Debaters Walk Away With Rating of 'Excellent' After Winning Six of Eight Debates at Tourney

Debaters representing McPherson College at the national Pi Kappa Delta contests, March 27-31 at Wisconsin State University, Whitewater, Wis., won six of their eight debates and walked away with a rating of excellent.

Gary Flory, jr, McPherson, and Ken Van Blaricum, sr, Meade were entered as an affirmative team in the Men's division, while Van Blaricum, and Fred Hines, fr, Wamego, entered that division for the negative.

Debates were won against Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio; Moorhead State College, Moorhead, Minn.; Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill.; Lutheran College, Fremont, Neb.; Eastern Montana College, Billings, Mont.; and California State College, California, Pa.

McPherson's two losses went to Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., and Wisconsin State University, Eau Claire, Wis.

Only teams winning more than half of their debates were rated, and the excellent rating received by McPherson debaters was second only to the rating of superior.

Debaters who have been in five competitive debates are eligible to join Pi Kappa Delta, and eight candidates were initiated Wednesday, April 12, into the McPherson chapter.

Flory conducted the initiation, with the assistance of Guy Hayes, director of admissions, and Loren D. Reyher, assistant professor in English and theater.

Candidates initiated were Van Blaricum; Hines; Jack Hamm, fr, Rocky Ford, Colo.; Mike Loveless, fr, Hyattsville, Md.; Bonnie Harris, fr, McPherson; Pat Greenway, jr, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Alma Moore, assistant professor in speech and English, and Cliff Lambert, former McPherson College student.

Snell attended La Verne College, La Verne, Calif., receiving his B.A. there. He earned his Master's degree at the University of Arizona and, in 1965, that university granted him a graduate assistantship in psychology. He is completing his Ph. D. there this year.

Snell, who holds a divinity degree from Bethany Theological Seminary, Brookville, Ill., has served as director of Lybrook Navajo Mission, Cuba, N. M., for the Church of the Brethren and as pastor of the Church of the Brethren at Glendale, Ariz.

Mrs. Snell received her B.A. at La Verne College and is completing her Master of Music degree at the University of Arizona. She was an instructor of organ at Bethany Theological Seminary and has given private instructions in organ and piano since 1954. Mrs. Snell served as organist for five different churches since 1953.

She holds memberships in American Guild of Organists, Music Educators National Conference and Arizona Music Educators Association.

She has also been awarded a life membership in the California Scholarship Federation and a Harriet Gilbert Scholarship from La Verne College for outstanding student for senior year.

Presidents Plan Trip To Evaluate, Explore

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, and Dr. Harold D. Fasnacht, president of La Verne College, will travel to Europe to evaluate the Brethren Colleges Abroad program there and to explore the possibilities of its expansion.

Dr. Fasnacht travels as chairman of the B.C.A. Committee and Dr. Melhorn has been appointed to assist him on this visitation-evaluation tour. Mrs. Melhorn and Mrs. Fasnacht will accompany them.

Dr. and Mrs. Melhorn will leave McPherson on April 16, flying to Madrid and Valencia, where Dr. Melhorn and Dr. Fasnacht will invest four days in investigating the possibility of enlarging the B.C.A. program to include one or both of the institutions located there.

After a side trip to Barcelona and a one and a half day visit in Geneva, Switzerland, with Dale Ott, director of Brethren Service in Europe, they will motor, accompanied by the director, to Strasbourg, France.

Meetings with B.C.A. students and the staff of Strasbourg University are scheduled to help Drs. Melhorn and Fasnacht evaluate students' course work, their academic preparation course equivalency, transfer of credits and the depth of the education experience.

Evaluations will also be made of education and culture value of the year abroad, housing conditions and other items related to the total education experience.

Leaving Strasbourg, the group will travel to Marburg, Germany, where Ron Adkins and Marilyn Wood, McPherson College juniors, are enrolled in the B.C.A. program.

In their four days there with Dr. Miriam Schlegel, director of B.C.A., the group will make evaluations similar to those at Strasbourg and will raise additional questions about the total program in Marburg and Strasbourg.

After a two-day stay in Goettingen, West Germany, hosted by Dr. Herbert Krater of the Pädagogische Hochschule, a teachers' college, the group will travel from Mainz to Cologne on the Rhine Steamer.

One day will be spent in Hamburg, Germany, with Masoom Aimaq, a La Verne College graduate who is in the import-export business, then the Melhorns and Fasnachts will continue on to Copenhagen.

The last four days of the European tour will be filled with visits to the van Asselts, the Klein-Brinks and other McPherson and La Verne friends in Amsterdam.

Dr. and Mrs. Melhorn and Dr. and Mrs. Fasnacht will arrive in New York on May 12 and Dr. and Mrs. Melhorn will leave for McPherson on May 14.

Letters Show Participation

The Kansas Senate Election committee is considering a resolution to amend the Kansas Constitution and allow citizens older than 18 to vote in all elections.

Before the amendment can become law it must be voted out of committee, pass the House and Senate by a favorable two-thirds vote and be approved by Kansas voters in the next general election.

Jack Janssen (D-Rice County), who introduced the bill, said, "If students show interest and show that they are willing to participate in government, the bill has a much better chance of success."

Participation in recent Student Council elections by more than 75 per cent of McPherson College students shows that they are interested in government—at least on the College level.

If you are interested in government on other levels, there is now something that you can do about it. Write a letter!

Polls Have 'Poor Taste'

Editor:

During the past elections I noticed many activities which I consider to be in poor taste.

As I went to the polls to vote during the run-off elections I heard the people passing out ballots saying, "Vote for..." These people were all Student Council members.

If anyone has any respect for these elections, surely it would be the Stuco members themselves.

Also, on one of the ballot boxes, someone had written a short note. It said, "... for Vice-President." I feel that such campaigning at the polls should have been prevented.

Granted, the two candidates in question probably were not a part of this display of bad politics, but if this college is going to pretend to have "fair" elections, then perhaps the student body should try to control such practices.

Name withheld by request.

Stuco President Thanks Voters

Editor:

Election Week this year was a week filled with many changes: a change in the election procedures, a change in programs, and exchange of many different ideas.

The stimulation for these changes were made by the Election Committee: Marcella Sherry, Jr. McPherson; Lynn Christy sr. McPherson; and Jim Lambert, sr. McPherson.

I want to thank the Election Committee members and all other Student Council members for giving of their time to make an eventual week.

I also want to thank each student for becoming involved in student government. I hope all the candidates, in running for a position of student government, found it to be a learning experience that will filter through the entire 1967-68 school year.

NLW Focuses Attention On Values of Reading

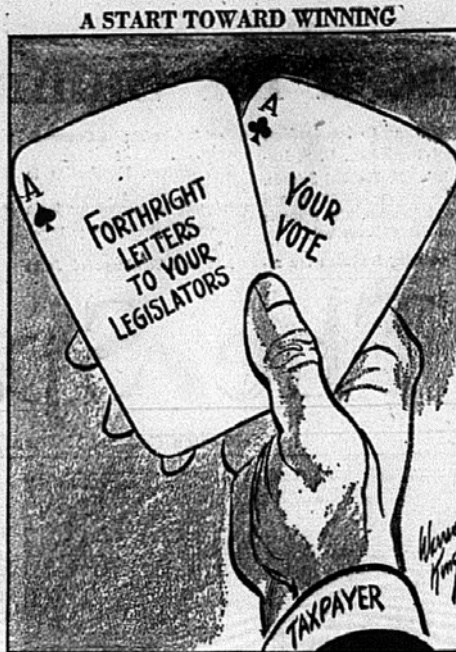

By MARGE KECK
Miss Virginia Harris, librarian, has announced that National Library Week will be observed April 16-22. This year's theme is "Explore Inner Space — Read."

National Library Week was launched in the spring of 1958 as the first concerted nationwide effort to focus public attention on reading as a source of personal fulfillment, on the importance of reading in our national life, and on the libraries which, if used fully and supported properly, can make reading materials accessible to everyone.

National Library Week is now an established, continuing, year-round program to help build a reading nation and to spur the use and improvement of libraries of all kinds.

The sponsors of the NLW program seek the achievement of these objectives because they are means of serving social and individual purposes that are immeasurably larger.

The annual week is an occasion for focusing unprecedented attention on the values of Dr. Conboy received his bachelor's and master's degrees at K.U., and his Ph.D. from Northwestern University, Chicago, where he specialized in the psychology of communication.

Dr. Conboy, who has been chairman of the K.U. Department of Speech and Drama since 1961, frequently speaks and moderates when statewide groups meet in Lawrence for executive development and University Extension programs.

Children Like Play

By DIANE WARNKE
Approximately 500 children, parents, and students attended the performance of "Regina, the Iroquois Captive" in Brown Auditorium on Friday, April 7.

Although the play would hold little interest for adults, the children received it enthusiastically. The colorful and varied settings, the authentic costumes, and the lively acting contributed to the children's enjoyment of the play.

The play contained many humorous incidents, which were all well received. The children seemed to especially enjoy the Indian dancing and the fierce Indian medicine man.

The play was obviously written for children. The plot and characterizations were very simple. To fully enjoy the play, it would be necessary to have a lively imagination, and this is usually found only in children.

Due to the excellent response to the plays given this year, the National Children's Theater, under the sponsorship of the McPherson American Association of University Women, will present another series of children's plays next year.

No Value Seen in Ruling On 'Flashy' Maneuver

By GENE CZAPLINSKI
No more dunk shots! When their eyes read the headlines, they widened in disbelief. But there it was — no more stuff shots next year or possibly, any other year.

Reason? "The offensive team has too much of an advantage and backboards are broken because of it."

This rule has been instituted to help stop the big man — will it? Of course not, and it does not offer any real advantage to the offense.

When the big man jumps up and shoots from under the basket, be it a stuff or a layup, what advantage will be prevented — somebody has to be up there with him anyway or he is going to score.

"Dunk shots break backboards." True, but when does it occur? It occurs in pre-game warmups when a 6 footer, who jumps well for his height, attempts a stuff and bangs the rim with his hand. The gangly 6 foot 8 giant merely jumps up and throws the ball through the hoop.

How many broken backboards have you seen? How many actual game-action stuffs do you see? Not too many, right? With this rule you will see the removal of something that actually didn't exist — an offensive advantage.

With this rule, the lawmakers have simply removed a flashy maneuver in a sport and added absolutely nothing to it. The value in the new rule is hard to see — if there is any there at all.

Townies Win BB Tourney

Loren Boughtman led the Townies with 16 points, in their 51-50 overtime victory over first floor Metzler, which gave them the intramural basketball championship.

The same night, Bittering three defeated Fahnestock one, 73-54. Crosby led the losers with ten points, while Evans led Bittering with 20.

Coed Places In 3 Events At Houston Track Meet

By ROBERTA STRICKLER
Kathy Rogers, fr, Waterloo, Iowa, placed in three events in an invitational track meet over Easter vacation in Houston, Texas, with the Topeka Cosmo Girl's Track Club.

Kathy was asked to run in the meet by the club's coach, Dr. John Davis, Topeka, when he learned from Art Ray, assistant professor in physical education and head track coach, of her running ability.

Eight girls from the Cosmo club attended the meet at Texas Southern University in Houston. They stayed at the university over the weekend, and ran in the meets on March 17 and 18.

Running in three events, Kathy placed in all of them. A time of 60.6 seconds in the 440 won her fourth place. She placed third in both the 880 sprint medley relay and the 440 relay. Since gaining membership in the club, Kathy is running more and working out harder.

"I was very excited about running in Houston and am looking forward to the coming meets," Kathy said.

Kathy will run at Iola in a junior college meet, Tuesday, April 18. She and another member of the club will run in the 500 meter race, which is the only girl's event in the meet.

Bennett Cerf Will Present Final Program of 'Series'

By Marge Keck

Bennett Cerf, publisher, humorist, columnist, television panelist, and author, will present the final number in the Culture Series Monday evening at 8:30 in Brown Auditorium.

Single admission is $2.50 for adults and $1.75 for children. Season ticket holders will be admitted by showing their tickets at the door.

The author of ten best-selling collections of humorous stories, Bennett Cerf must also be recognized for his contributions as a publisher, editor and lecturer. His topic Monday will be "An Evening with Bennett Cerf."

Cerf graduated in 1920 with a B.A. from Columbia University and a B. Lit. from the Pulitzer School of Journalism. He was also awarded a lifetime membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

His career as a humorist began during his undergraduate days at Columbia, where he edited the college humor magazine, "The Jester."

Cerf purchased the Modern Library Series in 1925, and transformed the set into a set of modestly priced classics available to the public.

Commenting on this venture, "Life Magazine" said, "Cerf's attractively bound Modern Library Series has probably done more to make literary classics available to the U.S. public than any other enterprise in the history of U. S. publishing."

The Random House began in 1925 under the partnership of Bennett Cerf and Donald Klopfer. The list of authors it had and still does publish is impressive.

Past president and currently Chairman of the Board of Random House, Cerf has been the sponsor of many newcomers in the field of writing. This interest in stimulating the creative endeavors of young people everywhere has made him a popular speaker on college and university campuses all over the country.

Despite his time consuming duties of running his rapidly expanding publishing house, Bennett Cerf still finds a spare moment or two, which he utilizes in writing a daily feature, "Try and Stop Me," which is syndicated in 600 newspapers each day.

He also lectures all over the country when the spirit moves him, and is a regular panelist on the country-wide television program, "What's My Line?"

Those who know him are continually amazed at his remarkable ability to do all that he does and still remain the vigorous, tall, well tailored man that he is.

To the millions of people who have listened to his cheerful, always good-humored words on the lecture platform, the answer may more logically be that Cerf likes people, he likes contacts, he likes to feel the pulse of the nation whose humor he so ably chronicles.

Hayes Assumes Director Position; Myers Hired

Guy Hayes, director of admissions since 1961, has been appointed to the position of director of financial aids, J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, has announced. Gene Myers, a 1967 McPherson College graduate, will take over the position of director of admissions in August.

Hayes, who has been on the staff at McPherson College since 1950, said of his new position: "Student financing is a major factor in arranging for students to go to college. It is obvious this is an important phase of admissions and in continuing with a college education."

As financial aids director, Hayes will coordinate financial assistance to students. This will include academic scholarships, the College loan program, student work and employment, Educational Opportunity Grants, Work Study programs and aid to athletes.

Academic scholarships awarded to high school graduating seniors this spring total $60,000, and the College loan program carries a total of more than a third of a million dollars in outstanding loans.

As admissions director Hayes has worked with students regarding financial aids, and has had experience with scholarships, loans and grants, and student employment on and off campus. He points out that over 50 per cent of the students work part-time to meet their financial needs.

An increase in students at the College created the need for a financial aids director to help manage student aids, and Hayes was selected because of his qualification.

Gene Myers, who holds a Masters degree from the University of Missouri, will be on campus May 1 to begin duties in the admissions office. He is a native of Dexter, Mo., and is now principal of the Dexter Senior High School.

While at McPherson College, Myers was Business Manager of the "Spectator," president of the Western Region, Church of the Brethren Youth Fellowship, and Chairman of the regional CBYF cabinet.

He served in Vietnam in 1957 under International Voluntary Services.
