College seeks to expand financial aids

The continued emphasis placed upon the youth of a community to obtain a college education has increased the need for prospective college students, as well as ones presently enrolled, to obtain financial aid outside of the home.

Aid may take the form of scholarships, grants, loans, held at 5 p.m. The class of 1952 will hold its reunion in the private dining room of the Student Union. The Elks Club will host reunions for the classes of 1937 and 1962.

YMCA - YWCA will hold Camp 71 for freshmen

Camp 71, to be held Sept. 29 and 30 at Camp Webster, near Salina, offers freshmen an opportunity to meet new friends, have lots of fun and better understand their college life.

The camp, an annual event for freshmen sponsored by the McPherson College YMCA-YWCA, is centered around the theme, "Let's Talk About It!"

Dr. Galen Snell, assistant dean of student affairs and dean of men, will speak Friday evening on "The Circle," relating to students as they begin college.

The purpose of the camp is to give freshmen an opportunity to gain a perspective of the relationship between social and intellectual phases of college life.

Activities of the camp will include campfires, discussion groups, recreation, lectures, singing and camping.

Freshmen will leave campus Friday afternoon. That night they will gather around a campfire for Dr. Snell's talk.

Saturday the freshmen will be busy with buzz groups, cookouts, recreation and there will be some free time. Campers will return to school Saturday evening.

Students must furnish their own bedding. However, pillows are provided. Cost of the camp is $5.25 per person.

This fee is to be paid before Sept. 29. This may be done in the Student Union during the evening meal Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 25 and 26.

Registration deadline is Sept. 26.

campus employment or work-study programs.

McPherson College is continually seeking to expand the area of student financial aids.

Last spring McPherson College awarded nearly 60 scholarships to graduating high school seniors. Of these 60 winners, all but two are presently enrolled at the College.

Guy Hayes, director of the newly established office of financial aids, stated, "This is but one example that today's prospective college student places great emphasis on the need for higher education and also places a great pride in the honor of an academic scholarship award."

Not included in these are music, junior college and transfer student scholarships to those who qualified.

Scholarships and grants from the College, all types of loans, employment on and off campus and aids through the Educational Opportunity Act are coordinated through Hayes, Dr. Raymond Flory, dean of student affairs, and the Financial Aids Committee.

Bomberger on leave to study in Jerusalem

Dr. Bomberger enrolled at St. George's College in Jerusalem Monday, Sept. 18. He will study there for three weeks.

He will begin travels in Israel, Oct. 6. He also hopes to visit Egypt. Nigeria is also a scheduled stop.

Dr. Bomberger will arrive in Kennedy Airport Nov. 8, and he will be back at church Nov. 12.

Play rehearsals begin with Yoder directing

Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, signaled the beginning of rehearsals for the production, "The Guardsman."

Under the direction of Mrs. Una Yoder, assistant professor of English, speech, and theater, the play will be presented Thursday, Oct. 12, and Saturday, Oct. 14.

Six committees are presently being organized to work backstage with the various stage effects. The crews and their members are Susan Sell, Susan Duncanson, Phil Grove, and Nick Mosher, properties.

Students interested in signing up for one of these committees may contact Charles Fischer, assistant professor in English and theater.

DR. MERLIN FRANTZ, left, and other school Administrators discuss bomb threat with a law officer while local authorities check for possible bomb in Dotzour Hall.

By KEN STROMQUIST

College classes were disrupted Monday morning when law-enforcement officials conducted a search of four campus buildings after being notified of a reported bomb plant.

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of McPherson College, received the telephoned bomb threat at 7:20 a.m.; Guy Hayes, director of financial aids, received a similar call at 7:25 a.m.

The caller indicated that a bomb was planted in Mohler Hall, Harnly Hall, Dotzour Hall, and Kline Hall; or that the bomb would explode at 2 p.m.

The city police were notified of the bomb threat about 9 a.m. and the buildings involved were soon cleared. Members of the Highway Patrol, Kansas Bureau of Investigation, fire department and the faculty also participated in the search.

After a lengthy search of the buildings the police department declared that no bomb had been found and that classes could resume at 2:30 p.m.

KFPC will hold fund drive

Wichita will be the center of a fund raising drive directed by the nineteen-members Kansas Foundation for Private Colleges Sept. 25-28.

Each of the members of the Foundation must set aside twelve days each year during which they solicit funds from various businesses, industries and banks.

The goal for the Foundation is based on $50 per student each year in voluntary contributions from businesses and industry. Increases in corporate gifts would be matched by efforts to increase contributions from alumni, churches and other constituencies.

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of McPherson College and vice-president of KFPC, will join the Foundation's members, all of whom are college presidents representing 19 private colleges in Kansas.

Today, private educational institutions look to the business world for not only financial aid but also for men willing to support the smaller colleges through service on various boards and committees.

In return, the independent colleges educate leaders in professions, in science, and in industry and business.

Kansas Foundation for Private Colleges represents this significant partnership of private higher education and business.

The Foundation provides a time saver for both industry and the private college by eliminating separate appeals from each of the 19 colleges.

Unrestricted funds for the individual colleges are provided by KFPC, fulfilling the need for gifts that can be adapted to current necessities. Designated gifts are distributed according to the donor's instructions.

Vivian Rea is new mother for Dotzour Hall's 177 women

Being responsible for college students is not new for Mrs. Vivian Rea, resident director of Dotzour Hall.

Mrs. Rea, who accepted the responsibility of supervising Dotzour Hall at the beginning of this school year, has had experience with college students—but not girls.

During the past nine years, she was housemother for a fraternity at Emporia State Teacher's College, Emporia. In comparing girls to boys, she says, "Girls talk about boys and boys talk about girls."

She estimates that she had sewed on 1,000 buttons during her nine years at Emporia.

Mrs. Rea considers McPherson her home town. She lived here from 1934 until she moved to Emporia to become housemother.

Mrs. Rea looks on her new job in Dotzour Hall as "A challenge to try to be a mother away from home, to be friendly and to let the women know they can come to me at any time."

Although 177 personalities may not be able to live together without conflicts, Mrs. Rea hopes she can help create a friendly atmosphere.

Her official duties include working with the Dormitory

Council to promote good relations among the residents, checking rooms and general responsibility for the overall operation of the dormitory.

The routine of general supervision will not keep Mrs. Rea so occupied that she will not be able to enjoy school activities. She is especially interested in athletics and hopes to attend sports events whenever it will be possible.

Through school activities Mrs. Rea hopes to meet other students and faculty on campus. She also looks forward to becoming reacquainted with McPherson community friends.

Decision faces college frosh

College is not simply a preparation for a job or a place to have a good time. Rather, it is the beginning of a new life for students in that infant era — the freshman days

The four years it takes to graduate from the infant era to the scholar era may have a great effect on whether the student will be a leader or a follower.

If he chooses to be a leader, chances are he will make the grade when going out into a broader community. If not, he may not make the grade, or at least it will be a rough road if he does finally make it.

Freshmen who are meeting with this new challenge are left with their own decisions as to what they will make of themselves. But as members of this institution we hope that their decision will be for the best, because they speak for the College as well as themselves.

Student voices opinion on having movable floats

Dear Editor:

The world is changing — so what? Physically McPherson College is changing — big deal. "Spiritually" McPherson College needs a change — and how! Last year during the week before Homecoming, I nor many others living off-campus could tell that the big event of the football season was even approaching. The campus was dead.

Homecoming should be the time for students to let the College, as well as the local McPherson community know they are proud of their school and football team, and they are proud to welcome all alumni back for a visit to their alma mater.

One big way to show this proud spirit is to have floats as have been in the past. But, instead of stationary ones, why not have movable floats this year? How many townspeople will know about College Homecoming, unless someone informs them? A parade of floats downtown would surely let people know that McPherson College is going to celebrate their annual Homecoming.

Democratically it will take a majority of the student body to make the big change! I, as an off-campus student, accept the challenge to let McPherson know I am proud of McPherson College. I put the same challenge to every other person who claims to be a student of McPherson College.

I challenge each "student" to contact his class president, organization president or dormitory president and let him know a change is needed in Homecoming for this year. School pride and spirit never hurt anyone.

Ward, class take trip to Kansas State Fair

Dr. John K. Ward, professor of agriculture and rural life and men from the Dairy Husbandry class took a field trip to the Kansas State Fair at Hutchinson.

The men were given a chance to judge and appraise dairy cattle.

Mac Shack is student project

"The 'Mac Shack' belongs to the students," Cindy Eisenbise, chairman of the Coffeehouse Committee, stated. "They should feel free to come over and express themselves spontaneously, to bring their guitars, their art displays or even their soapboxes."

The "Mac Shack" has been well-supported thus far. With the profits from the snacks available (carbonated beverages, apples, cheese sandwiches, and doughnuts), improvements will be made gradually, including the furnishing of the upstairs.

Periodic outside entertainment is being planned to add variety.

The Art Department has begun an art room, the highlights of which will be a red floor and periodically changed displays.

Individual rooms are available for small group get togethers. Arrangements can be made for these parties with Tom Cook, manager of the "Mac Shack."

Money to initiate the "Mac Shack" was originally donated by the students last spring. Now it is a Student Council project, maintained, in part, by funds from the activity fees of students.

Members of the Coffeehouse Committee include Cindy Eisenbise, jr., Elizabethtown, Pa., chairman; Denny Heisey, jr., Hershey, Pa., assistant chairman; Tom Cook, College courts, manager; and Stan Borowski, jr., Newark, Del., treasurer. The assistant treasurer will be chosen at a later date.

Members at large are Bruce Klockars, sr., Glen Ellyn, Ill.; Russell Sheets, soph, Pasadena, Calif.; Jon Lane, jr., Piqua, Ohio and Patricia Allen, sr., Scott City.

Morning hours of the "Mac Shack" Monday through Friday are 8:30 to 10:30 a.m., Sunday through Thursday, evening hours are 8 to 11 p.m.

Friday and Saturday hours are 8 p.m. to 1 a.m.

On McPherson College

A stranger happening upon McPherson would fail to see the complexity of the College, as an unobservant child does not realize that the big box with which he is playing contains smaller boxes of ever-increasing intricacy.

But do we, as students, supposedly integral parts of what-McPherson-is, realize what lies behind the green and grassy campus out here on the Kansas sun-flowered plains, or what possibilities are here, if we hunt?

Often people are compared to boxes, shut-up beings in their own little worlds, too tired or too uninterested to explore what is beyond them, even what is really behind other human boxes. Perhaps we McPhersonites should come out of ourselves.

Instead of stamping a fearful, "Fragile — Handle with Care" on ourselves, why don't we take the risk and peek inside? Perhaps McPherson has some of the tools we need to open our boxes and perfect the contents.

We might even be pleasantly surprised at what is within.

On Life

Grass

The grasses whispered in the wind,
Whispered about common things,
Like roots and growth,
And the purpose behind it all.
The days came and the nights went,
And the wind and the rain beat upon the grasses.
And they grew together and alone
Upon a hill, amid the wildflowers.
One day the tallest blade stood up,
And stretched to see the smaller grasses.
He spoke, "I wonder what we'd look like,
From up above, if anyone ever passed our way."
"No one could wish us harm,
So bright and green are we,"
Said the littlest one,
Just before the Mower came.

Two seniors relate BCA experiences in German social customs, education

By JAN PYLE

The tree-covered hills of Marburg, Germany, were home last year to Marilyn Wood Cable, sr., McPherson and Ron Adkins, sr., Long Beach, Calif. With emphasis on the Brethren Colleges Abroad program, they shared their European experiences in a slide and lecture feature at the Church of the Brethren Sunday, Sept. 17.

For Marilyn, the year was filled with extremes — from the initial communication difficulties to the rare joy of actually learning to think in another language.

Living in a German residence hall differed from Dotzour dorm life. Except for the noon meal, which she ate in a school cafeteria, she cooked her own meals. Different, too, were the 10 a.m.

to 10 p.m. open visiting hours in the dormitories.

The Germans are less friendly than the Americans. Mrs. Cable found. When she became lost in the narrow, crooked town streets, though, the other students were glad to give her directions, even to the point of going with her to the destination.

During the two-month semester break, she spent a month with a German family, with the duties and privileges of a daughter, one of the highlights of her German stay.

Then she traveled to Switzerland by train, where she met friends. They traveled together by car to Italy (with a side-trip to Rome). On the way back to Marburg, she went through Austria again by train.

"Before I got there, I was concerned about adjusting, but I worried more about how I would adjust back to American culture, once I was there," she commented.

Ron Adkins viewed his German experiences in Marburg from a (slightly different perspective. During his high school junior year, he was a foreign exchange student, so he had an advantage from the standpoint of language ability.

Ron thought dorm life for men more conducive to study than in America. In a private room, there was more time to devote to school work. Germans are less grade-conscious than Americans, since there is no pressure of semester exams.

After four or five years, they take comprehensive tests, before which they usually prepare for a semester.

"The Germans," Ron stated, "view America as the land of opportunity, the land of powerful cars and colored TVs." The basic German feeling is opposition to our involvement in Vietnam, and skepticism about the American attitude toward the Negro.

During his semester break, he worked and traveled. In Geneva, Switzerland, he participated in a conference on world economic justice, the problems of the rich and the poor, for former International Christian Youth Exchange students.

To Adkins, the most important part of the year was his personal growth. While away from his natural environment he felt he got a chance to look at himself with a perspective he would not have otherwise.

Mac to host KWU Coyotes

McPherson College Bulldogs will host the Kansas Wesleyan University Coyotes tomorrow night, 7:30 at the College stadium.

The Bulldogs will be trying to win two in a row over the Coyotes. Last year McPherson won 24-7.

"It will be a tough ballgame. Their size is larger, and they run out of an 'I' formation in the backfield. If we can contain their halfback, Al a n Farring, we can do a good job against them," head coach Dwight McSpadden stated.

McSpadden further said that the Coyotes have 14 returning lettermen this year and have more experience than last year. "Our offense has to get more consistent. This week we are going to try to open our offense to make it more effective against KWU," McSpadden asserted.

The Bulldogs' mentor stated that the team needs support from the student body as well as the faculty for tomorrow's game.

Both teams will be looking for their first victory of the season. The Coyotes lost their opener to Southwestern, 30-13, and the Bulldogs lost to C of E, 22-7.

Appreciation of art is Art Club objective

To further the appreciation of works of art is the aim of the Art Club, Jean Weatherbie, soph, Salt Lake City, Utah, publicity chairman, explained.

Students interested in art and its appreciation and joining the Art Club may contact Rockford Regula, Jr., Leesport, Pa., or Mary Ann Robinson, assistant professor of art and dean of women.

Bulldogs lose opener to Emporia, 22-7

A 54-yard field goal highlighted the opening Kansas Conference game between McPherson College and College of Emporia Saturday on the Presbies gridiron. The soccer style kick set a new Conference record for length.

After finding it difficult to make headway on the ground against the McPherson defense, Emporia took to the air to defeat the Bulldogs 22-7.

A first quarter touchdown and extra point put the Bulldogs in an early lead when a Presby fumble was recovered on the 20-yard line. The Bulldogs then drove to the two-yard line where quarterback Hal Wright scored on the next play. Manning Brown kicked the extra point.

A blocked McPherson punt and a 35-yard pass provided the opportunities for Emporia's two scores in the second quarter. Both kicks for extra points failed.

HAL WRIGHT calls signals in the first game of the season against College of Emporia. Wright scored the only TD for the Bulldogs in a losing effort, 22-7.

Another blocked Bulldog punt was recovered by Emporia on the 13-yard line and the next play they carried the ball across to put the Presbies ahead 10-7. The successful field goal attempt provided the final 22-7 defeat.

Bob DeTour had 23 carries for 75 yards; Junior Smith had eight carries for 18 yards; Carl Cook carried the ball four times with no yards gained; Hal Wright carried the ball 15 times for 40 yards and Manning Brown had one carry with a one-yard gain.

Five of Wright's 17 passes gained 33 yards. Woodcock caught two for 23 yards, Cook caught two for 10 and Smith caught one for no yards gained.

The Bulldogs will host the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes Friday night at 7:30 p.m. at the College stadium in the next conference game.

Practice begins for 2nd annual coed ball game

Practices for the second annual Powder-Puff football game have begun with the first one being held last evening.

Coaches and captains for the two teams were selected Monday, Sept. 18. Bob DeTour, sr, McPherson, and Chris Levi, sr, Berryville, Va., will be working with the junior and senior women during the five official practices to be scheduled.

George McNicholas, soph, McPherson, will assist the freshman and sophomore women.

Approximately 30 persons will be practicing for the annual game scheduled for Oct. 9. Roma Ralston, soph, Sheldon, Iowa, and Neva McNicholas, soph, McPherson, will be captains for the frosh-soph team.

Captains for the junior-senior team will be Lela Weddle, sr, Bloom, and Barbara Westray, sr, Key West, Fla.

"Official cheerleaders will be announced at a later date," Miss Westray stated.

Tuition grant is topic of KCCRC meeting at KWC

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of McPherson College, represented the College at a meeting of the Kansas Council of Church Related Colleges at Kansas Wesleyan University Sept. 19.

Discussion of the Kansas tuition grant program was the topic of concern at the meeting.

Students must pass exam in English to graduate

Prior to application for graduation or for enrollment in the teacher education program, all juniors and seniors are required to pass the English Proficiency Examination satisfactorily.

Offered at the beginning of each semester, the test consists of the writing of an expository essay in correct manuscript form and the establishing of an acceptable score on a standardized objective test.

Failure to receive a letter from the English Department requesting a student's presence at the examination does not exempt him from taking the test.

The English Department is not completely successful in notifying all students. It sends out the letters only as a courteous gesture.

Each individual student is responsible for seeing that he takes the test when he enters his junior year or, at the latest, his senior year. Students who fail the examination are required to complete the course requirements in "00 English Review."

This September, unlike previous years, 33 students were exempted from taking the proficiency examination on the basis of previous test scores (ACT, CEEB,) and course grades under Mrs. Homer E. Brunk, associate professor of English and journalism.

Of the 148 students who reported for the examination Sept. 2, 42 passed the test satisfactorily.

Those students who failed are presently enrolled in "00 English Review." Under the instruction of Mrs. Brunk and Dr. Harley Stump, professor of English, the class meets at 12 noon Tuesdays and Thursdays.

meet with Tabor College and Hesston Jr. College.

In the meet which was held at Tabor Sept. 18, McPherson placed first with a total score of 29 points. Tabor finished second with 36 points and Hesston was last with 33.

Graves, Tabor, placed first individually with a time of 17:29. Second and third places were won by Dave Shepherd and Dave Smith, both of McPherson, with times of 18:03 and 18:24, respectively.

Wayne Heskett and Ron Smith placed sixth and seventh, respectively, for McPherson. Heskett had a time of 18:39 and Smith was clocked at 18:46.

Prentis Porter and Steve Rodgers placed 11th and 12th, respectively, for the College team.

Wayne Heskett, Jr, Oakley, is the only two-year letterman for the cross-country team this year. Dave Shepherd, soph, Ft. Scott, and Dave Smith, soph, McCune, are one-year lettermen.

The Tabor meet was the first for Steve Rodgers, soph, Brooklyn, Iowa; Ron Smith, fr, Concordia, and Prentis Porter, fr, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Seven meets remain on the schedule this season. Kansas Wesleyan will be here Sept. 22 and Sterling Sept. 29. A five-team meet is scheduled here Oct. 6.

Emporia will be here Oct. 14, homecoming day, for the fifth meet of the season for the Bulldog squad. Sterling will host McPherson Oct. 20 and McPherson will see further action at Kansas Wesleyan Nov. 2.

The final meet of the season will be McPherson hosting the annual Kansas Collegiate Athletic Conference meet Nov. 14.

The Homecoming meet Oct. 14 will start and finish on the College Stadium field. All other meets are to be held at the Rolling Acres Golf Course.

College to host committee

McPherson College, as the central location of the six member colleges of ACCK, will host the Educational Policies Committee Tuesday, Sept. 26, at 4 p.m.

In its present capacity, the Educational Policies Committee receives and studies proposals pertaining to current and future projects of ACCK as submitted by the organization's 27 standing committees. It then makes recommendations to the Executive Committee (six college presidents) regarding the proposals.

The 18-member Educational Policies Committee is composed of the academic dean and two elected faculty members from each of the member colleges.

Dr. Merila Frantz, dean of academic affairs; Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, professor of chemistry; and Leiland Lengel, assistant professor of history and political science, will represent McPherson College at the meeting.

Dr. V. R. Easterling, president of ACCK and ex-officio member of the Educational Policies Committee, is the temporary chairman for one year.

Counselors take state-wide trips

Gene Myers, director of admissions, and Jerry Hendrick, Jr., admissions counselor, have begun the first of a series of trips to high schools and junior colleges within the state of Kansas.

Throughout the first semester Myers and Hendrick will contact counselors, teachers and students to explain the educational program offered at McPherson College.

"We want to emphasize that McPherson College is continually changing with new additions to the curriculum offered and to the faculty," Myers stated.

During the past week Myers was cordially received by counselors at Lyons, Salina and Lindsborg high schools. Hendrick returned this week from visiting Ellsworth, Sterling, Halstead and other central Kansas high schools.

"Any student who would like to stop at a school in Kansas to say hello to a teacher, relative or friend is invited to stop at the admissions office and let us know," Hendrick stated.

Approximately 185 high schools and 18 junior colleges with a total enrollment of 10,000 students will be contacted before Christmas.

Beginning Monday, Sept. 25, Myers will tour high schools in southwestern and western Kansas, visiting the Garden City, Dodge City and Hugoton areas. Hendrick will leave Sept. 26 to cover southeastern and southwestern Kansas, stopping in Wellington, Arkansas City, Eldorado and others.

Northcentral and northwest Kansas will be covered beginning Oct. 10.

Renown pianist to give first of 'Series' programs

James Dick, the world renown pianist from Hutchinson, will be featured in the first program of the 1967-68 McPherson College Cultural Series in a recital in Brown Auditorium, Oct. 15 at 3 p.m.

Other Cultural series performers include Roscoe Drummond, a journalist and syndicated columnist, Oct. 23; the duo-concert with Marilyn Neeley, pianist, and Joanna de Keyser, cellist, Feb. 19; and the Frula Folklore Ensemble, from Yugoslavia, March 24.

James Dick, the Hutchinson pianist who at age 25 tied for fifth place in the Tchaikovsky International Piano Competition in Moscow last June, was invited back to that city this year, during the competition, as a popular guest.

Dick earned his master's degree in Austin as a student of the late Dalies Frantz. He has studied at the Royal College of Music in London on a Fulbright Grant and has won honors in the highest piano competitions in the world.

Roscoe Drummond, who is considered one of the nation's leading news interpreters, is often called "Mr. Washington Correspondent" because of his four - times weekly column "Washington," which appears in over 100 newspapers from coast to coast.

Drummond began his career in journalism as a staff reporter with the Christian Science Monitor in 1924. He has written articles for many leading national magazines and appears frequently on radio and television forum programs.

The cello-piano duo of Marilyn Neeley and Joanna de Keyser was unanimously selected winner at the International Competition in Geneva, Switzerland.

Miss Neeley is on the faculty of the University of Southern California, and Miss de Keyser is on the music faculty at San Fernando Valley State College.

The final program of the Cultural Series, Fraula, features 35 dancers, singers, and instrumentalists from five prominent Eastern European folk ensembles and choruses.

It was organized two years ago to represent Yugoslavia at Canada's Expo 67 this summer.

Tickets for the Cultural Series will be available through the Alumni Office at the College.
