

Dialogue Day features discussions, films

A committee headed by Brian Summerhays, soph, Brockport, N.Y., is making plans for a project of attempting to improve communications on the McPherson College campus.

This project is called Project Communications or Dialogue Day, as some have termed it, and will be held Feb. 28 and 29.

On Wednesday Feb. 28, activities are scheduled for 7 - 9 p.m. The film "A Day in the Life," a subjective view of the campus from the eyes of several students will be shown. The film is being planned, written and produced by Steve Rogers, soph, Brooklyn, Iowa; Steve Payson, soph, Millis, Mass.; and Summerhays.

After the film will be a keynote address by Mr. George Emery. Mr. Emery is a Methodist minister from Chicago and is the head of the Inner Peace Movement, which deals with self-discipline. He has lectured all over the country and is making a special point of coming here.

Following the film and speaker will be a student-faculty panel discussion.

Thursday activities begin at 9 a.m. with Convocation. The film "A Day in the Life" will be shown again and Mr. Emery will speak.

There will be no classes Thursday, Feb. 29, except for night classes, so that students and faculty will be free to participate.

Five films have been ordered to show throughout the day, 10 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. These are fifteen to twenty minutes in length each and show basic problems of human relationships.

Examples of film topics are: civil rights, poverty, family communications and personal communications.

After seeing some of the films, persons may be assigned to a group and go to a specified room if they wish to discuss aspects of the film. There will be thirty-eight different groups.

In speaking of the need for this project, Summerhays voiced the following opinion: "People are caught in a technological society and institutions are losing the role of mankind. It is essential to develop communications between people. We have to extend ourselves beyond ourselves. When communications break down, social disintegration sets in."

It seems that students underestimate the faculty and the faculty underestimate the students. Professors are not sure if they are reaching the students. This is a chance for the two to come together.

It is hoped that different groups on campus will be brought together, such as the Easterners with the Midwesterners. Here, too, is a chance for school spirit to develop, and an opportunity to establish a feeling of rapport.

The only portion of the Project Communications that is required of all students is attendance at Convocation on Thursday morning.

The rest of the activities are not compulsory because only those persons who are interested and who care enough about getting something from the project should attend the various activities.

It is hoped that students and faculty will take advantage of this opportunity to interact with each other and communicate with each other.

Teachers will meet with administrators

An opportunity to meet with school administrators from across the country is being provided for prospective teachers by the McPherson College Placement Office.

The placement office urges interested students to take advantage of these interviews.

On Monday, Feb. 26, a representative from Milwaukee, Wis., will be on campus to interview candidates for teaching positions. He will be here from 1:30 p.m. until 5 and will be interviewing for all secondary and elementary positions.

Students interested in inner city teaching should sign for an interview with the Milwaukee administrator.

On Thursday, Feb. 29, Battle Creek, Mich. representatives will be interviewing candidates for all elementary, secondary and special education positions.

Appointments can be made from 9 p.m. to 11:30 by signing the appointment sheet on the placement bulletin board, outside of the placement office, located in Mohler 205.

Yingst gives resignation plans

Kenneth Yingst, director of development, has resigned his position effective June 1, 1968. Yingst has held the position since September, 1963.

Yingst will begin full-time employment with the ManAnSo Corporation, a manufacturer and wholesale distributor of agricultural products. Yingst was one of the organizers of ManAnSo and is currently an officer of the corporate board.

No successor has been named to the position of director of development.

Interviews with representatives from nation-wide business firms will be one of many opportunities provided for students attending the upcoming ACCK Career Day.

McPherson College will host the event on Saturday, Feb. 24.

Juniors and seniors from each of the six ACCK Colleges have been invited to attend. Each school will also be represented by two faculty members.

Monroe Hughbanks, assistant professor in education, and Dr. O. A. Olson, professor of economics and business administration, will represent McPherson College.

The day will begin with registration and a coffee hour at 9 a.m. in Friendship Hall. At 9:30 the group will meet in Brown Auditorium for a general assembly.

Mr. Mel Moorhouse, professor of speech at Wichita State University, will speak during the assembly. Moorhouse is also a debate coach.

The rest of the day will be devoted to interviews, with students able to take part in at least five.

At the present over 20 employers, six graduate schools, three federal agencies and four personnel recruiters for public schools are expected to have representatives at the career day.

These interviews will give prospective employers an opportunity to see students from six colleges at one time.

Dr. Olson, who has been helping organize the career day, stated, "I think the career day is a very good idea because it will give students an opportunity to discover what careers are available to them. The junior students can learn what courses they may need to take to prepare for a certain career."

Trustees will hold annual board meeting

McPherson College Trustees will hold their annual board meeting on Friday, March 1 and Saturday, March 2.

The trustees, which are the governing body of the college, will meet in the educational building of the McPherson Church of the Brethren.

Thirty members are included on the board, which is divided into five committees that meet on call in between each board meeting.

These committees are: Executive, Buildings and Grounds, Educational, Finance and Investment and Development.

Development of Drama class studies Greek theater

Students in Development of the Drama have finished four weeks studying the Greek theater with projects which were planned to increase understanding of the period of drama.

Rather than term papers the students work on projects during the term. For Kerry Givens, soph, Nickerson, Jody Serensits, jr, Washington, D. C., and Joyce Mills, soph, McPherson, this meant doing a scene from "Medea," a play from the Greek period by Euripides.

The scene between Miss Mills and Serensits, was memorized and done in full classic dress, including mask, headdress (ongos) and high soled shoes (cothurnas.)

Miss Givens made the costumes and masks for the two characters in the scene.

A comparative scene from "Lysistrata," a play by another Greek author, Aristophanes, was presented by Mike Emmert, soph, Adel, Iowa, Neva McNicholas, soph, McPherson and Richard Hall, jr, Hutchinson.

This play was done in modern dress. For example an Air Force uniform took the place of what would have ordinarily been a Greek military toga.

As her project Judy Ketcham, jr, Glendale, Az, made five charts showing dress of the Greek actors.

Charles Lamb, sr, Rocky Ford, Colo., made a model of an early Greek Theater.

Charles W. Fischer, assistant professor in English and theater is professor of the Development of Drama class. He stated the purpose of the class was to enlighten students on our present position in dramatics through an insight and understanding of the various movements and philosophies prevalent in the history of drama.

"The students got insight into need for rhetorical style of Greeks because of the large theater and cumbersome costumes," Fischer said.

KERRY GIVENS, SOPH, NICKERSON, adjusts costumes which she made for the presentation, "Medea" in Development of Drama class.

8 students attain 4.00 grade average

By DONNA WINEGARDEN

Eight McPherson College students attained a 4.00 grade average for the fall semester. Sixty-four were on the honor roll with averages between 3.50-4.00 and thirty-nine received honorable mention for attaining a 3.25-3.59 grade point average.

Students with 4.00 averages were Rifa DeCoursey, Mary Jill Dilger, Sally Gibson, Theodore Livingston, Roger Nettleton, Elaine Sales, Marcella Sberfy, and Norma Tucker.

Seniors who rated 3.50-4.00 grade point averages were Annette Burkholder, Janet Crago, Thomas Crago, Gwendolyn Dittmars, Gary Flory, Michael Fox, Ruth Hall, Michael Harris, Rachel Heidebrecht, Marcia Hubert.

Marilyn Kauffman, Bonnie Kitzel, Donald Kussart, Richard Martin, Jacqueline McIntyre, J. Edward Myers, Stephen Nettleton, Lorene Pauls and Glenn Walker.

The 14 Juniors who made the 3.50-4.00 honor roll were Wisona Achilles, Harold Amrine, Patricia Hayes, Jean Hendricks, David Huber, Judith Ketcham, Jean Lemmon;

Dennis Martin, Carole Neal, Betty Persons, Joyce Shellenberger, David Sovchen, Richard Wagner, and Connie Worthing.

Sophomores making the 3.50-4.00 averages were Jean Bergstrom, Janet Bruce, Ryan Christiansen, Bruce Cook, Linda Dean, Sandra Fisher, Alan Flory, Margaret Holderreed; Rodney Lusk, Janey Meyer, Calvin Moffitt, Paula Sissell, Orville Smith, Sigrid Wagner and Carolyn Yoder.

Freshmen on the 3.50-4.00 honor roll were Stephen Boese, Catherine Colyn, Joan Enns, Royce Kurtz, Sandra Kussart, Stephen Mason, and Linda Radatz.

Seniors who attained honorable mention with 3.25-3.49 grade point averages were Ronald Adkins, Markila Blough, Terry Boese, Nancy Boston, Marilyn Cable, Shirley Ebeling, Christina Flory, Phillip Grove, Craig Miller, Glenice Miller, Robert DeTour, Linda Moore, and Barbara Westray.

Juniors attaining the 3.25-3.49 honorable mention were Sandra Alexander, Gary Blackwell, Carolyn Dell, Stanley Gish, Peggy Kuehl, Ronald Meck, Jeannette Mills, Rose Ann Sink and Marilyn Smith.

Sophomores receiving 3.25-3.49 honorable mention were Emmet Betts, Bonnie Harwick, Jeffrey Loucks, Michael Loveless, Neva McNicholas, Christine Smith, David Smith, Lisa Snyder, Kathy Taylor and Diane Warnke.

Freshmen receiving the 3.25-3.49 honorable mention were Dale Dowdy, James Gillett, Sue Holloway, Donald Macklin, Lowell Monke, Carolyn Oswald and Marcia Sellberg.

College life is pressure

College is not just an institution for studying, writing term papers, passing or failing tests, and spending half of your college life with your head stuck in a book.

There is much more to college life than achieving academic excellence.

If a student is so involved with the academic pressures of college that he does not know what the world around him is doing, then he is not receiving the full benefit of a college education.

If students get good, respectful grades in business but cannot discuss intelligently current economic situations, then what do they achieve in their grades?

The same holds true in history and all other courses. If students cannot express themselves on subjects directly related to their majors, then what purpose do grades serve?

To achieve success in life, students must show more than their degrees. They must be able to be well versed on different subject matters and must be able to communicate their ideologies and opinions to other people of interest.

The world goes by

Nestled within the Chinese Elm,
Surrounded by rolling hills,
I find this town solemn and quiet;
Yet, ignorant of worldly ills.

The water ripples on restlessly
In a well formed, well kept stream.
Giving evidence of internal unrest;
When it doth rain, it will split the seam.

Within the boundaries of innocence,
The little village lies untouched,
And gives no sign of worry or fear,
To give at all is to give too much.

In a dream of excellence without suffering,
It advances its youth through time.
Controlling each step they take with care,
Making sure of the life sublime.

How blind these ignorant Humanoids be,
Still attached to the conservative lie.
While others are struggling to survive,
You sit and watch as the world goes by.

MCY members tutor students in junior, senior high schools

The MCY is a service organization. One of its continuing programs of service is the tutorial program. The head of this program is Ed Robinson, sr, Garfield.

Through the tutorial program, McPherson College students are attempting to assist junior high and high school students with courses that are troublesome to them.

Teachers of the McPherson school district contact Robinson when a tutor is needed. He then introduces the tutor to the pupil. From this point, it is left strictly to the tutor and the student.

The tutors, students and their parents decide when and where the meetings will be held. The length of time spent varies according to the students' need and willingness.

During the past two years, six persons have taken tutoring responsibilities.

Sally Stetler, Jr, Marshalltown, Iowa, has helped a total of six mathematics students.

Last semester she tutored three high school students in Algebra I and II. She met with them twice a week for one hour periods. Miss Stetler has also worked with junior high students.

Last semester, two ninth grade students received help from Rita DeCoursey, fr, McPherson. She spent one hour a week tutoring them in physical science.

Jim Mowry, soph, Pekin, Illinois, tutored almost a whole class of ninth grade math students last semester.

Mowry spent from one to two hours every Tuesday and Thursday in the classroom, helping to prepare the entire class for high school algebra.

George Hoover, soph, Plattsburg, Mo., spent four and a half hours a week helping a high school junior catch up with the class of geometry. It took only a month of this concentrated studying for the girl to catch up with her class.

At the present time, two students are tutoring. Roger Nettleton, sr, Holmesville, Neb., has just recently begun to aid a twelfth grade girl who is taking a correspondence course in history.

The tutorial program's most active participant is Larry Vernon, jr, Big Pine, Calif. Last semester he spent a consider-

Church of Brethren holds panel discussions

"This Church—Who Runs It?" is the topic of Rev. Harold Bomberger's sermon for Sunday morning worship Feb. 25 at the McPherson College Church of the Brethren.

Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. will continue the School on Church and Foreign Policy. Lorrell E. Weiss, professor of sociology, has charge of the school at which a panel will discuss "The African Nations—Their Problems and Chances of Success."

Mr. John H. Burkholder, professor of biology, will be moderator for the panel of four which includes Raymond L. Flory, professor of history and political science, and two men who have lived in Nigeria.

The first is Nwosu N. Nwosu, an African student at McPherson from Eastern Nigeria. The second is Rev. Irvin Stern, a former professor at McPherson College, and presently minister at the Hutchinson Church of the Brethren.

Rev. Stern served on the mission field in Nigeria before he became a professor here.

From midnight to midnight Ash Wednesday, Feb. 28, the Church of the Brethren will hold the traditional 24-hour prayer vigil. One-half hour time schedules are made available for the length of the vigil for those who would like to meditate in the Memory Chapel.

There is a chart posted in the rear of the sanctuary to sign to reserve a specific half hour.

It is not necessary, however, to sign this chart to participate in the vigil. It is for the convenience of family or friends who like to meet together and pray.

Also, there are several pamphlets available on guidance for prayer and meditation during the vigil.

Madrigals exchange Convo with Bethel

Singing for enjoyment is keeping the McPherson College Madrigals busy this semester

Under the direction of Dr. Doris Coppock, the group is composed of 12 McPherson College students.

During the semester the Madrigals will continue to make appearances at least once a week.

The group presented an exchange convocations at Bethel College on Friday, Feb. 16. The program included traditional, 16th century madrigal music, current popular songs and sacred music.

On Tuesday, Feb. 20, the Madrigals entertained at Ladies' Night at the Rotary Club in McPherson.

Presenting a program at the Covenant Mission church in McPherson is scheduled by the group for Sunday, Feb. 25.

Singing soprano in the group are: Winona Achilles, Gwendolyn Dimars and Mary-Anne Miller.

The alto section includes: Glee Hoover, Mary Nell Hoover and Sylvia Wine.

Tenors are: Ken Dilling, Mike Fox and Marlin Hooper. Bass singers include: Ray Landis, Don McMurray and Paul Roth.

College should be preparation for life

By MARILYN SMITH

"College is fine," a friend of mine said to me recently, "as long as you don't let it interfere with your education." I laughed; after a little reflection, however, I decided that his remark contains considerable wisdom.

Classes, studying, term papers, tests, grades — these are at the center of college life. When we speak of "getting an education" we ordinarily refer to these academic activities.

Yet if becoming an educated person means more than simply acquiring a college degree — if it means also learning to live one's life to the fullest, becoming meaningfully involved with others, and at least being aware of important world news and issues — then the business and pressure of college sometimes can and does interfere with education.

If a student gets straight A's in ancient history but cannot

Speaker, films to be featured at Convocation

George F. Emery, Lacon, Ill., is the scheduled speaker for the 9 a.m. Feb. 29 Convocation.

Convocation will mark the beginning of the day-long portion of Project Communication, an attempt to improve the process of communication between faculty, and students and students.

During the Convocation there will be talks, movies, and a skit attempting to show some scenes that might happen during the day.

Although the Convocation is compulsory, the student may decide whether or not he wants to remain part of the project after the Convocation.

James Renz, executive director of the Community Concerns for Alcoholism, was scheduled to be the speaker at today's 9 a.m. Convocation.

A noted authority about alcoholism and its consequent problems of family and community health, Renz is an arrested alcoholic.

ACCK groups meet in Feb.

A newly formed group, the ACCK Cultural Series Committee, is among six ACCK committees meeting during the latter part of February.

Meeting at noon on Tuesday, Feb. 20, were the deans of the ACCK colleges. The committee met at McPherson College.

Also meeting on Tuesday at McPherson were the Home Economics Committee at 5:30 p.m. and the Music Committee at 7:30 p.m.

The presidents and deans of the ACCK colleges plan to meet for an Executive Board meeting on Monday, Feb. 26. The board will meet at 9 a.m. at the ACCK headquarters building, located at 200 West Kansas in McPherson.

On Tuesday, Feb. 27, the Cultural Series Planning Committee will meet at 3:30 p.m. at the ACCK headquarters.

Taber College will host the Librarians Committee meeting at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, Feb. 29.

intelligently discuss the Vietnam war, then he is as surely failing in his education as those whose grades show failure.

If he excels in psychology but simply does not have time to talk to people and really get to know them, or if a student's reading is limited to textbooks and assignments because there is no time to read for enjoyment or personal profit, then college is interfering with education.

The pressure of a heavy academic load, numerous extracurricular activities, or a tight schedule often throws things out of perspective. It is easy to become too busy with "college" — academic and other organized activities — and to neglect other opportunities to learn and grow.

Hours spent away from campus or talking to people or reading or just thinking, when one "should," perhaps, be studying, can sometimes be more truly educational than time spent studying — even when the hours are taken at the expense of high grades.

Only when college is viewed not as a four-year retreat from life in order to prepare for what comes after graduation, but as a part of life offering valuable experiences in many different aspects of life, does it become a fully educational experience.

Only three games remain

Only three games and the 1967-68 season comes to an end. We haven't had a winning season, but the boys have provided us with some real exciting action.

Friday the College of Emporia Presbies invade the Roundhouse. They will be seeking revenge from a 97-80 stomping administered to them by KWU in a contest last week.

In the previous meeting, C of E came out the victor by a lopsided margin. C of E has balanced scoring, with Linhart and Bruns both hitting at an 18.5 clip, followed by Simpson at 12.4.

Simpson is well known in the conference as a fine athlete and always is at his best against McPherson.

These three are joined in the starting line-up by Tibbetts and Payton. C of E sports a tall front line that the Bulldogs will have to overcome. McPherson, proving hard to beat at home this year, should give the Presbies all the battle they want.

For the second time this year, Bethany and McPherson will be going head to head in a contest that is always action filled. The rivalry between these two schools always produces much enthusiasm from the fans, and it pushes the players on to a better performance.

A typical battle ensued at the last meeting, with Bethany winning by two points on a last second shot by Gorsky. Comparative scores and records show the teams to be evenly matched. Bethany sports a 6-9 league record and McPherson a 4-11.

Gorsky and Oleen lead the Swedes with 14 point averages and are joined in the line-up by Morton, Wade and Fugua. Bethany nudged Baker 71-69 in league play last week, while McPherson was romping by Sterling 105-90.

Earlier in the week, Bethany downed league-leading Friends. The JV game will start at 5:30 p.m., with the A game beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Roundhouse.

Athletic Department has more responsibilities than coaching

By SANDY KUSSERT

A lot more work goes on behind the scenes of the athletic department than most people realize.

Sid L. Smith, director of athletics, and the three head coaches, Dwight E. McSpadden, education and football; Arthur L. Ray, physical education and track; and Donald Widrig, physical education and basketball; all have many other responsibilities besides coaching a team.

One of the main problems is the arrangements for and scheduling of the games. The athletic director plans in conjunction with the head coach of each sport to work out the details of that particular sport.

The football and basketball schedules are compiled through the commissioner, Nelson Hartman, Topeka, assistant executive secretary of the Kansas State High School Activity Association.

The baseball, track, tennis and golf schedules are handled by the individual coaches and sanctioned by the athletic director's office.

The coaches and athletic director plan all schedules. This involves special problems such as the housing and feeding of the athletes during vacation periods. For the use of the gym or other athletic facilities, the sport in season is given preference.

Transportation by bus is used in sports where 25 or more are involved. At other times, cars are used. In both cases, adequate insurance must be provided and the schedule of departures and arrivals must be considered to allow time for suiting up and warm-up time.

The sports equipment is purchased for all sports by the athletic director working with each head coach in each sport. Equipment is ordered six weeks to six months in advance to assure arrival at the proper time.

Attending scouting and coaching schools, as well as attending national conventions of the NAIA and NCAA is to be sanctioned through the athletic director's office.

Other responsibilities include marking and preparing the football field, seeing that the track and tennis courts are in condition, and keeping in close touch with the athletes to make sure that they don't violate the playing rules of the NAIA and KCAC which might cause them to become ineligible for college participation.

Each coach has under his supervision statistics men who send releases of all home games to district 10 of the NAIA of which McPherson College is a member, and to the KCAC conference.

Records pertaining to football, basketball, track, tennis, and golf are compiled into an annual summary at the end of each year.

All recruiting and soliciting of prospective athletes should be carefully correlated by the coaches, athletic director, and

Women b-ball team plays

McPherson College women's basketball team lost to Tabor 44-22 here Tuesday, Feb. 13.

The Sports Day events held at Kansas State Teacher's College of Emporia gave the McPherson College team a 2-5 record.

Women who participated from McPherson College were Lela Weddle, Dianna Christensen, Chris Grove, Neva McNicholas, Judy Pauls, Lynn Brutsman, Kerry Givens, and Pam Burns. McPherson lost the first game to KSTC 41-18. Miss Weddle led McPherson scoring with nine points.

Wichita State defeated McPherson 18-13 in the second game.

In the third game McPherson won against College of Emporia 25-19.

Short shots

The Bulldogs of McPherson College broke the 100 point barrier for the first time this year in a 105-90 victory over hapless Sterling College. All the starters were in double figures, with John Smith leading the assault by dumping in 28 counters.

Most under-rated player on the Bulldog team has to be Jim Rakes. The big 6'5" senior turns in a steady performance consistently for Coach Widrig's Bulldogs. He averages nearly 10 points and 7 rebounds per game.

After a slow start, Hal Wright is looking like the all-conference performer he was a year ago. Although only 6', Wright rebounds exceptionally well from his guard spot and is equally dangerous as a forward. He is averaging better than 12 points per game.

Then there is a man in Missouri who keeps track of such things who says that Playboy Magazine has had the most accurate forecast of the top college football teams for the last two years. This proves that there is more in the magazine than meets the eye.

Larry Newman was thinking of Joyce Kilmer's "Trees" when he wrote this.

Referees I think that I shall never see A satisfactory referee About whose head a halo shines, Whose merit rates reporters' lines.

One who calls them as they are And not as I would wish by far. A gent who leans not either way But lets the boys decide the play.

A man who knows the rules by heart And uses judgement from the start.

Poems are made by fools like me, But only God could referee.

Bulldogs rout Sterling 105-90; as Smith nets 28, DeTour 22

The Kansas Conference individual scoring leader, John Smith, led the McPherson College Bulldogs to a 105-90 win over Sterling College Feb. 17, by dumping 28 points through the hoop.

Sterling jumped into an early lead on the Bulldogs' home court, but the McPherson five jumped right back and took a 25-25 lead with nine minutes remaining in the first half.

There was a tight race for the lead until minutes had passed in the final half when the Bulldogs, sparked by three quick buckets by Larry DeTour, scored 12 points while holding the Warriors scoreless.

This surge put the Bulldogs out of reach of the Warriors, 74-62, with 11:05 left in the game.

Smith who averages 21.23 points per game was high scorer. Forward Lonnie Kruse of Sterling was second with 23 points.

Other McPherson roundballers who scored in double figures were DeTour with 22, Don Woodcock 15, Jim Rakes 14 and Hal Wright 11.

The victory gave McPherson a 4-11 conference mark and a 5-11 overall record. The loss gave Sterling a 1-14 conference mark.

Loren Evans and Ken Rickard led Southwestern to an 85-80 win over McPherson in the Roundhouse Feb. 13.

Evans scored 27 points and Rickard 17 for the winners. Wright led the Bulldogs with 25 points.

There was a nip-and-tuck battle throughout the game for the lead, which was in the Builders' hands at halftime, 40-38.

Bulldog foul trouble in the closing seconds put the game on ice for the Builders.

The McPherson Junior Varsity team ran over the Sterling JV team, 90-70, in the preliminary game Feb. 17. Freshman Guard Lowell Monke led the Bulldogs' scoring attack with 22 points.

In the preliminary game Feb. 13, the Bulldogs' JV team downed the Southwestern JV team 90-77.

Piano-cello duo demonstrate exciting, delightful talent

By JEAN HENDRICKS
The opening Beethoven sonata opened an evening of excitement and delightful listening for Monday night's Cultural Series audience.

Miss de Keyser and Miss Neeley, two extremely talented artists, performed with exquisite precision on their attacks and with a sensitive balance on every aspect of each selection.

Quiet, mournful tones of the Beethoven's "Adagio" enthralled, even chilled, the waiting listeners. A delicate transition to an emphatic "Allegro" brought the first piece to a climactic ending.

Two French impressionistic piano solos followed. Sustained melodic tones flowered above Miss Neeley's steady well-executed arpeggios.

In spite of the piano's distracting vibrations, one could easily picture a boat rocking on calm or tempestuous waters. Likewise on the second Ravel solo, "Mourning Song of the Little Clown," a picture of the clown's fluctuating moods was vividly brought to mind.

Following a brief intermission, Miss de Keyser performed a lengthy cello solo which was well received by the audience.

The artists exchanged a careful interplay of melodies between the two instruments.

The final Martinu Sonata commenced with a thrilling beginning, then continued with the performance of two masters who truly felt and lived their music.

As mystery-like tones overshadowed the "Largo," the audience was soon captured. Lush, full entrancing cello tones diminished to a perfectly silent ending. As the next "Allegro" movement then drew to a close, the cello cadenza built up an excitement which remained to the final glorious note of the superb performance.

In response to the audience's enthusiasm, the duet ended in a fast, furious execution of Hendemith's "Capriccio."

Faculty, staff visit Brethren churches

By Carolyn Dell

Although National Christian College Sunday is not until April 28, similar observances will be held early in Church of the Brethren Churches in Kansas and neighboring states.

McPherson College faculty and staff members will be speaking each Sunday morning at these churches, beginning on Feb. 25 and continuing through April 28.

Paul Wagoner, associate director of development and coordinator of the faculty trips, stated, "By having these people speak at Sunday morning worship services, we hope to emphasize the importance of college and its relationship to the church."

Each Sunday four or more persons will be at different churches.

On the beginning Sunday, Feb. 25, Galen R. Snell, assistant dean of student affairs and dean of men, will speak at the Lincoln, Neb. church.

Kenneth Yingst, director of development will be at the South Beatrice, Neb., church, Gene Myers, director of admissions, at the Kingsley, Iowa church and Paul Wagoner at the Curlew, Iowa church.

Each Sunday the speakers also hope to speak to adult and youth groups in Sunday school.

On March 3, four people will again be traveling to churches.

Alma Moore assistant professor in speech and English will speak at the Topeka church and Charles Fischer assistant professor in English and theater will be at the Plattsburg, Mo. church.

Gene Myers and Paul Wagoner will again be two of the speakers. Myers will be at the Morrill, church and Wagoner at the Rockcreek and Sabetha churches, both near Sabetha.

On March 10, Wesley DeCoursey, professor of chemistry, will travel to the Ottawa, church and Paul Wagoner will be at the Kansas City, church.

Two Missouri churches will be visited on this Sunday. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education for women, will speak at the Kansas City Messiah church and Robert Green, assistant professor in English, will be at the Warrensburg church.

The schedule for March 17 is not definite, but Wagoner plans for nine churches in Iowa and Nebraska to be visited.

On April 28 plans call for six faculty members to speak at churches in Colorado.

To further promote McPherson College, plans are being made for a drama deputation team of Charles Fischer and several students, to travel to surrounding areas in late April.

Names revealed at breakfast

A week of surprises and mystery came to an end this past Sunday morning. Heart Sister Week ended with a breakfast in the cafeteria for the participants.

About seventy people, including Dotzour's house mother, Mrs. Vivian Rea, attended the breakfast. The meal was served by members of the Women's Council.

Annette Burkholder, sr, Preston, Minn., the current president of the Women's Council, introduced a short and entertaining program.

The program, like the week, ended with surprises for almost everyone as the names of the heart sisters were revealed.

Mary Anne Miller, soph, Waterloo, Iowa, began the program by singing two songs "Next Time" and "Love is a Many Splendored Thing."

Ray Landis, jr, Dayton, Ohio, presented a comedy routine depicting the return of the first McPherson College Heart Sister. Carlos Green, jr, Cascade Locks, Ore., acted as the interviewer.

8 attend induction dinner for Juco Y

By SANDY KUSSART

Eight McPherson College YMCA members, the club sponsor, Dr. John H. Burkholder, professor of biology, and Mrs. Burkholder attended the induction dinner for the officers of the Juco "Y" Club recently organized on the Hutchinson Junior College campus.

The dinner was held Feb. 13 at the Red Carpet Restaurant in Hutchinson.

The MCY has been acting as a parent Y to the group since Oct. under the direction of the West Central Area Council of the YMCA. The dinner marked the formal installation of its newly elected officers.

Olin Trabue, executive secretary of the West Central Area Council of the YMCA, Topeka, was present and urged the groups to be represented at various conferences to be held this spring and summer.

Bob Albin, sr, Marshalltown, Iowa, spoke to the group about his trip to the Orient last summer under the program "Action in Asia" sponsored by YMCA national and area groups.

Albin, with 9 others, traveled to Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong, and Korea. The primary emphasis of the group was cultural relationships and teaching, Hong Kong, where the group taught on the rooftops in re-settlement areas, was the central point of the trip.

Paul Roth, jr, Boiling Springs, Pa., co-chairman of the MCY, explained our campus movement. As an example of the activities of the Student YMCA Movement, Joyce Shellenberger, jr, Buhler, chairman of the Service Committee, reported on the projects her committee members are currently involved in.

Those participating in the induction candle-lighting service from McPherson were Pat Hayes, jr, Geneseo, co-chairman of MCY; Pat Drury, jr, Marshalltown, Iowa, and Albin, co-vice-chairman; Sylvia Wine jr, Maumee, Ohio, secretary; and Roger Nettleton, sr, Holmesville, Neb., treasurer.

Dr. McCoy to lecture, visit classrooms

Dr. Charles S. McCoy, professor in the Graduate Theological Union and the Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, Calif., will be on campus March 7 as a Danforth Visiting Lecturer.

Besides being the Convocation speaker of March 7, he will also be giving a public lecture and visiting classrooms.

Hedrick to visit Kansas schools

Jerry Hedrick, Jr., admissions counselor, will be traveling to Kansas high schools during the next two weeks to introduce students and counselors to the College.

Schools in Chase, Ellinwood, Great Bend, Bushton, Clifton, and Holsington will be visited during the first week.

During the second week, schools in Emporia, Strong City, and Cottonwood Falls will be visited.

Sid Smith, director of athletics, will be visiting schools in Lyons, Sterling, Langdon, Cunningham, Kingman, and Goddard.

He recently returned from visiting schools in Lost Springs, Lincolnville, Herington, Hope, and Gypsum.

Women of Kline Hall prepare for open house

Kline Hall will welcome visitors at its traditional open house Feb. 25 from 2-5 p.m. Pictures showing Kline Hall activities will be displayed so visitors can catch a glimpse of the dormitory life.

Official hostesses for the open house will be Mrs. Viola Wilson, resident director of the dormitory, and Jean Keith, sr, Chicago.

Members of the dorm council are Miss Keith, president; Kerry Givens, soph, Nickerson, vice-president; and Nola Apostolidou, sr, Epicus, Greece, secretary-treasurer.

According to Twilla Smalley, sr, Beaver, Iowa, chairman of the open house, the different committees have been working to make the open house a success.

Helping on the invitation committee are Joyce Groff, jr, Napanee, Ind., chairman; June Ware, sr, Ottumwa, Iowa; Jane Watkins, sr, Ottawa; and Janice Groff, sr, Castaner, Puerto Rico.
