

Class of '72 displays talent

Last Friday the class of 1972 displayed its talent in Brown Auditorium. This year's traditional talent show included vocal, instrumental, dance, and dramatic entries.

Nine freshman girls of Kline Hall, Alice Crump, Becky Durban, Esther Ebeby, Cindy Ford, Linda Keim, Teri Kerschner, Marilyn Philpott, Ruth Ann Stillwell, and Donna Weightman sang "Hey Daddy" as they wandered through the audience.

Singing "The Cruel War" and "It's Over," Sue Hamilton, Mary Hutchinson, Shirley Malie, Kathy Peckover, and Alice Smith formed a group of folk singers from Dotzour.

Also from Dotzour, Leanna Mease, accompanied by Janice Bailey, performed a vocal solo, "O De Mio Dolce Amour."

Representing Fahnestock and Metzler, Noel Dittmars, David Grove, Ron Naylor, Ward Nippert, Jerry Shrock, and Richard Reents sang "Oh Sinner Man" and "Where Have all the Flowers Gone?"

Katie Albright and Janice Bailey, Dotzour, opened the program with a piano duet, "Ebb Tide."

Also displaying talent of the piano, Michelle Green, Dotzour, chose as her selection "Prelude in C Sharp Minor."

The accompaniment of Janice Bailey on the organ and saxophone solo of Roland Durham, Fahnestock, blended well the notes of "Harlem Nocturne."

"Blue Moon," a piano solo by Esther Ebeby, Kline, was another example of freshman talent.

One group, the "Goon Squad" from Dotzour performed a dance routine complete with costumes. Participants in this selection requested to remain anonymous.

Cindy Ford, Kline, selected a dramatic reading, "The Scarlet Ibis" for her entry. The finale found all members on stage singing allegiance to McPherson College and stamping upon their beanies to symbolize the completion of freshman initiation.

County officer speaks at club

Lloyd Zook, McPherson County probation and juvenile officer, spoke on the Big Brother program at the first Sociology Club meeting of the fall term Wednesday, Sept. 18.

Previously, the McPherson College YMCA-YWCA had been in charge of the program; however, Sociology Club will be in charge of it this year.

Ten to 12 men are needed for this project. Any men, sophomore or older, who are interested may contact Gene Roth, sr., Boiling Springs, Pa., at Metzler Hall.

Sociology Club meets the first and third Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Mac Shack.

Robert Keim, assistant professor in sociology, is the sponsor of the club.

Any students who are interested in the club are welcome to attend the meetings. They need not be sociology majors.

Members of the steering panel are Roth, chairman; Nancy Brown, sr., Concord, Mass., secretary; and Dave Huber, sr., McPherson.

Several German films scheduled to be shown

A number of German films are scheduled to be shown during the coming year. Both students and other interested persons are invited to attend.

The films will be shown at 12:30 p.m. and at 1:30 p.m. in Mohler 227.

"Berlin, August 1961" is scheduled to be shown Wednesday, Oct. 9.

Deans appoint 23 to be RAs in five campus dorms

Dr. Galen R. Snell, dean of men, and Miss Mary Ann Robinson, dean of women, have chosen the 23 students to be resident assistants in the five campus dormitories.

This year's dorm councils include the following R.A.'s at Dotzour Hall: Sue Arnesen, soph, Oak Park, Ill.; Dana Bower, soph, St. Cloud, Fla.; Nancy Brown, sr., Concord, Mass.; Judy Buckwalter, soph, Litzitz, Pa.;

Barbara Grasmick, jr., Rocky Ford, Colo.; Marge Koorda, soph, Denver; Marilyn Shepherd, soph, Ft. Scott; and Beth Schultz, sr., DeGraff, Ohio.

R.A.'s in Metzler Hall are David Bowlby, sr., LaVerne, Calif.; George Hoover, jr., Plattsburg, Mo.; Steve Laprad, jr., Frankfort, Ind.; Gene Roth, sr., Boiling Springs, Pa.; David Shepherd, jr., Fort Scott; and Bob Smith, jr., Fredricksburg, Iowa.

Bittinger Hall's R.A.'s are Stan Borowski, sr., Newark, Del.; Jim Carlson, sr., Glen Ellyn, Ill.; Joe Hott, soph, New Creek, W. Va.; Don Reese, sr., Barrington, N. J.; Gary Schuster, sr., Scotia, N. Y.; and Tim Wilson, jr., Lebanon, N. J.

Kerry Glvens, jr., Nickerson, is the resident assistant in Kline; Fahnestock Hall lists Mike Bisceglia, sr., Worcester, Mass.; Merrin Godfrey, soph, York, Pa.; and Don Lucore, jr., Arriba, Colo.

These students have been chosen to actively participate in the respective dorm councils and also to serve the members of the dormitories.

Mesrobian is consultant

These students are involved in an opera that will be presented during interterm. Prof. Robert Mesrobian is in charge of the production.

Professor Robert Mesrobian is the visiting lecturer for the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas during the academic year 1968-69. He will serve as consultant for the ACKK performing arts.

One of the projects that faces Prof. Mesrobian is that of producing an interterm opera. He has already begun working with his interterm students on this project. Every effort is being made to create an exciting production during the interterm period.

He comes to the ACKK with varied experience. Prof. Mesrobian has instructed voice and directed at UCLA, The University of California at Berkeley, Utah State University, and Wichita State University.

He has been involved in opera as a performer and as a director. Over 80 operas have been directed by Prof. Mesrobian, and he has performed in over 60 shows.

These performances have taken him to 48 states. The Civic Light Opera Company and Los Angeles Grand Opera are among the places Prof. Mesrobian has performed.

The visiting lecturer has appeared on Broadway in leading roles. He has been on television in "The Dick Powell Show" and in commercials. Prof. Mesrobian also appeared in a movie with Kirk Douglas.

Melhorn to attend KASA meeting

Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, will attend a meeting of the Kansas Association of School Administrators in Newton, Monday, Sept. 30.

Topics of discussion will be KASA activities, school financing in Kansas, and school legislation.

Flory leads group on Mexican tour

BY MIKE BISCEGLIA
Under the leadership of Dr. Raymond Flory, professor of history and political science, a number of students toured Mexico from Aug. 4-14.

Among those students attending were Steve Davidson, soph, Virden, Ill.; Rita DeCoursey, soph, McPherson; Esther Ebeby, fr., Argos, Ind.; Gary Flory, McPherson; Royce Kurtz, soph, Vinton, Iowa; Gary Della Ripa, soph, Hartford, Conn.; Marcia Sellberg, soph, McPherson;

Roberta Strickler, jr., Manchester, Ind.; Pat Tullo, jr., Waterbury, Conn.; and Cindy Barchesky, soph, McPherson. Leaving in six cars, the students saw first hand many of the exciting landmarks of Mexico City, such as the Museum of Anthropology, the National Cathedral, Constitutional Plaza, and the Pan American building, which overlooks the entire city.

Other interesting sights were the National Palace, Chapultepec Castle, and the Pyramids of the Sun and Moon at Teotihuacan.

Officers, sponsor of MCY plan for year

"To encourage concern" was decided upon as this year's theme of the McPherson College YMCA-YWCA by the officers and sponsor, Mrs. Corinne Hughbanks, assistant professor of languages, at an overnight retreat Sept. 13-14.

The group left at 8 p.m. Friday and traveled to Harvey County State Park where they set up camp. Time was spent discussing what was right and wrong with MCY, singing, and devotions.

After a night outdoors, complete with sleeping bags and tent, skits were done to portray various types of leaders. Planning and setting dates for activities through January took the rest of the morning.

Committees to handle the various projects of MCY were drawn up, and the officers are now in the process of asking people to head them.

The committees are: special education, tutorial, social, geriatrics, forums and panels, Cedars, chapels, and money-making.

The membership drive will be held at the beginning of October with co-secretaries Jane Daddisman, soph, Springfield, Ill., and Stan Bucher, jr., Lebanon, Pa., and co-publicity, Sandy Kussart, soph, Cerro Gordo, Ill., and Lowell Dell, jr., Beatrice, Neb., in charge.

Memories of year in Marburg remain with van Asselts

BY JAN PYLE
The evening bells, the summer landscapes in the Hessen province, friends old and new—these memories of Marburg, Germany, are foremost in the minds of Dr. Jan van Asselt, associate professor of German, and his wife Peggy.

Last year Dr. van Asselt served as director of Brethren Colleges Abroad for universities in Marburg and Göttingen, Germany, and Strasbourg, France. His wife handled his correspondence and secretarial work.

Since Dr. van Asselt's duties did not officially begin until July 23, 1967, the family had time to visit relatives in Holland for a month and a half. On August 16, 1968, they returned to their residence on Euclid Street.

As director of BCA, Dr. van Asselt gave academic advice to the American students in Marburg and arranged for their housing and grades.

He also made trips to Göttingen and Strasbourg, corresponded with the BCA Committee in the U.S., worked with foreign students and their professors, and set up a six-week language institute for BCA students.

While living in Marburg, the family resided in an apartment continuously rented to the BCA director by the BCA Committee. The van Asselt children, Allen, 10; Linda, 7; David, 4; and Steven, 3, learned to speak fluent German. In fact, Steven cannot speak English now.

Enrolled in German schools, the two oldest adjusted to half day school days and did all of their assignments at home.

Dr. van Asselt noted that parental interest is promoted in German schools through programs similar to our PTA programs.

For Dr. and Mrs. van Asselt, who had met in Europe, being there with the family gave them a different perspective of Germany.

"The change is not just in Germany," said Dr. van Asselt, "but in Europe at large. Now there are tin cans along the roadside, overcrowded streets, and high prices, especially children's clothes and appliances."

The entire family gained fluency in the language from the year abroad. The children learned of their heritage when they got acquainted with their aunts and uncles.

The family learned that "Home is where the family is." In summing up their experiences, Dr. van Asselt said, "We are convinced that it takes long, hard, tedious work to bridge the gap between cultures, and that it takes more than one year to learn to be a perfect speaker of the language."

"But," he went on, "it was a great privilege to us personally and a challenge to the American students. Foreign language learning, after getting there, loses all of the unnatural characteristics that it has in the U.S., because, all of a sudden, there are 60 million Germans that speak German and do not necessarily know English."

College offers night classes

Ten night classes and one Saturday class are being offered to students this fall term.

Aviation Education offered on Saturdays has been cancelled because of the small enrollment this semester.

Dennis Dirksen, assistant professor in industrial arts education, is teaching the History and Philosophy of Industrial Arts. The two hour class meets Monday evenings at 7 p.m. in Frantz Hall.

Four classes are offered at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday evenings.

Dean Bacon, director of the ACKK computer center, teaches Introduction to Computer Programming. The three hour course is taught in Mohler 125.

Editing is taught in Mohler 204 for two hours credit by Mrs. Homer Brunk, associate professor of English and journalism.

Kerim Attar, visiting professor, teaches Non-Western Studies: Middle East for three hours credit in Mohler 227. Problems in Anthropology, a three hour course, is taught by Darrell Casteel in Mohler 229.

Psychometric Methods is taught Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. by Lewis Young, associate professor of psychology. The three hour course is held in Mohler 218.

Bob Green, assistant professor in English, is teaching Shakespeare in Mohler 229. The three hour course is taught at 4:30 p.m. Thursday afternoons. Dean Bacon is also teaching a Data Processing course Thursday evenings at 6:30 p.m. The three hour class is held in Mohler 231.

History of Kansas, a three hour class, is taught by Raymond Flory, professor of history and political science Thursday evenings at 7:25 p.m. in Mohler 227.

Wesley DeCoursey, professor of chemistry, is teaching the three hour course of Astronomy Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m. in Harnly 101.

Editor views education

Education no longer depends solely on the aspirations of the individual. The demands of society are now also considered.

The federal government believes that the education of the nation's citizens is of vital importance, and for this reason, it has granted $11½ million for educational purposes in 1969.

Education, the government says, must change to meet social needs. As a result, a great deal of the $11½ million is spent on such projects as Headstart, Vista, and special classes.

This in itself is of value, for educated citizens are of great importance to a nation such as ours. However, the personal goals of the individual must not be suppressed.

In the conflict between the demands of society and the aspirations of the individual, the private citizen must not be forced into conforming.

The need for the self-realization of each person must still be taken into consideration in the process of educating the nation's citizens.

Student sees resentment

BY MARLIN HOOVER

Most of those with whom I have contact, either personally or in the news media, seem to have resentment against all three of the presidential candidates to varying degrees.

If one does feel this resentment against even the most favorable candidate of the three, then developing any sort of a grass roots enthusiasm for either the Republican or Democratic candidate is difficult.

As for George C. Wallace, his only basis is the enthusiasm of those who are his supporters or brothers in kind.

I do not mean to say that the major party candidates do not have enthusiastic supporters, but the vast majority of people are depressed in the middle of a two pole system with Wallace and Nixon tending to one pole — though not together — and Humphrey tending to the other.

Actually, this is more like a

Tennis program needs changes

Dear Editor:

The McPherson College tennis courts are being used Saturday afternoons for a new program to instruct McPherson youth in tennis.

The program is a fine one, one which should be commended. However, the three College tennis courts are occupied all afternoon each Saturday and College students must find other courts.

It seems reasonable that a better arrangement would be for the program to move either to the city courts or to the senior high school courts where they would not only have more courts, but would also leave the College courts free for College students.

With this resentment against all candidates in varying degrees, it is truly a case of whom to keep out of office. So do not despair: at least two of them will be kept out!

Books arrive at Bookstore

Mrs. Marcia Cotterill, manager of the College Bookstore, reports that books that were ordered are beginning to come in. She invites those students who were turned away last week to try again.

The last date to charge books is Oct. 1. Bill should be paid by Nov. 1, after which they become delinquent.

Campbell voices objection to Stuco

Editor's note:

The ideas and opinions expressed in this article do not necessarily reflect those of the editorial staff. Those wishing to comment on the article are invited to send letters to the Spectator.

BY ART CAMPBELL

For the last two Wednesday nights I sat in on the first two Student Council sessions of this academic year. I went mostly out of curiosity. After these meetings, I have one objection concerning the function of this body.

My objection to Student Council is not that it is "unreal" or "irrelevant." Quite the contrary. Student Council is quite effective and relevant in achieving its purpose.

Beginning in grade school, we all went through the "let's pretend" process of electing home room officers. In high school, Student Council was the name of the game.

So on into college. Throughout it all, none of us ever doubted the fact that the forms of our self-government had any power. We all knew the teacher, principal, administration, or trustees had the final and effective say in most of our affairs.

But think about it for a min-

Mac Shack serves as student media

Bob Smith, jr., Fredricksburg, Iowa, manager of the coffeehouse, feels that the Mac Shack can serve as a communication media and that it gives an opportunity to get away from campus life.

He stated, "This will be the most successful year in the history of the coffeehouse."

The Mac Shack will be open the following hours: 8:30 - 10:30 a.m. Mon., Tues., Wed., and Fri.; after Convocation—10:30 a.m. Thurs.; 8-11 p.m. Sun. through Thurs.; and 8 p.m.—1 a.m. Fri. and Sat.

Rodney Lusk, jr., Rocky Ford, Colo., is chairman of the coffeehouse committee, which works through Student Council. If you have any suggestions for improving the coffeehouse, contact either Smith or Lusk.

ute. Did not the process effectively achieve its purpose? We learned to acquiesce in the face of arbitrary authority.

We learned to surrender our freedom in the name of "expertise." We learned that elections should be personality-oriented popularity contests; that issues with which we ought to be concerned should only be the most banal.

Most of all, we learned about "responsibility" and "working inside the system." Was all of this not an adequate preparation for "life in the real world?"

Are national, state, and local elections any different? The force of it all is only evidenced by comparing the reality of our lives with the ideals we were taught to revere. Even so, we were also taught to smirk at "idealism."

We learned our lessons well—so well, in fact, that some of us have embraced a cynicism so deep that the quality of our lives has been permanently impaired. Perhaps a majority of us have been marred by the existing order.

A generation's young manhood and womanhood manifest nothing beyond utter destruction of seriousness: Give a flower to a cop; Join the Marines and be a man; James Bond is the fraternity man of the year.

Are our campus politics insulated from "outside issues" like war, civil rights, and poverty? Have these issues been substituted for issues like Big Name on Campus, "fun and games" committee report, homecoming activities, and the like?

Are campus politics a substitute for, rather than a supplement to, the substantive national politics of this country?

We need to replace real issues in the real world for the vacuity of campus politics. Also, I suspect that the traditional style of campus politics tends to reinforce the feeling of helplessness and futility in coping with the adult world of complex, worldly issues. Campus politics were constructed to prepare Joe College to become a docile Organization Man.

Smith considers 'our generation'

BY MARILYN SMITH

I fluctuate between hope and discouragement as I contemplate "our generation" — today's college students — especially those of us who attend McPherson College.

Talking with friends who spent the summer in a service project or some other worthwhile job reassures me that young people do care enough to become involved in others' problems.

Other evidence, such as last week's editorial page of the Spectator, with its perceptive political analysis and other contributions of creative individuals, makes it clear that we have on our campus thoughtful, intelligent, and imaginative students. This evidence is encouraging.

But it is difficult to find someone to discuss Livingston's political comments with, because apparently not too many took time to read the article. I think, too, of the men who delight in keeping Dotzour women awake after dorm hours by roaring up and down Eshelman, and I wonder about the values, not to mention the mentality, of college students.

Student ideas and activities, often labeled "radical" but nevertheless relevant and important, are receiving more attention today than ever before. Yet I wonder, do most college students care about politics, civil rights, and the war in Vietnam? Are they sensitive and concerned, and thinking and willing to become involved?

What about us here at McPherson? Do we care? I wonder.

Film Sept. 27 is 'King and I'

"King and I," a color movie set in 19th century Bangkok, starring Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner, will be presented in Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 27, at a cost of 25 cents per person.

Films planned by the Social Committee for the next several months are: "Errand Boy," starring Jerry Lewis, Oct. 11; "Patch of Blue," with Sidney Poitier and Sandy Dennis, Nov. 8; and "The Singing Nun" with Debbie Reynolds, Nov. 15.

The committee is planning with the Art Club for an after-game dance, Saturday, Oct. 5, to be held in the basement of Arnold Hall.

Future activities under the planning of the Social Committee are the Homecoming Dance, Oct. 26, and the Winter Formal, Dec. 6. Ginny Yingst, soph, McPherson, has been appointed general chairman of the Winter Formal.

Industrial arts hosts picnic and barbeque

The Industrial Arts Club will hold its first event of the year Oct. 14. A picnic and barbeque is scheduled to be held for members and invited guests for the purpose of raising money for future projects of the Industrial Arts department.

An open house of the Industrial Arts building is being held on the same date. The building will display its $6,000 worth of new equipment and will feature the work done by the students in the way of remodeling the building.

Under the leadership of Dennis Dirksen, assistant professor in industrial arts education, and Arie Regier, assistant professor of industrial arts, plans are being made for entrance into the Industrial Arts Club.

Once established in the Club, McPherson College will be in contact with other industrial arts clubs nationwide.

Metzler rites held Monday

Memorial services for Mrs. Burton Metzler were held Monday, Sept. 23, at the McPherson Church of the Brethren.

Dr. Harold Bomberger, Jr., pastor of the church, officiated. Mrs. Metzler died Thursday, Sept. 19.

She was born June 23, 1895, in St. Joseph County, Ind., and married Dr. Burton Metzler, professor emeritus of philosophy and religion, Sept. 11, 1921.

Survivors include the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Paul Wagoner, McPherson, and Mrs. David Albright, Ft. Wayne, Ind., and a son, David Metzler, Bridgewater, Va.

Interment was at the McPherson Cemetery.

A memorial for Mrs. Metzler has been established with the Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund at the College.

Contributions may be brought or sent to the business office.

Mac falls to C of E

A "Howdy Week" crowd of 2,800 fans saw the McPherson College Bulldogs fall before a powerful College of Emporia team last Saturday, 42-0, as both teams opened the Kansas College Athletic Conference season.

The Presbies dominated both the ground and air game as they amassed 436 yards total offense, compared to only 191 for the Bulldogs.

The Presbies scored in the first three periods, as the Bulldogs made a more exciting contest in the last half. They out-gained C of E 92 to 77 yards during the last half and made their only serious scoring threat in the fourth quarter. The drive ended on the three yard line as the Dogs had to give the ball up on downs.

Suminski carried the ball 23 times for 120 yards to lead McPherson ball carriers. Grosch of C of E gained 128 yards to lead all ball carriers.

Four of the Emporia touchdowns came on passes, as the C of E quarterback hit 8 out of 16 passes.

Next Saturday, the Bulldogs are on the road as they clash with a much improved Kansas Wesleyan team. The Coyotes are fresh from a victory over last year's KCAC champions, Southwestern.

Coach Gene Bissell feels this is one of his best teams, and feels that they will be in the running for this year's championship.

This is a rebuilding year for Coach Dwight McSpadden's Bulldogs, but the Dogs are always their best against the Coyotes.

Sportscope Writer sees exciting race

BY MIKE THOMPSON

After last week, I shouldn't even try predicting games anymore. One out of five right proves either that the teams in this conference are becoming competitively closer, or this writer has no insight.

Kansas Wesleyan University upset Southwestern for my only correct pick.

It looks like there will be one of the most exciting conference races for the crown in many a year.

Ottawa and Southwestern, the two perennial champs, have already been beaten. Some of the weaker teams came through with wins.

Let's give it one more try: Sterling at Baker — Both have a loss under their belts, but Wildcats eat Warriors. Baker 14 — Sterling 0.

Bethany at College of Emporia — The Presbies won and have that championship gleam in their eye. C of E 21 — Bethany 7.

McPherson at KWU — The Coyotes are strong, but I'll go with the Dogs. They'll come through one of these times. McPherson 14 — KWU 13.

Bethel at Ottawa — Any team that plays Ottawa after a loss is certain to feel their wrath. Ottawa 35 — Bethel 6.

Friends at Southwestern — The game of the week. The Moundbuilders hope to bury the Friends, but the Quakers aren't as peaceful as they once were. Friends 14 — Southwestern 10.

MC harriers defeat teams in quadrangular meet here

The McPherson College harriers put forth a team effort to win their quadrangular meet last Saturday. McPherson won the team competition with 22 points followed by Kansas Wesleyan with 51, Bethany with 73, and Tabor with 97.

Team scores are determined by adding up the places of the first five men for each team with the lowest total winning.

The individual winner over the four-mile course was Glen Appell, Kansas Wesleyan, with a time of 21:19. The McPherson team swept in seven of the next nine places with Ivan Torres, McPherson, 21:43; Dave Shepherd, McPherson, 22:15; Wayne Tshudy, McPherson, 22:22; Dan Murray, Bethany, 22:23;

Dave Smith, McPherson, 22:24; Bob Rosales, McPherson, 22:50; Phil Stover, McPherson, 22:54; Al Jensen, Bethany, 22:

55; and Richard Burke, McPherson, 23:10. John Kedzior rounded out the McPherson squad with a 24:25.

Coach Art Ray announced the cross country schedule:

Sept. 27 — Tabor, 4 p.m.
Sept. 28 — Wichita
Oct. 4 — McPherson Invitational, 2:30 p.m.
Oct. 12 — Kansas Wesleyan Invitational, 10 a.m.
Oct. 26 — Baker, Homecoming, 1:20 p.m.

Hedricks acts as the sponsor for rodeo club

A meeting for any student who is interested in participating in a rodeo club will be at 7 p.m. tonight in the Student Union.

Jerry Hedricks, Jr., admissions counselor, is the sponsor of the club.

The main objective of the meeting is to organize a club which might create enjoyment and entertainment for those who enjoy horses and rodeos.

The major project of the club will be to try to find a good location to board the horses of the club members.

Hedrick has also made arrangements for use of the Saddle Club's arena for practice

Powder Puff game to be held Oct. 1

Oct. 1 is the date set for the annual clash between the upper and lower class women in the Powder Puff game to be held at the football field at 7 p.m.

This year's junior - senior squad is coached by Ted Livington, sr. Macedonia, Ohio; and George McNicholas, jr. Succusunna, N. J.

The freshman - sophomore squad is under the direction of Dave Gentry, jr. Peach Bottom, Pa.; and Mike Biscaglia, sr. Worcester, Mass.

The upperclass team has as its co-captains Kathy Rogers, jr. Brooklyn, Iowa, and Neva McNicholas, jr. Succusunna, N. J.

The underclass team co-captains are Pam Burns, soph. Westwood, Mass.; and Raynell Houck, soph. Newark, Del.

Faculty advisers are assigned

Each student at the start of his college career is assigned a faculty adviser in the student's major field.

Dean Reynolds, registrar, stresses the importance of the adviser being of the same major field as the student. It is the adviser's responsibility to see that the student fulfills his graduation requirements.

Dr. Merlin L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs, invites inquiries about the Danforth Graduate Fellowships, which are to be awarded in March, 1969. Dr. Frantz is the campus representative.

The Fellowships, offered by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., are open to men and women who are seniors or recent graduates of accredited colleges in the United States, who have serious interest in college teaching as a career, and who plan to study for a Ph. D. in a field common to the undergraduate college.

Applicants may be single or married, must be less than thirty years of age at the time of application, and may not have undertaken any graduate or professional study beyond the baccalaureate.

Approximately 120 Fellowships will be awarded in March, 1969. Candidates must be nominated by Liaison Officers of their undergraduate institutions by Nov. 1, 1968. The Foundation does not accept direct applications for the Fellowships.

Danforth Graduate Fellows are eligible for four years of financial assistance, with a maximum annual living stipend of $2,400 for single Fellows and $2,950 for married Fellows, plus tuition and fees. Dependency allowances are available. Financial need is not a condition for consideration.

Danforth Fellows may hold other fellowships, such as Ford,

Fulbright, Rhodes, or others, concurrently, and will be Danforth Fellows without stipend until the other awards lapse.

The Danforth Foundation was created in 1927 by the late Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth of St. Louis as a philanthropy devoted to giving aid and encouragement to persons, to emphasizing the humane values that come from a religious and democratic heritage, and to strengthening the essential quality of education.

Library gets $6,656 grant

The McPherson College Library received $6,656 last spring from the Title II A program. This program, a part of the Federal Higher Education Act, is extended to all colleges and universities applying for aid in expanding their library resources.

Since the Federal Act is working with limited funds, the total sum received must be matched by the college. Any additional amount received is in the form of supplemental grant, based on need and credit.

Miss Virginia Harris, librarian, says that new Books bought with these funds are still being processed, but each day more are being put on the shelves for student use.

All departments have ordered new books to supplement classes, and students may obtain a list of books from the

Dell attends meeting for museum curators

S. M. Dell, director of the McPherson Museum, has just returned from a three day meeting with the Mountain-Plains Museum Curators, which was held at Boulder, Colo.

The group also visited the Denver Museum, where current trends in museum work were set up. It is now the belief that museum experiences should be set up in conjunction with classroom work.

In Denver, classes meet three times a week. These classes are for mixed groups of various national origin. Featured in the museum are exhibits of Indian, Spanish, European, and Afro-American.

The museum also promotes the idea that students should handle its articles. It is felt that the students learn better through the firsthand experience of using truly authentic relics.

These plans are also proposed for the future McPherson museum. A meeting concerning these and other issues of the McPherson museum took place in Harnly Hall on Sept. 19.

Chinch bugs play important role

BY RODNEY RIFE
Curiosity about anyone's reasons for wanting deceased chinch bugs has had a far reaching effect on the life of Mrs. Norma Tucker, 1968 English major.

Norma Tucker

While doing research in the records of the county clerk for a history course, Mrs. Tucker came across a section which stated that farmers could trade live chinch bugs for deceased ones.

After much detective work by herself and a friend, Mrs. Tucker found that there had been a mistake in spelling in the old handwritten records. Diseased and not deceased chinch bugs were wanted.

In the process of satisfying

Lewallen, Martin

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Lewallen, Bisbee, N. D., announce the engagement of their daughter, Gloria, to Larry Martin, son of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Martin, Dayton, Ohio.

Miss Lewallen is a junior at McPherson College majoring in elementary education. Martin is a junior majoring in industrial arts.

A summer wedding is being planned.

her curiosity she had become an expert on chinch bugs. During the past summer she put her knowledge to good use.

As part of a feature writing course Mrs. Tucker wrote two articles dealing with chinch bugs. She sold one to the "Kansas City Star" and the other to the "Kansas Farmer-Stockman."

Through a reporting practice course the first semester 1966-67, Mrs. Tucker became interested in journalism. The second semester she was made editor-in-chief of the Spectator by an unusual direct appointment.

Mrs. Tucker had a poem as well as her two articles accepted for publication during last summer.

The faculty and administration of McPherson College selected Mrs. Tucker along with 12 other members of her graduating class to be listed as representatives in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

She is the wife of H. V. Tucker, a McPherson business man. They have three daughters.

Mrs. Tucker did her student teaching at McPherson Senior High School under Mrs. Jackie Raymond. She is now teaching English and journalism at Buhler Senior High School.

She is active in the McPherson Methodist Church and Women's Society for Christian Service. She has served as president of the McPherson Federation of Women's Clubs.

Howard, Reese

Mr. and Mrs. Karrel E. Howard, Nampa, Ida., announce the engagement of their daughter, Wanda, to Donald Reese, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Reese, Barrington, N. J.

Miss Howard is a junior history major. Reese, a senior, is an industrial arts education major.

A May wedding is planned.

McPherson houses ACCK computer system

As a member of the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas, McPherson College takes its place in the rapidly growing world of computers.

Room 125 of Mohler Hall has been chosen to house the 1401 Data Processing B 5 Disk Pack System, rented by the ACCK from IBM. The computer will be used by all six members of the association.

Two data processing courses are being offered to make full use of the computer system. Computer Programming I will be an introduction to the electronic digital computer, systems, principals, and uses. Students with a calculus background may take the second level course, Computer Science: Numerical Analysis.

Dean Bacon, director-supervisor of the ACCK Data Processing Center, will teach an introductory computer programming course for the faculties of the ACCK colleges so they may learn to effectively use the computer for problems and research purposes.

Serving the offices of the member schools, the Data Processing Program has been handling the registration reports and class schedules for all six colleges.

Hopefully, the computer will soon record and summarize contributions to the colleges, keep alumni lists, process files of student records and reports, and perform purchasing, cataloging, and circulation control for the college libraries. Eventually the computer is expected to aid in institutional research.

Each of the member schools has a card punching machine to place information, problems, etc. on cards which are transported to McPherson on the ACCK bookmobile. Kansas Wesleyan, one of six colleges involved, is now testing equipment that would enable this information to be transmitted to the computer by means of the telephone lines.

"It will save the colleges time," said Bacon, "and won't replace any people. We'll all be involved with computers someday."

ACCK students go to workshop for yearbooks

Members of the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas editing class attended a yearbook workshop at Hutchinson High School, Thursday, Sept. 19.

McPherson students attending were Frank Berens, soph, Wilmington, Del.; Jan Rolander, fr, McPherson; Cass Martens, fr, Hutchinson; Cindy Ford, fr, McPherson; Rodney Rife, sr, Lyons; Bob Albertson, jr, Malaga, N. J.; Susan Sell, sr, Conway;

Susan Krehbiel, soph, McPherson; Linda Dean, jr, Circleville, Ohio; Judy Brown, sr, McPherson; Bunny Helman, jr, N. Manchester, Ind.; Cindy Barchesky, soph, McPherson; Betsy Morse, soph, Egin, Ill.; and Louise Smith, soph, Lyons.

Mrs. Homer Brunk, associate professor of English and journalism accompanied the group.

Areas studied at the workshop included yearbook business management, planning of copy writing and preparation techniques of layout, cover selection and review of the publishing agreement.

After the workshop was completed part of the group toured the Hutchinson News and saw the various stages in putting out a newspaper.

Six will meet with trustees

Friday, Sept. 27, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, the Administrative Committee of the college, and six students will meet for lunch at the Student Union.

The students have been invited for the purpose of acquainting themselves with the Board of Trustees, and to discuss matters of interest on campus.

Larry Vernon, sr, Big Pine, Calif., Student Council president, has extended the trustees' invitation to five students "interested and active in campus activities."

Following the luncheon, the committees will confer for an afternoon business session.

Trustees of McPherson College who will be attending are: Earl J. Brubaker, construction contractor, Rocky Ford, Colo.; Edward R. Frantz, insurance underwriter, Wichita; M. Clare Miller, construction executive, McPherson; Harold I. Mohler, insurance executive, Warrensburg, Mo.;

Milton L. Morrison, grain executive, Salina; Ernest A. Peterson, certified public accountant, Wichita; and Royal Yoder, farmer, Conway.
