"Antigone" Tryouts To Be October 26

The modern version of Sophocles' classic tragedy, "Antigone," will be cast Monday, Oct. 26, at 7 p.m. in Brown Auditorium. The play requires three women and seven men.

Rewritten by Jean Anouilh, a French playwright, to arouse the French people to resistance of their Nazi oppressors, this contemporary drama reflects a present-day conception of the theme, liberty versus tyranny. The play revolves around the responsibility of every man to stand up for what he believes is right.

Tryouts for the rest of the laboratory theater plays will be held in conjunction with tryouts for "Antigone." Four plays will be cast, according to Prof. Loren Reyher.

The next lab theater play will be presented Wednesday, Oct. 28, by Georgianna Krehbiel, sophomore, McPherson, who will direct the famous Irish play, "Riders to the Sea."

Because of the highly successful production of "Through a Glass Darkly," last week's laboratory presentation, seating for all other lab plays will be on a first-come, first-serve basis. Approximately 150 seats will be on stage, with plenty of standing room.

"Sabrina Fair," the theater season's first major production, closes this evening at the end of a two-day run.

The play is a witty, sophisticated comedy showing the problems that develop when the vivacious daughter of the chauffeur of a wealthy Long Island family returns home after five years in Paris.

The plot develops as Sabrina, the chauffeur's daughter, played by Jane Funk, sophomore, Denver, Colo., falls in love with the younger son of the Larrabee family David, portrayed by Don Kussart, junior, Cerro Gordo, Ill.

Maude Larrabee, David's mother (Pat Greenway, freshman, Indianapolis, Ind.), and his eccentric father, Linus, Sr. (Ron Cassidente, sophomore, Denver, Colo.; both oppose the marriage of their son to the chauffeur's daughter, while David's

Elgarts Cancel Concert for Oct. 30

By C. L. Dadisman
The social committee regrets to announce the tour cancellation of the Les and Larry Elgart Orchestra. This orchestra had been scheduled to perform in concert on this campus on Oct. 30 of this month. However, due to the inability of their agent to arrive at the guaranteed weekly salary for this tour, the Elgart brothers made public their cancellation. This, in turn, halts the "on-campus" campaign to bring such a group to this campus this fall.

Yet the social committee feels only slight regret over the matter. At first there was great disappointment in this committee and the whole student body, but this committee now has had the experience and roads to follow on any subsequent attempts for big-name groups. For those who hold an interest in popular groups, the committee recommends that you take advantage of the two groups which will be appearing shortly for our two neighbors to the north; the Inkspots at Bethany, and the Four Freshman at Kansas Wesleyan.

Desire now reigns high in the Social Committee to bring a group to this campus next spring. By now knowing the paths to follow, such progress should be less laborious. Two groups which now have a prime place in this area of the committee's thinking are the Chad Mitchell Trio and the Peter Nero Trio. Both groups have open dates through this area next April. With the same enthusiastic spirit which was displayed for the Elgart Brothers, the possibilities are many for these groups.

Key To Peace Lies In U.S.

A general uneasiness has spread across the world with the removal of Khrushchev from power and the rise of his successors, Kosygin and Brezhnev. How will this affect the national scene; will it bring about the possibility of a nuclear war sooner?

President Johnson, in his Sunday evening address to the nation, said there will be turmoil in the Communist world, causing the new leaders to be concerned primarily with problems of Communism. "This could be good because men who are busy with internal problems may not be tempted to reckless external acts."

It appears now that Khrushchev was ousted because of general discontent and strain within the Soviet Union and within the Communist Bloc as a whole. The problems, however, were not the fault of one man and will not be solved now by any means.

Khrushchev, Johnson said, had learned from mistakes and was not blind to realities. "In the last two years his government had shown itself aware of the need for sanity in the nuclear age." The new leaders' position is rather unclear, but "we can only hope that they will share with us our great objective; the prevention of nuclear war."

This brings up the question of Russia's position

Letters to the editor from students, faculty members, or others are welcomed. All letters must be signed, but the name of the writer need not appear in print. ## Hat Off To Dauer, Crew

Dear Editor,
My hat is off to Ken Dauer and the cast and crew of the first lab theater of the year. I enjoyed "Through a Glass Darkly" immensely and thought it was a great way to initiate a lab theater program here on campus.
The cast handled the first production very well, and Professor Reyher's critique after the play made it an educational, as well as entertaining night.
I hope that the students on campus who feel as I do about the lab theater program will continue to support it with participation in plays as well as attendance at performances.
Only when we have continuing full houses at performances and dedicated crews like last weeks, can we possibly create a working interesting theater program on campus.
If all indications are true, it looks as if this year will show a great change in theater as an entertaining and educational device on the Macollege campus.

with Red China—especially after Red China's nuclear blast which made it an important nuclear power in the world.

The removal of Khrushchev has eliminated overnight Communist China's number one enemy, which could mean a whole new re-appraisal of Chinese-Soviet Relations and the end of Russia's "peaceful co-existence" theory.

However, this seems improbable since the two new Soviet men are likely Khrushchev men virtually appointed by him to the succession.

There probably will be differences over some aspects of Soviet foreign and domestic policy, though there likely will not be a radical departure from Khrushchev's policies. Peking itself appears to be in the mood to stand alone and not to become dependent again on Soviet aid and technical advice.

The world will be watching Moscow with intensive interest in the next several months; the nuclear powers especially will be watching Peking.

As Americans we will attempt to fulfill President Johnson's proclamation that "The key to peace is to be found in the strength and the good sense of the United States." cs1

McCormally Analyzes Election

By Mike Brown

In assembly last Friday Mr. John McCormally, editor of the Hutchinson News, gave an analysis of the 1964 election issues that liberal members of both parties greeted.

First, Mr. McCormally's speech contained a sane evaluation of President Johnson as a politician and as a personality. He made no attempt to "white-wash" Johnson; however, he did point out the difficulty any President has in avoiding the charge of corruption.

Virtually every administration in U.S. history has been charged with scandal. This, I think, should make us wary of overexaggerated, emotional moralizing by any Presidential candidate.

Mr. McCormally was correct in declaring the alleged moral laxity of Johnson to be an evil far less significant than the honest fanaticism of his opposition. Hitler, Stalin, and Mao Tse-tung have probably all been honest men.

Mr. McCormally pointed out also the fantastic positive accomplishments of Johnson—the welding together of the nation in spite of sectional differences over civil rights and the promoting of good relations between business, labor and government.

The perhaps overused campaign slogan "LBJ for the USA" is somewhat more than just another slogan. It is the hallmark of Johnson's national leadership.

In the second part of his speech, Mr. McCormally called many of Goldwater's supporters "adherents to all that is mean, bigoted and selfish" in American social life.

Some argue, to some degree fairly, that Senator Goldwater cannot be held responsible for the actions of his supporters. His refusal to disavow the radical right; however, must leave doubt in the mind of every voter of Goldwater's desire to restrain it.

Mr. McCormally scored one of the basic contradictions of conservative thinking — the belief that a weak central government can effectively promote U.S. interest abroad.

He stated that according to Goldwater "his same weak federal government is supposed to push back the Communists and bully our allies."

Even if Senator Goldwater were right in matters of foreign policy, he could not succeed. As Mr. McCormally suggested, our allies would not go along with him.

Aside from this, can we honestly say that our allies' dislike of Goldwater's proposed policies is entirely irrational. Mr. McCormally pointed to the unlikelihood of all our allies being wrong in their tacit opposition to the Republican nominee.

Moreover, Mr. McCormally, like many liberal Americans, sees in the Republican challenge a proposed substitution of basic values. Instead of promoting human dignity by clearing away slums, the conservative sees a greater human dignity in the 19th century apathy of the federal government.

For freedom from poverty the conservative wishes to substitute freedom from taxation. For an empirical conception of the rest of the world as a many-faceted, complex entity that must be dealt with accordingly, the conservative substitutes the strait jacket of dogma.

Brethren Conf., November 26-29

"Christ Alone?" will be the theme of the Brethren Student Christian Conference on November 26-29, 1964. This conference will be held at Juniata College, Huntingtown, Pennsylvania. Guest leader will be Rev. Alford Beardslee, Chaplain and associate professor of religion at Hollins College, Virginia.

The themes of the speeches will include General God and the Good Guys, Jewish Justice and Babu Buddha, Zen and the Holy Spirit, and Christ Crucified.

In addition, the program will feature several addresses by Rev. Beardslee, small group discussions, worship, meditation and Bible study.

The Conference costs will be $25.00. Anyone wanting additional information may contact Dr. Wayne Miller.

Learn To Hate More

By C. L. Dadisman

From out of the pass comes the thunder of hooves and a hearty "Hi-ho students" as the student teachers hit the trail again. Once more this group of nervous wrecks advance on surrounding schools to impound upon the little monsters only a minute part of their great amassed skills and knowledge gained through their productive years in college.

It's not difficult to spot a student teacher in a classroom. This brilliant scholar - teacher at once becomes the eminence of learning and the example of honor and trust to the students.

With such attributes, the jobs of the student teacher becomes evident. He skillfully cleans the blackboard, sweeps the floor, answers such brilliant questions as, "May I go to the restroom teacher", and "May I go now, teacher", and "Shouldn't I have gone, teacher? I told you so!", and wins over the trust of the students by sitting on thumb tacks, holding used gum, and taking names for detention after school.

Yes, these are our teachers of tomorrow. These are the people who are responsible for our future Einsteins and Kennedys. These are the factors which will cause new ideas to be induced to the new generations. These are the "machines" who will teach our youngsters to dig deeper bomb shelters, produce bigger bombs, and manufacture faster cars.

Are we each doing our part to aid in the education for the future? Are we each learning to hate a little bit more each day? Are we getting a good basis for our philosophies of life and how we plan to become each an independent, self-sufficient person living regardless of others around us?

Right now is the time to make your move. Right now is the time to start collecting your ideas for hating others. Right now is the right time to become that island away from others. Kick'er in. Life is short and the close society on this campus will probably be the last good chance that you will have to become a hater for the future.

If you need more ideas, more incentive, more support for this glorious plan, contact any hate group on campus. They will give you all the aid you need.

Teacher Exams To Be Given

College seniors preparing to teach may take the National Teacher Examination on four different test dates each year. The Educational Testing Service has announced the dates for the tests for the prospective teachers as follows: December 12, 1964, March 20, July 17, and October 2, 1965.

Scores on these tests are used by many large school districts for employment of new teachers and used by some states for certification of teachers.

Prospective teachers should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, or the college, for specific advice on which examinations to take and on which date it should be taken.

A Bulletin of Information containing registration forms, lists of test centers, and information about the examinations may be obtained from the college placement officer, Dr. Dayton Rothrock, or by writing The National Teacher's Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Kile Slected Pres.

Mac to Clash With Baker

By Ronnie Murphy
McPherson Bulldogs will clash head-on with the Baker Wildcats tomorrow night at 7:30 on Mac's field. The Wildcats have had a 4-1 record this season. Last week was the first time Baker had been beaten, when Southwestern downed them 20-7. Baker has won their games with Sterling, College of Emporia, and Wesleyan. Last year the Wildcats had a 5-4 record. McPherson has a 2-3 record so far this season and last year had a 3-6 record.

Statistics show the Wildcats will be heavily favored over the Bulldogs but statistics don't always come true as was showed last week when the Bulldogs were favored and Bethany beat 28-13. Both teams will be looking for vengeance since they were both beaten last week.

The Wildcats will weigh about 200 pounds per man while the Bulldogs will weigh only 180 pounds per man. This shows that the Wildcats have 20 pounds per man over the Bulldogs.

The probable lineup for Baker will be:
E. Jim Hutton 180 lbs., Doug Watkins 205 lbs.
T. Ken Frye 225 lbs., Bob Franklin 200 lbs.
G. Dave Sears 200 lbs., Mike Philpot 205 lbs.
C. Mert McCann 205 lbs., HB. Gary Stauffer 196 lbs., Tom Berner 180 lbs.
FB. Bill Spellman 201 lbs.
QB. All Oritt 206 lbs.

Sport News

By Wendell Kuhlman
Southwestern blasted powerful Baker 20-7 to give themselves undisputed possession of the KC-AC lead as the only undefeated team in the conference.

Ottawa ran over Kansas Wesleyan 34-0, and C of E beat Bethel 34-14 to stay close to the Moundbuilders. Bethany whipped Mac 28-13, and Friends surprised Sterling 9-7.

League standings now show: Southwestern 5-0; Baker 4-1; Ottawa 4-1; C of E 4-1; Bethany 2-3; Mac 2-3; Friends 2-3; Sterling 1-4; Bethel 1-4; and KWU 0-5.

Ottawa's invasion of Southwestern headlines this week's schedule. Other games are Friends at Bethany, Baker at McPherson, C of E at Sterling, and Kansas Wesleyan at Bethel.

The Macollege football squad is going into this Saturday's clash with Baker very thin in the tackle position. Gary Wilson will not even suit, and there is some doubt whether Jerry Persons or Ed Johnson will be able to play.

Merlin Grady and Ralph Barr will see a lot of action at tackle this week; Nick Petrucci has also been running as a tackle this week in drills.

Schedule For Volleyball

Volleyball results for the week of October 12 were as follows: Monday, sixteen beat five, six beat fifteen, fourteen beat seven, and thirteen beat eight.

Tuesday, eleven beat one, ten beat two, three beat nine, and sixteen beat four.

Thursday, five beat fifteen, fourteen beat six, thirteen beat seven, and twelve beat eight.

The Volleyball Schedule for the week of October 26 is as follows:

Monday:
6:15 p.m. 5-14, 6-12
7:00 p.m. 7-11, 8-10.
Tuesday:
6:15 p.m. 1-5, 9-13.
7:00 p.m. 2-6, 10-14.

Members of the McPherson College soccer team work hard at practice on the Central College field in preparation for their first game with Lehigh this afternoon.

Bethany Swedes Victors Over Mac Bulldogs, 28-13

By Ronnie Murphy
Bethany swept McPherson 28-13 last Saturday afternoon at the Swede's homecoming. The Bethany Swedes got two touchdowns in the first half and held the Bulldogs to no touchdowns in the first half.

The second half the Bulldogs were the ones to start the scoring but the extra point was missed. The Swedes got two touchdowns with the extra points and then the Bulldogs got another touchdown in the fourth quarter with the extra point.

Jerry Murphy was first to score for the Bulldogs with a one yard plunge. John Chance was next with a three yard jog and Bob DeTour kicked the extra point to make Mac's 13 points in the game.

First to score for Bethany was Larry Harless with Larry Hartup kicking the extra point. Dan Willey was next for the Swedes with Hartup adding the extra point. Ronald Wilcox was next in scoring for the Swedes with Hartup again adding the extra point. Larry Harless was last to score for the Swedes on a pass from Wilcox, the Swedes Q.B., with Hartup adding the extra point again.

Some of the individual statistics are: Charles Wiggins completed three passes for 25 yards, and Russell Burkholder caught one pass for 7 yards.

Larry Bowman got the most tackles with 15, Tom Reazin was next with 14, and Nick Petrucci was next with 10. Some others who were tackling quite a bit were: Duane Pope and Laurel Patrick with 9, and Fred Vanderau with 8.

Here are the team statistics:

Team Votes Reazin Player of the Week

By Ronnie Murphy
Big, rugged Tom Reazin was the man that the football players chose for player of the week. Tom weighs 180 lbs. and stands 6 feet. He is a junior and is majoring in industrial arts. After graduating, he plans to teach industrial arts.

This is Tom's third year in playing for Mac and he lettered his two years previous to this year. He got 14 tackles against Bethany and intercepted a pass. Tom has an average of 10 tackles per game.

He has had four years of high school football at Lyons, Kansas. He plays left defensive line-backer and also calls defensive signals.

Tom says that the Baker game will be one of the toughest games that we will play. For us to come out on top, we will have to play as a team unit and not individual playing. One reason Baker will be a tough game is because Baker and we both lost last week so each team will be looking for vengeance.

Tom Reazin, 185 pound junior linebacker and fullback from Lyons, was voted player of the week by his teammates following his fine defensive performance in the game with Bethany College.

German Students Use H.S. Language Lab

Sixty college students are using the language lab at McPherson High School. This lab meets twice a week for one-half hour sessions. First and second year German students are using the lab this year.

Helping with the lab is Michael Ziemann, German exchange student. He will also help with the German Table which meets at noon every Tuesday and Thursday. Any student is invited to attend.

Soccer Team To Meet Lehigh

By Duane Hawley
Fourteen boys participating in soccer started practice two weeks ago and are doing very well in practice.

Out of nine scrimmages against Central College, Macollege has won three, lost three and tied three. This is a good showing for the Macollege team because Central has been practicing for two months. The team has been practicing at Central College.

The first game for the Macollege soccer team is with Lehigh today at 3:30. Lehigh has won over Central College, and the game ought to be a good challenge for Macollege.

Lehman Occupies Top Spec Position

By Doug Rapp

Have you been involved in any sort of mischief during the past week? If you have you're laying yourself wide open for "bad press" in the form of a Spectator Editorial if Carolyn Lehman, senior, Lincoln, Neb., saw you.

Carolyn is editor-in-chief of the Spectator for first semester 1964, and as such holds the top student position on the Spectator staff.

The job carries with it much responsibility.

Carolyn must organize all stories, pictures, and cartoons on the four pages of our newspaper in an interesting and attractive manner and also make sure they all fit "You've got to cram it all into the allotted 400 inches one week and stretch it into it the next."

On Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday mornings Carolyn takes copy down to the McPherson Sentinel office, where the Spectator is printed, to have it set into type. Here she can tell if her original layout was adequate or whether or not new adjustments must be made. "It doesn't always look the same in print as it did on the layout sheet."

She is also responsible for writing a weekly editorial pertaining to some factor on campus life.

But by far the biggest responsibility is that she must bear the main burden for anything said of and about the paper, good or bad.

It all began second semester last year when Carolyn took the job of campus editor for the Spectator. The usual ascendancy is to move up from campus editor to managing editor to editor-in-chief. Normally then, she would have moved up to managing editor this semester, but when last semester's managing editor transferred to another school, Carolyn was asked to assume the job of editor-in-chief. After the initial shock wore off and a short deliberation period, she accepted.

"I was really looking forward to it as a challenge, and it is!"

The job has its good points, one hundred dollars a semester plus a bonus if the paper runs at a profit. It also provides valuable leadership and journalistic knowledge.

Carolyn is an English major with expectations of graduate school in Europe where she plans to study language.

Speaking of the Spectator Carolyn stated, "It is very important, for it is one of the main unifying elements on campus."

As for her job, it is also important as you'll know if you fail to receive this week's issue. It reads, however, like she's come through again.

Siek Studies Pacific Foods In Summer At Honolulu

Miss Siek, professor of home economics, spent last summer attending summer school at the University of Hawaii, located in Honolulu.

Miss Siek took one three-hour class on the foods of the Pacific and also took a non-credit class in flower arrangements.

Luau a native custom of Hawaii where a pig is cooked in an open pit, was one of the many customs that Miss Siek enjoyed during her visit there.

She was taught how to prepare a complete meal for five different nationalities.

During her free time Miss Siek took university sponsored tours of the Island of Oahu. These tours were also very educational and interesting to Miss Siek as she was able to see the huge pineapple plantations, and see the people of Hawaii in their native dress.

Watching the programs put on by the native Hawaiians were also of great interest to Miss Siek.

Miss Siek remarked that in Hawaii a girl would be very insulted if she would be given an orchid because orchids are very plentiful in Hawaii.
