

President tells of new faculty

New faculty appointments were announced this week from the office of the president.

Dale C. Goldsmith, Chicago, will assume duties in the department of philosophy and religion. He graduated summa cum laude from Princeton University, receiving the AB degree in religion and literature, and obtained the MA degree from the Divinity School of the University of Chicago in Bible. He has all of the work completed at the University of Chicago for his PhD except for the dissertation, which he is presently writing.

Last year Mr. Goldsmith was professor of Biblical literature at Baptist Seminary of Mexico, Mexico City, D. F.

He has traveled in Sweden, Costa Rica and Mexico, and is presently living in Chicago where he is studying under a Rockefeller Theological Scholarship.

The Goldsmiths have three children, John, 9, Katherine, 7, and Janet, 1.

James A. Baxter has been appointed to the sociology department.

He has received the AB degree from Transylvania College in mathematics, the STB degree from Boston University in theology, and the MA degree from Boston University in sociology and social ethics.

His thesis for the MA degree is entitled "Boston Hippies."

Mr. Baxter has held several Methodist pastorates, and has been director of the Marblehead Arts Festival, the Fair-housing Association, the Family Counseling Center, and a senior citizens program.

The Baxters have two children, Lynn, 8, and Daniel, 3.

An appointment to the French department is J. Michel Fulgraff, a graduate of the University of Strasbourg. He now holds the position as instructor in French and English at the Lycee Bartholde in Colmar, France.

Mr. Fulgraff has passed the French examinations with the equivalency of a masters degree, and is preparing a thesis for the third cycle, which is work beyond the masters.

Ray Landis gives recital

Ray Landis, a senior from Dayton, Ohio, will present a Senior Vocal Music Recital in Brown Auditorium at 3 p.m. on Sunday, May 18.

The recital will include two groups of Italian Art Songs and two German Lieder. The final group consists of three numbers from the second set of Old American Songs by Aaron Copland.

Landis is under the instruction of Robert Mesrobian, visiting lecturer in fine arts for the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas.

Patricia Hayes, sr. Geneseo, will be the accompanist for the recital.

Landis has participated in the A Cappella Choir, the Macollege Madrigals, the College Band, and has been a member of the Music Educators National Conference on campus.

During the 1969 Interterm Landis participated in the ACK Opera, "Voyage to the Moon." Currently he is student teaching at the McPherson Junior High School.

Festival features composer Dello Joio

Norman Dello Joio, a Pulitzer Prize-winning American composer, was the special guest composer for the second annual Festival of the 20th Century Music which began May 7 and continued until May 9 at Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia.

The Festival completed the second year of the Kansas Co-operative College Composers Project involving KSTC, Community Junior Colleges at Hutchinson and Kansas City and Tabor College, Hillsboro. This year McPherson College was included in the Festival in a joint band production with Tabor.

Dello Joio attended the Juliard School of Music and Yale University where he studied with Paul Hindemith. He has been on the faculty of Sarah Lawrence College and currently is professor of composition at Mannes College of Music.

His honors and awards include two New York Music Critics Circle Awards, the Pulitzer Prize in 1967 for "Mediations on Ecclesiastes" for string orchestra, the Lancaster Symphony Composers Award for 1967.

Many of his works were included in the Emporia Festival programs. The Tabor-McPherson band performed works from "The Louvre" on Friday, May 9 at 2 p.m.

Mac ends activities

The dwindling days of the 1968-69 school year are filled with closing activities.

J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, spoke at the last Convocation this morning, marking the beginning of the end.

Today was also the last day of classes; tomorrow, McPherson's annual All Schools Day will give students one last holiday before exams.

Monday through Thursday, May 19-22, final examinations will be given.

Alumni Day is Saturday, May 24. The classes of 1919, 1929 and 1944 will hold reunions, and the annual alumni banquet will take place in the evening.

The seniors' final day is Sunday, May 25, with Commencement exercises beginning at 2 p.m.

All dormitories close at 12 noon Monday, May 26. Dorm deposits will be returned upon checking out.

Food service continues through noon Sunday, May 25. Final grades will be sent as soon as they are available.

New catalog gives dates

McPherson academic calendar for 1969-70 has been announced in the new college catalog.

Enrollment for fall term will be Sept. 3 and 4, with classes beginning Sept. 5.

The 1969-70 catalog displays a bright cover, new shape and campus life pictures. The areas and courses of study are printed on green pages for easy location.

Advance placement tests for the sciences, mathematics and foreign languages will be given during enrollment. Times and places will be posted.

Thanksgiving vacation will be Nov. 26-28, and fall term examinations will be given Dec. 15-18.

Two faculty members will be on leave throughout the year. Leslie Fraley, Jr., assistant professor of physics, will continue on leave, and Dr. Harley Stump, professor of English, will be on sabbatical leave.

Faculty returning to campus are Dr. John H. Burkholder, professor of biology, and Alvin E. Williams, associate professor in industrial arts education.

'Collage' sales to begin soon

McPherson College's literary magazine "Collage" will go on sale this week.

Representative of the various writers on campus, Collage contains a short story, written oration, prose, quotations, art work, Laikus, sonnets and other forms of poetry.

Fasnacht, Williams to speak May 24, 25

Two McPherson College alumni, Dr. Harold Fasnacht and Dr. Charles G. Williams, will be speaking during alumni and graduation weekend May 24 and 25.

Dr. Fasnacht, '29, will speak at the annual alumni banquet on Saturday, May 24. Now retired, he served as president of LaVerne College, Calif., from 1948-1968.

Dr. Fasnacht has also held various responsibilities at Colorado Women's College and was active in higher education on the west coast.

He has been active in church work and has served a term as chairman of the Church of the Brethren General Brotherhood Board.

Dr. Williams, a 1947 graduate of the College, will speak at Commencement Sunday, May 25, at 2:30 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Dr. Williams is presently director for religion for Lill Endowment, Inc. He has served in the ministry and as vice-president of Los Angeles Pacific College, Calif., and Spring Arbor College, Mich.

Following study at McPherson, he graduated from Asbury Theological Seminary in 1951 and did graduate work at Michigan State University in 1961 and 1962.

He was also granted the Doctor of Humanities degree from Asbury.

Dr. Williams' topic for Commencement is "The Search for an Authentic Revolution."

A reception for graduates, parents and friends following Commencement will be given at 4 p.m. in the Student Union.

In addition to the Alumni Banquet, other alumni day activities include the semi-annual board meeting and anniversary reunions for the classes of 1919, 1929 and 1944.

Five alumni of the class of 1929 will receive citations of merit at the banquet. They include Arch Blinkenstaff, presently executive secretary of the Continental Insurance Company, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Maynard Booth, former representative of the Canadian Bible Society;

Dr. Oliver S. Kenberry, professor of education, Georgia Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., and president emeritus of Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va.;

M. Clare Miller, president of San-Ore Construction Company, McPherson; and Dr. Fasnacht, Commencement speaker.

Attendance policy for Convo changes

The standardization of Thursday morning convocation attendance has been nullified. The convocations committee has made the following changes with faculty approval:

1. That there be ten required convocations per regular term to be fulfilled by ten Thursday morning and/or approved evening convocations events. Those Thursday morning programs to be omitted would be two at the mid-term and one immediately preceding finals week.

2. That the following events as well as Thursday morning convocations are accepted as guidelines for approval for the fall semester, 1969; McPherson College Cultural Series, ACK or McPherson College Orchestra Concerts, ACK or McPherson College Band Concerts, McPherson College Choir concerts, ACK or McPherson College Major Dramatic productions,

Seniors sign contracts

An additional six seniors have signed teaching contracts for the 1969-70 school year.

Students who have signed are Jim Allen, Yonkers, N. Y., social science, Bureau of Indian Affairs; Jim Beachell, Princeton, N. J., industrial arts; Daryl Harris, Colorado Springs, Colo., industrial arts, Quince, Wash.; Mrs. Doris Napier, McPherson, home economics, Goessel; Don Reese, Barrington, N. J., industrial arts, Dover, Del.; and William Rhinehart, McPherson, biology, Moravia, Ia.

Sociologists hold meetings

J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, and Robert Keim, assistant professor in sociology, were among 300 sociologists attending the regional meeting of the Sociological Society at the Lincoln-Sheraton Hotel, Indianapolis, May 13.

The joint meeting of the Ohio Valley Association and Midwest Society was moved to Indianapolis from Chicago in protest of the conduct of the Democratic National Convention last summer.

Major papers, speeches and book exhibits were among the formal business, and Prof. Keim and Dr. Melhorn commented on the enjoyable experience of meeting old friends.

Prof. Keim attended meetings in the areas of The Sociology of Creativity and Social Movement in Primary Groups, while Dr. Melhorn attended Social Stratification, Symbolic Interaction, Sociological Theory, and Sociologist as Administrator.

Next year's meeting will be held in St. Louis.

Harris tells new library hours

Library hours for All Schools Day tomorrow will be 8-11 a.m. and 1:30-5 p.m., Miss Virginia Harris, librarian, has announced.

Regular hours will be maintained through Wednesday, May 21. The library will close at 5 p.m. on Thursday, May 22.

Summer library hours, beginning Friday, May 23, will be 8-12 noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Women choose new council

Women's Council has selected new members and officers for the next year.

Lilli Ann Wivell, jr, Columbia, Pa., will serve as president. Vice-president is Sue Arnesen, jr, Oak Park, Ill. Marcia Bryan, soph, Canton, was chosen as recording secretary and treasurer. Jean Warnke, fr, Elgin, Ill., will be corresponding secretary and publicity chairman.

The new members are Lana Jo Myers, fr, Adel, Iowa; Kay Cushing, jr, Crestwood, Mo.; Kathy Shields, fr, McPherson; and Jean Warnke.

ACK or McPherson College Faculty Recitals;

3. That a list of Thursday morning convocations and approved evening events be published for each student at the beginning of each term;

4. That events may be approved and added to the list by the convocations committee during the term;

5. That each student be given ten convocation IBM cards with a number corresponding to his identification card. That the student surrender one card at each of ten convocation events during the term at the same time showing his I.D. card;

6. That convocations, if scheduled, be voluntary during interterm.

The Convocation committee supplementary agreed that violators to the stated policy be suspended from college with the right of appeal before convocations committee.

Junior coeds in Germany tell of experiences abroad

Editor's Note: Rose Marie Ulom and Sigrid Wagner, both from Wiley, Colo., are spending their junior year in Marburg, Germany, under the Brethren Colleges Abroad program. Wie gehts, ya'll!

Spring has sprung, but in Marburg it is a bit tardy, of course. And speaking about being tardy... Yes, it is about time that we let ourselves be heard from. We've always had honorable intentions but always found something else to do, for example, taking a nine day educational trip to Berlin, going to Nikolaus Fests, Fasching (Carnival) Fests, going to the theater and the opera, getting visitors from the BCA headquarters, and, oh yes, taking semester finals.

We won't try to have too much propaganda about BCA in this letter. We are saving that for this fall! These past eight months have flown so quickly, and before we'll know it, we are going to be flying, too — HOME!

In this letter we want to emphasize the two months vacation we just had. For the German students these two months are a lecture-free time for studying on their own, but we had the wonderful opportunity of seeing new places and meeting new people, a very important aspect of being abroad.

The latter part of February we visited Sigrid's relatives in Rotach-Egern, a resort town south of Munich. Sigrid's cousin is a professional falconer, and introduced us to the ancient sport of falconing, theoretically, that is.

On the way home, we met Rose Marie's cousin, Jamie Oxley ('66), who is stationed with the U.S. Army in Augsburg, Germany. We three plus three of Jamie's buddies drove to Salzburg, Austria, in an old VW to see where "The Sound of Music" was filmed.

Later in February, we two started on another new adventure — a two week ski trip in the Swiss Alps. We can't describe the wonderful feeling we had standing high on a snow-covered mountain path, seeing nothing around us but high, jagged, snow-covered mountain ranges, a bright sun and the most beautiful blue sky we had seen since we left the USA last August.

In March we went by train from Vienna, Austria, to Sibiu, Romania to visit Sigrid's relatives there. Sigrid's father was born and raised in this town and hadn't been there for 25 years, and Sigrid was the first returning family link.

It was wonderful and enriching vacation, but it was great to be back in Marburg. So now we are just starting our second semester while all of you are ending yours. Have a good summer and we'll see you in September.

Auf Wiedersehen!

Fraternity picks new officers

Initiation of new members and installation of officers highlighted the May 8 meeting of Pi Kappa Delta at the home of Mrs. Alma Moore, assistant professor of speech and English.

Art Foxall, soph, Stanley, N. Y., and Neva McNicholas, jr, Landing, N. J., met the national qualifications and were initiated into the forensic organization.

Lilli Ann Wivell, jr, Columbia, Pa., aided by president Mike Loveless, jr, Mt. Rainier, Md., and vice-president Cliff Lambert, sr, McPherson, was in charge of initiation.

Charles Frank, soph, Denville, N. J., was elected president for next year. Neva McNicholas was chosen vice-president and Lilli Ann Wivell secretary.

Pictures were shown from the national Pi Kappa Delta convention held at Tempe, Arizona, March 31-April 4.

Shirley Matile, Leanna Mease, Delores Myers, Brenda Redding, Annette Runyan, Jerry Schrock, Gary Stauffer, Phillip Stover, Deborah Strahm and Jean Warnke.

Seniors honored include Winona Achilles, Gary Blackwell, Alma Bruce, Carolyn Dadisman, Mary Early, Patricia Hayes, Jean Hendricks, Mary Nell Hoover, David Huber, Judy Ketcham, Ted Livingston, Dennis Martin; Ronald Meck, Betty Persons, Rick Racine, David Sovchen, Connie Worthing, Douglas Yingst and Carolyn Yoder.

Long-range planning structures for change

By Dr. J. Jack Melhorn
Long-range planning is essentially structuring for change. It can best be defined in four steps which also reflect an orderly process for change: (1) forecasting the future in terms of the present, which amounts to setting the goals for an institution; (2) ascertaining the needs of that future; (3) ascertaining resources to fulfill the needs; and, (4) making a systematic plan and program to get from the present to the future.

The need for long-range planning is both external and internal. Externally, the complexity of social and technological change requires a longer span of time to assess and to adapt to the purposes of the college program; and internally, long-range planning eventually brings about a cohesive institution.

The whole program of a college should be covered including the philosophy, structural organization, facilities, faculty, curriculum, finances, and students — these are the seven components of higher education. Short-range planning should be made in terms of the long-range plans. The long-range plans should probably extend for ten years generally and five years specifically.

Long-range planning should involve the best personnel available in the college. The most alive and alert individuals need to be included in order for the best plan to emerge. These persons should not be directly responsible for implementing the plans which they make. Long-range planning must be conducted in each unit of the college in the same way in which the master plan develops.

Some of the major advantages to long-range planning are as follows:

- (1) a plan forces an institution to make public decisions on major matters;
- (2) plans work to overcome stagnation and status quo contentment;
- (3) planning points out the weaknesses in an institution which might otherwise be covered up, purposefully or unintentionally;

(4) planning helps to promote realism and to avoid fantasy idealism, not genuine idealism but tangential idealism, and helps to keep faculty and staff firmly anchored to the plan and to the program;

(5) the plan helps to explain in objective collar and cents terms the reasons for administrative positions;

(6) the process is probably more valuable than the results; and

(7) a long-range plan makes a college a model of what it means to inculcate in its graduates — the ability to make plans, consciously understood choices in the best interests of all involved for the common good.

The following persons have agreed to serve on the Long-Range Planning Committee: Dr. DeCoursey, Dr. Frantz, Mr. Holman, Dr. Ikenberry, Dr. Lengel, Dr. Melhorn, Dr. Rothrock, Dr. Snell, Dr. van Asselt, Mr. Yoder, Student, (to be selected), and Trustee (to be selected).

Melhorn speaks at final Convo

"Continuity, Change, and Challenge" was the title of the term's final convocation address given today by J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College.

The significant events of the year were reviewed, including Communications Day, the new catalogue, increases in the costs of education, Common Sense, employment in the town and on campus and community relations. Best wishes were given to the graduating seniors.

A report of the proposed depth study of the curriculum, which will set the educational course of the institution for the next five to ten years was given.

Faculty and administration changes and a study of interterm were also covered in the address.

ACCK offers 5 courses as new aspect for fall

Five supported fall semester courses for the 1969-70 academic year are to be held as an innovative aspect of the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas. Each of the five courses are three credit hours.

The data processing center will hold the following 6:30 p.m. classes: computer programming I and III, which meet Tuesday and Thursday respectively. Data processing class at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday is also an adjunct to the program.

Two classes held concern philosophy and non-western studies. "Soviet Union and Eastern Europe," meeting at McPherson, Tuesday at 6:30 p.m., will be taught by visiting professor Jaroslaw Piekalkiewicz and Prof. Kanet, who specializes in Soviet political studies.

The course, "Science and Human Values" held at Kansas Wesleyan University 8 a.m. Saturday mornings beginning September 6, 1969, is to be conducted by Dr. Clayton Feaver.

His academic credentials include the A.B. degree from Fresno State College in 1933; the B.D. from Pacific School of Religion, 1936; and the Ph.D. from Yale in 1949.

Dr. Feaver's recent positions at Oklahoma State University are professor of religion and philosophy of ethics. In 1969, he received the David Ross Boyd professorship in this department. The university presented him with an outstanding teacher award in 1964.

"The Rain" will play for a free dance in the Student Union basement Thursday, May 15, from 9-12 p.m.

This is the final dance sponsored by the social committee for the spring term.

Five CYR's attend school for leadership

by Bunny Helman
Five members of the McPherson College Young Republicans attended a Leadership Training School at Emporia State Teacher's College on May 10.

Those in attendance heard speeches from four leaders of the Republican party on political involvement, club organization, student power and campaign strategy.

Don Concannon, Kansas State Chairman of the Republican party, asked College Republicans not to work for the party, rather for what the party can do for Kansas.

Concannon made an interesting example of how responsibility makes students respond. In 1969, Kansas sent 500 Young Republicans to the National Convention in Miami to see the political party process in action. During their stay the Young Republicans were actively involved in the convention. Concannon drew a parallel to the students in Chicago in August, 1968, for the Democratic National Convention.

Rick Harman, 1968 Republican gubernatorial nominee for Kansas, made comments on the problems facing the nation today.

He described the problem of America today: "We have lost faith with each other, with our institutions, and with our people because too many times in the public arena we have said one thing and done something else."

Harman explained a "crisis of indecision" as being a potential source for extreme agitation. He fears we are declaring no standards, we're just fluctuating all the time — a way of life that proves frustrating to all concerned.

"Too long politics has ignored the fact that institutions should change and do change," said Harman. He closed with an appeal to the College Republicans to help with solutions instead of perpetual confrontation.

Morton C. Blackwell, field director for the College Republican National Committee gave much helpful information for club organization, managing budget and finance, club communication — internal and external, club programs, campaigning and leadership identification and training.

The day was filled with ideas and examples of personal experience as to how meaningful involvement within the established system can and does bring about effective change.

Following the general sessions, Mike Murray, state chairman of the State Federation, and Patrick Hill, vice-chairman, met with Rick Harman. They discussed state-wide mobilization of student power through the College Republican Federation as a means of effective expression.

In this way other groups of students will have a way of expressing their concerns through the College Republican Organization.

Those attending the Leadership Training School were: Alan Berndt, fr. Beloit; Bunny Helman, sr., N. Manchester, Ind.; Patrick Hill, jr., Coral Gables, Fla.; Terri Kerschner, fr. McPherson; and David Yosnida, jr., Nampa, Idaho.

Graduate directs service center of poverty-stricken county

Gray Hawks, Ky. a town of 200 in poverty-stricken Jackson County, is the home of Dave and Maria Huber, 1968 graduates of McPherson College.

Huber was chosen in mid-February as director of the Jackson County Community Service Center, an agency funded directly from the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington.

The county is very poor, ranking in O.E.O.'s most unfavorable poverty category, the lowest nine per cent, on seven out of 12 indicators and in the second lowest level, ten through 19 per cent, on 3 other indicators.

The C.S.C.'s greatest effort in Jackson County is community action, trying to get the combined force of the community people to take action on social problems, such as getting the school to give free lunches to qualified poor people's children at school who now are not eating and setting up play grounds for children who now play in the mud at the creek and have no way to clean up when they get home.

Bigger problems they must attack include attracting small business and industry so more can be employed, getting a doctor, dentist and hospital in the county and seeing what can be done about community water rather than getting water from an open well or the creek.

Other efforts include adult education, Head Start, Job Corps, National Youth Corps, Job Start, emergency food and medical care, Volunteers in Service to America and other special programs.

Appropriated funds for O.E.O. will run out in September, and the future of many programs is uncertain. However, community action programs will likely remain undisturbed. Others will be changed, tossed out or absorbed by other departments.

According to Huber, students majoring in the social sciences and especially sociology have excellent opportunities with O.E.O. if they want to apply themselves. The best qualifications are an A.B. in the social sciences and two years experience in social services.

The Atlantic Placement Office for Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, parts of Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Alabama may be contacted at the following address: Talent Bank, Council of the Southern Mountains, Inc., College Box 2307, Berea, Kentucky 40403.

May Day to provide break before exams

May Day 1969 will provide a break in study for semester exams for McPherson College students. May 16 all classes will be dismissed for the oldest celebration of its kind in Kansas.

The day, which will include a parade, carnival, auto rodeo, saddle club program and other entertainment on Main Street during the afternoon, is the 56th observance of the day.

Traditionally, the day honored those students who were graduating from grade schools over the county. Since many of the small grade schools have been closed by consolidation, the focus has shifted to the high school students.

The elementary schools in the county still provide colorful floats for the parade.

McPherson College will be represented in the parade by the College float which is annually built by the sophomore class.

Individual College students are planning independent entries.

More than 30 floats, numerous bands, antique cars, fraternal organizations and individuals entries will make up the parade.

The May Day festivities have traditionally been void of commercialism. Approximately 75 per cent of the $2,500 budget is contributed from professional and business people of the county.

The emphasis of the day is on the youth of the county and the potential that they have for the community.

Fahnestock Hall selects council

Men in Fahnestock Hall have selected Prentis Porter, soph, Colorado Springs, Colo., to head their dorm council for next year.

Elected as vice-president was Asa McFadden, jr., Baudette, Minn. Dave Gentry, jr., Peach Bottom, Pa., was chosen to be treasurer, and Stan Bucher, jr., Lebanon, Pa., was chosen to serve as secretary.

'Blanket party' to view movie

"Fantastic Voyage" will be shown at a blanket party in the basement of the Student Union, Saturday, May 17, at 8 p.m.

"Fantastic Voyage" is the most expensive ($8,500,000) science-fiction spectacle of all times.

Committee tells of new policy

The Educational Policies Committee adopted a policy which eliminates the use of Withdrawn Passing and Withdrawn Failing, beginning with summer term 1969.

A grade of W, not to be included in the calculation of the grade point average, will be assigned to any course from which a student withdraws after the end of the second week.

No withdrawals will be allowed from a class in any term after two-thirds of the time allotted for the class has passed.

Graduate school attracts seniors

McPherson College seniors who plan to attend graduate school following graduation include the following:

Doug Yingst, Shirley Johnson, Marlin Hoover, Garry Loucks, Ron Beachley, Ron Robbins, Cheryl Park, Alan Mader, Ricky Regula;

Gary Worden, Mendal Kugler, Kent Noffsinger, Gary Blackwell, Marilyn Smith, Judy Ketcham, Peg Slater, Rick Racine, Gary Schuster and Ted Livingston.

Rogers wins in national; team gains ACCK title

Kathy Rogers won two second places in the first national Division of Girls and Women's Sports championships in track and field on May 9.

Miss Rogers, along with Ann Herbst and Dr. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education, traveled to Southwestern Texas State College in San Marcos, Tex., for the event.
