Melhorn to appear in Mac Shack forum

In his speech at this year's opening Convocation, Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, president of the College, presented his "structure for change," long-range planning.

On Monday evening, Oct. 13, Dr. Melhorn will be an active participant in the Open Forum discussion at the Mac Shack. He plans to discuss specific ideas about the basic assumptions presented in his Convocation speech, and the developmental tasks associated with these assumptions.

In previous articles of the Spectator, Dr. Melhorn has pointed out some of the major advantages of long-range planning. They are:

- (1) a plan forces an institution to make public decisions on major matters;
- (2) plans work to overcome stagnation and status quo contentment;
- (3) planning points the weaknesses in an institution which might otherwise be covered up, purposefully or unintentionally;
- (4) planning helps to promote realism and to avoid fantasy idealism; helps to keep faculty and staff firmly anchored to the plan and to the program;

(5) the plans help to explain in objective dollar and cents terms the reasons for administrative positions;

(6) the process is probably more valuable than the results;

(7) a long-range plan makes a college a model of what it means to inculcate in its graduates — the ability to make plans, consciously understand choices in the best interests of all involved for the common good.

Dr. Melhorn is interested in exploring new ideas and new concepts, thereby revealing some general, but more specific suggestions of ways to implement the assumptions and goals that he outlined in his Convocation speech.

He has expressed the hope that the students will be willing to share their highest aspirations and dreams about learning in a college situation.

Fourteen members of the cast and crew of "The Miner's Daughter" consumed 13 pizzas at a pizza party given for them by Ron Schierling, owner of the Mac Pizza House.

Schierling furnished pizzas and soft drinks in appreciation for the performances the cast gave of the melodrama at the Buggy Inn during "Howdy Days."

Banks relates his Stuco role

The office of Student Council president includes various activities in which I represent the McPherson Student Body. Recently several people have questioned my role in this capacity, and I wish to give my viewpoint.

First of all, I do not believe that it is my responsibility—nor is it possible—to “speak for the Student Body” as such. I suppose I could display my personal ideas as those of the Student Body, but this seems foolish to say the least.

Therefore, unless Council directs me to act in a specific manner, I direct my actions according to my best judgment. I shall never speak specifically as the “voice of McPherson Students” unless I have a poll at hand or the Council so moves.

Being more specific, the Vietnam Moratorium is now becoming somewhat of an issue at McPherson. I am happy to see McPherson students taking an interest in issues that involve us.

Those people who are planning for this day of Vietnam War protest and study have sought my support. It is rather immaterial whether I support this issue or not; I shall be but one student in favor or disfavor of the moratorium.

My opinion shall not reflect the attitude of Council or the Student Body.

As president, it is my duty to help students or groups of students “run” their proposals through the proper channels, to offer advice on procedure, etc., but not to become the ring-leader of everything that moves on campus.

I shall assist these interested students as I honestly try to assist other students who have good ideas, but from then on I shall become Larry O. Banks, student.

Believing this as I do, I shall disappoint those who favored a “presidential decree” in favor of the moratorium. What I do Oct. 15 has nothing to do with my position as president.

As a student, it is my duty to know how I stand on this issue and to be tolerant of other people's ideas.

While I am “here,” I will ask you to attend our Council meetings each Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. If the conference room in the Student Union basement is too small, we shall move elsewhere. Also, talk to your representatives and share ideas.

Larry Owen Banks
Student Council President

The Lost Son

Evening fell upon this day as an early October frost, pushing away the sunlight in one of the best days of our lives. The growing season was not yet complete—now too late to replant and start once more though tomorrow shall have its sun.

We have loved without a harvest—smitten by the cold, wet clay.

Steve Tuttle works with youth on drugs

Steve Tuttle knows about drugs — not through books or television warnings, but through two years of working with youth who are hooked.

Tuttle, a junior from Quinter, will speak on his experience and answer questions on drugs on Monday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the People's Center, People's State Bank.

The meeting is sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Tuttle recently completed a Brethren Volunteer Service assignment with Teen Challenge in Rehoboth, Pa.

Founded in 1958 by the Rev. Wilkerson in New York City, the Teen Challenge program is a three phase process designed to help those wishing recovery from drug addiction.

Wilkerson is the author of several books including The Cross and The Switchblade, Twelve Angels From Hell, and Parents on Trial.

Voluntary induction at any of the 28 centers over the United States, Canada, Puerto Rico, and some European countries is the first phase of the program, which lasts approximately two months.

Rehabilitation for six to eight months at one of the training centers is the next step.

The three centers for men include the Rehoboth center as well as ones at San Francisco, Calif., and Cape Girardeau, Mo. Women's centers are located at Garrison, N. Y., and San Francisco, Calif.

Finally, a re-entry phase of two months completes the program:

Most of the inductees are involved with the harder drugs, many of them mainlining heroin. Cough syrup, marijuana, speed (methordine), LSD, and a wide assortment of other drugs are among those used.

In 1968, 150 men went into the Rehoboth training center. An average of 78 men are at the center at any one time. Most come from New York and other large cities.

The ages of the addicts range from 14 to 48, with 25 years being the arithmetic mean. Those coming to the center spend an average of $30 per day on drugs.

Tuttle's first year was spent in work projects, counseling, and working in the streets of

New York every other weekend.

During the second year, he taught in the classroom and worked on a drug education program for junior and senior high schools in Pennsylvania, as well as counseling.

Teen Challenge is, in Tuttle's words, “a strange program because it works.” The Federal Narcotics Hospital in Lexington, Ky., rehabilitates only one or two per cent of the drug addicts who voluntarily or compulsorily spend six to eight months there.

However, Teen Challenge, also is a six to eight month period, rehabilitates 70 to 80 per cent, which the federal hospital considers impossible.

Teen Challenge attributes its success to recognizing and working with more than just the physical and mental aspects, but with the spiritual aspect as well.

Tuttle explains that every person has a void, an emptiness that must be filled. Some seek to fill it through prestige, emotions, or sex; others turn to drugs including alcohol, nicotine, and the harder drugs.

As for his own future, Tuttle says he's “addicted to this type of work.” A psychology major, he plans to go on to a graduate program for clinical psychology after graduation from McPherson.

Poets to submit manuscripts

The view from Main Street

The Vietnam Moratorium Committee, a broad-based group initiated by former McCarthy and Kennedy forces, has called for a "moratorium on business as usual" on Oct. 15.

People are being asked to devote the day to publicizing the peace issue. The effort will be focused on the effort to withdraw our troops and replace the Thieu-Ky regime by a broad-based coalition in order to achieve a negotiated settlement.

It is planned to expand the Moratorium by one day each month until the troops are withdrawn.

The Committee is asking students and teachers to either boycott classes or organize their classes on that day around the Vietnam issue. Vietnam history, Vietnamese literature, etc.

Other requests are displaying a flag and driving with headlights on, thus co-opting the right-wing symbols; wearing a black armband; refusing to shop on Oct. 15; and displaying buttons, decals, etc., concerning peace.

The National Student Association is supporting the Moratorium and is asking that students organize campus rallies and peace marches.

Many campuses are planning to bring in speakers to talk on Vietnam; some people are obtaining lists of the war dead for a public reading on that day.

The NSA is requesting nationwide support on this peace effort in order to show that all students are extremely concerned about the issue.

President Nixon has stated that any such demonstrations concerning the war will not affect his opinions, nor will it alter his efforts concerning peace.

However, the Moratorium has received support from other "prominent" figures, including Senators George McGovern, Edward Kennedy, Charles Goodell, Mark Hatfield, Edmund Muskie, and Eugene McCarthy.

Other celebrities in favor of the Moratorium include John Kenneth Galbraith, Reinhold Neibuhr, and Benjamin Spock. The main question concerning the Moratorium and other peace demonstrations is this... what effect does it really have?

Some people are quite optimistic about its results... others aren't sure, but hope for the best... and many don't really care, but they sure enjoy the noise they make.

Perhaps nothing will come of the Moratorium. Then nothing will be lost except time wasted... but also there is the possibility that violence will erupt as a result.

If violent disruptions occur, as is quite probable, then the Moratorium loses much of its support and most of the seemingly desirable effect.

Many times non-violent activities can become violent because people tend to be impatient when they think the methods they are using are not effective. Little SDS participation is expected according to some sources.

Another type of violence is expected to occur... that of clashes with far right or far left antagonists. This may help sway opinion in favor of the Moratorium as is hoped.

In spite of the possibilities of repercussions there comes a time when many concerned citizens feel they must act in the best way that they feel is left open to them. This is the rationale behind the movement.

If a large non-violent support does come from the Moratorium, perhaps it can help to bring an end to this war... with this in mind, it seems that the movement should be given "guarded" support.

But it is obvious to the Nixon administration that there are many Americans opposed to the war and anxious to withdraw. So what can the Moratorium accomplish?

When the whole world knows

Parks, Hall

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner of Windber, Pa., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharyn Parks, to Richard Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall of Hutchinson.

Miss Parks is a junior at the College majoring in sociology. Hall is a 1969 graduate of the College and is a part-time graduate student at Wichita State University.

A January wedding is planned.

that the majority of the students in the United States are ready for peace in Vietnam, publicizing the peace issue more cannot really accomplish much.

But there can be one possible benefit... at least many frustrated students will have a chance to get rid of the hostilities... and it will give them a break from the normal college routine.

If the unfortunate students who are always looking for a way to make themselves known can feel like they have accomplished their goal... then it is all worth the effort!

(If anyone wonders... I will probably participate... but no more than I do any other day.)

Guest speaker will be Don E. Gerard, assistant manager of the Board of Public Utilities. His topic will be "Career Guidance for Scientifically-minded Students."

Membership in the club is still open to those who are interested. Anyone wishing to join the club is invited to attend the next meeting. Guests are also welcome.

McPherson students have been passing around the following petition:

We, the undersigned students of McPherson College, mourn the death of our American brothers in Vietnam. On October 15, 1969 a national Vietnam Moratorium has been called for by citizens of the United States and has received support from several Congressmen. Because we are students, and it is our peers who are being killed in Vietnam we feel:

1. Classes should be dismissed from noon to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, October 15 to mourn the death of these men.

2. Classes should be dismissed to allow discussion of Vietnam among our fellow students so that we may better understand the situation there, with the goal of becoming a better informed citizenry.

3. To use this day as an opportunity of showing our encouragement for the Paris Peace talks.

4. To let President Nixon know that we students will be heard.

5. To encourage and bring about habitation to international morality.

Bulldogs to battle Sterling Warriors

Battling Bulldogs will meet the Sterling Warriors on the College gridiron Saturday, Oct. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

The Dogs lost to a tough Wichita Friends University team 35-7 last Saturday, Oct. 4.

The ball was lost several times on fumbles.

The Dogs only score was 15 seconds before the end of the first half. Mike Parks intercepted a pass on Friends 40-yard line where the Falcons were called for roughness, and the 15 yard penalty moved the ball to the 25.

Seven plays later Ken Smith took a seven-yard pass from quarterback Steve Smith for the score. The extra point was kicked by Steve Layton.

Brent Knott caught eight passes for a total of 91 yards. Friends quarterback Mike Herndon made 17 passes, and completed 11. Friends Falcons led in yards gained rushing, yards gained passing, and in first downs.

Jackson relates problems facing today's world

"Problems that face humans Around the World" was the topic of the Honorable Colin Jackson's speech during the Oct. 2 Convocation.

One of the ironic aspects of the modern world is that while man has kept an amazing pace forward in the areas of science and technology, he has drifted backwards in political and sociological areas.

Three aspects explored by Jackson were the Middle East,

Vietnam, and Russian-Chinese dominance in world affairs.

Jackson described the Russian-Chinese conflict as a battle of ideology in the communist world, a battle of temperament, and a battle of territory.

He said he cannot guess what the Russians are planning. Their press is in a frenzy, which is very unusual.

Concerning the Middle East conflict, Jackson said that it was very hard for the United States to be impartial.
