

College Hosts ACCK: 300 to Participate

Dr. Bittinger Has Surgery

Dr. Desmond W. Bittinger, former president of McPherson College, underwent surgery Wednesday, Feb. 15. A report from Mrs. Irvin Stern, daughter of Dr. Bittinger, concerning his condition states that he responded well and is getting along splendidly.

A benign polyp was removed from the intestine and an ulcer of the stomach was repaired. No sign of malignancy was present.

Dr. Bittinger is widely known as an educator-minister, traveler, lecturer, and author. He has taught on the elementary, secondary, college, and university levels.

He is cited in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Clergy, Who's Who in Education, Who's Who in the Western Hemisphere, and Who's Who in the Midwest.

He is also a lifetime member of the International Association of Arts and Letters, which has its headquarters in Switzerland.

Dr. Bittinger's residence is 904 East Everett Place, Orange, Calif.

Students to Prepare 'Native Dish' Dinner

Twelve foreign students will prepare native dishes Saturday, Feb. 25, for the People-to-People Dinner to be held at the Church of the Brethren. Between 80 and 90 guests are expected to attend.

Guest speakers for the dinner will be Dale Sprague and Prabhush Nagori. Sprague is president of Collegiate International, an affiliate of People-to-People. They are students at Kansas University.

Administrators Join Faculty in Conference

McPherson College will host the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas in a conference Wednesday, March 1, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The purpose of the ACCK is to produce a more effective educational program through combined effort.

Some 300 faculty and administrative members will share in the planning of ACCK programs and policies. Participating colleges are McPherson, Bethel, Bethany, Kansas Wesleyan, Tabor and Sterling.

The primary topics for discussion will be a common academic calendar and the possibility for a January term between semesters, which is tentative for the next school year.

The first speaker will be Dr. Arthur Zook, president of Kansas Wesleyan University, who will discuss the "Historical Development of ACCK," the early development and present position of the organization.

Dr. Robert Easterling, president of ACCK, will speak on the future of the organization, "Aims and Objectives of ACCK and the Role of the President." Dr. Easterling was installed as president on Jan. 2.

Dr. Herbert Wood, executive director, Kansas City Regional Council for Higher Education, will give the luncheon address.

Progress reports will be presented to the conference and later group meetings will be discussed in the closing general session.

Pending plans for the betterment of the six ACCK colleges are for a traveling bookmobile and a combined serial catalogue of periodicals for student use.

A union catalogue of books from all colleges has been proposed by the ACCK librarians to be compiled and made accessible to the students. A student may sign for a book from another college and have that book delivered to him by the bookmobile.

The serial catalogue will similarly include lists of periodicals from the six college libraries so that students may be informed as to available materials.

The combined efforts of the ACCK may be seen in a computer center. Also new courses may be added to the curriculum through a faculty exchange program.

Too few students to form a full class from each college would not necessitate the hiring of a new instructor, but could be worked out through such an exchange.

Progress reports during the ACCK Conference will be delivered by Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor of education and psychology, teacher education.

Robert Suderman, Tabor, Librarians; Ada Lou Shields, Sterling, registrars; and Dr. John Burkholder, professor of biology, science.

MCY Organizes Service Committee

Stage Production Opens March 8; Reserved Tickets Available

Opening date March 8 draws closer for members of the cast and technical crew of "Come Blow Your Horn." Neil Simon's 1961 Broadway hit and this semester's first offering of the theater season.

Reserved section tickets will go on sale Monday, March 6 for the four-night run in the arena, said Loren D. Reyher, assistant professor in English and theater and director of the show.

"A limited number of tickets will be available for each night, since the production will be staged on stage," said Prof. Reyher.

Tickets will be available to McPherson College students on their identification cards. Adults will be admitted for $1; children, for 50 cents.

"The show has presented no serious technical problems," commented Prof. Reyher, "but more scenery will be used than in previous arena productions."

Designed on a blue and white color scheme, the furnishings are being provided by McPherson businesses, said Prof. Reyher. The set includes a mobile unit with fireplace and a bookcase.

Lighting design is being carried out by Merv Penner, jr., McPherson, also a member of the cast. Working lights during production will be Neal Lundquist, jr., Denver.

Students working on the set are members of the Stagecraft class, including Chris Levi, Jr., Berryville, Va.; Fred Henderson, jr., Kokomo, Ind.; Jody Sencensits, soph, Washington, D. C.; Dea Unruh, fr, McPherson;

Faculty Schedules Talks

A five meeting series of faculty discussions concentrating on the improvement of college teaching have been scheduled by the faculty social committee.

Beginning Thursday, Feb. 23, the discussion group will meet weekly in the Student Union private dining room from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The series has been scheduled around the booklet, "Improving College Teaching," published by the American Council of Education.

The idea for the faculty discussion group was initiated during the faculty retreat, held between semesters, when it was recommended that there be more opportunity for faculty discussion.

Thus far 15 - 20 faculty members have indicated their interest in this discussion group.

Pianist Burge Gives Recital

David Burge, associate professor of music at the University of Colorado and conductor of the Boulder Philharmonic, will present the next program of the McPherson Cultural Series on Feb. 28, 1967 at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Burge has an international reputation as pianist and composer. He has been heard in Europe, the Far East, and throughout the United States in recitals of contemporary music, as lecture-recitalist at music festivals and on television, and as a recording artist.

His four Carnegie Hall recitals of new piano music have been the occasion for critical superlatives, and his many appearances at music festivals, on television, and elsewhere have caused him to be recognized by critics and composers alike as one of the foremost performers of new music in America.

His latest recording includes new piano works by Charles Wuorinen, George Crumb, George Roehrig, Salvatore Martirano, and Burge himself, and was released by Advance Records in the fall of 1966.

Active as a composer, Burge is a founding member of the American Society of University Composers.

He has written four piano sonatas, an opera, a musical comedy, chamber and orchestral works, and is presently working on a large theatre work involving jazz combo, percussion ensemble, choruses, dancers, soloists and electronic soundtracks.

A year ago he was honored by a festival devoted to the performance of his music at Millikin University.

The New York Times said "A Burge recital is not just a breath of fresh air, it is a jolt of the stuff!" The Spokane Spokesman - Review reported that Burge has "extraordinary capability and seemingly endless resources."

Burge's McPherson concert will include "Sonata in C.K. 330" by Mozart, "Sequenza IV for Piano" by Berio, and "Five Pieces for Piano" by Crumb.

Following intermission Burge will play Bach's "Sinfonia in G, Minor," "Six Landler" by Schubert, "The Lord of Salisbury, His Pavin," by Gibbons, his own composition of "Eclipse II" and Rachmaninoff's "Variations on a Theme of Corelli, Opus 42."

Peaslee States Policy Toward China

In a seven-point convocation address on Feb. 16, Alexander Latty Peaslee, deputy director, Office of Far Eastern Programs of the Department of State, reviewed China's history; discussed her national and communist goals; and explained U. S. policy toward China.

His formal statements about U. S. policy were summed up in two sentences at a press conference following the address: "Wait and see," and "Don't worry so much about what's going on in the back of someone else's mind as to be sure you make clear what's in the front of yours."

The "wait and see" policy is necessary at this time because China is in a period of change. Pro-Mao and anti-Mao forces vie for control; elements of the Sino-Soviet dispute are very deep-seated; and communications from Communist China are limited.

"We don't know who is really in power," Peaslee stated. "As far as the immediate situation is concerned, the feeling is to withhold judgment."

In addition, the United States must guard against misunderstandings of its position. "Make clear what's in the front of your mind," is an attitude designed to eliminate misunderstandings and prevent a push-button nuclear war.

It supports U. S. policies contributing to the stability and growth of East Asia and discouraging aggression, direct or indirect, on the part of Chinese communists.

Peaslee emphasized that China must be considered only in the total context of all Asia, and that the United States must insist that the 13 million in Taiwan be allowed to determine their own future.

When asked about an early cessation of hostilities in Vietnam, Peaslee replied, "This is going to depend largely on when North Vietnam decides that the United States will not slow down on its commitment in Vietnam." He anticipates "at some point, some formal activity, but all through this period, a gradual slowing" of that conflict.

In discussing the youth of Communist China today, Peaslee said, "There is some indication recently that there is an effort to dampen the Red Guard. It is not clear as this is a temporary condition."

Red Guard activities have "delayed the educational set-up for at least one academic year in a country that desperately needs an educated person."

Many of those available have been assigned to military matters, drawing them from civilian positions.

"The youth of China is frustrated by the lack of opportunities."

Students Use YMCA

McPherson College students have been frequenting the new YMCA both in classes and through employment.

The senior life-saving class, under the instruction of Don Widrig, associate professor in physical education, meets each Tuesday and Thursday at 1 p.m. for one credit.

Students meeting the requirements of the class will receive their Senior Life-Saving Red Cross Certificate.

Men enrolled in the course are Edgar Benz, jr, Enterprise; Don Bucher, soph, Syracuse, Ind.; Tom Derrico, soph, Penns Grove, N. J.; Gene Faust, fr, Winston Salem, N. C.; Ray Galante, jr, McPherson.

Also included are Mike Ming-emback, fr, McPherson; Brian Summerhays, fr, Brockport, N. Y.; Jim Tibbetts, fr, Belleville; Art Ware, fr, Silver Springs, Md. and Tim Wilson, fr, Labanon, N. J.

Students employed at the "Y" this semester are George McNicholas, fr, Landing, N. J., who coaches a church basketball team and is a desk clerk. Gary Sacks, jr, Altoona, Pa., is a life guard for the Sunday family swim.

Acting as desk clerks are Steve Mellillo, jr, Medway, Mass. and Dave Sovchen, soph, Pitts-burgh, Pa.

Regis Iovino, soph, Pitts-burgh, Pa. is a part-time desk clerk and Larry Martin, fr, Rome, N. Y. teaches a karate class on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Students Show Their Concern

Students of McPherson College should be commended for their attentiveness and intelligent questioning at the convocation address of Alexander Latty Peaslee.

Although Peaslee spoke slowly and without great force, most students were attentive and some were even observed taking notes on the lecture.

This evidence of a desire for more knowledge of events in Vietnam and China indicates that students want to anchor their judgments upon a thorough study of facts.

And this search for understanding of the situation in the Far East is as vivid a demonstration of concern as picketing, demonstrating or sign-carrying.

No Failures Prove Skill

The All Student Council of Kansas University has passed a resolution calling for the abolition of English Proficiency Exam requirements for students who have attained a grade of "C" or better in required undergraduate English courses.

The resolution was passed because the ASC believes that passing the required courses constitutes proof of language skill.

This is a good theory, but we doubt that it can be proved. Proof will come only when there are no failures of the test.

In the meantime, the exam will continue to point out our inability to communicate - - - a serious handicap in any field.

Heart Sisters Hold Breakfast

The Heart-Sister Breakfast and program, held in the cafeteria, Sunday, Feb. 19, at 7:30 a.m., climaxed the traditional week with the revealing of Heart-Sisters.

After breakfast the women were welcomed by the president of Women's Council, Rayna Hamm, sr, Rocky Ford, Colo. The program was directed by Donna Brubaker, mistress of ceremonies.

Miss Brubaker, soph, Lyons, accompanied Mary Ann Miller on the piano. Mary Ann, fr, Waterloo, Iowa, sang "The Sound of Music" and "My Favorite Things."

Club to Decide Future of Ag At McPherson

The Agriculture Club has formed a committee that will attempt to look into the future of the agriculture program on the McPherson campus.

Richard Burger, soph., Perryton, Texas, is chairman of this committee. Members are Marston McGiven, soph., Liberty, Ind., Dick Martin, jr., Sterling, Ohio; Dennis Heisey, soph., Hershey, Pa.; Lowell Dell, fr., Beatrice, Neb.; Galen Kopp, fr., Middletown, Pa. and Terry Bouse, jr., Silver Lake, Ind.

The committee will determine if there is a desire on the student level, as well as on the faculty level, to continue an agriculture program at McPherson College.

Zinn Says US Policy: Bankrupt

Editor:

On Christmas Day, I joined 120 fellow citizens in a peace vigil near the LBJ ranch to protest the war in Vietnam. It was interesting to note that the only persons to show their resentment to our action were five members of the American Nazi Party and the reporters.

It has been my growing conviction that American policy in Vietnam is bankrupt. However, the American public, through the propaganda efforts of our government and the compliance of the bulk of the news media, has been sold on this bankruptcy.

I wonder in amazement and in pity at the mentality of America.

Keim Describes Philosophy of Life, Love for Various Occupations

By LINDA KURTZ
"I like people and I like to work with people - so it doesn't really matter where I find myself, there are always interesting people."

That is how Robert Keim, associate professor in sociology, describes his philosophy of life, and how he explains his love for the diverse occupations in which he has been involved since graduation from McPherson College in 1949.

Before joining the McPherson faculty, Prof. Keim lived in Sacramento, Calif. "I'm a West-crazer at heart," he laughs, "I was born in Kansas, but I grew up in Idaho."

While in Sacramento, Prof. Keim worked in the ministry, in addition to managing financial church stewardship schools and taking graduate courses at Sacramento State.

"In the west we found an entirely different flavor on the part of the people," he said. "Life there is more casual than in the Midwest, perhaps because the area has never quite lost the pioneer spirit."

Living in a racially mixed Sacramento community, close to McClelland Air Force Base, gave Prof. Keim, the sociologist, an opportunity to observe urban life. He described the experience as viewing a microcosm of the world's peoples.

His most interesting experiences in working with people came when he spent two weeks each at a summer session of the Institute of Family Relations at Los Angeles, and at the Loma Linda, Calif., School for Medical Evangelists, studying with Seventh Day Adventists the effects of alcohol on the body.

California has not been Prof. Keim's only home. He taught American History, economics and sociology at Nampa, Idaho, High School one year and pastored seven years at the Twin Falls, Idaho, Church of the Brethren.

Immediately following graduation, he worked as student recruiter for the College, before entering Bethany Theological Seminary, where he received his B.D. degree.

"Life has had its incongruities for me and my family," said Prof. Keim, with the beginnings of a puckish grin around his mouth. "I grew up in Idaho and lived in California, where some of the most fabulous ski areas were right at our front door - Sun Valley, Squaw Valley - but I had to come to flat Kansas before I learned to ski!"

A weekend trip to Colorado with some students and faculty and the instruction of Dr. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education for women, put Prof. Keim on the list of skiing enthusiasts.

Besides carrying a 15-hour teaching load, Prof. Keim preaches each Sunday at the Canton First Baptist Church.

He and his wife Sybil, '49, a remedial reading teacher at Park School, have three children: Linda, 17; Paul, 11; and Sammy, 8.

McPherson's Bulldogs jumped out to an early 10-2 lead and led until 3:05 remained in the first half, when Bethany's Mike Gregory converted a three-point play to put the Swedes into the lead, 27-26. The Swedes led 31-28 at intermission.

Football Coach Sid Smith named the 24 football lettermen and the five provisional lettermen for the 1966 season.

To qualify for a letter, a player has to participate in half of the total number of quarters played during the entire season.

Provisional letters are awarded for those who do not quite qualify for a letter.

If they return for the next season's play and earn a letter they will receive the privileges of a two-year letterman in respect to the letter sweater.

Those earning letters at the end position, are Gene Nilson, sr, Gypsum; Tom Worthing, sr, Wamego; Don Woodcock, jr, Washington; and Jim Rakes, jr, Bloom.

Tackles earning letters are Tom Brubaker, jr, Rocky Ford, Colo.; Ralph Barr, sr, McPherson; and Dan Stockstill, jr, Geneseo.

Dennis Miller, jr, Lanark, Ill., and Bill Harper, soph, Monaco, Pa., won letters at the guard position.

Dwight Ediger, sr, Buhler, won the only award given at the center position.

Those halfbacks that lettered are Irvin Albin, jr, Quinter; Jerry Harrison, soph, Beloit; Fred Teeier, fr, Oakley; Mike Thompson, fr, Beloit; and Carroll Turner, fr, Colby.

Two fullbacks won letters this year. They are Bob DeTour, jr, McPherson and John Suminski, fr, Milwaukee, Wis.

Junior Smith, fr, Chase and Hal Wright, fr, Dwight, lettered at the quarterback spot.

Five linebackers with honors are Jim Beachell, soph, Princeton, N. J.; Don Crosby, soph, Great Bend; Johnnie James, fr, Torrington, Wyo.; D. Moore, fr, Council Grove; and Dale Prochaska, sr, Glasco.

Of the five players to merit a provisional letter, two were guards, two were halfbacks and one was a center.

Glen Walker, jr, Brookville, and Dave Cutting, fr, Halstead, won provisional letters at guard. Patrick Hill, fr, Miami, Fla. and Carl Cook, fr, Dayton, Ohio merited for the halfback position.

The center was Bruce Cook, fr, McPherson.

Sid Smith stated, "We only lost five lettermen this year. If the rest of the squad passes their subjects and work-outs everyday, we should be stronger than last year."
