Speaker dares you, America!

"Will the Real America Stand Up?" will be the topic of Richard Hrdlicka's speech for the April 23 Convocation in Brown Auditorium at 9 a.m.

Mr. Hrdlicka, who is a lawyer and the Corporate Counsel for Hesston Corporation, has been listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and in the 1965 Edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

He was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1932 and escaped from behind the Iron Curtain to America when he was a teenager. He received his B.A. degree from Friends University and his law degree from Washburn University in Topeka.

Richard Hrdlicka

After serving in Korea he made his home in Newton where his family still resides. He is an active American citizen and travels hundreds of miles to speak about his experiences and the freedom that Americans take for granted.

He is a member of the Harvey County, State of Kansas, and American Bar Associations, and has served as the president of the Harvey County Bar Association. Mr. Hrdlicka is also a member of the American Trial Lawyers Association and of the American Judicature Society.

He is active in the work of several organizations which include the Newton YMCA, Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Boy Scouts of America, and the Board of Education for Unified School District No. 373 and for the Vocational Education Area School comprising Harvey, McPherson, and Reno Counties. He is on the Board of Directors for the Midway Kansas Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Your library wants Apathy you: support it!

The thirteenth National Library Week is being observed April 12 to 18 with the dual themes: "Reading Is For Everybody" and "Read - Look - Listen In Your Library." The call is out for readers to find their fare in books and the wide range of other audio-visual materials in the library.

The National Library Week is also aimed at non-library users who are told that reading is a source of personal fulfillment. The slogan for the first National Library Week in the spring of 1958 still applies today — "Wake Up And Read!"

A week or so after the National Library Week McPherson College is having its own library week. Monday, April 27, is the tentative date to start moving books from the old library to the new Miller Library.

Students are to be reminded that there will be limited services on using the books and the card catalogues starting around the 23rd of April. So all those with papers due in the first weeks of May are urged to get them done soon.

ACCK scholar visits, speaks on campus today

Dr. Warren French, chairman of the department of English, University of Missouri at Kansas City, and a visiting ACCK scholar for the spring, is on campus today, April 16.

After speaking at Convocation on the topic "Remembering the Fifties — the Age of Salinger" and talking with those interested in the Student Union from 10-10:30 a.m., he will speak about "Literature of Minority Protest" in Mohler 212 at 10:30-11:30 a.m.

Dr. French will have lunch in the private dining room from 12 noon-1 p.m. and all interested are welcome to join him.

A film which Dr. French has made, "Are Poets People?"

based on the work of the noted Kansas City poet Dan Jaffe, will be featured in Harnley 101 at 7 p.m.

Dr. French is widely known as a dynamic and witty speaker on many facets of literature and criticism, and he is also an instructor in the field of the cinema.

He has many published articles and is the author of a volume on John Steinbeck's work. This summer a book on American fiction of the 1950's which he edited will be published.

Next year Dr. French begins work at the University of Indianapolis as chairman of the English department.

Staff changes made

With regret the resignation of Mrs. Sarah May Brunk, associate professor of English and journalism, has been accepted, the office of the president has announced.

Mrs. Brunk has taught in the English department at McPherson College since the fall of 1947. During this twenty-three year period, she had dedicated her life to the College and its activities. Her services will be missed by students and faculty.

Mrs. Brunk is undergoing a series of physical examinations at the present time, but will not know the outcome for several weeks.

Other news concerning faculty has been released from Dr. Merlan L. Frantz, dean of academic affairs.

Professor John Getman will teach in the field of Spanish.

Mr. Getman holds a B.A. from Baker University and an M.A. from the University of New Mexico, and has taught for the past four years at the University of Navarra, Barcelona, Spain. His wife, Pilar, will be teaching on a part-time basis. The Getmans have one child, a son, Jordi.

Professor Arthur Neuberger will teach in the field of biology. Mr. Neuberger is a 1965 graduate of McPherson College, and this June will receive his Ph.D. in Animal Behavior from the University of Kansas. He is married. He will be filling the vacancy when Larry A. Welch, assistant professor in biology, returns to graduate school.

Patricia Burch will become assistant professor of sociology beginning with the fall semester.

Mrs. Burch received her B. A. in Sociology from Washington University in 1961 and her M.A. from the same school in 1965. She has taught at Washington University, Fort Hays State College and Wichita State University.

After serving the College faithfully for eighteen years, Mrs. Miriam Dell will complete her services as the secretary to the president at the end of May this year.

Mrs. Alma Bruce, presently secretary to the Dean of Students, will become secretary to the president as of May 1, 1970.

Although hopes were that Jean-Michel Fulgraff, assistant professor in foreign languages, would stay longer than his one-year commitment, he and Mrs. Fulgraff feel that they should return to their home country.

Cultural series presents New Orleans jazz band

The attraction is jazz — plain, unadorned, foot-stamping early jazz as played by the PRESERVATION HALL JAZZ BAND, direct from New Orleans for the April 24 cultural series in Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The Band includes a company of five, featuring DeDe Pierce, a blind trumpeter, and his wife, Billie, a pianist and blues singer.

Members of the Band, all of whom are over 60, have been playing in New Orleans and the surrounding parishes for over 40 years and are among the few living talented jazzmen who originated the New Orleans style.

The Bands' members are among some 40 oldline Negro jazzmen who were revitalized and given new purpose by the development of Preservation Hall.

Preservation Hall began as a rehearsal hall, and achieved much of its present status when the New Orleans Society for the Preservation of traditional Jazz formed to support it and pay the musicians in 1961.

When internal friction within the society threatened the Hall, Alan Jaffe, the present manager, stepped in and took over the operation, using his own money to make up the Hall's deficits.

AFTER two years, in which musicians who had been scattered all around the city came back once more to their horns, the tours Jaffe arranged pulled Preservation Hall out of the red.

THE PRESERVATION HALL JAZZ BAND has hit good times lately, going to Mexico City as our cultural representative for the Olympics and playing to a sold out house in New York's Philharmonic Hall last July.

The New York Times had this to say about the group: "This was a strong, solid, beautifully balanced group. There were no subtleties in their playing, no frills, no fancies."

"It was all straight ahead with a strong beat and a direct melodic line. But within this particular music area, it made everything it played listen with zest and joy."

Communicate: fact or folly?

Communications Day at McPherson College should be abolished.

This is not to say that Communications Day is wholly irrelevant; however, its merit does not justify dismissing classes for the day.

The lack of student support for this project founded and sponsored by students makes its task impossible. Admittedly there is a communications problem on this campus of some degree, but when the focus of the day for many lies more in sun bathing than communication there is little that can be accomplished.

Also, communications must not be looked on as something that can be dealt with in a single day. It is a vital part of the academic and social lives of every member of the college community.

Thus every day should be communications day at McPherson College. Only when daily lines of communication are open and free can education take on full significance.

Do you care? Walk, brother

by Brain Gallager

During last week's Communication Day it was said that the students of McPherson College are too selfish and do not care about anyone or anything but themselves.

This may or may not be true. However, one of the best ways of helping yourself is by helping others that is, giving of yourself.

On Saturday, May 2, there will be an opportunity for all the students and faculty of McPherson College to raise thousands of dollars for the needy of the world who lack the basic elements of health, education, food, shelter, and job opportunities — and all one has to do is walk.

The Outdoor Club is presently involved in this undertaking, called Project Concern's Walk for Mankind, along with the

Apply for loans by May 15

Students who received a National Defense Loan or Educational Opportunity Grant this year are not automatically eligible for one next year. A new application form must be completed and should be returned to the financial aids director by May 15 to determine one's eligibility.

Applications are available from the financial aids office. The ACT family financial statement is preferred; however, the PCS or college form is acceptable.

Questions concerning applications should be directed to the director of financial aids.

senior and junior high schools and other groups within McPherson.

Project Concern was founded by Dr. Jim Turpin and offers an opportunity for everyone, especially youth, to get involved and "protest against misery and sickness."

Each volunteer walker is registered and given a Project Concern brochure as well as instructions for the hike and sponsor sheets. Next, he rounds up as many sponsors as he can such as friends, relatives, or businesses who will agree to pay a certain amount for every mile one walks.

Every mile one walks will be verified at checkpoints along the route and money will be collected from the sponsors after the walk.

Each individual's action will help many deprived people in the United States and other countries as well as it will help himself. As John Donne said, "Any man's death diminishes me because I am involved in mankind."

Go fly your kite!

Now is your chance to "go fly a kite!" Join the fun. Rules for the kite-flying contest, which is sponsored by the Social Committee, will be posted today. The contest will begin on Fri., April 17 at 9 p.m. and will continue until 4 p.m. on Sat., April 18.

Lengel presents paper to KHTA

Dr. Leland Lengel, associate professor of history and political science, was one of those presenting papers at the annual meeting of the Kansas History Teachers Association at Manhattan, April 10 and 11.

Student Court sponsors Convo

Student Court will be sponsoring an extra Convocation on April 20 in Brown Auditorium at 7 p.m. This will be a formal presentation given by two inmates of the Kansas State Industrial Reformatory in Hutchinson who are members of the Rock Castle Jaycees, a group that gives programs concerning drugs.

These men will be on campus during the day. At 10:30 a.m. they will speak to certain combined classes, and will then be available to talk to anyone during the noon hour.

After speaking at McPherson High School at 1:15 p.m., they will return to campus at 3 p.m. when they will be willing to speak with anyone.

Students wishing to talk to these men at this time should contact Annette Runyan or Stan Bucher.

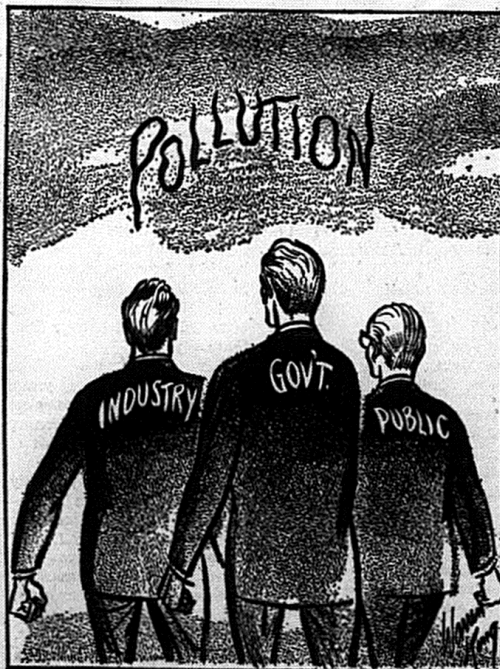

Dorms set visitation hours

Visitation hours have gone into effect since mid-term vacation.

The dorms and their respective visitation hours are as follows: Dotzour Hall, 7 p.m.- 11 p.m., Sundays; Fahnstock Hall, 2 p.m.-4 p.m., Sundays, and 8 p.m.-10 p.m., Saturdays; Kline Hall, 2 p.m.- 4 p.m., Sundays, and 8 p.m.-10 p.m., Fridays; Metzler Hall, 8 p.m.-12 p.m., Saturdays. Bittinger Hall has not determined their visitation hours.

ALL OUT FIGHT FOR ALL

Rubber ducks return

Interest in student government is reaching its highest point of the year in this week before elections.

With one candidate running for office in most positions, next week promises to be a grueling one in which students must decide where they stand on the tough issues of the election and cast their ballots accordingly.

Although the editor of the Spectator has the power to endorse a presidential candidate, it is felt that since no candidates are running for president each individual might best make that decision himself.

After the bitter race is ended and the winners emerge, let us as a student body reunite once again and remember that there are no real losers among those who love McPherson College.

Student clarifies peace fast motives

Some students may have misunderstood the motives behind the peace fast which was publicized around campus this week.

First of all, it was a national thing sponsored by the New Mobilization, which is also the committee which has promoted the monthly moratoriums, the November march on Washington, and peace or the end of the Vietnam War.

This month's demonstration to further the cause was a national peace fast. The money saved from fasting is to be used to help victims of the war in Vietnam and at home.

KABAM (Kansas Brethren Action Movement) picked up this information last Friday and decided to support the fast on our campus.

Unfortunately, we acted too late in order to get cooperation with the food service in time for a fast on Wednesday.

Instead, we put up posters to communicate to the campus what was happening nationally and once again to make McPherson College aware of the seriousness of the war situation and need for peace.

Additionally, we attempted to collect donations from the students on Tuesday and Wednesday to send to the New Mob.

Personally, I have seen this demonstration as an individual commitment to do something for that which I believe in . . . peace. Several other students have expressed similar opinions.

So, you see, this demonstration was not a Communist plot or a traitorous conspiracy. It was simply a personal and serious commitment made by individual students for only peace.

Around campus

Dr. Nicholas J. Sabanovich, consultant from Davis-Mac Connell-Ralston, was on campus last week to begin his work in helping McPherson College form a long-range plan.

Dr. Sabanovich will be returning to campus approximately every other week for the remainder of this school year.

He met with various groups as well as individual students and faculty.

Two more students have been added to the Long Range Planning Committee, which will now be called the Steering Committee. Al Pitts and Eckhardt Kuhn-Osius join Larry Banks and Susan Krehbiel.

Robert Wise, McPherson attorney and McPherson College alumnus and trustee, has also been added to the Committee.

Mrs. Corinne Hughbanks, assistant professor of languages, has received word from the Romance Language Department at the University of Nebraska that she has been awarded a teaching assistantship of $2600 plus tuition aid for the 1970-71 school year.

Mrs. Hughbanks will teach one class of beginning Spanish and carry 12-14 semester hours of college work each semester. She will also be attending summer school both terms.

S. Milton Dell, professor emeritus of industrial arts and director of the McPherson Museum, left March 31 to spend two months in Japan as part of the "Rotary Foundation Study Exchange Team."

He was selected to accompany this team from District 358 (Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong) which toured the local district. The purpose of these visits is to promote better understanding among people from different cultures.

Dr. Doris Coppock, professor of physical education, attended the National Convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in Seattle, Wash., on April 3-7. On April 1-2 in Seattle she attended the Committee on Examinations and Ratings Committee for Basketball.

While there she visited Maria Bakos, AOCK guest professor of dance last year, who is presently at the Seattle Center and coaching girl's gymnastics.

AOCK is sponsoring a Resident Assistant's Workshop on Tuesday, April 21 at Kansas Wesleyan University beginning at 9:30 a.m. and continuing into the afternoon.

All of the present McPherson College R.A.'s and those newly appointed for next year are invited to attend this workshop.

American Association of University Women is sponsoring a tea for the graduating senior women of McPherson College on Sat., April 18 at 2 p.m. - 3 p.m. at the Melhorn residence at 1000 East Euclid. This will be a time for getting acquainted.

A Cappella Choir is planning to attend the music festival at Emporia on Monday, April 27.

John Biggs is working with the choir on his piece "Birds" and also with the men on "Ballads of Land and Sea."

Trip focuses on Congress

by Dianne Warne

Members of the American Politics class, accompanied by Dr. Raymond Flory, professor of history and political science, and Mrs. Flory, spent the week before Easter in Washington, D. C.

The purpose of the trip was to become better acquainted with the workings of American politics, primarily through observation of Congress.

The class met early each morning to discuss events happening in Congress that day that might be of special interest to them. From that point, students were free to attend any general session or Congressional Committee that interested them.

Students spent part of the first morning with Congressman Garner Striver of this district to become somewhat more familiar with what they might be seeing.

Passes to the House and Senate galleries were given to the class. However, they discovered that there were many tourists in Washington who were also interested in visiting the galleries. This sometimes resulted in a limited amount of time allowed for remaining there.

In spite of this, some members of the class did hear debate in the Senate on the Cars-well nomination and in the House on the postal strike.

The primary focus of the trip was on attending Congressional committees and subcommittees, since it is in these meetings that most of the work of Congress is actually done.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and the Senate Foreign Relations Committee perhaps attracted more McPherson students than did other committees.

Air pollution and drug abuse by the armed services were some topics discussed in these committees.

In addition to attending committee meetings, the class also met with several lobby groups. These included the National Right to Work Committee (against compulsory union membership), the National Education Association, and the Farmers Union.

An interesting meeting was also held with Elmer Staats, Comptroller General of the United States, who is a graduate and trustee of McPherson College.

Since the trip was primarily educational, most sightseeing was left for the students' free time. However, the class as a whole did some sightseeing on the first day in Washington.

Their chartered bus took them past such places as the foreign embassies, Georgetown, Arlington National Cemetery, the Pentagon, Walker Reed Army Hospital, and the Lincoln, Washington, and Jefferson memorials.

Part of the day was also spent at Mt. Vernon, the Smithsonian Institute, and the National Museum of History and Technology.

The group left Washington on Thursday, March 26, for New York City, stopping in Philadelphia on the way to see Independence Hall.

After spending most of the day sightseeing in New York, the class headed back to McPherson on Friday evening.

Most students involved in the trip agree that they very much enjoyed their stay in Washington and gained new insights into the workings of American politics.

Schools leave conference

Ottawa University, College of Emporia, and Baker University will leave the Kansas Conference in the fall of 1971 to join five other colleges in the newly forming Heart of America Collegiate Conference.

The three schools will continue in the Kansas Conference through the 1970-71 school year.

Other members of the Heart-Arn Conference will be William Jewell College of Liberty, Mo., Central Methodist College of Fayette, Mo., Turko College of Turko, Mo., Missouri Valley College of Marshall, Mo., and GraceLand College of Lamoni, Iowa.

Members of the Conference will be required to compete in football, basketball, track, and baseball. In other sports such as tennis, golf, wrestling, and soccer, four or more schools

Lecturer talks science future

On Wednesday, March 25, Dr. Davidson, a theoretical physicist at KU, spoke at the Math and Physics Club dinner. He spoke on the future of science in our society and he then answered questions from students.

He stated that science would continue, at a slower pace, in the directions it is going today. He compared this with the slower days of science before Sputnik I.

He also stated that he saw science expanding into social and environmental fields. These are scientific oriented problems and they are what the public is concerned about. Earlier in the day he lectured the physics classes on "Constructing New Elements" and on "Building Mesons."

Come see, join women's sports

McPherson College women have the opportunity this spring to participate and compete in three sports. These sports and the sport heads are as follows: tennis, Ann Herbst; track, Kathy Rogers; and baseball, Chris Elliott.

This will be a great time to get some fresh air, have fun and maybe lose a few pounds. Anyone interested may participate by contacting the sport head.

The first tennis meet will be today at Sterling at 2:30 p.m.

may compete for championships if they desire.

Formation of the new conference has been a topic of discussion for several years, with various factors contributing to its organization at this time.

One factor is the increase in the Kansas Conference to twelve schools which is felt by some to be cumbersome despite its two-division set-up.

Also, regional organizations set up in the last few years in the Kansas City area and central Kansas formed natural geographical groupings for academic and administrative cooperation and made good bases for associations in various activities including athletics.

Track team impressive

The Bulldogs gave a fine showing at the Emporia State Relays on Saturday, April 11. Dean Holloway won the hurdle competition and Mike Butsch won the pole vault.

The sprint medley relay team consisting of Dean Holloway, Jim Anewalt, Dave Smith, and John Miller, broke a school record while coming in third in the meet. The old record of 3:33.2 was broken with 3:32.7.

Class writes Mac history

"McPherson at Fifty" is the title of the book, and writing it is the current project of Dr. Flory and most of the members of the class in Historiography.

The content of the book centers on the history of McPherson County in the 1920's, and the writing was started this past Interterm.

For the students who are submitting contributions for possible inclusion in the book, this was part of a history assignment to develop a research paper from original sources.

Dr. Flory, who is writing approximately a third of the book, hopes to have it published this summer. It will be a hard-bound book of about 150 pages.
