in the N. C. A. A. in rushing.

Other all-conference players lost were Williams, a good pass receiver, Phillips who was a halfback, and Moore an offensive tackle.

This year they will probably run from the split "T" formation with two real good passers. The probable starting lineup will be:

Q.B.—Tresky—is good passer, fast, and good on the roll-out pass

H.B.—Howland and Wallace—both good runners

F.B.—Lain-good runner

C.—Kiley—weights about 215

G.—Swartz and Clark—the two average about 215

T.—DeVilling and Robinson—they average about 230

E.—Hitzelmen and Harron—they average about 195

The C of E team averages around 205 pounds. The Mac team averages around 180 pounds which makes a 25 pound average over each of the Mac men.

The Mac team will have around 16 returning lettermen returning this year for football. The probable offensive starting lineup for the Mac team will be:

W.B.—Buddy Taylor and Bob Fox

H.B.—Jim Steink, John Treadwell, Russell Burkholder

F.B.—Bob DeTour, Tom Reazin, and Jerry Murphey

G.—Roy Parsons and Wendell Kuhlman

T.—Merlin Grady and Jerry Persons

E.—Tom Worthing and Charles Wiggins

The probable defensive lineup will be:

M.G.—Nick Petrucci

T.—Gary Wilson, Merlin Grady, and Myron Edigar

E.—Fred Vanderaa, and Duane Pope

Linebackers — Tom Reazin, John Beckwith, Larry Bowman

H.B.—John Chance, Larry Heidebrecht

Safety—John Treadwell
This first game of the year should be plenty exciting.

WAA Presents Women's Sports

At the first meeting of the WAA held on Wednesday September 9, all girls were encouraged and welcomed to participate in sports open to girls at the college.

Leaders for the various sports to be offered during the first season, September to November, were elected, and are as follows:

Volleyball—Charlene Lewis
Outings—Mereditjh Haun
Gym sports—Karen Andes
Individuals—Leah Standafer

Statistics Pick C. of E. To Win KCAC Title

When you lose the number 3 N. C. A. A. college division passer and the N. C. A. A. scoring leader in one season, the normal assumption would be that you're in trouble. But that's not necessarily the case with College of Emporia, defending Kansas Conference champion.

The Presbies should battle Ottawa, Baker, Southwestern and Bethany down to the wire in what should be a tight race.

Bruce Upstill is the passer who will be missing and the Emporians must find a scoring source for the 168 points scored by Jim Switzer.

Switzer also led N. C. A. A. conversion experts with 49 out of 59 extra points and one field goal for 32 points.

The Presbies have a streak of 25 straight victories — 23 in conference play.

The conference aerial circus may turn out to a one-ring affair as Eddie Buzzell of Ottawa limbers up his wing. Buzzell was third in N. A. I. A. total yardage last year.

The Braves' back may find terrific competition for league quarterbacking honors from Leroy Blackwell, a 170-pound sophomore who leads the Southwestern Moundbuilders.

Commanding attention for the Bethany Swedes will be little Larry Harless of North Kansas City, the 160-pounder who led the league in rushing as a freshman.

The Presbies must find replacements for their four backfield starters and at a few line spots but they have some all-conference talent returning.

Defensive men such as Rich Tresky, all-District 10 and all-conference at halfback, and Skip Devilling at guard (240 pounds); and all-conference, make coach Bill Schnebel feel pretty good about his defense.

Other line stars are Joe Kiley, 210, an all-District 10 and all-conference player and Bill Swartz, a guard, 240, who made all-conference.

Ottawa was close behind the Presbies with a 9-1 reading.

Halfback Floyd Scott, third leading scorer with 42 points on a team that averaged better than 30 a game, joins Jerry Freeman at fullback and Buzzell in the Brave backfield. Top line prospects are Leonard Scheufler and Richard Booth, ends.

Bethany tries to improve on its 6-3 third-place finish with size in the line represented by Larry Hartup, 220, and Mike Caviness, 240, at tackle. Dan Wiley, a senior from Chapman, is a 3-year letterman at wingback.

Southwestern and Baker were in a dead heat last year at 5-4.

Coach Jim Irick of Baker expected about 20 lettermen for his fall camp.

Bill Spellman of Osawatomic and Frank Crow of Kansas City provide depth at fullback and Elbert Anderson of Eudora, Jerry Ewing, Mike Welch and Al Ort of Shawnee Mission battle for backfield spots.

Coach Harold Elliott of the Moundbuilders has some depth to go along with Blackwell.

Leon Burnett weights in at 215 pounds at the fullback spot and Mike Robinson adds his 250 pound build at tackle.

McPherson and Kansas Wesleyan both had 3-6 slates and they expected 16 and 19 lettermen, respectively.

Nick Petrucci and Buddy Taylor saw action at the McPherson quarterback spot last season and seven of the other letter winners are linemen. Coach Sid Smith expects improvement over last season.

Coach Gene Bissell at Kansas Wesleyan also expects brighter days. "With normal improvement, we should be much better this year. Every team in the league will be better than last year with the exception of Ottawa and College of Emporia, but they'll still be the best in the league."

Friends tries to snap the drought after an 0-9 year.

—Bill Sharp, Kansas City Star.

Cross-country Tryouts Begin

September 15, eight boys reported to the cross-country meeting. Two of the boys will be out for basketball and the other six will probably be on the cross-country team.

Mr. Sid Smith, who is the cross-country coach this year, said, "any boy interested in cross-country should report to the gymnasium where he may check out a uniform."

The cross-country course is a three mile course, usually run on a golf course.

All of the cross-country meets will be away this year because McPherson does not have a cross-country course. There will be one conference meet and a few other meets. The first practice was held on September 15, at 4 p.m.

Lynn Warner is the only letterman back from the team of two years ago. There wasn't a cross-country team at the McPherson College last year.

Six Students Participate In Earn-and-Serve

By Carlos Green

An opportunity to be of service and at the same time earn some of the finances necessary to continue a college education—this is what many college students are looking for in the way of summer jobs.

Six of us from McPherson College were in a very worthwhile program which filled the bill on both counts. The program is called the Earn-and-Serve program and is sponsored by the Central Region of the Church of the Brethren.

College youth are sent to different churches to work as youth workers, called field workers, for an entire summer. The church takes care of the room and board, employment, transportation and is always seeking to be aware of the youth director's needs, so that there can be mutual assistance and growth.

The fieldworker has the responsibility of becoming an active participant in the life of the church, having a major interest in the youth program, and being actively concerned for the program and for persons.

Also, the fieldworker is to spend considerable time with the youth—on both an individual and a group basis—encouraging growth, trust, responsibility, awareness, and a sense of purpose and being. Another responsibility is to develop leadership with the group.

We, who were field workers, were not thought of as "miracle-workers", but as concerned, interested individuals who were learning as we tried to help others to realize the inward commitment necessary to take a firm stand in life.

One of the ideas of the Central Region is that the meaning of the church is to be discovered in the personal experience of fellowship and dialogue. "Where two or three are gathered together, He is there. There in lies the destiny of the world."

The program involves a sense of Christian mission regardless of one's chosen vocation. This sense of mission often becomes clarified for the fieldworker during the Earn-and-Serve experience.

The Earn-Learn-Serve program is an attempt to introduce persons from a different local congregation and background, which tries to, and does broaden the horizons of both the fieldworker and the local group.

The introduction of this new force in the youth group tries to add a new dimension of thought, evaluation, and friendship, and encourage growth and "out-sight" when too often it is easy for a church to become "ingrown".

There is a week's training before going to the various churches.

The six of us from McPherson College, along with the other twenty youth from various colleges, felt that it was a very significant program and a very rewarding summer. If you would be interested in being in the Earn-and-Serve program in the Central Region (Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan), please contact one of us. Besides myself, the others from McPherson College were Dottie Wine, Carol Berry, Glenn Frazier, Carolyn Lunkley and Roger Shrock.

Among the tasks awaiting Mrs. Lela Irons as she assumes her role as "house mom" of Dotzour Hall is that of pigeon-holing mail as it arrives from the far corners of the globe.

Irons Becomes New House Mother

Mrs. Lela Irons, new house mother at Dotzour Hall, has found her job an interesting new experience.

This is Mrs. Irons' first time as house mother, and when asked how she feels about her first hectic days as mom to over 160 girls, she replied, "I'm still stunned, I think, I really don't know."

Although she has never had as many charges, especially girls, she has had experience in raising a family. She was married over 32 years and raised two boys, Maurice and Jerry, who both attended McPherson high school.

She attended Emporia State College and taught school for one year before she was married. Later, while living in McPherson, she served as a sewing instructor at the Singer Sewing Center.

For the past year and a half she has been working as night nurse in charge of the geriatrics ward at McPherson hospital.

"My life hasn't been very exciting," said Mrs. Irons, "But I think it will be from now on,"

Library Revises Rules

The McPherson College library recently made several new circulation rules for library material in an attempt to improve service to students.

No date due will be placed in books from the stacks. Students are urged to use books promptly and return them within two weeks so that the books will be available for others who need the material.

If there is a request for a book which has been out for two weeks, the library will send a notice stating that the book is to be returned to the library within four days. If it is not returned by that date, a fee of 50 cents a day will be assessed.

Students needing books which are checked out should check at the circulation desk so that reserves may be made.

There will be two final due dates each semester (1) the end of the nine weeks (2) the week before the final examinations.

All books must be returned by the final due date. A fee of 50 cents a day will be assessed on all overdue books.

Reserve books are used in the library during library hours. The orange book card should be signed and left at the circulation desk each time the book is used.

Reserve books may be checked out for home use 30 minutes before closing time and are due by 9 a.m. of the next library day.

A fee of 25 cents an hour will be assessed on all overdue reserve books.

Reference books are shelved in the large reading room on the main floor of the library. Reference books are used in the library during library hours.
