

Madrigals to make special appearances

Twelve students who sing together chiefly for the enjoyment they gain, are the McPherson College Madrigals.

The group, formed early last spring, is directed by Dr. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education for women.

Mrs. J. Jack Melhorn accompanies the group. However, many of the selections are performed a cappella.

The Madrigal's repertoire includes traditional madrigals which are a form of music from the 16th century. Early selections from the 12th through the 15th centuries and contemporary numbers are included in their sacred group.

When the Madrigals wish to sing in a lighter mood, they choose from their collection of contemporary secular and popular tunes.

Last year the Madrigals sang frequently at social clubs and church services. They also performed 35-40 minute programs for banquets.

This year's group has similar performances. They performed in chapel and have an engagement to sing for a club in McPherson.

Madrigal sopranos are Mary Ann Miller, Winona Achilles, and Gwendolyn Ditmars.

Alto include Glee Hoover, Mary Nell Hoover and Sylvia Wine.

Ken Dilling, Marlin Hoover and Mike Fox sing tenor in the group.

Basses are Roger Ditzler, Ray Landis and Paul Roth.

The group meets once a week. To explain the lack of more practices, Paul Roth explained, "Each of the Madrigals can lead in his own part, and the amount of experience each has had means a great deal can be accomplished with a minimum of practice."

Any member of the group or Dr. Coppock may be contacted to schedule a performance.

Stuco Makes appointments

Several items discussed at the Sept. 27 Student Council meeting should be noted by students.

John Bruzenas, soph. Elizabeth N. J., was appointed Assistant Treasurer of the Mac Shack.

Suzanne Nachtigal, fr. Buhler; Donna Danials, fr. Scott City and Richard Fear, fr. Newark, N. J., were appointed to fill vacancies on the Poster Booster Committee.

The Four Freshmen concert, scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 14 has been cancelled due to illness to one of the members.

Cast readies for play

The cast is busy putting on the finishing touches in preparation for "The Guardsman," which will initiate this year's Homecoming activities, Oct. 12, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Una Yoder, assistant professor in English, speech and theater, director of the three-act comedy, said that members of the cast have been "polishing their lines."

The Actor, played by Terry Johnson, fr. Wilmington, Del., is the main character in the play. He is on stage all but a few minutes of the hour and 45 minutes play.

The leading lady, The Actress, is played by Jean Weatherbie, soph, Salt Lake City.

Mrs. Yoder commented that construction of the two sets was "coming along very well." One set is a sitting room scene and the other is an opera box scene.

The play will be staged two nights: Thursday, Oct. 12, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 14, at 8 p.m.

McPherson College Players are urging students to attend the first performance since a large crowd is expected Saturday night, due to alumni and visitors who will be on campus during Homecoming weekend.

Adult tickets will sell for $1 each, and student tickets for $0.75 each. McPherson College students will be admitted on tickets, which may be obtained by showing student identification cards.

Melhorn, Frantz will participate in conferences

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, and Dr. Merlin L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, will be in Washington, D. C., Oct. 11-13.

Dr. Melhorn and Dr. Frantz will be attending a series of conferences on education. They will participate in a committee meeting of Brethren Colleges Abroad on Oct. 11.

Both will be present at the American Council on Education Conference Oct. 12 and 13. Dr. Frantz will also attend the Associated Organization for Teacher Education Conference.

Dr. Melhorn and Dr. Frantz will also be checking with federal authorities on grant and loan programs to higher education.

Snyder leads new B-team

Five peppy B-team cheerleaders were elected by the student body after tryouts in Convocations last Thursday.

The five cheerleaders are Lesa Snyder, soph., Liberty, Neb.; Roma Ralston, soph. Sheldon, Iowa; Lynn Van Wickler, fr., Long Island, N. Y.; Raynell Houck, fr., Newark, Del.; and Ricci Mayo, fr., Omaha, Neb.

Miss Snyder has had previous experience as a cheerleader. In high school she was a cheerleader for two years and was a B-team cheerleader last year. She is captain for the B-team this year. Miss Snyder is anticipating a good season for the Bulldogs.

Miss Van Wickler has also had one year experience as a cheerleader in high school. She is very happy to be cheering for McPherson. She is majoring in physical education.

"I am very proud to represent McPherson," says Miss Ralston. She was a cheerleader all four years in high school. Miss Ralston is a physical education major.

Miss Houck feels very happy about being a cheerleader and thinks that it is the greatest thing that has happened to her. She was a cheerleader for one year in high school. She is also majoring in physical education.

"This will be my first experience as a cheerleader and I am very happy about being elected," Miss Mayo said. She is an English major.

Parade of floats will highlight Homecoming

Decorations for the 1967 McPherson College Homecoming will be based on the theme, "It's a Novel Homecoming."

The dual meaning of this theme is especially significant. Not only will it be the basis for float decorations with titles taken from books, but it also suggests the changes that mark this year's activities.

For the first time, a parade of at least ten floats will proceed down McPherson's Main Street, 10:30 Saturday morning. Housing decorations will also be ready for the weekend display.

Entries in campus decorations competition will be of these two categories: housing decorations and mobile floats.

Raber will be available for individual student consultation

Merrill Raber, psychiatric social worker from Prairie View Clinic in Newton, will be on campus each Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 5 p.m. for individual student consultations.

Appointments may be made with Mrs. Madonna Reynolds, in room 107 Mohler Hall. Raber's office will be located in Arnold Hall.

Concert pianist to play at first Cultural Series

Student admission to the McPherson College Cultural Series has been included in the $45 activity fee this year.

Presentation of student identification cards will be the admission ticket to each program.

James Dick, world renown Hutchinson-born concert pianist, will be featured in the first program of the 1967-68 McPherson College Cultural Series scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 15 at 3 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

The second Cultural Series program will include a lecture by Roscoe Drummond, a journalist and syndicated columnist, Monday, Oct. 23 at 8:30 p.m.

Marilyn Neeley, pianist, and Joanna de Keyser, cellist, will present a duo-concert Monday evening, Feb. 19. The concluding performance, Sunday, March 24, will feature the 35-member Frula Folklore Ensemble from Yugoslavia.

General admission for adults will be $2.50. Grade school, high school, and other college students will be admitted for $1.75. Cultural series tickets will be available through the College Alumni Office.

New library will be built to accommodate enrollment

By LARRY MARCELLUS

"There is a very good reason for building a new library," said Miss Virginia Harris, head librarian at McPherson College, "and that is space." She made the statement while sitting at a desk in the technical processing room — an area which she is now using also as her office.

The office of the librarian has been taken over by microfilm and copying equipment, forcing Miss Harris to set up temporary quarters in an area which is surrounded by books to be catalogued and repaired.

Because of the lack of stack area, various sections have had to be moved around in the library to accommodate a steadily decreasing study area.

A wing was added to Beeghly Library in 1961, extending the floor space to 6,650 square feet. McPherson then had an enrollment of less than 350 students and 16,000 bound volumes were in the stacks.

Today, the enrollment is nearly 800, and there are 39,000 bound volumes plus nearly 5,000 volumes of unbound periodicals — and still only 6,650 square feet of floor space.

In order that the volumes now in the library be housed, it has been necessary to abridge reader space. With the growing enrollment, reader space is rapidly being depleted.

Added to this is the fact that many books and periodicals are piled on tables because of the lack of space for proper stacking.

The suggested minimum number of bound volumes for a school the size of McPherson is 50,000, and the suggested study area per student is 25 to 30 square feet, which includes the aisle space, the table and the chair.

A new library, now being planned for McPherson College, will be a three-story structure containing approximately 38,000 square feet of floor space, and housing at least 120,000 volumes.

The first level will be partially below grade, forming a pedestal for the cantilevered second and third levels.

In a structure the size of this, cost and revenue sources are vital factors to consider. The cost is expected to be $950,000. Of this amount, the federal government will grant the College one third provided the remaining two thirds is made up through loans and gifts.

In laying out the basic requirements to the architect, the Library Committee said in part: "The college library should be the most important intellectual resource of the academic community. Its services should be geared to fulfill the College's general program and to meet the specific educational objectives of the institution."

The McPherson College library should, as should any college library, make possible the use of books, periodicals and other library materials to support the instructional program of the College.

The seating capacity of the new building should be based on the anticipated growth over a twenty-year period. Accommodations for at least one-third of the student body will be essential.

McPherson anticipates a growth of 400 students, or 50 per cent of its present student body, within the next five years. This represents a growth of nearly 400 per cent since the wing was added to the library in 1961.

The Library Committee has anticipated such a growth, and has had the building designed to accommodate it.

NEW LIBRARY IS NEEDED! Miss Virginia Harris, librarian, right, and Mrs. Leslie Fraley work in crowded library room, which shows the need for more space.

Debate team begins practice

"Resolved: The federal government shall guarantee a minimum annual cash income to all citizens."

This is the National Debate Topic the McPherson College debate team, under the guidance of Robert Green, assistant professor in English, will debate this year.

The teams began practice this week. There are four regular members and four alternates.

The team will go on several trips during the year, mostly to nearby states. The first tournament will be at Emporia, Oct. 26 and 28.

They will go to Ada, Okla., the last of November and to Detroit for the national debate tournament later in the year.

An invitational debate tournament will be held in McPherson this spring. Invitations will go out to nearly 50 Midwestern schools.

Prof. Green feels the debate topic has good possibilities. Although the issue is not of immediate importance to the general public, it is of current interest to the federal government.

Any student interested in debating this year may contact Prof. Green.

Should act before Stuco

It is certainly evident that there is a lack of communication between the students and members of the Student Council.

Only a short time ago, the Student Council voted in favor of having a big-name group on campus for Homecoming. The following day, a petition signed by 25 students who did not think there should be a big-name group on campus during Homecoming, was presented to the Stuco president. A special meeting of the Stuco was held that following night and the decision to have a big-name group held ground.

Also, just recently, students took it upon themselves to go against Student Council action concerning movable floats. In this case, as well as the first, there was a lack of communication between the Student Council and other members of the student body.

It would be most beneficial if students would take a greater interest in their Student Council before it has acted rather than waiting until the Council has already acted. They could do this by contacting class representatives to the Council or by attending the open meetings themselves.

If the Student Council would post subjects which would be discussed in the next Council meeting, students would have time to contact their representatives to let them know what the general feeling was concerning that subject. This might, in time, lead to a clearer and more rapid communication between students and the Student Council.

First ACCK meet is held at KWU

"What is English?" is not the pertinent question, was the British opinion at the Dartmouth Conference in 1966. It might be better rephrased, "What does the English teacher do?" With the difference lying in what he does, not in what subject matter he teaches.

So began the first conference sponsored by Associated Colleges of Central Kansas at Kansas Wesleyan University.

As the conference progressed, various controversies in methods and issues being proposed for improving the English curriculum became evident.

The extent of the controversy became apparent as the three speakers offered their opinions on which is more important:

Student advocates an introduction of soccer as varsity, intramural sport

Dear Editor:

Soccer is the fastest growing sport in America today.

Soccer has always been to the European countries what baseball has been to us, where a national pastime is concerned.

Only recently however, has soccer begun to grow tremendously in popularity in this country.

Soccer has long been the big fall sport in most Northeastern prep schools and colleges. This is due to two factors, low cost, and school interest and support.

A soccer team is a relatively low-cost unit to operate. The sport requires only a game uni-literature or grammar.

Don Eulert, professor at the University of New Mexico, felt that more important than learning how to describe a language (grammar) was learning how to use it fluently and expressing oneself.

Dr. Frank Rice, University of Nebraska, offered the viewpoint that twice as much time should be spent on literature as on language and composition. Young people need to be taught how to enjoy literature.

Representing a more conservative viewpoint, Dr. Helen Throckmorton, Wichita State University, stated that it is not so much what subject matter the instructor teaches as what he does with it.

form, shin pads, leggings and several practices and game balls.

In most schools, there is usually sufficient student interest and desire to participate to warrant the forming of a team. This is true of McPherson College.

The soccer season, in most leagues, will run through mid-November, about the same duration as most football schedules.

Due to the almost identical season lengths of these sports, some people are inclined to think that a conflict of interests will arise.

"Of course I know the value of an education, that's why I don't want to take Bonehead."

Student questions exam

By DAVE SOVCHEN
The English Proficiency Exam was administered to one hundred and forty-eight potential graduates of McPherson College, Sept. 3. From this mass of future alumni only forty-two successfully passed.

These current figures and the figures of past exams point to the fact that somewhere along the line, something is wrong. It does not seem logical that students, having completed two years of college and six hours of Written Communications cannot pass a grammar and written essay exam.

It seems evident that the circumstances and figures have pressed upon students and faculty a time for review of the results and the implications of the English Proficiency Exam.

What are the reasons for the mass failures on this examination? With whom does the fault lie? Is it students, administration, faculty, or a conglomeration of all three? More important, what can be done to remedy the situation?

It seems to be forgotten that these students will one day represent McPherson College as its "finished product." If it is not, a review of the policy is certainly in order.

There are many alternatives to choose from if a review is decided upon as being necessary. Should the examination be disposed of? Should more English be included in the general curriculum? Should the current Written Communications courses be revamped? The circumstances and figures seem to call for something to be done.

Any letter from faculty or student explaining the recent examination results or offering solutions, view points, or comments on this subject would be deeply appreciated by the future graduates of McPherson College.

Court will recommend elimination of program

By SUSAN SELL

Student Court has recommended to the Student Council that the Three Point Program be eliminated.

The program has formerly been the policy of the Court regarding infractions of the ruling that there be no smoking or consumption-possession of alcoholic beverages in the dormitories or at any other place on McPherson College campus.

The Three Point Program is as follows:

1. Any student who violates either point of the above stated ruling as a first offense shall be reported to the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women for counseling.

2. A second violation of the same point of the above-stated rule shall result in disciplinary probation for said student.

Observations

by JAN PYLE

On Money

On an average dollar bill
All over George's face,
A million filthy virus germs
Propagate their race.

Merrily they play away
While we just pass the buck.

Oblivious of our using them,
Germs have all the luck.

If they but knew, the coccus crew
Would split their sides for sure
To know they helped buy Ivory soap.

(Now what could be so pure?)
If only the Board of Health would stop
And think of kids who sneezed
On pennies, nickles and dollar bills
And made grown-ups diseased.

Who knows where our pennies have been?
We might have a twenty with mumps.

Or a nickel that's been handled by
A kid with strange little bumps.

Let's get the federal government
To pass a welfare bill
To clean up our economy
So we won't all get ill.

We call ourselves civilized
But we fall short, it seems
How can we appreciate things
Bought with such dirty means.

What is the contaminated stuff anyway, that modern antiseptic man is mindful of it??

Church of Brethren starts college class

A church school class for college students, which meets each Sunday from 9 to 9:30 a.m., has been organized at the Church of the Brethren.

Advised by David Eiler, assistant professor of philosophy and religion, the class will have a flexible program, perhaps even dividing into smaller groups as the interests of the class are determined.

Currently, the class is located in the main social room of the church basement.

Pairs and Spares, a class for married couples and older students, meets at the same time in the Southwest corner of the sanctuary. Leland Lengel, assistant professor of history and political science, and Carol and Dale Neal lead the group.

Bulldogs try for first win

"I see another tough ball club for us. They do things differently than other teams. They are big and aggressive, but not as fast as Southwestern."

These comments were made by Head Coach Dwight McSpadden while he and the Bulldogs were preparing to meet Friends University at Wichita, Saturday, 7:30 p.m.

"Our main objective this week, defensively, is to tighten our pass defense. Friends has a good receiver, Charles Kelley, halfback, who gained 112 yards last week against Bethel," McSpadden commented.

"Friends also has a good quarterback in Ron Simmons, and their fullback, Joe Pagan, is an excellent running back."

Friends' offensive attack is an "I" formation with a split end. They have rushed more than passed in previous games, with Pagan carrying the ball 27 times against Bethel.

The main defense Friends will use is the 5-2 invert, which means Friends will have four safety men back to cover for passes.

The Bulldogs offensive task this week will be, "to get our offense going. We have to start scoring some points if we are going to win," McSpadden said.

3 players get recognition

Three Bulldogs received recognition for their outstanding play in the McPherson-Southwestern clash last Saturday.

The team elected D. Moore, soph, Council Grove, as player of the week for his outstanding defensive play as linebacker.

The Monday Morning Quarterback Club selected two candidates as players of the week: Tom Brubaker, sr, Rocky Ford, Colo., and Hal Wright, soph, Dwight.

Moore made 3 unassisted and 15 assisted tackles. He stated that Southwestern had good speed and depth, but the Bulldogs could not get started.

"If we get our offensive moving, and tighten our defense, we should be able to handle Friends Saturday," Moore concluded.

From Brubaker's defensive position, he made 4 unassisted and 18 assisted tackles against the Moundbuilders.

"Southwestern is big and mobile, no doubt the best team we have played this season," Brubaker stated.

"Friends has about the same team as last year. We are looking forward to starting our season against them."

Wright scored the only Bulldog touchdown, and his passes were on target most of the time.

He also agrees that Southwestern is the best team the Bulldogs have faced.

Sportscope Three teams vie for first place

By MIKE THOMPSON

The conference is tough this year, with many teams having an eye on the number one position. As usual, it looks like Ottawa and Southwestern are the teams to beat, but Baker is a rising power.

Baker, Ottawa and Southwestern all have 3-0 records, and Southwestern played St. Mary's of the Plains to a 0-0 tie in a non-league game.

This week's games stack up something like this:

Bethel at Sterling — Bethel is looking for victory number one. They won't get it this week. Sterling 21 — Bethel 6.

KWU at Baker — KWU has Fahrigh, but Baker is making a run for the crown. Baker 23 — KWU 13.

McPherson at Friends — The "Dogs" are hungry. This will be the game of the week. McPherson 14 — Friends 7.

Ottawa at C of E — C of E is tough at home, but they can't match the Braves anywhere. Ottawa 36 — C of E 10.

Southwestern at Bethany — The Swedes' fortunes are running low this year and Southwestern doesn't want a blemish on their record. Southwestern 33 — Bethany 13.

Wright concluded by saying, "Friends is going to be tough, but we are going to win."

Shepherd paces team to second C-C victory

Dave Shepherd came in first with a time of 16:45 to lead the McPherson cross-country team to its second victory in three outings, by defeating Sterling College 17-38.

Ron Smith and Wayne Heskett placed second and third, respectively, for McPherson with times of 16:56 and 17:06.

Prentis Porter was fifth in 17:24 and Steve Rogers sixth in 17:27, for McPherson.

Dave Smith did not run for the College team because of a broken bone in his foot.

McCreary had the fastest time for Sterling with a time of 17:15, which was good for fourth place.

The next meet will be held here tomorrow, with teams from Sterling College, Tabor College, Kansas Wesleyan University and College of Emporia.

Central to sponsor four wildlife films

The Audobon Wildlife film, "Inherit the Wild," will be shown at McPherson Junior High School Friday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Powder-Puff teams to play

The annual Powder-Puff football game with the junior and senior women vs the freshmen and sophomore women will be held Monday, Oct. 9, at 6:15 p.m.

The junior and senior women defeated the freshmen and sophomore women last year 14-12.

Chris Levi, sr, Berryville, Va., and Bob DeTour, sr, McPherson, will be coaching the upper-class women.

Coaching the underclass women will be George McNicholas, sr, McPherson, and Alex Rygas, sr, McPherson.

Candidates for the Powder-Puff football king are John Lane, jr, Piqua, Ohio; Frank Falciola, jr, Ridgefield, N. J.; and Denny Martin, jr, Pasadena, Calif.

The Freshmen candidates are Gary Lydie, jr, Dayton, Ohio; Ron Picklesimer, jr, Lima, Ohio; Charlie McBride, jr, Fredricksburg, Iowa; and Stu Baker, jr, Litchburg, Conn.

Mrs. J. Jack Melhorn will crown the king.

The cheerleaders for Levi's Lovers are Denny Dahlquist, sr, Alexandria, Va.; Fred Henderson, sr, Kokomo, Ind.; and Cliff Gates, sr, Alexandria, Va.

Tim Standaer, jr, Worthington, Minn.; Stan Bucher, soph., Lebanon, Pa.; Jon Strom, soph, Worthington, Minn.; and Rick

Southwestern topples Bulldogs

The Southwestern Builders avenged last year's defeat last Saturday night by beating the McPherson College Bulldogs 47 to 6 in a Kansas Conference game.

This was Southwestern's third conference victory of the season and McPherson's third loss.

Southwestern is tied for the Kansas College Athletic Conference lead with Ottawa and Baker.

A 65-yard run by Bob Strano highlighted Southwestern's victory.

"Southwestern is a fine ball club. They came to play ball. We got ourselves in trouble immediately when we had our punts blocked, which gave them a score right away," Head Coach Dwight McSpadden stated.

The score was 26-0 at the half time. Southwestern scored two more in the third period and added one in the fourth. McPherson's only score came on a five yard run by quarterback, Hal Wright.

Novak, Holden Star in 'Picnic'

The movie "Picnic," filmed in Hutchinson and Halstead, will be shown Friday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

William Holden, a reckless adventurer, appears in a small Kansas town, upsetting the life of Kim Novak, a bored coquette.

People of McPherson and other communities, appear as extras in "Picnic."

A donation of 50 cents will be asked for this color feature.

The movie schedule for this year will include: "World of Suzie Wong," Oct. 20; "Curse of the Werewolf," Nov. 3; "Anatomy of a Murder," Dec. 1; "Alice in Wonderland," Dec. 15.

3rd Fahnestock leads in intramural volleyball

Undefeated third floor Fahnestock leads the intramural volleyball league with eight wins. The Courts are in second place with six wins and one loss. Third place is taken by third floor Metzler Hall with six wins and two losses.

Two teams are tied for fourth place. First floor Bittinger shares the standing with second floor Fahnestock. Both teams have four wins and three losses.

Sixth place is occupied by third floor Bittinger, recording three wins and four losses.

Second floor Metzler is in seventh place with three wins and six losses.

Positions eight, nine, and ten are taken by second floor Bittinger, first floor Metzler and first floor Fahnestock with records of 1-5, 1-6, and 0-6, respectively.

Two McPherson College coeds spend exciting summer traveling and working Although McPherson students are fully involved in school activities again, memories of summer still linger.

Sylvia Wine, Jr., Maumee, Ohio, worked for the Lucas County Child Welfare Board as a case aid this summer.

Her responsibilities were those of a regular caseworker in a county which includes Toledo, Ohio, and surrounding areas.

Sylvia took the place of a practicing caseworker who was vacationing in Europe for the summer. Her caseload consisted of 40 cases involving 125 children.

Her duties included visiting families of the children involved, visiting children placed in foster homes, and visiting children in the Miami Children's Center, a county operated institution.

Sylvia felt some of her most interesting experiences were representing the agency in two permanent and one temporary custody hearings before a court referee at the Family Court Center.

Judy Deahl, Jr., Unionville, Iowa, was one of 25 students who participated in a German work program this summer sponsored by a German airline.

The group left New York on May 29 and flew to London. They went to Dover by train and then took a channel boat to Oostede.

From there they went to Amsterdam and then went by car to Koblenz, Germany. Their next stop was Frankfurt, where the headquarters of the work program is located.

Judy then went to Eutin, where she worked for two months. The town is located in northern Germany near Denmark.

She left Eutin Aug. 2 and visited several Scandinavian countries, including Norway, Sweden and Denmark. She then visited Hamburg, Berlin, Vienna and Innsbruck.

From there Judy went to Zurich and Lucerne. She flew to Paris and arrived in London Aug. 27. The next day she returned home.

She felt that her adventure was a very good experience for her. Although she does not speak German, she could communicate with the people and make many friends.

Judy greatly enjoyed her trip and hopes to return to Europe sometime in the future.

SNEA boosts members to 95 following drive

The Maurice A. Hess chapter of the Student National Education Association boosted its membership to 95 following a week-long membership drive.

A few more students are expected to join and boost the total over 100.

Membership in the organization entitles the member to receive two publications each month: the NEA Journal, which is published by the National Education Association and the Kansas Teacher, which is a Kansas State Teachers Association publication.

Members are urged to attend monthly meetings the second Wednesday of each month.

The first meeting, featuring a panel discussion on "The Psychology of Discipline," will be held Oct. 11 at 7 p.m. in 212 Mohler.

Teachers from three levels of education will discuss questions on discipline and the problems involved.

The panel will be composed of Dr. Galen R. Snell, assistant dean of student affairs and dean of men; Charles Watkins, principal of Buhler High School; and Mrs. Harley Stump, fifth grade teacher at Park Elementary School in McPherson.

They will discuss the question, "When does discipline become too strict?" In addition to other questions prepared by the program committee, the panel members will discuss problems proposed by the group.

Anyone interested in education may attend the SNEA meetings.

NCTA will present three productions in Brown

By DIANNE WARNKE
Brown Auditorium will be overflowing with children of all ages when the National Children's Theater Association of New York and Dallas presents three dramatic productions.

The group, which is sponsored by the McPherson, Kansas Chapter of the American Association of University Women, is an all adult professional cast of actors.

Costumes, scenery, and stage props are colorful and appealing to children.

"Hansel and Gretel" will be presented Thursday, Nov. 2. This well loved fairy tale from the Brothers Grimm provides plenty of action and suspense for the audience.

On Monday, Feb. 5, "Young Arthur and Merlin the Magician" will be given. The play is taken from an original script by Marion Ostrander, who was inspired by "Camelot."

It tells the story of Arthur's boyhood on a medieval estate of his foster father, with Merlin, the wonderful magician, as his tutor.

"King Midas and the Golden Touch" will be presented Friday, Mar. 29. This is the charming story of a greedy king and his beautiful daughter.

All performances start at 4 p.m.

Season tickets are $1.50 for children and adults. Single admission will be 75c.

Season tickets will be sold at the Auditorium. Mrs. J. Jack Melborn is chairman of ticket sales. She may be contacted for tickets and information at 241-4520.

Tickets will also be available from members of the American Association of University Women.

Convocations will feature three speakers

Three guest speakers will be featured at the Homecoming Convocations held Thursday, Oct. 12.

Ted Washburn, assistant superintendent of the McPherson school system, will preside at the Convocations. He is a member of the class of 1943.

M. Clare Miller and Ernest Peterson will speak about their professions: how one may "get into" the profession, its advantages, and any interesting experiences they have encountered.

Peterson, a certified public accountant and a partner in a Wichita accountant firm, is also a member of the class of 1943. One of three alumni representatives to the McPherson College Trustee Board, he is the board's secretary.

Miller, president of San-Ore Construction Company, Inc., a local industry, has been on the board of the national Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the class of 1929.

Green tells of adventure in Nigeria

By JAN PYLE

Have you ever helped deliver a baby?

Carlos Green, jr., Cascade Locks, Ore., recalls helping an African mother deliver a baby in an African compound. His pickup truck got stuck in the mud on the way to the hospital.

For two years he served under the Brethren Volunteer Service in Lassa, Nigeria.

Assigned to replace a missionary by the Foreign Mission Commission of the Church of the Brethren, Green introduced farmers to crop rotation, fertilizers, and more modern cultivation methods (oxen replaced the short hand hoe).

Grown in northern Nigeria are cotton, peanuts and sorghum, which is ground into flour and boiled to make a porridge.

Altogether Green could converse in four African languages, and, of these, he knew two languages well, Hausa and Fulani. He also preached to the natives in Hausa.

"Even now African words such as kai (golly) and hubba (try gosh) creep into my conversation," he stated.

Since he traveled 10,000 miles in his two years on motorcycle working with the natives, he often stayed overnight in their compounds.

"They would kill a chicken and have rice if they knew I was coming," he reminisced with a smile.

The typical compound was a wall encircling two mud houses (one for the husband and another for the wife and children), a mud hut for cooking and one for the sheep and goats.

Green stayed in a small two-room apartment on a missionary compound. For fifty cents a week, a houseboy would clean, wash and iron for him. He ate with the missionaries, who owned a fruit orchard and a vegetable garden. Supplementing his native diet were such delicacies as guavas, mangoes, bananas and grapefruits.

Snakes were abundant in the region; Green caught an eight-foot python that had been eating chickens in the mission chickenhouse.

Baboon hunting occasionally became necessary when these animals invaded the compound. To kill them, guns were used.

One of the highlights of his African stay was a visit to the game reserve in the French Cameroons, east of Nigeria, in West Africa. Here he came face to face with elephants, giraffe, antelope and lions.

Since the nearest college-age people were 150 miles away, he had relatively little social life with Americans. Enjoyable to him were the dances held outdoors once a month under the full moon.

Green had a first-hand glimpse of the Church of the Brethren program in action. The Church baptized 3,000 natives during the last two years.

The precarious political conflict in Nigeria did not touch

Lassa directly. The federal government is openly fighting Biafra, a region of Nigeria, over oil deposits in Biafra.

Since Green left northern Nigeria, the airport from which he left the country has been bombed by Biafran troops. His region was under the federal government.

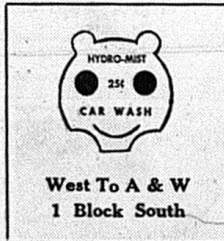

Recently Russia has sent MIG jets to help the federal government suppress Biafra.

On his return trip, he traveled through Europe, touring Rome, Paris, and London.

In summing up his African experience, Green stated, "Now I have a much broader appreciation of American life, and a feeling of gratitude for the experience of living in a culture so completely different from ours."
