

Melhorn Announces Governance Model

In the McPherson College Education Master Plan for a Decade of Decision, 1970-80, prepared by the educational consulting firm of Davis MacConnell Ralston, a new governance model is suggested for McPherson College. On this point the Master Plan includes the following statements:

"When students desire to participate responsibly in the government of the college, their wish should be recognized as a claim to opportunity, both for educational experience and for involvement in the affairs of their school.

"If McPherson College is really serious about its goal and objectives, it will give serious consideration to the student voice particularly in affairs concerning student life in the Mc-Pherson College Community.

"This idea could be implemented on an experimental basis in the spring term in February 1971 and if successful could be expanded into a 'McPherson College Community Senate' the following school year beginning in September, 1971.

"The assembly should consider creating committees and subcommittees in any areas they feel warrant such action, e.g., resident halls, human relations, social affairs, judicial, etc.

"The student body should be able to elect student members on standing campus committees, at least one of whom should be a member of the assembly. The faculty should also be able to elect faculty members on standing campus committees, at least one of whom should be a member of the assembly.

"All standing committees of the college should have at least one student and one faculty member who are also members of the representative assembly."

To study the implementation of these suggestions, President Melhorn asked the following persons to serve with him on a Governance Committee:

The Committee has met six times since the middle of December. On the basis of these meetings the Governance Committee is suggesting the implementation of the new governance model on a trial basis during the spring term of the present academic year. The following points outline the first steps:

(1) The new governance model is to be named the McPherson College Community Council.

(2) The purpose of the Community Council is to review and act on policy matters.

(3) During the trial period policy matters would be limited to social rules and regulations, judicial operations, cultural and recreational activities, spiritual life and human relations. However, the Council would have the authority to discuss and make recommendations on matters such as curriculum, budget, admissions, student financial aid, and campus planning to the faculty, student body, and the president or to other appropriate agencies.

(4) The chairman of the Community Council would be the President of the College, and in his absence the Dean of Academic Affairs would be the pro tem chairman. The chairman of the Council holds the power of veto as well as the right to refer matters relating to major policy decisions to the Board.

(5) Secretary of the Community Council is to be appointed by the President.

(6) Voting members of the Community Council would include the following persons: Student Body President, Student Body Vice President, one freshman, one commuting student, and six at-large students elected by full-time students; six faculty members elected by the voting members of the faculty; and four administrators by appointment. The chairman would vote only in the case of tie vote in the Council.

(7) The Community Council should meet at least once a month and at other times on the call of the President or by petition of not less than two-thirds of the representatives. Each meeting should be publicized in advance and the results of each meeting should also be publicized in the campus newspaper.

(8) A quorum should be necessary to conduct business with the majority (11) of the membership constituting a quorum.

(9) Any member of the College community may submit a proposal in writing for inclusion on the agenda of a forthcoming meeting, such a request must precede the meeting by a minimum of four days. After hearing the presentation, the Council may vote to discuss immediately, refer to committee for further study or table. A petition signed by one hundred community members may require reconsideration by the Council of a specific action.

An opportunity is being provided for students to indicate their interest in trying this governance model on a trial basis this semester. Feb. 18 has been scheduled tentatively for the day to vote on the model.

"If a majority of students favor this governance model," President Melhorn said, he "will recommend to the Board of Trustees at their March meeting that the governance model be put into effect this semester."

If the McPherson College Community Council functions well, then it may be enlarged to include additional policy matters and become the most important decision making group on the campus.

Play cast enacts Unique performance

"Tom Sawyer," a project in Children's Theatre led by two McPherson College students, John C. Petersen and Anita C. Redmon, as an independent study during Interterm, was a unique performance to area residents because it was the first time that youngsters have been given the roles of main characters and also comprised the majority of the cast.

The director of the play is a senior majoring in sociology who has taken a deep interest in theatre as his hobby. His assistant director, Miss Redmon, also has been active in the college drama department.

As a production by young children basically for young children and "young" adults, it was remarkably well done. Heading the list of performers was Tray Glidden as Tom Sawyer, Alan van Asselt as Huck Finn, and Carolyn Lengel as Becky Thatcher.

The adult cast members were Neva McNicholas as Aunt Polly, Pam Smith as Mrs. Harper, Frank McKinney as the school master, George McNicholas as the doctor, Dennis Haugen as Muff Potter, Frank Berens as the preacher, Kevin Kiltridge as the sheriff, and James Iori as Injun Joe.

Others in the cast included Rick Wall as Joe Harper, Rick Nelson as Alfred Temple, Tamara Andreas as Amy Lawrence, Lynn Baxter as Susan Harper, Mandy Deal as Janie Hardin, Amy Friesen as Ruth Lawrence, John Goldsmith as Ben Rodgers, Leas Mymard as Bracie Miller, Craig MacMurray as Jim Hollis, Tim Pierson as Sid Sawyer, Robin Wall as Elaine Harper, and Debbie Lolling as Mary Rodgers.

The crews behind stage did an excellent job of supporting the actors on stage. They were sets: Karl Matz, Dennis Haugen, Chsis Sabo, Barbara Matz, Bill Ahern, Vincette Goerl, and Tom Nee;

Stage crew: Stan Clark, Rick Tyler; lights: Steve Beaver, Carol Flory, Gene Lighter and Ken Smith; Props: Linda Taplin; make-up: Chris Sabo; Ushers: Angel Wall, Linda van Asselt, and Debbie Snyder.

Cooperation: students' plea

United Front for McPherson College, a newly formed committee of 16 students including dorm council presidents and their selected dorm representatives, met Thursday evening, Feb. 4, to discuss recent Administration actions and to formulate plans for increased cooperation between dorms.

The meeting was primarily a reactive response to the administration's decision to drop Kline Hall's current key policy and the Student Life Committee's act of overriding punitive actions taken by the Bittering Hall dorm council against two students.

The meeting began with a general airing of complaints directed primarily at Administrative leaders for their insensitivity and general lack of respect for student rights. Said Mr. Alan Pitts, Student Council President, "The administration reserves the right to usurp student powers anytime it feels necessary."

Discussion then turned to the actions and attitude of Mr. Milton Goering, Dean of Students. The students agreed that Mr.

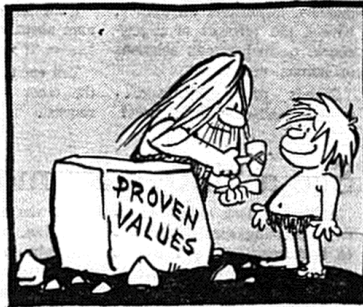

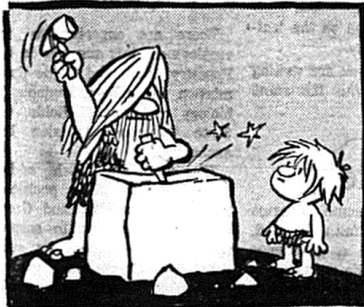

Goering's unwillingness or inability to deal honestly with student representatives was "an outward symptom of the sickness of this college."

After asserting that greater cooperation was needed among dorms to help check the administration's disregard for student rights the committee was presented with a proposal to censure the Office of Personnel. The proposal read:

"We, the undersigned do hereby censure the Office of Personnel for actions taken against Kline Hall with regards to key regulations and against the two Bittering Hall residents who were accused of infractions of dorm rules."

The censure was unanimously approved and signatored by the committee members.

Furthermore, it was decided that the censure be presented to McPherson College President, J. Jack Melhorn, the following morning and that duplicate texts be given to dorm council members and all students for their consideration and possible signature.

Students Say Communicate

Communication is defined by Webster as an "interchange of thoughts or opinions by conference or other means." It is the giving or giving and receiving of information via talk, gestures or writing.

The ideal communication should be open and willing to listen to anyone's ideas, even those that deviate. It should be honest and straightforward. This type of communication could be painful at times because of its honesty, but if the attitude of cooperation exists between the two parties then it can serve as a means of understanding.

The student body meeting on Sunday, Feb. 7 was centered around a committee called the United Front For McPherson College. These students expressed a deep desire to improve the communications between the students and the College Administration. The meeting was called to inform students of the committee's objectives and to ask for opinions and support.

The United Front is for McPherson College and wants to be a constructive instrument in helping the College during this decisive period. It wants a united student body that is informed.

The committee supports the Master Plan's planning parameter three: "McPherson College will make every effort to provide a student body of diverse ethnic, cultural, geographic, and socio-economic background."

The United Front For McPherson College went on to state: "We support this parameter but realize that it entails that:

- 1) Written and published statements on procedure and due process must be available to everyone.
- 2) We must logan according to community sanctioned rules rather than the psychological reactions which have functioned in judicial proceedings in the past.
- 3) We deplore the administration's inconsistency in its stated goal and its present attitude toward judicial and legislative matters and ask that they support this parameter in action as well as name."

Urban Studies Pose Challenge

Sure, we've all heard of the growing problems of the American City. It's pretty depressing — it's even more depressing experiencing the pains of a growing city. So the Urban Sociology class found out during their interterm trip to Kansas City.

In recent years the federal government has created many agencies to fight urban problems. They appear to be a failure in Kansas City. People in these agencies have gotten so involved in bureaucracy and paper work that they have forgotten the real human needs that should be dealt with. Each agency stresses the fact that they are trying to deal with the people of the city on a human level, but one sees them trapped in routine, complexity, and frustration.

One of the basic problems of the city is the lack of communication. That sounds trite. Everyone has heard that statement many times. However, once in the city the term "communication" took on a new meaning. People must learn to speak simply what they think and feel — forget the large vocabulary words and subtlety. People must learn to listen with feeling. They must learn to "see" what is happening around them.

Titles, agencies, etc. must be given up for honest one to one relationships. We cannot mass produce solutions to urban problems. Money and alphabet agencies will never be a substitute for real human feelings.

We did meet a few people in Kansas City who knew how to see, feel, hear, and speak. To

Students: Read, Consider Before Voting for Council

by Colleen Paige

By this time, hopefully, you have read the official release of information concerning the new governance model for McPherson College. If you have not read it — do! Then, think!

Consider some of the following points:

The governance council will handle "policy matters" only. What are "policy matters"? It is suggested under point three of the first steps for formation of the council that this will include "social rules and regulations, judicial operations, cultural and recreational activities, spiritual life and human relations."

It also suggests that matters such as "curriculum, budget, admissions, student financial aid," etc. could be included. That sounds like a bit of everything. Why not just give the council full power in the first place?

"The President of the College will be chairman of the council, in his absence the Dean of Student Affairs would be chairman pro tem of the council."

Saturday, February 20 — B.B. Tabor, there, 7:30 p.m.

The President also would select the Secretary? Where is the student representation among the officers of this council?

The Council is to be ten students and ten faculty-administration members. However the quorum is to be eleven members. Wouldn't it be better to have the quorum at 12 members, requiring six to be students and six to be faculty-administration members. This would mean equal representation at all meetings.

Please consider these points. The council may or may not work, but at least know what you are voting for. The council certainly will not be a panacea for campus communication problems. It is encumbered with numerous small committees that may entangle it and eventually need to be changed.

Student Council Plans February Heart Campaign

February is Heart Month and the McPherson College Student Council and volunteer student workers will be conducting the 1971 Heart Fund Campaign in McPherson.

This year's Campaign will be conducted on two days, and two areas will be the center of the workers' activities.

The McPherson business district will be canvassed on Friday, Feb. 19, by the volunteers. It will cover stores, service stations, garages, professional offices, theatres, hotels, motels, restaurants, city offices and all other non-residential places of the community.

Then on Sunday, Feb. 21, the Heart Fund Campaign will solicit donations from the residential areas of McPherson. The student volunteers plan to contact virtually every residence in the city for the Heart Fund.

If you are not contacted by a campaign worker and would like to make your donation to the 1971 Heart Fund, contact Jerry Schrock at McPherson College, Campaign Chairman.

Sideliners

by P.O.E.

Say, Gramps McGee! I read in Newsweek, that there's a proposal in Congress to ban smoking in certain closed areas. At college, they're fighting for smoking in buildings. Maybe they're farther behind the times than they thought.

Maybe, Charlie. I saw that the Senate is thinking about reforming the seniority rule. Don't they know that would destroy two of the great American Ruling institutions; age and South?

Really Gramps? Did Dad tell you that Mom bought three cases of printed toilet paper on sale? He won't let her use it because the dye pollutes. The old ecology kick again. His problem is; he can't think of anything to do with it but sell it to the refinery or let them burn it at the dump.

Write about your concern

Write for POW's — Everyone's KABAM is placing in the lobby of the Student Union a display with information about writing to the President of North Vietnam about our prisoners of war. We are adding to it the suggestion to also write to the President of South Vietnam asking them to give their prisoners good treatment.

What to write to North Vietnam about is listed on the leaflets at the display.

Tell each side you are writing the other side with the same request.

Jobs Available to Biology students

There are opportunities for employment this summer in the Forestry, Fish, and Game Commission for college students in biology and related fields, the State Personnel Division has announced.

The jobs are Fish and-or Game Biology Aide positions. The Forestry, Fish, and Game Commission expects to employ ten to twelve aides this summer. The Commission prefers to employ college students who have completed at least two years of college training in work directed toward a degree in fish and game management.

A state civil service examination for Fish and-or Game Biology Aide will be given on a Saturday in February, probably Feb. 13, in several cities throughout the state.

Examination announcements and application forms may be secured from the State Personnel Division, 801 Harrison, Topeka, from the Forestry, Fish and Game Commission in Pratt, or from Kansas State Employment Service offices.

a frustrated group of student sociologists, these special few offer hope and a challenge. The challenge is to work beyond the duties demanded of an agency, beyond the rewards of a paycheck, to find human solutions to human problems.

Sounds pretty idealistic... maybe idealism is the answer?

See a "like-it-is" movie

A like-it-is look at life on today's seething secular campuses backdrops "3", a 75-minute feature color motion picture to be shown by McPherson Youth for Christ, Saturday, Feb. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Central College Auditorium.

Produced in consultation with students and campus leaders in various areas of the United States, "3" tells the story of a transfer student who finds the life style of a big university disquieting compared to the prior climate and associations he had at a small, church-related school. Drugs, moral attitudes and views of religion catapult him into defensiveness, disillusionment and near despair.

Then, to his surprise, he finds another side of the coin — students who have come to terms with life, with faith-in-God, and who radiate a confidence and purpose in life unknown to the newcomers' prior sheltered existence.

Adjustment doesn't come easy for the young student, however, and even the promise of romance seems destined to deepen his frustration.

But three words from the Bible come into focus. Faith. Hope. Love. In new perspective, he sees God and Christian life refreshingly relevant and valid in the kind of world young people face today. The discovery is costly, but there is promise of enduring rewards.

Admission at the door, students 75 cents, adults one dollar.

Need career guidance?

What is your thing? Into which career area are you going? What are your interest areas? Where does your aptitude lie? If you do not know the answers to these questions, you need the career development assistance which is now being offered through the cooperation of office of the Dean of Students and the McPherson Psychology Department.

As a developmental counseling psychologist, Dr. Paul Van Dyke, professor of psychology,

Bryan, Smith

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bryan of Canton announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia Jean, to David L. Smith, son of Rev. and Mrs. Delbert Smith of McCune.

Mr. Smith graduated from McPherson College with the class of 1970. He is teaching and coaching at Goessel High School.

A summer wedding is being planned.

is offering a unique service to students to help them to grow by enabling them to identify the career areas that mesh with their interests and aptitudes.

This service is offered on a free choice basis to students who want career development assistance. A nominal charge of less than two dollars will be charged to cover the cost of materials. (This same service, privately, would be at least 20-50 times as much.)

Career Development groups of ten students will spend four to six hours, about one to two hours per week, in taking tests and examining the results. A group of four tests will provide information that will give each participant a stable and useful basis for decision making and exploration into career areas.

Other materials will be available through the cooperation of the psychology department and the U.S. Employment Service that will enable the student to learn about various career levels or occupations.

Further counseling beyond the group will also be made available to those students who have difficulty in making decisions. As a counseling psychologist, Professor Van Dyke is bound by his professional ethics to put first the welfare of the students with whom he works.

There is very good evidence that the later important decisions are put off, the more difficult it is to either track or to receive the proper training. Secondly, technological change is becoming more an increasing part of our lives and many young adults may be forced to change careers, and the more they know about their interests and aptitude will place them in a more advantageous position to make the shifts.

If you are interested in this service, watch for more details on posters throughout the campus.

Cultural Series presents Logan, harmonica virtuoso

Due to the experimental curiosity of several men during the course of three hundred years we have the entertaining instrument known as the harmonica or the mouth organ.

The harmonica was first composed of rounds of glasses filled to different degrees with liquid. Then the sound was produced by running a moist finger around the edge of the glass. This instrument was played by many great composers and virtuosos as Mozart and Beethoven.

A newer version of the harmonica will be played for students at McPherson College by a highly reputable musician, Larry Logan, who will appear in concert on Feb. 13, in Brown Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Mr. Logan will play numbers out of his repertoire by great composers as Bach, Debussy, Kreisler, Enesco, Bartok, Gershwin, as well as popular standards and a medley from the score "My Fair Lady." He will be accompanied by his pianist, Miss Lois Ostrolenk.

An evening with Larry Logan is a refreshing departure from the bland fare of television offering a recipe blending one part artistry and one part showmanship, adding up to a delightful hour and a half program of entertainment.

by Quay Hayden
On January 6, the McPherson College basketball team started on a six game winning streak by beating the Bethel Threshers 92-89. Before that game the Bulldogs had a record of 1-5. They presently stand 9-7 with their latest win at the expense of the Baker Wildcats 89-75. The Bulldogs have a 4-2 record in their division and have a good chance of placing first.

The team is scoring at an average of 81.2 points per game with John Pyle leading individually with 20.4 points per game. Russell Clifton, Lowell Monke, and Roger Trimmell follow with 14.4, 12.4, and 12.3 points per game respectively.

Other members of the Bulldog varsity include Dennis Cotton, 6'4" freshman; Richard Brindle, 6'5" junior; Jerry Grant, 6'1" senior; and John Dowdy, 6'3" freshman.

Head coach of the Bulldogs is Don Widrig who is now in his sixth season as head coach. This year he is assisted by student coach, Gary Lydic.

Seniors, note Feb. 18, the Day of Opportunity

Area college seniors will participate in the Fifth Annual ACC Career Day, to be held Thursday, Feb. 18 in the McPherson College Student Union.

This event is planned for the seniors of the six member colleges to provide them opportunity for job interviews. Industries, graduate schools, departments of government, and superintendents of many public school districts, have been invited to send representatives to participate. This gives the student an opportunity to explore numerous career opportunities.

The day will begin at 8 a.m. with registration and coffee, and at 8:30 a.m., Dr. Howard Johnston, the executive director of the ACC, will give the welcome and opening announcements. Interviews are scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. and will continue until 4 p.m., interrupted only by lunch.

The students will be receiving a listing of the companies, agencies, and institutions who will be participating early in February. Interested students in this area should contact Emma Hofer, professor of economics, for more details.
