ONE PINT DOWN—June Ware, Jr., Ottumwa, Iowa, donated her pint of blood along with 132 other donors Tuesday at the Bloodmobile on Campus.

Bloodmobile on Campus drew more than 150 prospective donors to the Church of the Brethren Tuesday, according to Kent Noffsinger, soph, Dayton, Ohio, student chairman of BMOC. Twenty persons were not permitted to give blood because of health reasons, and the 133 pint total donated fell short of the 200 pint quota set by Circle K, sponsor of BMOC, said

Class Tours 3 Prisons

Kansas State Penitentiary and the Women's Prison Farm at Lansing, and the Federal penitentiary at Leavenworth hosted the Criminology class Oct. 7 for tours made by students in fulfillment of course requirements.

The 48 members of the class, taught by Robert Keim, assistant professor in sociology, talked with prisoners, correction officers and supervisors of the three prisons.

Because of the security risk, the 20 women were not permitted to tour Lansing or the industry section of the federal penitentiary.

Student reactions were varied. "Both state and federal prisons seemed to have the same objectives," said Chris Levi, jr., Berryville, Va. "I was surprised at the liberal attitude of the prisons, but the cynicism of the officials was startling," he continued.

Students commented on the intelligence of many of the prisoners with whom they talked. Prof. Keim summed up the type of persons with whom the penal institutions must deal when he said, "Those prisoners are just like us—only they've been in trouble with the law."

160 Parents Visit College

The turnout for Parents' Day was the largest that has ever responded to the occasion, according to Paul Wagoner, associate director of development.

About 80 sets of parents registered and - or showed passes at the football game where the McPherson College Bulldogs fell to the Friends University Falcons' 26-14.

Parents attended Saturday morning sessions where they were informed of the academic, Noffsinger.

"Personnel working at the Bloodmobile thought everyone's cooperation was great," said Noffsinger. At another donor-center larger than McPherson, fewer persons had given blood earlier this year than was donated here Tuesday, he said.

Noffsinger declined to speculate on how McPherson College would rank in the blood giving contest with Kansas Wesleyan University.

'Gideon' Sets Lab Theater Productions

Lab theater for this year gets underway on Oct. 18 with the production of "Gideon," which is directed by Ron Cassidente, sr., Denver.

This is the third season for lab theater, which each week presents a play "in the round" in Brown Auditorium. Plays are entirely student-directed and produced. Directors, drawn from Alpha Psi Omega and the Play Production for Teachers class, are given full responsibility for choice of material and interpretation.

Because the audience is seated on all four sides of the actors, acting is difficult, but an intimate association between actors and audience is achieved.

This season, for the first time, critique sheets will be filled out by the audience for later study by directors and actors.

Auditions will be held on Oct. 25 for the remaining lab theater productions, and the second play will be presented that evening, under the direction of Mervin Penner, jr., Olathe.

athletic and development programs of McPherson College.

A question period was held after the sessions in order that parents could ask questions which they had about the college.

Parents visited with faculty and attended a dress rehearsal of the musical "For Heaven's Sake," in the afternoon.

Complimentary admission was given to parents who attended the football game Saturday night.

Royalty Reigns at Game

By MARGE KECK
The 1966 Homecoming Royalty was chosen by the student body during Convocations this morning. Final announcement will be made tomorrow evening at 6 p.m. over the public address system in the Student Union.

Traditionally, the Homecoming Queen is a member of the Junior class. This year's nominees were Linda Andes, Mound City, Mo.; Donna Gochenour, Woodstock, Va.; Judy Monroe, Pierson, Iowa; and Nelda Schrock, Harmony, Minn.

Linda, the daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Leroy Andes, is an English major. After teaching a few years, she hopes to go to graduate school and work on a degree in speech.

Linda is Student Council Secretary, treasurer of A Cappella Choir, and also belongs to SNEA, Student Court and Players Club.

Among her interests are reading, music, cooking, basketball, and working with children.

Linda's reaction to her nomination was "I can't help but feel honored. It's nice in a different sort of way that is hard to describe."

Donna Gochenour, a sociology major, wants to work in child placement, either as a welfare worker or in an orphanage.

She is co-treasurer of MCY, secretary of Dotzour Dorn Council and she enjoys traveling, cooking, bowling, and people.

When asked how she felt about her nomination, Donna replied, "I was quite surprised, very pleased, and very, very honored." Mr. and Mrs. Landon Gochenour are Donna's parents.

Judy Monroe is an elementary education major, with third grade as her goal. She enjoys singing and horses.

Judy belongs to Women's Council, SNEA, and is on the Social Committee. She was

Service Honors Former Student Dead in Fire

Betty Morgan, a former McPherson College student, died Sept. 30 in a fire near her home in Lanark, Ill. She attended McPherson College last year as a freshman.

Robert E. Keim, assistant professor in sociology, and Dr. Wayne L. Miller, director of religious life, were in charge of a memorial service for her Monday evening, Oct. 10, in the chapel of the Church of the Brethren.

A Dotzour Hall resident and a B-team cheerleader, Betty is remembered by her many friends as a lively, outgoing student. She had planned to transfer to Northern Illinois State University to continue her studies.

The tragedy occurred at a remote farmhouse owned by Betty's fiance in which the couple planned to live after their marriage. Her burned body was discovered in the ruins of the house at about 4:30 p.m. Sept. 30.

Frosh Coed Gains Seat on Council

Representing the freshman coeds on the Women's Council is Janet Bruce, fr, McPherson, who was selected by Mary Ann Robinson, dean of women.

Composed of 17 members, the Women's Council, promotes social graces on campus, helps new coeds get acquainted to McPherson College, sponsors the women's tea and publishes "Cues for Coeds," a booklet for freshman women.

treasurer of her class last year and was a cheerleader for two years.

Her response to being nominated was, "I couldn't believe it, and still can't. I am very happy, of course, but very shocked too!" Judy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Monke.

Nelda Schrock, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Schrock, is also an elementary education major and hopes to teach kindergarten or first grade.

She is co-president of MCY and is also a member of SNEA, Women's Council and A Cappella Choir. Nelda likes to cook, travel, play the piano and read, which might account for her work as a library assistant.

"I can't believe it. I'm really excited!" was Nelda's reaction to her nomination.

The sophomore class picked four women as candidates for sophomore attendant. Included were Mary Nell Albright, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Nancy Brown, Concord, Mass.; Donna Brubaker, Lyons; and Susan Frederick, McPherson.

An English major, Mary Nell plans to teach at both the elementary and secondary levels. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Albright, Mary Nell is student assistant to Mrs. Alma Moore, assistant professor in speech and English.

Among Mary Nell's interests are music, reading, camping, traveling, dogs and cats. She is a member of Women's Council, CBYP, Players Club, A Cappella Choir and Orchestra.

Mary Nell has seven violin students and is a substitute Sunday School teacher. Future plans for Mary Nell include going to Germany as an exchange student next year and eventually earning a Master's Degree in English.

Nancy Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Brown, is a sociology major and hopes to go into some phase of anthropology.

Nancy is a member of the Campus Improvements Committee, MCY, Players Club, and is treasurer of Dotzour Dorm Council.

She enjoys snow skiing, cooking, drama, traveling, and volunteer work. She enjoys working with retarded, crippled and mentally disturbed children.

In high school Nancy was in the prose division of a Massachusetts State Forensics Contest. Presently she is seriously thinking about entering BVS.

Music education is the major field of Donna Brubaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brubaker. She is a member of band, MENC, Women's Council, Student Court and A Cappella Choir, of which she is accompanist. Donna's interests include knitting, sewing, reading, traveling, and collecting sugar bowls and creamers. She has seven piano students, and is in a vocal trio with her sisters.

Donna was an active 4-H member for eight years. She was Grand Champion demonstrator in the state of Kansas in clothing. She has also been asked to enter the Miss Rice County contest, which she will do next spring.

Susan Frederick, also a music education major, is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Donald Frederick.

Susan enjoys music, sewing, cooking, swimming, writing, cats, traveling, and camping. She is a member of MENC, Student Court, A Cappella Choir and the Grannies, a vocal trio on campus.

Susan was Miss Congeniality in the Miss Hutchinson pageant last spring, and was voted Miss McPherson High School her senior year.

At this writing, the Freshman class has not nominated their candidates for Freshman attendant.

Homecoming Plan Features Floats

Since Homecoming is only a week away, plans are rapidly being completed. The festivities will begin Friday evening, Oct. 21, at 7:30 with a rehearsal of former and present A Cappella Choir members.

Another rehearsal of old and present A Cappella Choir members will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

Saturday, Oct. 22, will be a full day, beginning with the assembly of floats by numerous campus organizations. These will be judged and cash prizes will be awarded the winners.

Displays must be set up by 9:30 Saturday morning and must be taken down by 6 p.m. if they are to receive a prize, according to Pat Hayes, soph, Geneseo, secretary of the Special Projects Committee.

Prizes of $30, $20 and $10 will be awarded to organizations, dorms or classes with the best displays.

Exhibits will be judged for originality, workmanship and on the ability to carry out the theme. Each group is to devise and carry out its own theme.

At 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon, the McPherson College Bulldogs will clash with the Baker Wildcats on the local gridiron. The Homecoming Queen and her attendants will be presented in a pre-game show.

Dedication for Bittering Hall is to be at 4:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium. Highlighting the dedication will be the presence of Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Bittering, past president of McPherson College, for whom the new men's residence was named.

A choral concert by the present A Cappella Choir and former members of the Choir will be at 7:30 in Brown Auditorium.

Climaxing the day will be the annual Queen's Ball, from 9-12 p.m. in the Student Union basement.

Dress Boosts Campus Image

When McPherson College students last year voted to incorporate a dress standard into the body of campus regulations, the present Student Council, which was instrumental in formulating the standard, anticipated problems in enforcing the code.

Student Court was designated as the enforcing agent, and ideally, students who questioned certain types of dress could bring their complaints before the Court for a review of and action on the mode of

Cass's Comments

No One Can Afford Pettiness, And Learn

By RON CASSIDENTE
After a week in convalescence, it is about time that the long arm of critical comment once again extends itself in the form of the printed word. This week the column will deal with some of the questionable virtues and other standard procedure still clinging to the local "ivory towers."

Although I generally agree with the statements made in this column, they are not necessarily all my own. Many have been collected from a variety of sources right here, on campus. First, why so much narrow minded pettiness that becomes the time consuming topic of many days—in and out of class? Students are told they come here to study in a liberal arts tradition, many of the great ideas of the past, coupled with new knowledge they will use for a lifetime. Instead, the atmosphere for understanding great ideas is smothered by unwarranted discussions of campus life that usually center around petty, irrelevant issues. The college theater program is passed around like a time dress followed by the student in question. Criticism of the dress standard was immediate, even after its passage. Students who saw a restriction of freedom in the code fought against following it. Some students wanted something more militant—a standard with "teeth."

The furor seems to have died away this year. The problems of enforcing the standard have been minimal, simply because, so far, there have been so few deviations from the code.

Members of the faculty and of the community of McPherson have remarked how the dress of McPherson College students has improved markedly this year.

Why the change? Could the general rebellion all college students experience at one time or another have been channeled into new areas, instead of taking its toll in the personal appearance of the campus community?

Could personal pride have stepped in when the rebellion against accepted standards of dress failed at last to satisfy the student in need of being different?

Whatever the reasons for the upgraded standards of dress on this campus, it is a credit to the students who have—unconsciously, perhaps—given a boost to the image of McPherson College, on and off campus.

Political Forum Features State, Local Candidates

Politics was the theme of a forum held in Brown Auditorium last Thursday night at 7:30 p. m., featuring candidates of both the Republican and Democrat parties. Stars of the show included Kansas Attorney General Robert Londerholm, Republican, Topeka, and his opponent in the November election, Jerry Muth, Democrat, Wichita.

Each candidate for attorney general spoke for 12 minutes, incumbent Londerholm speaking first. Muth charged Londerholm with improper handling of a case involving a grain storage in an elevator owned by Hutchinson grain man Bill Addington. His speech had been recorded earlier in the day, and was shown on a Wichita television station Thursday evening. Londerholm was given equal time to reply on TV Friday night, and his answer to Muth was much the same as he gave Thursday evening.

Sponsored by the McPherson Teachers' Association, the forum included a number of McPherson County candidates for election, and candidates for state representative.

More than 100 people attended the meeting, and a number of questions were asked of the different candidates. Ushers carried the written questions up to the stage, where a four-man panel screened the questions before they were asked by Dr. Raymond L. Flory, professor of history and political science, who was moderator for the forum.

Editors Change Letter Policy

Editorial comment from students in the form of letters to the editor will be printed by The Spectator when ever space permits.

Letters appearing in The Spectator do not have to be signed. However, the editors must have a signed copy of the letter for the records. This is a change from the policy on letters announced earlier.

The Spectator reserves the right to edit letters for good taste, style and length, although every attempt will be made to retain meaning and continuity.

Letters may be posted in the campus mail, addressed to "Editor, The Spectator," or brought to the Spec office in the basement of the Student Union.

'Heaven's Sake' Speaks to Viewers

An audience which last Thursday entered Brown Auditorium with indifference emerged 75 minutes later bursting with enthusiasm over what they had just viewed.

"For Heaven's Sake," a satire on contemporary manners, fables and philosophy, challenged its audience with a sophisticated but unpretentious plea for another look at society as it is.

Directed by Dr. Doris E. Coppock, professor of physical education for women, who described the musical as "a series of scenes," the production deserves high ratings for its excellence of staging, lighting and acting. Almost every scene slashed at man's concern with pettiness

Play Represents Progressiveness Of College

By JERRY LASATER
A few words on "For Heaven's Sake."

Everyone gained from this play, which pointed out life's reactions to the trials and tribulations faced not only by students but people in general.

For some, every scene nailed a point against them and to many, blindness was evident when they did not see the inner meaning often underlying the scenes.

Several students and adults have claimed the college keeps the stage purified against progressive acting. This play showed many that drama is getting out of its ritualized complacency as is the general atmosphere of the college.

To many parents this atmosphere was underlined by seeing the play. Some were shocked, some delighted but the most important ones left the campus remembering the forward, progressive trend our campus is displaying, not only in its physical properties but the moral atmosphere as well.

It is each student's responsibility to move with the campus by backing the school in his own way.

Sunday Flick Stars Hepburn, Holden

"Paris When It Sizzles," a comedy starring William Holden and Audrey Hepburn, will be shown Sunday, Oct. 16, at 8 p. m. in Brown Auditorium.

Students, Faculty Amalgamate Efforts in Summer Camp

By MARGE KECK
Three McPherson College students and a faculty member, combined work, pleasure and service last summer in a work camp at Valle del Testerazo, Mexico, in Baja, Calif.

Dr. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education for women, was director of the camp, which lasted from June 17 to July 19.

Linda Andes, Jr., Mound City, Mo.; Mary Holderread Early, Jr., McPherson; and Arnold Groff, sr., Sacramento, Calif., were among the 10 student volunteers from across the United States.

The work camp is sponsored by the Brethren Service Com-

Frantz Represents AOTE in Washington

Merlin L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, is attending the Oct. 12-13-14 advisory council meeting of the Associated Organizations for Teacher Education in Washington, D. C.

Dr. Frantz represents the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education at this meeting, which will include 11 constituent organizations, all actively involved in teacher education. This year is the first of a three year term for Dr. Frantz.

homb with discussion dominated by pettiness and personalities. Instead of accepting the theater program as a media for presenting and exchanging ideas, they are crippling its usefulness within the total college program, by entering into judgment sessions on the basis of their petty ideas alone—without ever considering valid forms of criticism.

So much time is spent in and out of class discussing this issue, but very few people take a stand publicly.

It seems if more people would defend or expose their ideas fully through media like The Spectator or even drama, less time would be spent rehashing the merits of many various worn out old causes.

If this is to be a college of higher learning, more of these problems should be tackled from an intellectual basis rather than a petty one.

Students are easily influenced by associations with personalities from the administration and faculty both. No one can afford having these influences become petty self-centered misunderstandings—if anyone is to catch a glimpse of wisdom.

mission and the Southwest Pacific Conference of California. The workers helped the villagers help themselves, and always had their permission to do things. During their month of service, the group worked on various projects, most of which centered around the church and school.

The coeds plastered, painted and laid staples in the school and church. They also put a carpet runner in the church.

They sifted flour and sand by hand to make the cement for a concrete slab. The slab is the beginning of a sanitary health center and clinic which doctors will visit.

A year ago the workers, directed by Dr. Wayne L. Miller, associate professor of speech, philosophy and religion, dug a well for a windmill. This year the group put a tower over the well.

After the pump is put in, water will be more accessible to the villagers.

After a bad windstorm, the workers helped rebuild a house for one of the villagers.

In addition to mending coats, the women taught crafts and recreation to the children. One of the workers, who spoke Spanish, taught English to the villagers.

Groff, who was work foreman, built a toolshed and the other workers nailed on the roof. They also pumped water to fill the pipes for cement mixing and for the villagers to use.

Living conditions for the workers were rather rustic. They had no electricity, but used a bottled gas refrigerator and range. Meals, which they fixed themselves, were eaten in a lean-to at the church.

Sleeping bags on cots in the school house were their beds. The boys slept on one side of the room, and the girls slept on the other with blankets in between.

Since the village is small and scattered, financial problems sometimes arise. Tiki carvings of pecan wood are sold to visitors to supplement incomes.

Because of the arid conditions, crops are scarce. Goats are common, and there are some chickens. Families in the village average about $400 annual income.

The workers spent two weekends at the beach at Ensinada. The other weekend they went to Oceanside, Calif., where Dr. Coppock's brother lives.

Even though lizards, black widow spiders, and rattlesnakes were prevalent, "the work was relaxing and enjoyable," commented Linda Andes. "I went with the idea of giving of myself, but came back feeling that I had gained more than I had given."

Arch Rivals To Host Tilt

The Bulldogs will journey to Bethany College, their arch rival, Saturday, Oct. 15. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

Both the Bulldogs and the Swedes have records of two wins and two defeats. Bethany has won over Sterling and KWU and was defeated by C of E and Southwestern.

The Bulldogs won over KWU and Southwestern, while losing to C of E and Friends.

Coach Sid Smith indicated that Bethany is a strong running team and that they have good bench support.

Smith asserted that the Swedes have a good quarterback in Edd Briggs, also last year's leading ground gainer in the conference halfback Larry Harless.

"Bethany also has two more running backs, halfback Allen Snyder and fullback Carrol Lindgren," stated Smith. Bethany uses a straight "T" formation with an unbalanced line and split end. Defense is a basic 6-2-3.

"It is a toss up when Bethany and McPherson get together on the gridiron," said Coach Smith. "It is going to be their homecoming and they are going to be up, and if we are up mentally, we will win," he continued.

The Bulldogs' mentor pointed out that Bethany is more of a power team than one of speed. Mike Caviness a 267 lb. tackle could pose as a threat to McPherson's running game.

Smith stated that he will work on defense as well as offense to find men to substitute for the first team when they are given a rest period.

Shapelies Nip Bodies 14-12

Shapley's Shapelies nipped the Squatty Bodies 14-12 in the first annual Powder-Puff football tilt Oct. 6, on two touchdowns and a safety.

Lela Weddle, jr, Bloom, carried the ball in a 67 yard run for the upperclasswomen, and Cindy Eisenbise, jr, Elizabeth town, Pa., scored on a 25 yard pass from Barbara Westray, jr, Lakehurst, N. J.

The Squatty Bodies gained their two TD's on a 30 yard pass from Nancy Gwinn, fr, to Kathy Rogers, fr, Brooklyn, Iowa, and on Rogers' 55 yard run.

Coaching the two coed teams were Ed Shapley, sr, Sparta, N. J., and Gary Sacks, jr, Altoona, Pa., helming the Shapelies; and Ted Livingston, soph, Macedonia, Ohio, and George McNichols, fr, Sparta, N. J., Squatty Bodies mentors.

Sportscope Nash Hurling Boosts K. C.

By GENE CZAPLINSKI

On a hot July day this summer, this writer witnessed the home debut of a young pitcher who was called by one major league manager "the best prospect I've ever seen since I've been around."

He was Jim Nash, Kansas City's answer to Charlie O's mule.

His fastball was popping into the catcher's mit so loud, everybody moved into the upper deck.

Nash even looked good as a hitter. He uses a bat which resembles a toothpick; and when he swings—whoosh!—he blows all the peanut shells right out of the stands.

Nash will be around as long as the Yankees don't need him. When he retires, he can serve the A's in any number of ways, but at present we hope they plan to hold on to him for awhile.

Bethany lost a heartbreaker 3-0 to Southwestern last week while Mac bowed 26-14 to Friends. Neither team is the explosive type, but Bethany has played very well at all times while Mac has been erratic. Therefore, we select Bethany 14, McPherson 7.

Southwestern at Baker—Could be a toughie. Baker is very impotent on offense and will have to rely strictly on defense. Southwestern 21, Baker 6.

Bethel at C of E—The Presbites take a breather while the Threshers take a beating. C of E 41, Bethel 0.

Sterling at Friends—Friends is a fine young ball team and has been playing some good ball lately. Sterling is also on the move, but... Friends 20, Sterling 12.

Ottawa at KWU—Why can't they just verbally agree on this outcome and save a few Coyote bones in the process? Ottawa 52, KWU 0.

Pass Catches Snatch Player Award for DeTour

For his pass catching and second effort in running, Bob DeTour, jr, McPherson, has been named the player of the week by his teammates for his outstanding performance in the McPherson-Friends clash last Saturday.

Bob, Buck to his teammates, graduated from McPherson High School. While he attended McPherson, he lettered four years in football, three in basketball and two in track. He was also president of the M club during his senior year.

DeTour, disappointed at last week's performance stated, "No doubt that we were not up for them; we were looking backwards at Southwestern rather than ahead at Friends." He further added, "We should have won because of the defeat that Friends handed to us last year."

Bob also asserted that he was very dissatisfied with his punting game, and he is going to work extra hours on his punting for the rival game with Behany.

Concerning the game with the Swedes, DeTour said, "If we want to play and are up for the game mentally, we will win even though Miss America is at their homecoming."

Handball Ladder Is Available For Players

Bob DeTour

A handball ladder has been placed in the McPherson College gymnasium for those interested in playing handball. During the first week, until Oct. 15, anyone on the ladder may challenge any of the other players. After this date, players can only challenge those names which are one or two places above their own, according to Don Widrig, associate professor in physical education. If the challenge is not met, the person who does not find time to take part in the challenge must forfeit, and the challenger may then move his name up on the ladder.

M Club Initiates 2 New Members

Two athletes were initiated into the McPherson College M Club Oct. 5. The two are Gary Blackwell, soph, Pawnee Rock and Don Woodcock, jr, Washington.

Gary lettered in tennis during the spring of 1966 and Don lettered in basketball during the 1965-66 season.

Dan Stockstill, soph, Geneseo, was in charge of the initiation ceremonies.

With the addition of these two new members the M Club enrollment is 18 athletes.

Falcons Crush Bulldogs With Inspired Defense

An inspired Friends' Falcon team defeated the McPherson Bulldogs last Saturday at the College stadium 26-14.

The Bulldogs currently are tied with Bethany and Friends for third place in the Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference. Numerous injuries plagued the Bulldogs' attempt to share the second place lead with Southwestern and College of Emporia.

Friends scored first in the early moments of the game on a pass from quarterback Boles to end Schroeder. The Falcons also scored in the same period on a three yard plunge by halfback Brown.

The Bulldogs could not get together a very substantial drive going in the first quarter, but did manage to score in the second period when quarterback Junior Smith swept right end and scored. Bob DeTour added the extra point.

Friends also scored in the second quarter when Brown ran through the middle from the four yard stripe. This ended the half at 19-7.

Not until the fourth period was there any more scoring. The Falcons scored from the four on a handoff from Boles to Capeconi.

The Bulldogs also scored in the final stanza on a three yard smash through the middle of the line by fullback Bob DeTour. He added the extra point.

Volleyball Hits Gym Scene

Intramural volleyball is well underway and men students can be seen every Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights hitting the ball back and forth over the net.

The Men's Council has made up teams according to dorms and floors this year. The teams are Metzler-1, 2 and 3; Fahnestock 1, and 3; Arnold 1; Bittinger 2 and 3; and the college courts.

A traveling trophy will be awarded to the floor that wins the volleyball tournament at the end of the season.

The Men's Council is in charge of setting up intramural sports and donates $100 each year which is to be used for buying new equipment.

The team standings before the week of Oct. 9-15, according to Eugene Nilson, sr, Gypsum, are as follows:

M-Metzler, F-Fahnestock, A-Arnold, C-Courts, B-Bittinger,

Team	Won	Lost
M-1	6	0
M-3	5	1

Thursday, Oct. 20, A-1 vs M-2, B-2 vs B-3; 7 p.m., F-1 vs F-3, M-3 vs M-1, and C has bye.

Floors which are not listed have been dropped from the schedule because no one showed up, according to Nilson.

15 Attend Convention For People to People

Delegates from over the world, including 15 from McPherson, last weekend attended the 10th anniversary celebration of People to People at the Continental Hotel at Kansas City, Mo.

Nine of the 15-member McPherson party were foreign students from the College.

A convention highlight was the presenting of awards for distinguished service to former President Dwight Eisenhower, Bob Hope and Walt Disney. Several McPherson students received their autographs and took pictures at the ceremonies.

Other activities during the two day meet were panel discussions relating to the world-wide People to People program. Subjects for discussion included educational services, campus projects and hosting and hospitality.

Many Parts Open For 'Julius Caesar'

Anyone who is interested in dramatics is invited to audition for the College production of "Julius Caesar" on Nov. 2.

Loren D. Reyher, assistant professor of English and theater, stated, "A great number of people are needed for non-speaking roles, so those who hesitate to take speaking parts have an opportunity to appear in these."

Quadrangle Rates First Class Honor

Last year's yearbook, The Quadrangle, received a "First Class Honor Rating" from the Associated Collegiate Press.

This is the highest rating the McPherson College yearbook has ever received from the A. C. P. This rating is next best to the All-American rating which is the highest rating an annual can receive.

Barbara Bollinger, sr, Seattle, now a student at Kansas University, was editor of the 1965-66 yearbook and Jean Yoder, sr, McPherson, was assistant editor.

Rating of the annuals is done on a point system. The Quadrangle received 6540 points, only 360 points short of the All-American rating.

"Points are given for layout, photography, cover, end sheets—advertisement pages, topography and every other detail which is included in the make-up of the yearbook," stated Jean Yoder.

Donations Total $105

Items to be purchased with the memorial fund are a clock, which will be placed in Bittinger Hall; two 8 x 10 colored pictures and two black and white pictures which will be sent to Greg's parents.

Plaques with memorial engravings will be placed on each item.

The following students were on the committee which decided what to do with the memorial fund: Chris Levi, Frank D'Augustino, Frank Falciola, Bill Davidson, Peg Slater, Terry Bouse and George Snavelly.

Included also were the dormitory presidents, Jane Funk, Carol Radatz, Tom Worthing, Ed Shapley, Craig Miller, and Tom Crago. Dr. Lewis Young, acting dean of men, was adviser to the committee.

Church Enlists New Members

Annual Student Membership Sunday for the McPherson Church of the Brethren will be Sunday, Oct. 16.

By placing a student membership in the local church, a student is making it his spiritual home for the duration of the school year.

Student membership, which must be renewed each fall, interferes in no way with regular church membership at home.

Students signing up for church membership will be put on the mailing list for the newsletter and bulletins.

They may also be called upon for committee or church school work. Most student members also support the local church financially as much as they can.

Circle K Sets Drive

The McPherson College Circle K is now in the second week of its first membership drive of the year. A maximum goal of ten new qualified members has been set in order to bring the new club up to full strength for service.

Bernie Alexander, soph, Lakewood, N. J., chairman of the club's membership committee announced that any college male holding a 2.0 accumulative grade average and with at least one semester in attendance at McPherson is eligible to apply for membership.

Application forms may be obtained from Paul Roth, soph, Boiling Springs, Pa.; Cliff Danzier, soph, Yonkers, N. Y.; Dave Wingarden, soph, Des Moines, Iowa.; or Bernie Alexander.

"Only men interested in giving time to service need apply," stated Bernie.

Freshman and transfer students will be given a chance to apply for membership next semester once they have established an academic record here at McPherson.

New members are interviewed and accepted on the basis of sincerity, interests, time available for participation in club activities and the quality of work they would be able to provide for the club.

Brethren Assign Relief Work To Landhuis

The first medical doctor assigned to relief work in Vietnam under Church of the Brethren auspices is a former McPherson College student, Dr. Jesse J. Landhuis.

Dr. Landhuis arrived in Vietnam in September, where he will serve two years under the direction of Vietnam Christian Service, an agency of Church World Service, Mennonite Central Committee and Lutheran World Relief.

Dr. Landhuis, Early, Iowa, is the eleventh Brethren or Brethren-sponsored worker since last November assigned in voluntary service in Vietnam.

He attended McPherson College in 1960-61, after two years at Northwestern College in Iowa. From McPherson he went on to receive degrees from the University of Iowa and from the University of Michigan.

He completed his internship in medicine in July at San Bernardino, Calif.

Dr. Landhuis was recruited through the Brethren Volunteer Service program, of which the Rev. Wilbur E. Mullen, Elgin, Ill., is the director. Mullen previously was director of admissions at McPherson College.
