

Elgart Concert To Be Oct. 30

By C. L. Dadisman
Negotiations are being completed by the social committee for an on-campus concert by the Les and Larry Elgart Orchestra through Willard Alexander, Inc. of Chicago. The concert will be held in Brown Auditorium on the evening of October 30 at 9:00 p.m.
Admission prices are $2.50 for center section reserved seats, $2.00 for side sections and balcony reserved seats (for students only), $1.50 general admission for adults, and $1.00 general admission for students with activity tickets.
For years Larry and Les Elgart have been developing their big band sound, a sound with a rich reed-and-brass quality that contains smoothness, brightness, and sophistication. Their road to fame began in the early '50's, when Les struck out on his own with a new sound which captured the hearts of dance enthusiasts everywhere.
Since that time these brothers have been tremendous hits on practically every major college campus in the United States. Their sound has captured the hearts of those who appreciate a big band sound, and the feet of those who love to dance.

The social committee urges that everyone take advantage of this coming opportunity to see and hear this relaxing sound of a famous orchestra. Your enthusiasm for this event will act as a mirror to those on the committee, and the results will determine if other attempts for this in subsequent years will occur.

It is the hope of this committee that other groups in other tastes of music or comedy could be likely for the future. In this precedent - setting campaign, make yourself an active part and insure future appearances by other "big-name" groups.

Who said acting is all work and no play? Jane Funk, sophomore, Arvada, Colo., and Vance Alexander, senior, Geneseo, display one of the fringe benefits of "Sabrina Fair."

Sabrina Fair Opens Oct. 22

By Linda Kurtz
October 22 at 8:15 p.m. marks the first performance of "Sabrina Fair," with all the celebration and fanfare, the excitement and feverish tension of opening night.

Designed to start the winter dramatic season with a flourish, the play is a witty, sophisticated comedy revolving around the situations that develop when a young girl returns home after five years in Paris.

The wealthy Larrabee family, the epitome of Long Island society, are individuals of unique and often strange interests. Maude Larrabee (Pat Greenway, freshman, Indianapolis, Ind.), rules her home with a firm hand but always with a gentle heart.

Her younger son David (Don Kussari, junior, Cerro Gordo, Ill.) typifies the true playboy:

his brother Linus Larrabee, Jr. (Vance Alexander, senior, Geneseo) the cynical, worldly bachelor. Their eccentric father, Linus, Sr. (Ron Cassidente, sophomore, Denver, Colo.) attends funerals as a hobby during retirement.

Into the midst of this established, sophisticated family steps Sabrina (Jane Funk, sophomore, Arvada, Colo.) daughter of the chauffeur, Fairchild (Ken Dauer, junior, Dunkirk, Ohio). Gay, vivacious Sabrina, very much in love with life, has left Paris because of an unfortunate love affair with a certain Paul d'Argenson (David Heffley, junior, Texarkana, Ark.)

The plot of the play becomes increasingly complicated as Sabrina and David fall in love and plan to be married. Maude disapproves of the idea; the elder Larrabee flies into a violent rage; and cynical Linus derives great enjoyment from the entire situation.

When the conflict is at last resolved in the final act, the curtain will ring down on what Prof. Reyher, director and general overseer of the production, hopes will be a "beautiful, eye-catching show" through the use of colorful costumes, unusual setting, and complicated lighting.

All seats for "Sabrina Fair" are on a reserved basis. Macollege students with activity cards will be able to attend the play for no cost, but they must make reservations in order to have a seat. Tickets will go on sale October 15 in the Admissions Office, at $1.00 for adults and $.50 for children.

Prof. Reyher urges all students to reserve their seats as soon as possible, since he expects a large number of out-of-town guests for both performances.

The Dramatics Department hopes that students and townspeople alike will show their interest in "Sabrina Fair" by attending one of the performances, October 22 or 23. Prof. Reyher promises a true "red-carpet treatment" for all theater-goers.

MENC to Promote Music Education

By C. L. Dadisman

A group for those who like and appreciate music - that is the make-up of MENC, the Music Educators National Conference. The MENC is a music organization whose prime purpose is the promotion of music with the accent on better music. It is the desire of MENC that every individual wanting to express himself through the medium of music be given the opportunity to learn.

Although this is a music-centered group, its membership is not wholly comprised of musicians. Among its membership are mathematicians, historians, agriculture majors, and a host of others. They are proud of the fact that their group holds the interest of many differing fields. MENC maintains that they have something of interest for every person who has a taste for practically any form of music and musical expression.

Hosting a variety of programs for the coming year, MENC invites all who are interested to attend any or all meetings. A list of programs include presentations on electronic music, reed instruments, panel discussions on student teaching problems, Christmas Caroling and party, films, lectures by noted people, and a final picnic.

The officers of this year's MENC are Larry Blair, senior, Kansas City, Mo., president; Jerry Persons, sophomore, Ames, Iowa, vice president; Sandee Hoover, senior Plattsburg, Mo., secretary-treasurer; Charles Dadisman, senior, Nevada, Iowa, program chairman; Merlin Grady, senior, Waterloo, Iowa; Lynn Olwin, senior, Elgin, Ill.; Lee Harris, senior, Jennings, La.; and Linda Moffit, freshman, Washington, program committee; and the music faculty are faculty advisors.

579 Enrolled at Mac

Recently completed enrollment statistics for the fall semester show 579 students enrolled in McPherson College, which is an increase of 11 students over last year.

There are students from 31 different states represented here this year. Over half, or 293 of the students are native Kansans. Iowa is in second place with 61 students, and there is a close race between the next four states: Illinois has 28, Colorado 27, Pennsylvania 26, and Missouri has 25.

There are 17 students here from Ohio, and California and Indiana each have 10.

Several students from foreign lands are also studying at Mac. They come from Nigeria, Tanganyika, Greece, Syria, Japan, Germany, and China.

90 Attend Workshop Sat.

Approximately 90 people attended the Movement Education Workshop held on McPherson's campus, Oct. 10. Fifty-five were off-campus guests who are currently elementary classroom teachers or Physical Education specialists.

Miss Joan Tillotson, the guest speaker, led in the morning session in which most participated in the movement exploration experience.

A demonstration conducted by Miss Tillotson with 23 third and fourth graders was held in the High school in the afternoon. This was followed by a film which she produced and directed.

Movement Exploration has not only content which is space, time, force, and control, but is also a method which can be used in teaching various motor skills.

"Riders To The Sea" To Be October 27

The actors and the director of the upcoming lab theater production "Riders to the Sea" are specially working toward October 27, the date the play will be presented.

The director Georgianna Krehbiel, sophomore, McPherson, explained that the idea of the theater in the round was quite a new and different experience. Georgianna explained the difficulty of arranging a practice time which does not conflict with other activities.

Finding some of the set-properties, especially a spinning wheel and a pot oven, are also presenting a problem to the director.

The first production in the lab theater, "Through A Glass Darkly," which was directed by Ken Dauer, junior, Dunkirk, Ia., was presented last Tuesday.

Bulldogs Trample Friends Falcons, 41-7

McPherson Bulldogs crushed Friends University of Wichita 41-7 last Saturday night. The Bulldogs got off to a good start by getting a touchdown in each quarter of the first half and only letting the Falcons get one touchdown in the second quarter.

The second half the Bulldogs came out with the determination that the rest of the game was theirs, and it was. The Bulldogs fought their way to four touchdowns in the second half.

First to score for the Bulldogs was Bob DeTour on a 34 yard run, and Bob also kicked the extra point. Tom Worthing snagged a 19 yard pass from Buddy Taylor, Mac's Quarterback; but the extra point was missed. Buddy Taylor was first to score in the second half on an 8 yard drive with DeTour kicking the extra point. Charles Wiggins was next to score with an 18 yard pass from Taylor, with DeTour kicking the extra point. Bob DeTour then made a 23 yard run for another touchdown and also kicked the extra point. Charles Wiggins was last to score with a 20 yard pass from George Newbeck another Q.B. for the Bulldogs. Wiggins also made the extra point with a pass from place kicker Bob DeTour.

The Falcons' only score was made by Harold Rush with a one yard plunge. He also made the extra point.

Duane Pope and Nick Petrucci tied for the most tackles with 7 each. Laurel Patrick was next with 6 tackles, and Tom Reazin and Junior Hendricks were next with 5 tackles each.

The game statistics are:

Mac Favored Over Bethany

By Ronnie Murphy
 McPherson Bulldogs will travel to Lindsborg tomorrow afternoon to encounter the Bethany Swedes, longtime arch rivals, at 2:30.

The Swedes had a 6-3 record last season, but this year they have come out on top once in their four outings. Last year the Mac Bulldogs had a 3-6 record, and this year they are 2-2. The statistics seem to show the Swedes weaker than last year, while the Bulldogs seem to be considerably stronger.

Statistics also show McPherson is slightly favored, but when the two teams clash on the gridiron, anything can happen as evidenced by last year's game when the Swedes were slight favorites, but McPherson won in the last few minutes 13-10. The way everything shapes up, it should be an exciting game.

Bethany will probably be real high for this game since it is their homecoming. The Swedes have 25 returning lettermen, but are depending on the newcomers. The Swedes will have about a 193 pound average while the Bulldogs will have about a 180 lb. average. The Swedes will have 13 lbs. more per man. The probable lineup will be:
 HB. Dan Willey, 175 lbs. Sr., Larry Harless, 169 lbs. Jr.
 FB. Tom Foran, 210 lbs. Fr.
 QB. Ronald Wilcox, 170 lbs. Fr.
 E. Jan Oleen, 185 lbs. Jr., Richard Samson, 210 lbs. Jr.

Schedule For Volleyball Game

The Volleyball Schedule for the week of October 19 is as follows:

DeTour Selected Player of the Week

Big, hard running Robert DeTour was chosen player of the week by his teammates last Monday night after football practice. Bob weighs 205 and stands 6' 1".

This is his second year at McPherson and also his second year in college football. However, he played four years of football in high school.

This mean fullback made 152 yards in 20 carries to make an average of 7.6 yards per carry in the game against Friends last Saturday night. He made 15 points in that game and also threw a pass to Wiggins for another extra point.

"Bethany will be up because of Mac beating them last year in football and because it is their homecoming too," Bob said. "It won't be like playing Friends because Bethany is bigger and because since they lost their last game, they will be looking for vengeance." He added, "If we can keep down the mistakes, we will be able to beat them again."

Bob is taking the following courses: accounting, economics, recreational leadership, U. S. history, marriage and family. Bob plans to go into the Business field when he graduates.

Bob DeTour, 205 pound sophomore fullback from McPherson, voted player of the week by his teammates after his fine performance in the Friends game, intently eyes the ball as he practices his place-kicking during the week.

Even after an easy 41-7 victory over Friends, the Bulldogs continue to work hard against the dummies in practice in preparation for their upcoming battle with archrival Bethany.

YMCA, YWCA Plan Weekend in Missouri

District Student Representatives of the YMCA's and YWCA's of many Kansas college campuses will be going to Kansas City, Missouri, the weekend of Oct. 23-25. Their purpose is to participate in a work day in which they will paint and fix up an old Congregational Church to be used as the headquarters for an urban renewal project.

They will arrive Friday evening, register, and eat supper at which Rev. Waterman, head of the renewal project, will speak. Work will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. the next day with the students being free for the evening. On Sunday they will have an evaluation of the work and worship service.

CBYF Hosts Weiner Roast

Good Christian fun and fellowship were the keynote of the CBYF weiner roast and campfire service at Black Canyon, Sunday evening, Oct. 11.

In the setting of a beautiful fall evening, the five bonfires provided enough heat for sufficiently roast approximately 290 wieners and the faces of those holding the sticks.

After supper, an inspiring campfire service was held around a fire in which the lumber was stacked to represent a church. Religious songs and rounds were sung before the evening speaker, Robert E. Keim, assistant professor of sociology, addressed the group.

Don't let the pleasant look deceive you! Among the many responsibilities shouldered by Jamie Oxley, junior, Lamar, Colorado, are supplying last minute copy, scouting for missing reporters, and assigning beats.

Oxley Invaluable As Campus Editor

By Doug Rapp
Who's the Campus Editor? What's he worth, anything? If we consider that in a recent "straw ballot" survey five out of six campus students didn't know who he was and that the job pays not one penny for an entire semester's work we might wonder.

But to the staff of the Spectator he is an invaluable aid and trusty assistant.

He is Jamie Oxley, junior, Lamar, Colo., Campus Editor of the Spectator.

Jamie's job consists basically of assigning stories to reporters. But he also can be counted on to type up letters to the editor as they come in, sharpen pencils, fix typewriters or any one of about twenty other odd jobs. There are four main positions in the Spectator editorial staff above that of the reporters. In order they are: Faculty Advisor, Editor in Chief, Managing Editor, and Campus Editor. This puts Jamie on the lower end of the upper echelon so to speak. He will, however, assume the post of Managing Editor next semester of this year.

"I really enjoy my work, and I am looking forward to becoming Managing Editor and later, Editor of the Spectator; those jobs pay money. The first thing I'll do is change some of the current editorial policy."

Jamie plans a career in journalism for which his Spectator experience should be invaluable.

Werner At Capitol For Summer Work

By Phyllis Stone
Vida Sue Werner, senior from Winona, spent last summer working for Congressman Bob Doyle from the first district at his offices in the national Capitol at Washington D. C.

The work Vida Sue did consisted mainly of typing and filing, and once in a while showing visitors around the Capitol. Vida Sue became interested in the job during a visit to Washington in the summer of 1963. Later she applied and was one of four selected. They were known as summer interns, working through the months of June and August.

In her spare time Vida Sue sat in on the Senate and the House and visited the Supreme Court. Many parties were held for the "Interns." Everyday they met important people like former vice-president Richard Nixon, Lynda Bird Johnson, William Miller, and Sen. Barry Goldwater.

The summer interns were privileged to have an "inside view" of politics. They saw every inch of the grounds at Washington, many places that were prohibited to visitors. No short cuts were made!

One of Vida Sue's most enjoyable times was on the computer train she took to Washington from her brother's home in Rockville, Md., just a few miles away. On this train she met every type of person from shoeshine boy to political leaders.

Vida Sue plans on returning to Washington next summer. She feels that this trip was richly rewarding.

Faculty Attends Meetings

Betty Hutton, Charlton Heston, Cornel Wilde, Dorothy Lamour, James Stewart, and Emmett Kelley are the all-star cast in the academy award winning film, "The Greatest Show on Earth," being presented by the social committee tonight at 7:30 in Brown Auditorium.

In a sense the real stars of the action packed movie are the performers of the Barnum and Bailey Circus. All the acts, lore, and circus skills of the circus are presented in this picture.

Last Regional Conference Oct. 24-27 At Macollege

The final conference of the Western Region of the Brethren Church will be held at McPherson College this year from October 24-27.

This final conference will climax more than a quarter of a century of work by the Western Region. For at least twenty of those years a staff has been employed to direct the program. Major accomplishments have been made toward the effectiveness of the regional programs.

The highlights of this final conference will be speeches and films centering around the theme: "The Family Life of Christians."

The main speaker for the 1964 Regional Conference will be Dr. Jesse H. Ziegler, Associate Director, American Association of Theological Schools. Dr. Ziegler has had several books published and has his A.B., M.A., Ph.D. and B.D. degrees.

After the closing of this year's Regional Conference, Mrs. Gordon Yoder will be serving as secretary to Gorman Zook, executive secretary of the District of Kansas. Mrs. Yoder was Director of Children's Work for fourteen years and administrative assistant from 1953 until the closing of the office.

The most outstanding evidence of this increasing effectiveness of the regional program is the enlarging and maturing district organizations. The fifteen small districts of 1945 have become seven districts of more effective strength.

Strong district programs have, however, reduced the necessity of a regional program, personnel and structure. As a result of this increase, the Western Regional Board at McPherson will be discontinued as of April 28, 1964.

Prof Serves As Lecturer

This summer, Dr. Harley Stump, professor of English at McPherson College taught at the Eastern New Mexico University in the graduate division of the school of education.

Serving under the title of Visiting Lecture in Education, he taught two classes, Comparative Philosophy of Education and History of Education, and served on a faculty committee directing graduate studies of seven candidates of Master of Arts Degrees.

Also, while teaching Dr. Stump developed an educational philosophy survey, an eighty statement questionnaire used in the faculty retreat this summer before school opened.

He also kept his church in Monitor and drove 1,000 miles each weekend to give his sermon.
