

Pyle Takes Quad Position

Student Council has announced the appointment of Janis Pyle, fr, Denver, as the assistant editor of the Quadrangle for 1967-68.

Attending several high schools before graduation from Alameda High School, Denver, she served as second-page editor of her high school newspaper.

During her senior year in high school she was elected to the National Honor Society and was a member of the Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalism society.

Miss Pyle will assume various responsibilities including learning the techniques and procedures for yearbook production, planning details of yearbook contracts, and securing various spring semester pictures.

She will assume the editor's position the following year. As assistant editor, "I will not be afraid to innovate to produce a quality yearbook that captures the emotions behind the year's activities," Miss Pyle commented.

As an English major and a secretary for the Humanities Department, she enjoys both creative writing and photography. She will be working with Peggy Kuehl, soph, Wauke, Iowa, the new Quadrangle editor, to edit next year's yearbook.

Staats to Speak In Convocations

Elmer B. Staats, Comptroller General of the United States, will speak in the final convocations of the semester, Thursday, May 11 at 9 a.m.

A 1935 graduate of McPherson College, Staats heads the general accounting office, the "watchdog" of all Congressional expenditures.

He received his M.A. in political science and economics from the University of Kansas, and his doctorate from the University of Minnesota in political science.

Before being employed by the federal government, Staats was with the Kansas legislative council. In 1939 he joined the federal Budget Bureau, and held several other positions before being appointed Comptroller General by President Johnson Feb. 10, 1966.

McPherson College presented a certificate of merit to Staats in 1959, and at baccalaureate commencement in 1966 he received an honorary LL. D. degree.

Myers Takes Position

By Bonnie Harwick

The new Director of Admissions for McPherson College, Gene Myers, arrived on campus May 1 to assume the duties of his new position. Myers replaces Guy Hayes, the newly appointed director of financial aids.

Coming to McPherson from Dexter, Mo., Myers is the former principal of Dexter High School, a position he had held for the past four years.

A 1957 graduate of McPherson College, Myers held positions of president of the Western Region, Church of the Brethren Youth Fellowship and Chairman of the regional CB-YF cabinet. During his senior year he traveled to Washington, D. C., to attend a Political Youth Seminar.

As a member of one of the first missionary teams to Vietnam sponsored by the International Voluntary Services, he spent two years, from June of 1957 to June of 1959, helping refugees in Vietnam resettle and establish local communities.

The purpose of his service was to stimulate economic growth among the people by introducing new farming methods, new sanitation controls, ways to obtain pure water, and new methods of hand tool operation.

It was during his two years in Vietnam that he realized that "no group of people will rise above their level of education." Therefore, in the fall of 1959 he returned to school and obtained his teacher's certificate.

A chemistry major while at McPherson College, he then accepted a position as science and biology teacher at Dexter High School in 1960.

During the summers of 1960 through 1963, Myers worked towards a Master's Degree in education administration at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. He received his masters in the spring of 1963 and accepted the principal's position at Dexter High School in the fall of 1963.

Married in 1963, Myers, his wife Lurlyne, and their five-month-old son, John Thomas, will be moving this week into their new home at 133 North Carrie.

Mr. Myers invites any student to come to his office and become acquainted. He would like to learn more about the students and campus life at McPherson College.

A Cappella Choir Will End 35th Season With Concert

The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Donald R. Frederick, professor of voice and director of choral organizations, will culminate its 35th season in a concert to be presented in Brown Auditorium Friday, May 5, at 8 p.m.

The spring concert is the last in a series of 16 programs given by the 43 member A Cappella Choir during the second semester.

The choir returned May 1 from their annual spring tour, which involved them in 11 concerts in five days.

A repertory of over 30 songs serves as the foundation for the choir's concerts. "But in the Spring Concert," reported Prof. Frederick, "we will emphasize our lighter music."

Highlighting the repertory's light side is a medley of Rodgers and Hammerstein show tunes which includes "If I Loved You" from "Carousel," and from "South Pacific," "Some Enchanted Evening," "There's Nothin' Like a Dame," and "Younger Than Springtime."

The group also sings novelty, spiritual and contemporary pieces such as Norman Delo Joio's "The Bluebird," "Strangers in the Night" by Kaemp-

Collegians End Active Week With Dorm Raid

Outbursts of student exuberance during the past week, marked by property damage done by a few students, have finally died down and students have returned to the regular College routine.

Activities began late at night Monday, April 24, when engaged men were rounded up and dunked in the lagoon, a tradition at McPherson. Their fiancées on campus, wearing all their clothes, were dumped into dormitory bathtubs in the wee hours of the morning.

By Thursday evening, the Women's Dormitory Council had decided to raid men's residences, and, believing they had official sanction, they descended upon the men.

Not to be outdone, the men retaliated by storming Dotzour Hall, capturing souvenirs in the midst of water fights and shaving cream battles.

In the excitement, some few students' damaged screens and windows, but school officials soon had all students returned to their proper dorms and items taken from the women's residence were returned.

Another raid was staged shortly after the Dotzour Hall curfew, early Saturday morning, when a number of College men broke into the women's dorm.

Three windows, a screen and two spotlights were broken as a result.

Saturday night, Sunday night and Monday night passed without any such incidents, as tired students returned once more to regular hours and activities.

The Wall Street Journal award this year went to Eugene Nilson. This award is a silver medal and a one-year subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

Janet Rhinehart, president of the Women's Athletic Association, presented 10 athletic awards to women. Donna Sharp received a blazer, the highest award given a woman in athletics, and pins were presented to Barbara Westray, Sally Warwick, Regina Fillmore and Sally Shetter.

Letters were earned by Neva Rhinehart, Kathy Rogers, Mary Hill, Barbara Westray and Sally Shetter. All athletic awards are given on the basis of points earned in athletics.

Forensics awards, presented by Mrs. Alma Moore, went to Gary Flory, Pat Greenway, Jack Hamun, Fred Hines, Bonnie Harris, Mike Loveless, Kenneth Van Blaricum and Gene Czaplinski.

Musicians receiving awards of Honor were Ron Cassidente, Meredith Haun, Kathalyn Andrews Heffley, Carol Klotz, Carolyn Leighor, Art McAuley, Galen Neher and J. Roger Schrock. Tim Matthaei and Jerry Persons were recognized with Special Distinction in music.

Who's Who awards were presented to Ron Cassidente, Barbara Flory, Donald Flory, Ronald Flory, Modena Hoover, Carol Klotz, Linda Kurtz, Tim Matthaei;

Student Court chairman, Roger Schrock, received an award for his participation in student government.

Seniors planning to attend graduate school were recognized. They were Martin A. Alugbong, Donald Flory, Glenn Frazier, George Snavely, Tom McAdams, Judy Harris, Pete Kaiser, Ronald Flory, Modena Hoover, Jerry Persons, Ken Van Blaricum, William Wesson and Dan Zinn.

Before the assembly ended, names of students now attending McPherson College on merit scholarships were called and they were commended for maintaining the high scholastic records necessary to maintain those scholarships.

New Staff To Practice

Practice issue for the Spectator, May 11, will provide experience for next year's staff before assuming their positions next fall.

Awards Make College News

In each newspaper, editors classify the news. Big, blaring headlines and lengthy stories indicate that the editors think a story is "big news."

Notice the location, size and headline on today's story of the Awards Assembly. Why is this story so important? It is important to the recipients, of course, but it is more than that.

No college can be just faculty administration and buildings. The vitality of any institution depends to a high degree upon its students. And the dominant college influence upon students is usually not courses or books, but fellow students. Students give the college its own particular atmosphere and that atmosphere is altered slightly each time a student makes an outstanding contribution to the college.

Because those people honored in awards assembly today have contributed a bit of themselves to McPherson College and to their fellow students, their recognition is news to the entire College community.

Klotz Wins Contest

"Geared for Action" was the theme of the Kansas Home Economics State Convention held at Hutchinson April 21 and 22. Carol Klotz, sr., Fredericksburg, Iowa, made it a special day for the McPherson Home Economics Chapter by winning the award for the best cover contest.

This cover will appear on the State Home Economics Chapter Newsletter for 1967-1968.

The highlight of the convention was the induction of senior women into the American Home Economics Association.

Women who were inducted from McPherson College were Jeanette Bartel, Hillsboro; Shirley Blough, Waterloo, Iowa; Eileen Claassen, Newton; Pearl Eckhardt, Clinton, Mo.; and Karen Johnson, McPherson.

Informative speeches were given by Miss Sandra Brookover, Standardization Branch, Livestock Division, Washington, D. C., whose topic was "Consumer Education in Meat Selection and Preparation."

Mrs. Lloyd White, lecturer and homemaker, Belton, Mo.,

spoke on "Philosophy Through Your Hat."

The convention was attended by eight additional women, Verda DeCoursey, instructor of home economics and Mildred Siek, professor of home economics.

Poets Show Talent

The cat went to sleep in the chair,
I thought there was nobody there.
So I sat on the cat and mashed him all flat,
So now he's a cat with flat hair.

There once was a man with a beard
Who learned all his friends called him "wierd,"
So mad he became that he tore out in pain
And did shoot all the neighbors who jeered.

I saw an old goose lay an egg.
The look that she gave was quite vague.
And she turned looking spent, distressed and unbent,
For it fell from her perch on a peg.

Director Intensifies Play, Utilizes Dramatic Parts

By KATHY KILHEFNER

In cutting "Tea and Sympathy" from a two-hour production down to one running only one hour, director Peg Slater did not actually lose any of the story. Instead she intensified it by utilizing the most dramatic and significant parts of the play.

The first scene was begun in total darkness with the only sound being the morose strumming of a guitar.

This set the quiet mood of despair that was carried — sometimes obviously, sometimes silently — throughout the performance.

The set, having two main centers of interest, allowed action to take place in either one location or in two.

It was extremely effective to have the scene occurring in one location with the other slightly illuminated.

The characters were consistently well portrayed, and all entered into the telling of the story of a boy trying to prove to himself and to a cruel, suspicious world that he was a man.

Andrews to Present Senior Music Recital

The Department of Music will present Kathie Andrews Heffley in a senior recital Sunday, May 14, at 3 p.m. in Brown Auditorium. The public is invited to attend, and no admission will be charged.

ACCK Holds Policies Meet

We Get Letters

Coed Chides Men's Behavior

Dear Editor:

It is shortly after midnight, April 24, and I find it nearly impossible to sleep or study, due to the seemingly interminable racket of many of the children on campus.

As if the behavior of these men for a good hour or more were not enough, they felt they had to ridicule the police on their arrival. Add to this the fact that several of the girls from Dotzour were vocally supporting the boys and joining in the ridicule of the police, and it's enough to make me ashamed to say that I'm from McPherson College.

These students showed disrespect for their fellow students, the townspeople who live in this neighborhood, the reputation of the College, and for civil authority.

I think their behavior is entirely unexcusable.

TWO SETS OF TWINS appeared with the in the back row. David and Diane Nelson appeared with the Swedish Dancers in their McPherson College performance. Jane and Joan Mattingly are known in this area. Members are high school students who have been dancing Swedish dances for many years. All of them seem to greatly enjoy dancing, and they are very relaxed in front of the audience. The Swedish Dancers will be going to Expo '67 early in June and will stay there three days.

Stagecraft Class Designs Miniature Stage Sets

By CHRIS LEVI

Stagecraft class, under the direction of Loren Reyher, assistant professor in English and theater, is again designing miniature stage sets for the major requirement of the course.

Prof. Reyher explained that building miniature sets challenges the designer with problems of color, composition and perception as he attempts to transmit the meaning of the play.

Sets are also designed to encourage students to use their imagination in creating original design from the script alone.

The best miniature sets of the past three years are currently on display in Friendship Hall.

Reyher said, "Those sets that are the better ones that I have received. I would rank them with model settings at any institution."

Tissue paper, plywood, balsa and many other materials are used in constructing the sets.

Each set must be planned as a background for a Broadway play which has been produced within the last ten years. Broadway shows are suggested because they offer more set diversity and complexity than off-Broadway shows.

Perspective drawings and cultural drawings of the miniature sets are used to get ideas of color, composition and balance.

The completed sets are scaled one-half inch to one foot and are designed so they might be built on the Brown Auditorium stage.

Wichita Theater Shows 'Ulysses'

Four performances of the movie "Ulysses" will be shown at the Crest Theater in Wichita, May 9 and 10. Adapted from the controversial book by James Joyce, this movie portrays one day in the life of an Irishman.

Strictly an adult movie, "Ulysses" will be shown at 1:30 and 8:30 p.m. each day. Matinee admission is $4 and evening, $5.50. Information concerning special group prices may be obtained from Dr. Harley Stump, professor of English.

Bomberger Plans To Study Abroad

By ROBERTA STRICKLER
The Rev. Dr. Harold Z. Bomberger, pastor of the McPherson Church of the Brethren, will be leaving in July for a trip abroad that will include sightseeing and study.

Bomberger's trip to the British Isles, Western Europe, Holy Land and Africa was granted to him by the church board. It will consist of an academic term in addition to the pastor's regular vacation.

Mrs. Bomberger will accompany her husband to England and Western Europe.

While in the British Isles, Bomberger will preach at a different church each week. Included will be the churches of pastors Stewart and Gibb, who preached at the McPherson Church.

"I will be seeing English church life in a way no tourist could," Bomberger said.

Three weeks will be spent at Oxford, where Bomberger will participate with other visiting clergymen in the Mansfield summer session.

The visiting pastors will attend a Royal garden party given by Queen Elizabeth at Buckingham Palace July 20.

Invitation to the party was extended to the pastors and other Americans by the American Ambassador to Great Britain.

The Bombergers will join their 16 year-old daughter, Venona, in Marburg, Germany, Aug. 24. She will be visiting with the family of Jan van Asselt, associate professor of German and linguistics, and the 1967-68 director of Brethren Colleges Abroad.

Dr. and Mrs. Bomberger and Venona will then travel through Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

A visit of special interest to Bomberger will be to Zug, Switzerland, where his mother's parents once lived. The pastor was given the middle name Zug by his mother.

If all goes as planned, Bomberger will have an audience with Pope Paul IV while in Rome.

Bomberger stressed that while it is not definite, there is "more than a possibility" that he will be able to speak with the Pope.

Arrangements for the meeting were made through Bishop Leo C. Byrne of Wichita.

Dr. Bomberger will continue his trip to Athens, Istanbul, Beirut, Damascus and Jerusalem, among other cities, while Mrs. Bomberger and Venona will return to New York.

Bomberger will study at St. George's College and the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem for a month.

He will visit both the Arabic and Jewish divisions of Jerusalem, and travel into Israel.

After seeing Teheran, Baghdad and Cairo, Bomberger will fly to Nigeria where he will spend 15 days visiting Brethren mission stations.

"An important part of the trip will be seeing the Brethren Church in Nigeria. It is the only place in the world where the Church of the Brethren is growing remarkably," he said.

The pastor will arrive in New York Nov. 8, and hopes to return to the local pulpit Sunday, Nov. 12.

Bomberger expects enrichment and growth from his experiences in traveling, and also hopes to gain from his academic study.

"My study in the Holy Land will certainly make the Bible become more vivid, and I hope it will add a dimension and depth to my sermons," he said.

The Rev. Phillip Shankster, associate pastor, and members of the church will fill the pulpit during the pastor's absence.
