Comedy Sets Brown Stage

BSCM Conference Holds Theme of Love, Pleasure

"Love, Pleasure and the Good News" is the theme of the annual Brethren Student Christian Movement Conference to be held December 29-31, 1966, at Bridgewater College in Bridgewater, Va.

The conference is held for college and university students, faculty, campus ministers, and BSCM representatives.

Guest leader for the conference is Dr. William Johnson, research professor in religion at New York University and lecturer in philosophy of religion at Union Seminary, New York City.

"Love, Pleasure, and the Good News" will be an exploration of the contemporary Christian understandings about morality, looking at the sociological, Biblical, and theological dimensions; and an examination of a viable Christian basis for morality.

The program will include four addresses by Dr. Johnson, panel reactions to addresses, talk-back sessions, small group discussions, a full-length feature film, fellowship and recreation, a New Year's Eve party, and a trip to Monticello and Grand Caverns.

SNEA Holds Meeting

The Maurice Hess chapter of the Student National Education Association will meet Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. in Mohler Hall for a discussion of student teacher and first year teacher problems, challenges and rewards.

Satisfaction Expressed As Teaching Climaxes

By NORMA TUCKER

Students in the student-teaching program will not end their semester on Dec. 18 with other students, but will continue to work in public schools until Friday, Dec. 23.

Student teachers interviewed this week did not mind the extra time and expressed satisfaction with their work. Enthusiasm of administration and faculty of public schools, who cooperate in the program, was displayed by Ted Washburn, assistant-superintendent of McPherson City Schools.

"We are cooperative of any further extension of this," he said. "Putting the student in the actual classroom is, in our opinion, the most valuable portion of student teaching. It gives the student a more realistic look at the school."

Washburn pointed out that the student-teaching program, which began with only one hour per day in the classroom, has grown to six hours each day for an eight or nine week period. He anticipated future expansion of the program.

"I believe that our teacher training program in the future will be a five-year, rather than a four-year, program. Either Conference costs are $30, which include room and board and several special fees. Registration may be sent to Emerson Pling, Box 657, Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., by Dec. 12.

Further information on the 1966 BSCM Conference may be obtained from Dr. Wayne Miller, associate professor of speech, philosophy and religion, and director of religious life.

Students Set Hootenanny Carol Sing

The McPherson College Social Committee will sponsor a hootenanny tomorrow from 9-12 midnight, in the Arnold Hall basement.

Jan Burnham, chairman of the Social Committee, stated that campus students will provide the entertainment, and that all students and faculty are invited.

The hootenanny will be of a Christmas nature with the singing of Christmas carols.

Doughnuts and hot chocolate will be served throughout the evening.

Jolly ole St. Nick is expected to drop in and give nice little gifts to all the girls and boys who have been very good. Steve Payson, soph, Millis, Mass., will pose as Santa Claus.

student teaching will be lengthened or go into an internship, probably the latter."

He explained that such an internship program would place more responsibility on the student teacher and that the fifth year would be heavily oriented to actual teaching.

In city schools, students from McPherson, Bethany, Tabor and Kansas State colleges are assigned only to experienced teachers — never to beginning teachers or teachers who are in their first year with the city school system.

No teacher is required to accept a student teacher in the classroom, but "most teachers feel a professional responsibility in this," said Washburn.

Their willingness to work with the program was apparent to McPherson College students. "They accepted us as one of their group," said Bryce York, sr, McPherson, who is assigned to McPherson High and Junior High schools.

"We really appreciate the patience and encouragement of the regular teachers," remarked Frances Johnson, sr, McPherson, who does her practice teaching in the fifth grade at Park School.

Caroling Planned At Christmas Parties

Songs of Christmas will be in the first floor lounge, where campus dorms engage in their Christmas parties.

The Metzler Hall Christmas party will be held at 10:30 p.m. in the first floor lounge, where cookies and 50 pounds of candy will be ready for the hungry men. Ed Myers, sr, Dixon, Ill., will play Christmas music on the piano in a warm-up for the Christmas caroling which will follow.

Residents of Fahnestock Hall will hold their party tonight in their lounge, and the party will be highlighted by a program and a devotional. Cookies and candy will be a treat to the "Fanny" men who have decorated the trees in front of their dorm. Christmas caroling is planned, following the program.

Bittinger Hall is planning its party for Wednesday, Dec. 14. It will be held in the front lounge of the dorm and there will be refreshments served.

Services to Feature Senior Choir, Quartet

Sunday evening services at the Church of the Brethren on Dec. 11 will feature the Senior Choir and a Brass Quartet.

Members of the quartet are Jay and Alan Sollenberger, sons of Paul Sollenberger, associate professor of music theory and string instruments, and Les Sperling, sr, and Les Sperling, jr.

ment of the work in the program, and most noticed some difference from regular student work. "It has been quite a switch," said Carol Klotz, sr, Fredericksburg, Iowa. "There is always continuous preparation. I enjoyed it very much."

"Your work is never finished," said Carolyn Pieratt, sr, Emmetsburg, Iowa, "and you can't put it off until the weekend." This did not dull her enthusiasm for the profession. "This has been very valuable and I'm eager to get past student teaching and into actual teaching."

"I'd rather teach than be taught," said York, and Mrs. Johnson asserted, "I had taught before and I was glad to get back."

Harvey Werner, sr, Winona, said, "It wasn't what I expected. There weren't as many problems as I expected. I didn't find discipline problems and I found that the student teacher is accepted by the students as an actual teacher."

Werner is assigned to the English Department in Buhler High School. Carolyn is also at Buhler in the Home Economics Department and Carol is in Home Economics at McPherson High School.

Christmas caroling is planned.

Kline Hall will hold a party for the girls who live in the dorm and for the town girls who attend classes. Carol Radatz, jr, Galva, is in charge of the party.

Residents of Arnold Hall had their Christmas party last night and Dotzour Hall women had theirs Tuesday night.

Arnold Hall had an informal party which was held in the dorm lounge. Women from Dotzour Hall met in the Student Union, where each floor had its separate party. Christmas caroling followed.

Library Day Precedes Week of Examinations

A free day will be given to students Thursday, Dec. 15, the first Library Day. No classes will be held, giving students a complete day to study for final examinations which begin the next day.

Examinations for the first semester start at 7:30 a.m. Fri., Dec. 16, when all 12:30 M.W.F. classes take their exam. At 10 a.m. the same day, all 11:30 M.W.F. classes meet for their final; 7:30 T. Th. classes take their finals at 2 p.m. Friday.

Saturday will no longer be a free day as finals are scheduled for then, also. All 12 T. Th. classes will take their final at 7:30 a.m. and all 1:30 M.W.F.

Coffee House Forum Held By Council

Questions and suggestions about the proposed Coffee House should be taken to the Forum which is going to be held in the Student Union, Dec. 11, at 2 p.m., according to George Snavely, sr, Lebanon, Pa., Student Council president.

This forum is being held so that students can throw ideas and questions at the committee in charge of the proposed Coffee House.

Students who have questions about what the committee has been doing may contact any of the members. They are George Snavely, sr, Lebanon, Pa.; Georgene Tomlinson, fr, Denver; Dennis Dahlquist, jr, Alexandria, Va.;

Kathy Shank, jr, Fayetteville, W. Va.; George Jones, sr, Canton; Stan Goczowski, jr, Jersey City, N. J.; Bill Duryea, jr, Chagewater, N. J.; Jim Haldeeman, soph, Manheim, Pa.; Roger Schrock, sr, Harmony, Minn.; and Tom Brubaker, jr, Rocky Ford, Colo.

Other members are Philip Shankster, intern pastor at the Church of the Brethren; and Thomas Deal, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, adviser of the committee.

The last evening of laboratory theater will combine "The Miracle of St. Anthony," directed by Marilyn Smith, soph, Cedaridge, Colo., with "The Marriage Proposal," directed by Eugene Czaplinski, sr, McPherson. These plays will be presented in Brown Auditorium on Dec. 13.

According to its director, "The Miracle of St. Anthony" is a delightful comedy. When St. Anthony, played by Russ Merrifield, soph, Champaign, Ill., comes to earth to bring a recently-deceased old lady back to life, he is mistaken for a drunk by her relatives and the results are comic.

Rose Marie Loveless, sr, Marion, plays the garrulous drudge who works in the house, and the members of the family are played by Dale Neal, sr, Panorama, Iowa; Ken Stromquist, fr, McPherson; Leslie Shenefelt, soph, Navarre; Art Campbell, jr, Green Mountain, Iowa; Ray Landis, soph, Dayton; and Mike Lovelless, fr, Hyattsville, Md. The wealthy, but very dead, woman is played by Peggy Slater, soph, Denver.

The satire and comedy of the evening round out a series which has presented a variety of entertainment.

Beginning with the serious production "Gideon," directed by Ron Cassidente, sr, Denver, lab theater has offered comedy in "A Ghost Called Henry," directed by Mervin Penner, jr, Olathe, and artistry in "Something Unspoken," directed by Peggy Slater, soph, Denver. Last week's "The Monkey's Paw," directed by Clark Ratliffe, soph, Park Ridge, Ill., added suspense to the series, and, as were previous productions, was well attended.

Stuco Votes Burnham Group Head

The Student Council appointed Jan Burnham, jr, Pierson, Iowa the new Social Committee Chairman for the 1966-67 academic year, at the Nov. 29 council meeting.

She indicated that the entire social committee hopes to provide better entertainment by employing a major singing group in the spring.

It is the social committee's responsibility to create new interests among students on campus by varying the entertainment facilities.

The committee is planning more dances, hootenannies and an all-school party, which will be at the end of the year. Also, they plan to get better movies and present various skits about them during convocations.

The social committee hopes that more of the student body participate in the different functions presented by the committee.

classes take theirs at 10 a.m.

All 10:30 M.W.F. classes meet for their final at 7:30 a.m. Monday, Dec. 19. At 10 a.m. all 1:30 T. Th. classes are scheduled to take their exams. The last final to be given Monday will be at 2 p.m. for all 9:30 M.W.F. classes.

At 7:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Dec. 20, all 10:30 T. Th. classes will take their finals. All 2:30 M.W.F. classes take theirs at 10 a.m. and all 3:30 M.W.F. classes meet for their exam at 2 p.m.

The last day of finals, Wednesday, Dec. 21, will begin at 7:30 a.m. when all 8:30 M.W.F. classes take their exams. All 7:30 M.W.F. classes will take their final at 10 a.m.

All students in evening classes will take final exams during the last meeting of the regular session during the final week of the semester.

College Is Featured On TV Documentary

Numerous persons who have an interest in McPherson College were able to view a half-hour television documentary which featured the college, on Tuesday, Nov. 29, at 9:30 p.m.

The film was produced by KTVH channel 12 and was narrated by Ollie Thompson, newscaster for KTVH. Editing was also done by members of the KTVH staff.

"The emphasis of the movie was good," stated Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, "and it made many aware of the college and its various programs."

The film featured curriculum improvements, the updating of present programs and the College's participation in the ACK.

When asked whether or not he had any criticisms concerning the film, Dr. Melhorn replied, "For one thing, the technical aspects of the film were not of the best quality."

"In the transfer from one speaker to another some words were not audible and complete; in a number of areas, background sounds detracted from the speaker. Also, all divisions of the college were not equally represented."

Dr. Melhorn went on to say that the overlays and the tone reproduction of the choir were well done.

Library Material Due

All library material is to be turned in by Thursday, Dec. 15, reminds Miss Virginia Harris, librarian. This is also Library Day, a free day of study for students.

Library material may be checked out overnight from Dec. 16 to Dec. 21. After that books may not be checked from the library until next semester.

Students Need New Hideout

One plank in a campaign platform seems to be in the process of becoming reality. George Snavelly, sr, Lebanon, Pa., Student Council president, announced in Dec. 1 convocations that plans for a student-operated coffeehouse are shaping into the form of a recommendation to the administration.

Possibilities of such a gathering place are exciting. Besides Snavelly's major concern of the interaction which a coffeehouse atmosphere could stimulate, the plan, if it meets approval, could provide a center of interest—something to do—and a source of pride for the student body. In addition, the coffeehouse would be another place for student employment.

If the coffeehouse venture receives an OK, the plan will need full student support to guarantee success.

Donations, preparation of the proposed building for use and care of the place once it is opened will be students' responsibility.

Hopefully the administration will realize the importance of the coffeehouse as it relates to student need.

In the same token, students, hopefully, would reciprocate by taking a responsible interest in the maintenance of the coffeehouse. ldk

Student's Journey Leads to Jungle

By PHIL GROVE

Canoeing through a shark-infested jungle river and cooking dinner over the hot steam from the pit of a volcano were only two of the exciting experiences of Asa McFadden, fr, Baudette, Minn.

It was only a year ago when Asa and two of his "buddies," Bill Ruttenegger, student at Kent State University, Ohio, and Marion Beyeler, Goshen College, Ind., started their 14,000 mile journey through Mexico and on down through Central America.

Beginning in Ohio, the trip took them through New Orleans, Houston and then to Laredo, a border town between Texas and Mexico.

Using their Spanish dictionaries to break the language barrier, the men made their way to Mexico City on the cheap second-class buses.

While in Mexico City, the three climbed to the summit of Mt. Popocatepetl, which is the second highest mountain in Mexico, with its elevation of 17,887 feet.

After visiting ancient cities near Oaxaca, the group hitchhiked to Guatemala and then to El Salvador, where they stayed with some Peace Corps workers for a week and a half.

During this time, they climbed into the cone of a volcano where they dodged the heat of the steaming sulphur spray. They made use of the steaming spray by cooking a can of soup in it.

Moving on to Nicaragua, the party bought a 24 foot canoe and started a five-day adventure through the jungle.

"Sleeping on the banks of the river was impossible because of the snakes, bugs and other insects," said McFadden. "So we spent most of the five days and nights in the canoe." He added.

Seeing sharks in the surrounding waters, paddling out of a whirlpool and "shooting" rapids added to the excitement, declared McFadden.

Following a week of drinking coconut milk and swimming at a Caribbean "paradise," located at the mouth of the jungle river, the men returned to the states.

Orchestra Receives Praise For Excellent Performance

By MARY NELL ALBRIGHT

Stephanie Jones's interpretation of the "Fischer Oboe Concerto in C Major" highlighted Sunday afternoon's College-Community Orchestra concert. This was another of Mrs. Jones's superb performances.

The program was tastefully chosen by Robert Jones, assistant professor in music, director of the orchestra.

Selections included the flashy

"Polonaise" from Rimski-Korsakov's "Christmas Night" and Haydn's "Symphony No. 61 in D Major."

The second half of the program consisted of the oboe concerto and the spirited "Roumanian Folk Dances" by Bartok.

Prof. Jones made this observation: "The College-Community Orchestra is especially noteworthy in that it presents an opportunity for the College and

Writer Refutes Definition Based on Haircut, Dirt

Editor:

Many valid criticisms can be leveled at the "dirty, long-haired minority," but the attack which appeared in a letter in the Dec. 1 Spectator was based on several widely-accepted but mistaken ideas.

One of these is the assumption that the clean, well-trimmed majority of Americans represent—something called "the American Way," a sacred pattern through which—and only through which—progress can come about.

In fact, this "one way" which the student challenges us to follow is nonexistent. Our country is based on individual freedom and supposedly respects many different ideas expressed in many different ways, so long as they do not infringe on other's rights.

We should be proud that minorities are allowed to exist, and recognize them as an integral part of "the American Way," instead of condemning them.

Much of the world's progress has been brought about by minority groups which were called viler names than "dirty" and "long-haired" by the conservative majority.

As for the "world-wide ridicule" which the "beatniks" are supposedly arousing, the fact is that most of the world's disapproval is focused on the "prim, proper and civilized" Americans who are making war in Vietnam.

Most other countries have their own beatniks, dirtier and with even longer hair than their American counterparts.

The letter asked, "Which would you like to be in, the majority or the minority?" I answer that I hope I stand with those who respect individual freedom and are willing to accept those who differ even radically and are in the minority—with those who realize that deviation from the accepted pattern can be and often is a positive force.

Students Speak Out Critic Slaps Anonymity Of Letters

Editor:

Last week as I rather obliquely turned to the "Students Speak Out" section of The Spectator, I was amused by the verbal demonstration of one of those peculiar advocates of the "American Way," who is able to shout words to the wind with his head in the bushes.

It seems that reading a letter to the editor has become very much like listening to a man on a soapbox with a bag over his head. Why all this secrecy?

If anonymous exhortation is characteristic of the "American Way," I think I should prefer liberally coating my hair with Crisco, purchasing a many-zippered black leather jacket (I hear they are cheap now) and, walking the campus with a scowl, frightening the American timid.

What Is Man?

Old Men Sometimes Show Narrow Mind

By JERRY LASATER

Did you polish your shoes today? Did you run a comb through your hair? If you didn't, remember. "Iconoclasts don't last."

A recent outcry from an irate student overflowed with resentment against conformists — or was it non-conformists? Whoever it was (the name was conveniently withheld), he was displaying the close-mindedness old men sometimes are noted for.

Not to get involved with the right or wrong of the situation let us look at the attitude displayed in the article. It is best typified by this:

As long as you are young you have many and vivid impressions and you welcome and absorb them quickly. When you get old, you are less and less impressed and less impressionable.

A comparison comes to mind: first the door of your mind is

President Attends Talks Concerning Student Aids

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, and Dr. Merlin L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, last week attended conferences stressing academic administration, and financial aids for students.

"Strengthening and Developing Institutions" was the program of the Kansas City regional meeting, Nov. 28, of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—Division of College Support, which Dr. Melhorn attended. This department, administrators Title 3 of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

On the same day, Dr. Melhorn conferred with the State Committee of Financial Aid to Kansas Students at Kansas State University.

Recommendations from the Financial Aid committee were discussed on Nov. 29 at the Kansas Association of Colleges and Universities conference at Kansas State University.

Dr. Frantz returned Dec. 2 from the five-day meeting of the Institute of Academic Deans at the University of Denver.

This institute, limited to but 40 participants, explored current research, innovations in organization and on-campus organization for federal relationships.

Book Orders Due Tomorrow

Faculty members ordering text books for their second semester classes are to have the orders in by tomorrow. For the books to be on the shelf and ready to sell on Jan. 17, the orders must be sent to the publishing companies as soon as possible.

Mrs. Marcia Cotterill, manager of the College bookstore, said that due to the slow rate of mail service during this time of year and the amount of work involved in unpacking and marking the books to be sold, meeting the deadline is necessary.

New Carpet Added To College Library

A recent addition to the library is the installment of a new carpet on the second level of steps leading to the main floor.

"The primary purpose of the carpet," explained Virginia Harris, librarian, "was to reduce the noise level that increased when a number of the stacks were moved to the library basement."

Bulldogs Place Third At Moundridge Clash

By JOHN COOK

McPherson closed out the Moundridge Tourney with a 1-1 record after losing to Tabor College and whipping the Bethany Swedes in the finals.

The Bulldogs out-shot, out-rebounded, and out-hustled Bethany in setting the Swedes down 67-61 Saturday night. Bolstered by the outside shooting of Gene Czaplinski and the free-throw shooting of Hal Wright, the team turned in its smoothest performance of the season.

The Bulldogs shot 33 per cent from the field and sank 25 of 36 from the charity stripe. The back-line of Jeff Lambert, Gene Phillips, and Jim Rakes combined to clear 39 rebounds to give Mac a 33-27 edge on the boards.

Bethany dropped in 24 of 76 from the field for 32 per cent and hit 13 of 21 from the line.

Gene Czaplinski, who tossed in 15 points in the first half, and Hal Wright led the Bulldogs on offense. Wright hit 7 of 8 freethrows in the closing moments of the second half to help preserve the Mac lead.

He connected on 13 of 17 from the line in all and added 6 points from the field for a total of 19. Czaplinski added 18 and Gene Phillips, 14.

Thursday night the Bulldogs dropped their third game in a row, to the Tabor College Bluejays in a game which saw 55 personal fouls and one technical foul called.

Playing their fourth game in as many nights, the Bulldogs were whipped in the rebound department 42-28. In addition, the Bulldogs were out-shot 43 to 31 per cent from the field.

Leading only 39-32 at halftime the Bluejays came back after the intermission to quickly build a twelve point lead.

The Bulldogs led 7-1 in the early minutes of the game and once again made a strong bid when they brought the score to 28-29 with 5 minutes left in the first half.

Czaplinski led the Bulldogs in scoring with 17 points and Dan Bower led the Bluejays with 19.

Ali Converts Dissenters With Masterful Victory

By GENE CZAPLINSKI

Viewing the TV replay of the Muhammed Ali-Cleveland Williams world championship bout, we experienced a most encouraging moment.

After the bloody spectacle had ended with Ali raising his muscular arms as a symbol of excellence, the 35,000 spectators applauded—long and loud. It was a contrast to the multitude of boos the champion had received as he had made his way down to the ring just moments earlier.

It was an expression of appreciation for what one expert termed "a masterpiece — a work of art." Ali, utilizing a fantastic display of footwork and speed combined with an over-abundance of sheer, raw power, displayed the form of a true champion — perhaps the greatest in the history of the fight game.

It was Ali's sixth defense of the year and added up to twenty-seven in a row for the handsome, undefeated Ali, who throws combinations of four punches.

But perhaps the most thought Ali's victory stimulated again was the inevitable "I am the greatest." So far he has proved it, hasn't he?

Challengers to Ali's crown seem to become unworthy after they fight him, not before. A sad fact for disbelievers in Clay's ability is that they are running out of challengers and therefore running out of excuses.

Ali is an image of our times, looking for an identity—trying to prove himself in an unconquerable world. But the light at the end of the tunnel is in sight, and this fight again showed his unmatched ability.

It was, as one sportswriter termed the bout, "a mass conversion" as the throng of the disbelievers finally removed their hats, looked up at the proud, gleaming, American champion and said "I believe."

Dogs Beaten By Presbies Team Faces Tough Foes

The McPherson College Bulldogs lost their final game of the McPherson JayCee Invitational Tournament to the College of Emporia Presbies 81-63.

The Bulldogs were down 40-34 after an evenly fought first half. In the second half, however, C of E pulled out to gain a 26 point spread as the Bulldogs went nearly fourteen minutes without connecting from the field.

They were able to sink only 6 of 31 attempts in the second half for a frigid 19 per cent. Meanwhile C of E put 14 of 31 on the scoreboard for 45 per cent and whipped the Bulldogs 37-28 on the rebound chart.

Gene Phillips led McPherson offensively, scoring 12 points and grabbing 10 rebounds. Jeff Lambert and Hal Wright each contributed 11 points to the cause. Bill Linhart and Bob Bruns led Presbies scoring with 15 apiece.

The Bulldog Cagers will play two games, Dec. 10 with the Coyotes of Kansas Wesleyan here, and Dec. 12 against the Bethel Threshers, there. Both contests will start at 7:30 p.m. with B-team games at 5:45 p.m.

The Coyotes had a strong team last season in the Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference, finishing in third place with a 11-7 conference record and a 11-12 overall standing.

KWU started this season with six returning lettermen. The Coyotes finished in fifth place in the McPherson Invitational behind McPherson, C of E, St. Mary's of the Plains and Peru State. Sterling College finished last.

The last time McPherson and KWU met, the Coyotes squeaked by the Bulldogs 73-68.

The Bulldog cagers have a fine young team. They finished in third position in the Moundridge Tournament. They will be out to contain the Coyotes.

Bethel Threshers have a powerful team this season. They captured the Moundridge Tournament by defeating Tabor College 64-60.

Bethel finished in fourth place last year in the KCAC with a 10-8 conference record and a 11-12 overall mark.

McPherson recorded a 9-9 record in the conference and a 10-13 total slate for the entire year.

Bethel defeated the Bulldogs in both of their games last season 80-70 and 78-57.

Five Seniors Receive Teaching Assignments

The Placement Bureau of McPherson College has recently arranged positions for five seniors who graduate this month and plans interviews with other prospective employers before the end of the semester.

Students who have been placed are Charles Horner, Carlton, Neb., who will teach at Little River and Robert Snider, Mc-Pherson, who will instruct Chapman Junior High School. Both men will teach science.

Maurine Arnold, McPherson, will go to Leoti to teach fifth and sixth grade; Donna Dilling, Nanty Glo, Pa., will teach second grade at Obee Elementary School, and Richard Eastman, McPherson, will be in the Science Department at Minneapolis High School.

Other applicants for elementary teaching positions will meet with a representative from Topeka school system on Dec. 16 in McPherson.

"We are currently working on the processing of credentials for seniors who will graduate at the end of the second semester," said Dr. Dayton G. Rothrock professor of education and psychology, about the Bureau's activity.

In addition to arranging interviews and processing credentials, the Bureau keeps files on specific job openings and general employment information. It is not limited to placement in teaching positions, but helps to place graduates in all fields, and assists in summer employment for students.

Many opportunities are available through the Bureau for interviews with prospective employers in the near future.

Career conferences with 23 business firms will be held in Kansas City on Dec. 23, and appointments have been made for interviews in McPherson during January and February with representatives from schools in Nebraska, California, Missouri and Kansas.

Civil Service representatives will come to McPherson College Campus Feb. 1 to interview and give information.

The McPherson women's basketball team opens the season on Saturday Dec. 10, at 10:30 a.m., in a home game against Sterling.

On Dec. 12 they travel to Bethel for an afternoon game. All the games are not yet scheduled, but the team will probably compete against Hays, and others, and have practice games with Central.

The games are usually scheduled so that the girls play the same school the McPherson men's team will play that evening.

The team has an irregular practice schedule. They have to use the gym when it is available, which is most often on the days of the basketball games of the regular team.

Women's basketball in this area follows the rules set up by the Division for Girls' and Women's Sports. One major change in the rules this year is the freedom of an unlimited dribble.

Windjammers Play For Area Dances

"We play just for the enjoyment of playing," stated Tom Wheeler, soph, Washington, D. C., when he described the campus band, The Windjammers.

The band started the second semester of the last school year under the organization of Wheeler and Al Mader, soph, Lebanon, Pa.

The Windjammers consist of four members and a publicity chairman: Wheeler who plays the lead guitar; Mader, the organ; Denny Conwell, jr, Parker, Ind., base guitar; Scott Carroll, soph, Glyn Ellyn, Ill., the drums; and Jim Hagemann, fr, Staten, Island, N. Y., is the publicity chairman.

Wheeler indicated that Mader sings the lead and the rest of the members sing back-up.

The Windjammers are a local-ized band, playing at campus functions and in the area of McPherson.

14 Enrolled For Karate Instruction

Larry Martin, fr, Rome, N. Y., is again underway with instructional classes of karate.

Those interested in joining a new beginner's class should meet in the gym for the two weekly classes on Saturdays and Sundays from 1:30-3:30 p. m., according to Martin.

The beginner's class has been in process for only one week and will continue into the second semester. The enrollment of the combined advanced and beginning classes now stand at 14 members.

Martin said that approximately 75 per cent of the new squadmen would drop out before the end of the course. The classes will not only teach the methods of defense, but also how to control oneself both mentally and physically.

"Gi's" or the loose-fitting uniforms are not mandatory, but offer the maximum ease of movement. These cost about $10 each.

Men presently taking the advanced course are Larry Harbaugh, fr, Waterloo, Iowa; Bruce MacPherson, soph, McPherson; George Ovellette, fr, Port Murray, N. J.; Craig Pear-sall, soph, Denville, N. J.; Gene Taffera, fr, Raritan, N. J.; and Dave Yoshida, fr, Nampa, Idaho.

Reyher Named to KCTA As Director on Board

At the annual convention of the Kansas Community Theater Association held Nov. 19 at Buhler County Community College in Ed Dorado, Loren D. Reyher, assistant professor in English and theater, was elected to serve a one-year term on the board of directors.

The KCTA is the governing and cooperative body which oversees and reviews the activities of Kansas community, civic and educational theaters.

Its aim, in conjunction with the recently established Kansas Commission for the Arts, is to further creative and artistic projects within the state of Kansas through financial aid, exchange of ideas and facilities and professional advice.

This was the first year in which Kansas colleges and universities have been allowed to become members of the KCTA, and present plans are underway to enroll McPherson College in the organization.

Though a community theater group has not been officially established, the KCTA will assist Prof. Reyher in studying a program and formulating plans for such an undertaking.

College Faculty Meet With Clinic Personnel

A joint meeting of the McPherson College faculty and members of Prairie View Clinic was held Nov. 29 at the McPherson Church of the Brethren. In addition to faculty members, husbands and wives of the faculty and the twenty Prairie View staff members were served dessert by the Faculty Social Committee.

Dr. Mitchell Jones, medical director at Prairie View, spoke on "Seven Points to Mental Health." He also led the discussion which followed.

Joint interest of College and Clinic in the area of mental health was the basis of the cooperative meeting.

For the past two years, Dr. Vernon Kliever, psychiatrist from Prairie View, has been available once each week to counsel McPherson College students.
