Concerning the budget, George Jones, sr., Canton, Stuco treasurer, commented, "We were not able to meet the requests for funds of the committees because of the drop in enrollment, but we hope that through efficient management the committees will be able to operate and provide activities for campus programs."

Circle K Holds Membership Drive

An appeal for "active, enthused, service-minded college men" was issued today by Cliff Danziger, soph., Yonkers, N. Y., chairman of the McPherson College Circle K Membership Committee.

A goal of fifteen or more new active members from the freshman and sophomore classes was set by the club.

Interested candidates may contact a member of circle K or apply at one of the membership drive booths.

To be eligible, applicants must have a 2.0 cumulative grade average, be interested in the goals and activities of Circle K, and meet other standards set by the Membership Committee.

All membership candidates will be invited to a special get acquainted meeting on Feb. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in room 117 Mohler Hall.

The drive will close with the election of new members at the regular meeting on March 1.

Court Rejects Pope Appeal

The appeal of Duane Earl Pope, '65, convicted and sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of three employees during a Nebraska bank robbery, was rejected by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the 8th Circuit on Feb. 13.

Pope's appeal was based on his statement that he was questioned without advice of legal counsel, but the opinion, written by Judge Harry Blackmun, rejected all arguments in Pope's behalf.

The Associated Press reported that Judge Donald Lay in a concurring opinion said, "I suggest without reservation that this might be an appropriate case for consideration by the executive of clemency power to the extent of reducing the death sentences on the last three counts to life imprisonment."

Pope was graduated from McPherson College only five days before the Big Springs, Neb. robbery, which netted $1,500.

The bank president, Andreas Kjelgaard, the cashier, Glen Hendricks; and a bookkeeper, Mrs. Lois Ann Hathorn, were killed and one other employee wounded in the June 4, 1965 robbery.

ACCK Librarians Plan Union List of Serials

McPherson College was host for a meeting of librarians of the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas.

They worked out the details for the development of a union list of serials.

The union list will provide each library in the ACCK with the title and the amount of holdings of magazines that are available in any of the six participating colleges.

Funds for this project, as well as for others yet to be developed, are provided through Title III of the Higher Education Act of 1965 which makes money available for developing institutions.

A marginal punched card circulation system was approved for circulation control and will be adopted by the libraries as soon as it is feasible to each of them.

Other areas of cooperation that are under study by the librarians include 24-hour bookmobile service, union lists for bibliographies and reference works, central purchasing, specialization in the development of resources and centralized processing of books.

By the use of a direct communications system, better library services will be provided in the near future.

Photocopy service will make articles available to both the faculty and students within the association.

Members of the ACCK are Bethel College, Bethany College, Kansas Wesleyan University, McPherson College, Sterling College and Tabor College.

K.U. Wins 1st Places

By MARGE KECK

University of Kansas walked off with both championship trophies in the 1967 annual McPherson College Debate Tournament held Saturday, Feb. 11.

The novice team from the University of Kansas won its class title with a 5-0 record. Wichita State University won second place with a 4-1 record. Cotley College, Kearney State College and Bethel College had 4-1 records but lacked speaker points.

In the experienced division, the University of Kansas again won with a 5-0 record. Two teams tied at 4-1, with Washburn University capturing second place on the basis of speaker points and Hutchinson Community College placing third.

Thirty-three teams from 17 colleges participated in the five round event. This included 23 novice teams and 10 experienced teams of two persons each.

Ken Van Blaricum, sr., Meade, and Gary Flory, jr., McPherson, who were co-chairmen of the tournament, presented the trophies in Brown Auditorium following final tallies.

"The tournament went pretty smoothly for a power-matched tournament," stated Flory.

He went on to explain that at debate tournaments, colleagues often act as timers, which detracts from the debate. "We certainly appreciate the cooperation we received from the students who helped us as timers," he stated.

Colleges represented were Allen County Community College, Bethany College, Bethel College, Butler County Community College, Cotley College, Hutchinson Community College, Fort Hays State College; Kearney State College, Northern Oklahoma, Ottawa University, Southwestern College, Sterling College, University of Kansas, Washburn University, Wichita State University, Emporia State, and McPherson College.

College Grads Gain Fame

Dr. Wayne Miller's appointment as dean at Elizabethtown College and Dr. Jan van Asselt's appointment as director of Brethren Year Abroad remind us that many men have gone from McPherson College into positions of leadership.

Four graduates—Dr. Blair Helman, '46, Dr. Harold Fasnacht, '29, Dr. Wayne Geisert, '44, and Dr. Oliver Ikenberry, '29—are now college presidents.

Dr. Desmond W. Bittinger, former College president, is chancellor at Chapman College in California and Dr. Kirk Naylor, '41, is acting president at Omaha University.

But not all outstanding achievements of graduates are in academic fields. Kenneth Weaver, '37, is a member of the senior editorial board of "National Geographic" and Dr. Elmer Staats, '35, is Comptroller General of the United States.

The first man to recommend the blunt nose for missiles and astronaut capsules was Dr. Harvey Nininger, '14, and a new meteoritic sulfide has been named "Niningerite" in his honor.

Dr. William P. Thompson, '39, holds the highest executive office of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. Dr. Roy Wampler, '20—now deceased—directed and developed the special glass unit which encloses the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

The list is lengthy. We could not name them all, but each name suggests that McPherson College can be a springboard to prominence.

Final Plans Macalendar Being Made

McPherson College will be replacing its outdated library with a modern structure within the next few years. To facilitate this, there is a Library Building Committee, composed of members of the faculty, which is looking into the building and financing of the new library.

According to the chairman of the committee, Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor of education and psychology, final plans have not yet been disclosed. However, the committee hopes to have these plans ready to present to the Board of Trustees at their meeting in March.

The committee met Feb. 6 with Robert Husmann of Houston, architect for the new library. Dr. Rothrock reported that the application for a federal grant is still in Washington, D. C.

In addition to Dr. Rothrock, the committee includes Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College; Dr. Merlin Franz, dean of academic affairs; Miss Virginia Harris, librarian; Dr. G. J. Ikenberry, professor of biology; and Leland Lengel, assistant professor of history and political science.

Yoders Plan Tour

R. Gordon Yoder, business manager and treasurer, and Mrs. Yoder will leave April 15 for a two-month tour of Europe and Africa.

"I can hardly prepare for the trip, for it seems so like a dream," said Mrs. Yoder. "But the required shots hurt enough to bring me back to reality." Mr. and Mrs. Yoder will go first to Ireland and Scotland, visiting the Rev. Jack MacPhail, in Edinburg. The Rev. MacPhail, was here two years ago as exchange minister in the Church of the Brethren.

From Edinburg, the couple will fly to London to meet their daughter, Marcia, '65, and her husband, Dennis Emmert, '66. The two families will then tour eleven European countries for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmert have been teaching in Nigeria since August, 1966. Mrs. Yoder related, "When they told us they were going to Africa, it seemed so far away. And when I saw them locked in the airplane, my heart thumped. But now, as we plan our trip, it seems so much nearer."

After the European tour

Thirty Students Enrolled in Ceramics Add to Zahradnik's Busy Schedule

By MARGE KECK
"Keep it simple," says Gordon Zahradnik, part-time ceramics instructor, as he explains to his class the methods of shaping clay into a sculptured piece.

Thirty students meet every Tuesday evening for 2½ hours and two hours credit. This enrollment, which is triple the number enrolled six semesters ago when Zahradnik first began teaching here, had to be cut at 30 because of lack of storage and work area.

During the semester the students will learn four methods of construction in ceramics: pinch, coil, slab-drape-mold, and carve. About two weeks will be spent on each method and students will make at least two pieces of each type method. However, Zahradnik pointed out that the students will be graded on quality, not quantity.

All pieces are the students' own original ideas. With original creation, no two pieces are alike. No molds are ever used in the construction.

After the student has constructed his piece, it is dried. This is done by firing it in an electric kiln at 1800 degrees for six to eight hours.

After the pieces are cooled for another six to eight hours, they are hard, having the appearance of bone or rock. At this stage the piece is called bisque.

A glaze, made of ground glass

silicon with some chemicals mixed in, is applied to the glaze. The glazes are of all colors and even a translucent. They are applied by pouring, dipping, brushing, or spraying.

The pieces are fired again for six to eight hours at 1800 degrees after glazing. After they cool for six to eight hours, the color, which is in the glaze, comes out.

Students are in the class for a variety of reasons. Some are art majors, some were talked into taking it, some are interested in the course, and some simply need the credit.

Mary Hill, Jr., Chocopee, Mass., says that she hopes to gain some patience by being in Ceramics.

Nancy Brown, soph, Concord, Mass., enjoys working with clay and hopes to make creative pieces.

Ceramics is second only to painting for Nancy Winn, fr, Wilmitt, Ill., and Dee Northey, soph, Waterloo, Iowa. Dee also feels that this is a chance to express creativity with her hands while Nancy says that it is a good tension release.

For Pete Kaiser, sr, Kenosha, Wis., ceramics is a hobby. Pete is also student assistant to the instructor.

An influential roommate is one of the reasons why Tim Granger, sr, Munster, Ind., is taking ceramics. Tim also has an inherited interest from his parents.

Prof. Zahradnik, who teaches full time at Sterling College, received his bachelor's and masters degrees in art at Ft. Hays State College.

He taught art at Great Bend for seven years and spent a year in Frankfurt, Germany, at the Army dependent schools as art consultant.

During his year in Germany, Zahradnik and his wife, who is also an art teacher, traveled to 16 countries and spent Christmas in the Holy Land.

At Easter they spent ten days in England and during the summer they traveled and camped in Italy for 24 days and nights. Their "home" for this trip was a pup tent. In Italy they were able to feel the beauty of painting, sculpture, color, and design.

A three-year-old daughter, April, occupies some of Zahradnik's time in addition to his Sterling courses in Drawing, Painting, Introduction, Art History, Color and Design, two classes of Ceramics and Art Education, Oil Painting, Water Color, Crafts, and Seminar.

Editor:

I want to congratulate you on your editorial comment on a Hutchinson News editorial concerning Representative Rogers' bill to provide free education at any of the state's universities or colleges to persons sixty-five or older.

The News commented it would be too late for elderly people to put it to practical good. The Spectator pointed out very properly that the purpose of an education goes far beyond teaching one to earn a living. As you pointed out, the real purpose of education is growth of the human mind and this is practical and proper at any age.

It is this understanding of education at all levels which I am trying to promote in Kansas. It is this which makes me such a firm believer in the place of private colleges in our educational system.

Sincerely yours,
John D. Bower,
Representative, 41st District
House of Representatives, State of Kansas

Editor:

After three weeks of solicitation, we the Coffeeshop representatives have not only collected enough money to attain the $1,000 goal, but have exceeded this amount.

Reaching the financial goal of $1,000 which is to be used for the establishment of the Coffeeshop, has symbolized the direct involvement of students, faculty and administration in the activities of McPherson College.

A certain degree of pride is attained by students when reaching a goal in excess of the stated amount. We, the Coffeeshop Committee, thank each person who has made a financial or time contribution to the Coffeeshop project.

Edwards Plays, Directs Choir At St. Johns

For the past six years, Robert L. Edwards, assistant professor of piano and organ, has been organist and choirmaster at St. John's Episcopal Church in Wichita.

This means that Edwards not only directs the 25-voice choir featuring four paid soloists, but he also plays the organ for all church services.

Thursday nights find Edwards in Wichita rehearsing the choir. Music for the choir's use comes from an endowment of the church. Occasionally a cappella music is included in the choir's repertoire.

The organ at St. John's, installed in 1951, is a large three-manual organ with 46 ranks of pipes.

The most elaborate services at St. John's are at feast times. This includes the Midnight Eucharist at Christmas and Pentecost. Three services are held on feast days and the choir sings at two of them.

St. John's, a parish of 850 members, is the oldest congregation of any kind in Wichita, dating back to the 1860's. The building is the oldest in Wichita, having been built in 1885.

Letterman Plans Business Future

EUGENE NILSON

Gene Nilson, 6'2" forward, is another athlete playing his final season for McPherson College. A business major, Nilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Nilson of Gypsum, Kansas.

Nilson holds seven Mac College varsity athletic letters; three in football, and two each in basketball and track. He is also treasurer of "M" Club, varsity lettermen's club.

Recently married, Nilson is employed by a local accounting firm. In spite of his busy schedule he has been able to maintain a 3.0 plus grade point average.

A graduate of Gypsum High School, Nilson entered Kansas State University in the fall of 1963 but transferred to McPherson the following semester.

Junior Team to Try Lindsborg Cagers

Mac junior cagers will be trying to snap a five-game losing streak when they go to Lindsborg Saturday night.

They received a 102-94 shellacking at Emporia Monday night to record their fifth loss in a row. The College of Emporia second team took a commanding 57-36 half-time lead and then coasted home for the win.

Saturday, Feb. 12, the B team was beaten 80-79 by the Tabor reserves at Hillsboro.

The reserves record now stands at 6-10.

Women Cagers To Participate

McPherson College women's basketball team will participate in Sports Day at the College of Emporia Feb. 18.

Teams from approximately 10 Kansas colleges will be paired in preliminary games which are shorter than regular length. Teams will be eliminated as they are defeated. The two remaining winning teams will play in a regular length final game.

Table tennis competition is also offered.

Mac Falls To Presbies

College of Emporia's Presbies overpowered the Bulldogs 76-64 Monday night in the Emporia city auditorium.

The Bulldogs, playing a hot and cold style of basketball, were in contention throughout the game, but were unable to sustain a rally to upset the Presbies.

Trailing 6-0 after nearly three minutes of play, the Bulldogs came back to score 11 consecutive points and take the lead until C of E's Bob Burns tipped in a stray shot to tie the score with 11 minutes remaining in the half.

The Presbies went ahead to stay when Tibbetts tipped in another shot and Bruns connected on four consecutive charity tosses. The Presbies led 32-27 at halftime.

Mac's Bulldogs remained within striking distance until the late stages of the game when the Presbies took a 14 point advantage with less than five minutes to play.

Gene Phillips led Bulldog scoring with 16 tallies; followed by Jeff Lambert with 10. Bruns took game honors with 19 points as the Presbies had four men in double figures.

Imagination Reigns; Rocky Challenges Ali

By GENE CZAPLINSKI
Meet Rocky R., the currently imaginative third-ranked Heavy-weight challenger in the world, and the man destined to beat the Muslim-in-residence, Cassius Clay.

He is a peculiar fighter, with a varied number of qualities — all of which he will need to use in full force to defeat the one and only Ali.

Among other things, he: Exhibits a stare comparable to the one of Sonny Liston. This is to combat the hypnotic trance Clay administers to opponents in pre-flight gaieties; has a bad case of deafness which will nullify Clay's ability to verbally psyche out his opponent; is faster at going back than going forward. He is going to make Ali chase for once instead of fruitlessly chasing him around the ring; is a devout Muslim follower. Soften up ol' Cass a little; brother hates to smack brother, you know; and beside all this, he is going to be about 6'4" by 230 so that when, if ever, he does hit Clay, Clay will stay down.

Sound way out? Not any farther away from his class than Ali is moving. Oh, well, we said this guy was imaginative.

Braves Nudge Dogs

Ottawa University's Braves put down the upset-minded Mac College Bulldogs, 63-59, Thursday evening on the Roundhouse floor.

Showing their best team effort of the season, the Bulldogs were on top for almost three quarters of the game. With 11:11 remaining the Braves took the lead and quickly built a seven point lead on the white-hot shooting of Tony Verdi.

Hal Wright led the Mac offense with 17 points, followed by Gene Phillips and Jeff Lambert with 13 each, and Don Woodcock with 12.

Verdi, who is leading league scoring with a 24 plus per game average, was collared by the Mac defense.

Intramural Teams Clash

During the week of Feb. 6-10, five intramural basketball games were played.

Monday night the Townies defeated third floor Fahnestock 65-49. High point man for the Townies was Jim Lambert with 18 points, Keith Hummel was high point man for Fahnestock with 17 points.

In the second game, second floor Metzler defeated the Courts 25-22. High point man for Metzler was David Smith with 9 points. High point man for the Courts was Carroll Turner with 10 points.

Wednesday night's action saw the men of first floor Fahnestock defeat first floor Bittinger 51-39. High point man for Fahnestock was Don Crosby with 27, while high point man for Bittinger was John Belsler with 14 points.

In the next game, 3rd floor Metzler defeated the Courts 51-45. High point man for Metzler was Dwight Ediger with 11 points, and Carl Cook was high scorer for the Courts with 16.

On Friday night only one game was played in which third floor Bittinger defeated Arnold 25-27. High point man for Bittinger was John Hadden with 14 points, while high point scorer for Arnold was Dennis Conwell with 10 points.

Foreigners Attend Dinners

International students, this week end, attended dinners at Mt. Hope and McPherson.

Rev. and Mrs. Shelton of the Federated Church, Mt. Hope, sponsored Brotherhood Sunday. Students representing Germany, Greece, Iraq, Nigeria and Canada and other countries attended.

Students arrived Saturday and were hosted by members of the congregation. Later that evening, the hosts and students had an opportunity to exchange views of the world.

After a short service Sunday morning, the students described their countries.

Keiho Fujita of Japan, attending Friends University, considers superhighways, canned food, and modern architecture as symbolic of the United States.

Miss Veek, assistant professor in language, is impressed by the "big, big farms." Chris Udop, attending Tabor, told of the day he awoke and saw snow falling. Thinking that he was dreaming, he returned to bed. This was the first time that Chris had seen snow.

Following a lunch prepared by women of the church, students left with their hosts to return to their respective colleges.

Since that time, more schools and hospitals have been built. The women have finally been given the right to vote and for the first time in history, the country has a woman minister.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ayoka of Nigeria, McPherson students, have come to America on their own. The couple are agriculture majors. "We hope to return to our country to teach." The couple left their five children in Nigeria to come here.

"The only way you can learn about other countries," said Sylvia Jorgensen of Mt. Hope, "is by speaking to the people."

Shun Kungsun of Japan, a McPherson student, extended this: "Here, the teenagers are mature in appearance; at home, they are more mature mentally." Udoh replied, "Teenagers are the same all over the world to a large extent."

"We want to grow up; we want to have a mind of our own, but in an emergency, we run to our parents," said Miss Jorgensen.

On behalf of his fellow international students, Iowa Katz, McPherson student from Canada, stated that perhaps governments will take it upon themselves to learn more of other countries — only then can war be abolished. No war ever began in friendship: all wars end in bloodshed.
