College Hosts Debate Clash

Forum Plans Made

Plans for a student forum have been set by the Young Democrats of McPherson College, in cooperation with the Student Council and the Social Committee, stated Barrie Borger, soph, McPherson, president of the organization.

Leland Lengel, assistant professor of history and political science, will speak at the first session, 2 p.m. Feb. 19, in Mohler Hall - 227.

Forums will be held on alternating Sunday afternoons.

The purposes of the forums are to inform and interest students in topics of national importance, as viewed by the faculty and administration of McPherson College.

Borger reported that if the forums were successful, McPherson city officials and local state officials would be asked to address the sessions.

"Guest speakers will talk for a period of perhaps a half hour to 45 minutes. Following the speech will be a question and answer period," continued Borger.

Best Dressed To Be Selected

For the first time on the McPherson College campus, the Women's Council is sponsoring "Glamour Magazine's" Ten Best-dressed College Women. The girl chosen by McPherson women as best-dressed on our campus will be considered by "Glamour's" editors in the national contest.

The deadline for entry is March 1, so plans are underway for the selection of our best-dressed girl.

One girl from off-campus, three from Kline, and six from Dotzour will be chosen by the female population. The winner will be selected by a panel of five, made up of representatives from women's, men's, and faculty groups on campus.

Alexander Laffy Peaslee

In 1961 Peaslee served as chief of the Asian Communist Areas Division of the Office of Research Analysis for Sino-Soviet Bloc, and was consultant to the Policy Planning Council in 1965.

Peaslee speaks both Portuguese and Chinese.

Stuco Vacancies Filled After Close Election

By CHRIS LEVI

Students elected three candidates to fill vacancies in the Student Council.

The positions filled were for sophomore representative to the Student Council and two representative - at - large.

Sophomore representative to Stuco was Frank Falcicola, Ridgefield, N. J.

He commented on his new position by saying, "I am honored to be elected to sophomore representative to the Student Council. I will do my best."

At the first election Tom Brubaker, jr, Rocky Ford, Colo. was elected to representative-at-large.

Brubaker stated, "I was very surprised, and will try to do my very best."

Nine Students Teach School

Student teaching is continuing this semester as nine more students are getting a taste of what the future might hold in store for them.

Six of these students are working at the elementary levels. Alice Colyn, sp, McPherson, is student teaching at Roosevelt Grade School; Betty Lichty, sp, Moundridge, is at Wickersham Grade School; and Julie Standifer, sr, Worthington, Minn., is at Washington Grade School.

Three students are student teaching at Hutchinson elementary schools. They are Vada Ambler, jr, Hutchinson, Zana Williamson, and Lucille Yoder, sr, Hutchinson.

Ruth Galle, sp, Moundridge, is student teaching in the Home Economics Department at McPherson Junior High School. Ottawa Harris, sr, Denver, is in the History Department at the same school, and Gene Czaplinski teaches English and speech.

Since this semester's student teachers are not taking the regular block at this time, they are going to be student teaching for different lengths of time. Some are also taking additional college hours.

The 1967 Annual McPherson College Debate Tournament will be held here Saturday, Feb. 11. A total of 37 two-speaker teams, representing 18 schools, will be participating.

This number is almost twice the number that was involved last year. Four states will be represented this year, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and Missouri. The colleges range from junior college to Big Eight and Missouri Valley Schools.

The tournament will be divided into two classes, novice and experienced. Novice teams are those which are participating in intercollegiate debate for the first time.

The debaters will begin arriving on campus about 7 a.m. A general assembly will be held in brown Auditorium at 8 a.m., with Gary Flory, jr, McPherson, and Ken Van Blaricum, sr, Meade, co-chairmen of the event giving the welcome.

First rounds will begin at 8:30 a.m. in all rooms in Mohler Hall, Harnly Hall, the stage in Brown Auditorium, and two rooms in the Student Union. Debaters will go a total of five rounds, with the fourth and fifth rounds being power matched, or winners against winners.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners in both classes at 4:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Bonnie Harris, fr, McPherson, and Fred Hines, fr, Wamego, will be debating in the experienced class as representatives from McPherson.

Judges for the tournament will be the debate coaches from schools represented, McPherson College faculty, and McPherson townspeople.

A Peace Speech Contest which is usually held in connection with this tournament, will not be held this year.

Participating colleges include Allen County Community Junior College, Bethany College, Bethel College, Butler County Community Junior College, Cotley College, Hutchinson Junior College, Ft. Hays State College; Kansas State University, Kearney State College, Northern Oklahoma Junior College, Ottawa University, Southwestern College, Sterling College, University of Kansas, Washburn University; Wichita State University, William Jewell College, and McPherson College.

McPherson College debaters will go back into action on March 4 at the Ottawa Invitational Tournament.

Stump to Direct Belles, Beaus For Legislature

Belles and Beaus, under the direction of Nelson Stump, will perform before the Kansas State Legislature in the General Assembly, Thursday, Feb. 16 at 10 a.m.

Stump, '64, is the son of Dr. Harley Stump, professor of English.

Nelson Stump, a vocal instructor at Harrison Junior High School, Great Bend, conducts the group of 12 boys and girls.

Blickenstaff Gives Concert In Wichita

Marvin Blickenstaff, former music instructor at McPherson College, will perform in Wichita on Feb. 23 and in Hayes on Feb. 27.

Blickenstaff, who last year completed concert tours in the United States and Europe, including Greece, Holland, Spain, Switzerland, Austria and Hungary, now studies in New York with Wolfgang Rose.

Melhorn Attends Address

Subject of the discussion was the inaugural address, given by Dr. Gordon Kaufman, professor of theology at Harvard Divinity School.

Dr. Kaufman, in his address, suggested that Bethel should become more pronouncedly Mononite in orientation and purpose, but contended that it should not become "narrower or more parochial."

"I think Bethel has probably been too sectarian in the past," he said. "I rather suspect that a self-proclaimed atheist would not have been given a position on the faculty. Whatever may have been the merits of such a policy in the past, it would be very near-sighted to continue to follow it."

Ag Club Elects Officers

New officers were elected and the spring program was planned for the McPherson College Agriculture Club. Beverly Stagg, McPherson County Agent, was guest speaker at the Feb. 1 meeting.

An election of officers was held. Richard Burger, soph, Perryton, Texas, was elected vice-president and Dennis Heisey, soph, Hershey, Pa., was elected secretary-treasurer.

The spring program which was planned, is to include a field trip to the Lewis Ranch, a beef-fed-lot operation, and a trip to the Don Martin Holstein Dairy Farm. Both are located in western Kansas.

The main feature of this meeting was to discuss the future of agriculture on the McPherson College campus. Richard Burger was appointed chairman of a committee that will conduct a survey of agricultural majors.

Laboratory in Library Opened to Students

A newly-installed audio laboratory in the basement of the Library opened Feb. 6 to students of McPherson College. Its features provide facilities for study in a classroom situation or for individual study.

"It's like having books on the reserve shelf," said Dr. Jan van Asselt, associate professor of German and linguistics, referring to the stock of available tapes. "It can be as valuable as we let our imaginations make it."

The equipment is completely automatic, and each of the ten booths allows a student to listen to a different tape containing a lesson track and a student track.

The student listens to the lesson track, records his voice on the student track, then listens to his voice. Student tracks can be erased and re-recorded.

A source deck or control panel allows an instructor to monitor each booth; thus, each student in the class may proceed at his own speed with individual instruction.

Dr. Van Asselt explained that the audio lab is designed to employ as many of the senses as possible in the learning process. In the lab, hearing, speaking, reading and writing combine to reinforce learning.

Each morning, instructors select tapes which run automatically from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. After 4 p.m., an attendant is on duty to provide tapes at student request.

All language students of the College are now using the lab and Donald A. Schultz, jr, Ely, Iowa, is in charge of the technical aspects of the equipment.

Other departments of the College may use the lab, and Dr. van Asselt explained that the equipment could be useful to speech or music classes, in science experiments and in other listening situations.

DONALD SCHULTZ SITS at the source deck of the new Audio Laboratory. Booths for student listening and recording are in the background.

Ideas Need to Be Discussed

Robert Maynard Hutchins, in discussing the spirit of inquiry of Western civilization, said, "Nothing is to remain undiscussed. Everybody is to speak his mind. No proposition is to be left unexamined. The exchange of ideas is held to be the path to realization of the potentialities of the race."

College, as a knowledge-seeking community, should ever foster this exchange.

Students should not fall into the error of believing that intelligence is a substitute for experience nor should faculty dismiss students' ideas by assuming that experience can substitute for intelligence.

Unfortunately, on issues such as the coffee-house, discussions have at times come near to this state. The Spectator believes that mutual respect and a willingness to explore the issues openly would prove that both students and faculty are working toward one goal—a better school.

Grade System Sees Change

Not only McPherson College, but also about two dozen other colleges throughout the United States this year adopted a month-long break between semesters.

Many schools gave students a chance to study outside the classroom. McPherson offered a Chicago field trip; St. Olaf College in Minnesota offered drama in London; and Florida Presbyterian College offered a sociology study in the West Indies.

Most interesting, however, was the system used by many schools in grading these projects. No letter grades were awarded, but a simple "pass" or "fail" encouraged students to study outside their own fields and to be as creative as their own imaginations would allow.

Such a system might well be considered at this College during the intercession. It would encourage the student to venture forth independently without worry about the competition for high grades.

It might even prepare the student to discover things on his own after he leaves the College classroom.

Movie to Portray Youth of Today

"The Restless Ones," a movie portraying the world of today's youth, will be shown at the Spiral Theater Feb. 10-16.

The conflict in the movie is between adults and teens of our times as they struggle to find themselves.

The story concerns a television script writer, his wife, their son and his girl friend. The son, played by Johnny Crawford, finds himself in trouble.

His parents attempt to make a study of the factors which may have caused their son's downfall but fail to consider his religious education, which is his weakpoint. Billy Graham is in the community on an evangelistic tour and helps the family to recognize and face their problems.

The Rev. Dr. Harold Z. Bomberger, church director of the film, stated, "The Restless Ones" is a lesson in communication in which the parents and children accuse one another of not understanding each other's feelings."

Interdenominational preachers and laymen of McPherson began initial plans for the presentation in September.

Leadership counselor training sessions have been in operation during the past month to instruct persons capable of answering questions following the film.

Persons may ask questions, or discuss problems of their own after viewing the movie.

The movie premiered in the United States in 1965, and, according to The Rev. Dr. Bomberger, has been very well accepted.

"Because it is being shown in a theater it has reached more people than it would in a church," he stated.

Daily showings will be at 6:30 and 9 p.m. with Sat. and Sun. matinees at 2:30 p.m.

Freeman Paintings Create Excitement

"Aspects of the City," an exhibition of oil paintings by Mark Freeman, will be displayed in Friendship Hall, Feb. 1-20.

Old Bergen Art Guild, Bayonne, N. J., which circulates this national tour says, "Freeman fully captures the moods, tempo and changing face of the city. Through judicious use of strong contrasting colors and excellent composition elements he creates drama and excitement."

"Architectural patterns, light and shadow play an important role in these paintings. His earlier background in architecture and archeology is most apparent in his feeling for buildings and other structures."

Mark Freeman received his B. A. from Columbia College and B. Arch. from Columbia University School of Architecture. He was a Carnegie Fellow in Art and Archeology at the Sorbonne.

Painter and printmaker, Freeman's work is included in the permanent collections of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, Library of Congress, Norfolk Museum Hengeloose Kunstzaal (Netherlands), St. Vincent College, Parrish Museum and numerous other public and private collections in the U. S. and Europe.

Freeman is a member of the National Society of Painters in Casein, Knickerbocker Artists, Washington Water Color Club, Boston Printmakers and has exhibited widely in national and international exhibitions in all media.

Jones Takes Post For People-to-People

George Jones, sr., Canton was elected to the position of treasurer of the National Council of Collegiate Chapters of People-to-People in October, during a national People-to-People conference in Kansas City.

George, a business administration major, is also treasurer of the Student Council here at McPherson College.

Throughout the United States, People-to-People organizations are organized on 160 college campuses. The purpose of this organization is to promote better relations between foreign and American students. They also sponsor a student abroad program.

As treasurer, George is in charge of soliciting funds from people and private corporations to improve the People-to-People organization.

Jones stated that spring conferences were planned throughout the United States.

George's term of office ends at the next national convention when he gives the treasurer's report.

Dale Sprague, from McPherson, now a Kansas University senior, is the president of the National Council of People-to-People.

Brass Choir Receives Approval From Audience

By ART MCAULEY

An explosion of musical colors and sounds introduced the University of Kansas brass choir and chamber choir Jan. 30, as they made their 1966-67 concert tour debut in Brown Auditorium.

The chamber choir, most select choral group on K. U. campus, began with an admirable demonstration of technique and versatility in its interpretation of Anton Bruckner's, "Mass in E Minor."

It was, however, James Ralston's direction of "Rejoice in the Lamb" that demonstrated the choir's excellent musical character.

The brass choir, which, in 1964, toured Southeast Asia under the auspices of the United States State Department, showed professional presence and performance. From the moment the baton, under Kenneth Bloomquist's direction, fell on Walton's "Fanfare," the brass choir had most of the audience's support for top billing.

"Concerto Antiphonale" and "Concertino for Piano, Brass and Timpani" required precision and technique, but the choir performed both numbers with the assurance of professional band.

The performances of Gale Dillehay on tuba and Donald Hodges on French horn were excellent. Hodges arranged "Song of the Volga Boatman" for the choir's performance.

This performance was the first of a weeklong tour which included Newton, Medicine Lodge, Dodge City and Liberal.

The tour was organized and sponsored by the K. U. Alumni Association. Members of the McPherson County Chapter of the association provided room and board for the choir members while they were in McPherson.

Applications Taken

Applications will be taken for a new food's committee chairman, stated Student Council president, George Snavley, sr., Lebanon, Pa.

The deadline for applications, to be turned in to Snavley, is Monday, Feb. 13.

Teilhard's Thoughts Form Basis For Three-Day Symposium

Discussions and lectures about the philosophy of Pierre Teilhard de Chardin formed the basis of the Feb. 6-8 symposium sponsored by the Department of Religious Life.

Teilhard's writings were not published during his lifetime because he lacked the sanction of his Church, but his philosophical contributions are now emphasized.

The leaders of the symposium pictured him as a man of exceptional insight and vision. He was portrayed, during the lectures, as an evolutionist who believed that man has a potential to travel toward the perfection of love.

Discussion leaders explained that Teilhard believed history to indicate that man has tended to move upward on the path of love toward "Omega." They emphasized that this direction was not pre-determined, but a "potential" of man.

Dr. Paul J. Megan, director of the conference on non-theism and contemporary theology, opened the series of meetings on Monday evening, discussing Teilhard as "A 20th Century Visionary."

Father Bernard Brown followed with a lecture on "Teilhard's New Vision of Salvation," and Father Marvin R. Kessler closed the meetings, lecturing on "Science Versus Religion; a Teilhardian Solution."

Dr. Megan, Father Kessler and Father Brown are on the faculty of St. Mary's College.

The symposium also included a Catholic Liturgical Service, a forum on Roman Catholic beliefs and tradition and a discussion period on "the Cosmic Christ."

Snell Speaks To Six Scholars From College

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company honored six of its nine scholarship winners at a dinner held in the Student Union private dining room on Wednesday, Jan. 25.

Harry Snell, state personnel director from Topeka, was the guest speaker and presented plaques to the scholarship recipients. In his speech Snell compared industry to education by relating the 3m's: man power, material and money.

In the field of education man power represents the faculty and staff, material is the individual student and money is the same in any area — whether educational or industrial.

Albert Butcher, manager of Southwestern Bell in McPherson, introduced Snell. Also present were Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the college, who gave the welcoming address; Dr. Raymond L. Flory, vice president and dean of student affairs; Dr. Merlin Frantz, dean of academic affairs; and Larry Marcellus, director of publicity and promotion.

Present to receive the awards were Lynette Holloway, fr, McPherson; Keith Pauls, soph, Inman; Carol Radatz, jr, Galva; Joyce Shellenberger, soph, Buhler; Janet Smith, soph, Lyons; and Carol Walline, fr, McPherson.

Basketball Races Become Tight As Tournaments Come Into View

By GENE CZAPLINSKI
Here is a plug for the fans of Southwestern's basketball team.

They were as fine a disciplined crowd as we have seen this year in the KCAC, and seemed to be at the game for a single purpose to see a good ballgame.

The KCAC race itself this year is really beginning to tighten up with Kansas Wesleyan coming up to challenge C of E, our pre-season choice to win. C of E has tremendous personnel in both front and back court. The Presbians would make an extremely strong representative to pit against the CIC champion in this year's regional playoff.

They have height, speed, fine outside shooting, board power and a combined team free throw percentage of .770.

For you big B-ball enthusiasts, the NCAA midwest regional is really shaping up into a doozie.

In the Big Eight, K. U. is looking better and better all the time.

The Missouri Valley boasts Louisville's young and talented crew which is ranked number two in the country.

S.M.U. looks like the probable representative from the Southwest Conference and they have been one of only two teams to tack a defeat on Southern Illinois, the top small college quintet in the country.

The other representative? You guessed it - defending national champion Texas Western. The Miners flogged Tulsa at Tulsa 61-53 the other night, the first defeat for Tulsa in eleven games.

The winner of the tournament among K.U., Louisville, S.M.U. and Texas Western will have to be one of the favorites to win the biggest one of all - the NCAA.

Warriors Shock Bulldogs

The Sterling Warriors capitalized on a 30 point performance from Gary Keesling to shock the Bulldogs 79-73 Tuesday evening on the Sterling court.

The Bulldogs, who trailed by 15 midway through the first half, were down ten, 47-37, at halftime. An early second half rally brought them to within three at 49-46, but they were unable to take the lead.

Hal Wright led the Bulldogs in scoring with 20 points; Jeff Lambert dropped in 14; and Gene Phillips added 10.

Coeds Tilt; Sterling Falls

Lela Weddle, jr, Bloom, Tuesday led the women's offensive with 15 points in a basketball tilt which saw McPherson down the hosting Sterling coeds 45-32.

McPherson dominated the entire game, running up scores of 10-4 at the end of the first quarter; 21-10 at the half; and 30-22 by the close of the third period.

Other high scorers for McPherson were Barbara Westray, sr, Lakehurst, N. J., with 9, and Janet Rhinehart, sr, Brooklyn, Iowa, with 7. Murphy was high for Sterling with 8.

The team will play again at a Feb. 18 Sports Day at College of Emporia.

vid Smith had 16 points for Metzler.

In the first game Thursday night, the Bittinger third floor team defeated first floor Metzler 44-25.

In the second game, Bittinger second floor defeated the Arnold team 35-30. High point man for Bittinger was Gary Schuster with 15 points. Dennis Conwell was high man for the winners with 16 points.

Kline Hall Opens Doors

By PEGGY SLATER

Women of Kline Hall and their housemother, Mrs. Almira Shuler, have disclosed the date of their first open house, to be held Sunday, Feb. 12, from 2 to 4 p.m. All are invited.

According to Carol Radatz, president of Kline's dormitory council, the women are "Really excited about it!"

Plans include room and hall decorations in a St. Valentine's theme, heavy cleaning ("even in the storeroom!" says Carol), and cooky-baking by the hall's chief cooking enthusiasts.

Open to public view for the first time since Kline became a women's residence hall last semester will be the personal college-domains of the 27 residents and Mrs. Shuler. These quarters consist of both single rooms and apartments with kitchens.

Each woman has access to a kitchen, and most of those living in Kline prepare their own meals from individual menus for which they have planned and shopped.

These kitchens will be shown this Sunday by women learning

One Kline resident expressed in this way what she feels to be the thoughts of all the dormitory women with regard to the open house:

"We will be so happy to welcome everyone into the wonderful atmosphere which surrounds life in Kline. Hopefully, this will be the first of many open houses to be sponsored by our women in the following years."

Heart Sisters Begin Week Of Secrecy

Heart Sister Week will traditionally convene for McPherson College women during the week of Feb. 13-19.

Names of sisters were drawn following convocation today. During the week an inexpensive gift will be expected to be given or favor performed for the sister.

Off-campus women may also participate in the activities by exchanging gifts at the desk in Dotzour and Kline for sisters to receive.

Final Theater Production Stages Playboy Comedy

Sophisticated comedy will pace the final theatrical production of the season, "Come Blow Your Horn," to be staged in the arena March 8-11, according to Loren D. Reyher, assistant professor in English and theater and director of the show. "Neil Simon's 1961 Broadway success pits a wily playboy against several beautiful women, his younger brother, his parents and the waxed fruit business," said Prof. Reyher, "and with all the lightheartedness, says something about the conflict between old and new ideas."

Complications beset the life of Alan Baker, played by Clark Rattliffe, soph, Park Ridge, Ill., when his 21 year old brother Buddy, portrayed by Merv Penner, jr, McPherson, arrives at his apartment to stay.

Marlin Hoover, soph, Rocky Ford, Colo., plays their father, who highly disapproves of his sons' supposed profligacy, since it interferes with his waxed fruit business.

On the other hand, their mother, played by Peggy Slater, soph, Denver, knows only that her two sons must be fed properly.
