College Choir to give annual spring concert

The 41 members of the A Cappella Choir offer a musical "Time for Romance and Adventure" as they open their Annual Spring Home Concert in Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m., May 8.

The Choir is conducted by Don Frederick, professor of voice and director of choral organization and currently in his 24th year as teacher-conductor-composer at McPherson College.

The program is divided into three sections, with "A Time for Worship and Praise" and, after intermission, "A Time for Fellowship and Devotion" following the opening section.

The Choir will present a wide variety of selections, including tunes from the Broadway musicals, "Brigadoon" and "Camelot," songs of the out-of-doors, original compositions by guest conductor John Biggs, and sacred choral works.

In the last section of the program, the Choir will sing in a campfire setting, dressed in informal camp attire and jackets.

Camp songs, folk songs, a ballad, spirituals, and hymns are included here, as well as selections from the male quartet and a solo by John Hurley, fr., Washington, D. C.

Preparing special staging effects are Charles W. Fischer, assistant professor in English-theater, and his assistants. The four successive scenes are: theater marquee, countryside, church, and the campfire setting.

The piano accompanists for the Choir are Janice Bailey, soph., Morrill; Beth Brubaker, fr., Lyons; and Linda Grove, soph., Washington, Ia.

Rod Custer, soph., Quinter, — guitar; Dave Grove, soph., Unionville, Ia., — guitar; Stewart Hoover, fr., Warrensburg, Mo., — guitar; Bruce Kitzel, fr., Los Angeles, Calif., — string bass; and Michael Dautremont, fr., Riverside, Ia., — percussion, are the assisting instrumentalists.

The concert will be approximately an hour and a half long, with free admission.

Two things have made this year particularly interesting for the Choir. One was the chance to work up two numbers with John Biggs, composer-in-residence at Kansas State Teachers College, and guest composer-conductor at McPherson.

The second was the successful completion of a six-day tour to schools and churches in the states of Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri.

The Choir traveled by chartered bus, and was received with enthusiasm and appreciation in the various communities in which programs were presented. The Choir last year was not able to make the traditional tour.

On April 27, the Choir appeared on the program at Emporia in connection with the FESTIVAL of 20th CENTURY MUSIC, which was sponsored by KSTC through the Kansas Cooperative College Composers Project.

Around campus

COLLAGE Poetry and Folk Festival will be tonight, May 7 at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Basement. Everyone is invited to attend and participate in this performance of spontaneous poetry reading and music.

Word has been received from Congressman Garner Sharver that the ACCK will receive $250,000 under Title III for the ensuing school year. This will include five National Teaching Fellowships.

During the past year ACCK received $254,000, including seven National Teaching Fellowships.

As compared to other consortia in the county and in the light of other cutbacks in HEW, this appears to be very good funding.

Rev. William McDermet, pastor of the McPherson Christian Church will speak during the Chapel service Tuesday morning, May 12. The chapel has been planned by Paul Wagoner and will be held in the Church of the Brethren chapel.

Dr. Raymond Flory, Professor of history and political science presented a paper to the History and Philosophy of Science Division of the Kansas Academy of Science, Saturday, April 25, at Wichita.

Cradle rocks Mac campus

The Cradle will return in concert to the McPherson College campus on Sunday evening, May 10.

"The four girls, who make-up the top all-girl, self-contained group in the country were enthusiastically received at an early April dance. Their heavy rock sound originated in Detroit, Michigan, and today they carry over $12,000 worth of equipment.

The concert begins at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium. Tickets are $1.50 at the door.

All Schools Day, an annual event in McPherson County, was started fifty-seven years ago to honor the eighth grade graduates of the county with diplomas. Five years ago when unified school districts were created without regard to county lines, the importance of eighth grade graduation was minimized.

At present the day is set aside to honor all school children in the county. Special recognition is given to graduating high school seniors.

The activities for this year's All Schools Day will begin with a "May Fete" on May 13 and 14. A carnival will operate from May 12 to 16.

On May 15, at 8 a.m., there will be a parade in downtown McPherson. This event is usually attended by 30,000 to 40,000 McPherson County residents.

The Sophomore class of the college will be entering a float in the parade. Any interested group is invited to enter floats in the parade. If the float is registered at Brunk Jewelers, it is possible to obtain a $50 subsidy toward the construction of the float.

A dance will be held at the high school Roundhouse on Friday, May 15, 9 p.m. to 12 midnight, to which all McPherson College students are invited. Admission will be $2 per person.

Other activities include a Beard Contest judged by McPherson's barbers, Indian dances at the high school on Saturday, May 16, and a tennis tournament on Saturday and Sunday, May 16 and May 17.

Final convo features Melhorn, Newcomer

The May 14 Convocation program will feature a brief report by Dr. Melhorn in regard to significant things happening during the school year and some things planned for the summer and next year — including personnel, program and facilities.

Also speaking at the Convocations program will be Dr. Leland D. Newcomer, a member of the consulting team working with McPherson College's self-study program. Newcomer will be on campus on May 13 and 14. On Wednesday, May 13, he will be speaking to the faculty.

Newcomer received his B.A. at LaVerne College in 1942, his M.A. at Claremont Graduate School in 1951, and an Ed. D. Degree at the University of Southern California in 1964. He has had experience as a teacher, principal, superintendent of schools, college lecturer, consultant, and is presently President of LaVerne College.

COLLAGE sale begins today

COLLAGE will be on sale today, tomorrow and Saturday in the Student Union at mealtimes.

COLLAGE is the unofficial campus fine arts publication, containing original prose, poetry, art and photographs by students, faculty and staff of McPherson College.

Freshmen arrive August 29

School will open August 29, next fall for incoming freshmen. All other students should return no sooner than September 1.

September 1, will also be the beginning of orientation for freshmen. Enrollment will be scheduled for September 2 and 3, with classes beginning September 4.

Institutions have power, but no feeling

In response to the letter from four coeds in the April 30 issue of the Spectator:

I first must submit to my human ego by resenting the statement at the end of your letter concerning "children who must have their way" but the "oppressed peoples" allegory is, at the same time, not far from the truth.

The main problem with your regard for the administration is your wish to treat the institution as a human being. This is a common mistake. You imply that we should recognize that "they" are only human and are doing much for us as fellow humans.

But, they are not human, they are an institution, an organization, they are the collective minds of all the members.

Any "organization" or "council" such as the administration has several advantages:

1. Since more than one opinion and view is expressed, hopefully, a better decision can be reached in any situation than if but one person is deciding.

2. It allows each of its members freedom from total responsibility for its actions.

3. It can, since there will not be personal responsibility placed on any single member, act without fear of personal retribution.

What an organization like the administration is then, is a power. It can be benevolent, malevolent, and express any feelings it wishes, but unlike a man, it has the power to act in any way it pleases.

This leads to certain disadvantages:

1. It is easy for an institution to be capricious and unfeeling in its actions.

2. It cannot be treated like an individual, emotional human being with any success.

The individuals of the institution may not all be a bunch of "lying SOB's," but the institution can be, and often is, freely this.

The institution, then, because it is an institution of a wide range of views and opinions of its individuals, cannot be petitioned like an individual with any success.

To petition an institution like our administration does not require a "free dialogue," it requires a show of power and/or need (often these must be one in the same) before it will act.

The issue has to be popular to the institutions' members before they will act, and, if the petitioning body wants something done at all, they have to ask (or demand) it now, so the institution has an idea of what they want and will begin to move.

If we are to get anywhere we must let the administration know what we want. We all have a general idea of our "ideal situation" here, and since "long range planning" is the institution's bag, now is not the time to sit around and see what it gives us, now is the time to let it know in no uncertain terms what we want.

Your letter implies apathy towards our campus and its future. That is not what we need. When the administration tells us that the constitutional changes we made are not regarded by it as being valid and in effect, you are telling me, we should wait for more action from them.

Perhaps they'll give us a new "student" constitution in the process.

I am not a masochist, I don't enjoy being kicked around, and I wish to take this opportunity to register my disgust with the administration's handling of the Metzler proposal. It seemed as though the administration had told us: "OK, kiddies, you can play at government all you want, but when you start doing something, then you're in trouble." I am supposed to take this smiling?

Stewart M. Hoover

Student advocates involvement now

I think I'll just sit here to wait and see what happens on campus. I'll wait and see what Nixon does, I'll wait for the Supreme Court, for Congress, for Wallace, for the consultant, the Mac Administration and Stuco. I'll even wait to see what the Student Body will do.

Everyone on campus is just waiting for someone else to make changes.

The buck has been passed back and forth. The buck that I am referring to in the Constitutional Amendments. The Student Body has approved them. The Trustee said "Fine, we will see you next year."

The administration has seen fit to use only part of the Amendments (Article I Sec. 2 G & H., Article II Sec. 3. C-I. 1). We must not forget Stuco. They are still fighting over the validity of the said Amendments.

I have a few questions to ask all concerned persons. First, if half of the Amendments are valid then what about the other half? (Sec. 4. D.3) This section seems to be invalid because the Student Life Committee is just an advisory body to Stuco.

Secondly, why is Stuco still questioning the validity of the Amendments (see above question and Article I Sec. 2. E.).

The most important question is directed to you, the Student Body. Apathy will get you nowhere. Why do you let these things take place? You elected Stuco to represent you, but do you support them? Do you let them know how you feel?

Stand up for what you believe in. The time is here and now to show the administration, Stuco and yourselves that it is time for a change on Mac campus.

Radio, TV class prepares television broadcast

Writing and producing a television show has been one of the goals of the students in "Introduction to Radio and Television," and the class will achieve this on channel 12 at 7 a.m., May 8.

Robert Powers, soph, Saddle Brook, N. J., will emcee the show, giving an introduction and interviewing McPherson College students.

The purpose of the program is to present a picture of McPherson College to the public in the hope of extending an appreciation of the College and its work.

Judith D. Brown, soph, McPherson, wrote the script for the program, and Dan C. Snyder, jr, McPherson, is the director-producer. The class plans to have a student operate one of the television cameras for the show.

Pastor sees attitudes

I share this concern in love with the campus community.

Some of the pervading attitudes shared among the students and faculty in word and deed carries with it a "death wish" syndrome. The message comes through in words, attitudes, feelings and actions. The antithesis is a "life wish" which generates the possibility for growth. This message also comes through in words, attitudes, feelings, and actions.

Which "wish" would you rather see in your community? Our common hope comes in this ability to live with both these realities. Man carries a divine responsibility to live in human communities, such as colleges.
