

Peruvian explains U.S. college choice

My name is Juan Wong. I come from Ica, Peru. First of all let me say that my parents are Chinese and I was born in Peru. This is the reason why my last name: I have a Chinese last name and a Spanish first name. Confused?

I have one sister who is studying at the university in Lima, the capital city of Peru, and her major is Interior Decoration.

When I was in high school some of my teachers were United States citizens. The school director was, in fact, a priest from the U.S. We learned from them some of their customs, their way of life and, of course some English.

There were many differences between them and us Peruvians. One of the differences was that they were more sincere and that they were more open to make friends.

This and many other things encouraged me to come to the United States to study. Besides having a better education I would experience many things like living under different customs, learning to support myself, and learning to live with different people.

Many people have asked me why I came to a small college instead of going to a larger university. One of the advantages foreign students find going to a small college is that we are able to make more friends than we would in a larger university where students are considered as numbers.

At small colleges we find smaller classes, we can obtain the teacher's help easier than in universities, especially due to our mediocre English. My personal opinion is that going to a small college is a good way to start for foreign students.

I am majoring in Mechanical Engineering. After finishing my study I will go back to my country since they need technicians and professionals to follow their way toward more progress.

Scholarships Available

A unique type of scholarship and a new type of grant will be offered at McPherson College beginning the fall semester of 1971.

The decision to include these new aids to incoming students was reached in response to the desire for McPherson College to have an even wider and more diverse geographical range among the student body, and the desire to enable a greater number of qualified students to attend a college which better meets their individual needs.

The "County and State Freshman Scholarship" provides the student at McPherson College with 50 per cent of his first year's tuition; and during his sophomore, junior and senior years at McPherson College, "Residence Hall Grants" will provide reductions of housing costs in the amount of 15 per cent, 30 per cent, 50 per cent, respectively.

The "Residence Hall Grants" apply to all campus residents who are on the food service. This, of course, means the student must be a full-time student.

The reductions of housing costs are set up according to the number of semesters that the student has lived on campus: during the third and fourth semesters, 15 per cent reduction; during the fifth and sixth semesters, 30 per cent; and during the seventh, eighth or even ninth semester, 50 per cent.

All students are restricted to only one scholarship and one grant per semester.

In order to qualify for the "County and State Freshman Scholarship" a student must reside in a Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa or Missouri county, or in a state from which there are presently no students enrolled in McPherson College.

In addition to this, the prospective student must rank in the upper fifty per cent of his high school's graduating class, and meet the standard entrance requirements of the college.

A maximum of five students from each county and state included in the eligibility list will be awarded the scholarship.

Choir Sings "Requiem"

What is a requiem? It is any "grand musical service or hymn in honor of the dead." It is also "a Mass for the repose of a departed soul or souls..." Requiem comes from "the first words of the Introit of the Mass being 'Requiem aeternam dona eis, Domine,' give eternal rest to them, O Lord..."

This is what the combined choirs with the assistance of College faculty will sing Sunday, February 21. The piece is Gabriel Faure's Requiem. A usual requiem contains "the Requiem, Kyrie, several stanzas of the hymn Dies Irae, the Domine Jesu Christe, Sanctus, Benedictus, Angus Dei, and the Lux Aeterna." Sunday's performance will include several of these. The requiem begins at 2:30 p.m.

Career Day Today

The Fifth Annual Career Day, sponsored by the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas, is being held today on the campus of McPherson College.

This event is planned for the seniors of the six member colleges to provide them opportunity for job interviews. Industries, graduate schools, departments of government, and superintendents of many public school districts, have been invited to send representatives to participate. This gives the student an opportunity to explore numerous career opportunities.

The schedule for the day is as follows:

- 8:30 - 9 a.m. — Opening announcements, student union
- 9 - 9:30 a.m. — Students sign for interviews.
- 9:30 - 12 noon and 1 - 4 p.m. — Interviews, Student Union.

Do you want new experiences? Try World Campus Afloat

Setting sail for the fall term of 1971 will be the new World Campus Afloat. It was announced by Dr. J. Jack Melhorn, McPherson College's WCA advisor, that the former R.M.S. Queen Elizabeth, renamed S.S. SEAWISE UNIVERSITY will be completed and ready for voyage for that semester.

The 83,000-ton liner recently was acquired for the Foundation by C. Y. Tung, international shipping magnate of Hong Kong, to implement his vision for broadening educational programs on an international scale. The ship currently is en route from Fort Lauderdale, Florida, to Hong Kong for conversion to educational purposes.

Following the inaugural fall semester will be a January term and a spring semester beginning in February. Two summer terms, designed particularly for in-service teachers and available for other specialized programs, also will be offered.

More than 500 students from colleges and universities throughout the United States, in addition to McPherson College and Chapman, and from other countries are anticipated for each semester and term.

Those sections of the ship not required for educational purposes will be utilized for passenger accommodations.

Terms of the agreement call for expansion of the shipboard educational concept to permit other institutions to participate on both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Institutions of higher learning around the world will be encouraged to add programs appropriate to the idea of traveling and study aboard ship and by relevant field experiences in world posts.

As academic programs are added, as many as 1800 graduates and undergraduates will attend during each of the educational voyages, and regular cruise passenger service will be phased out.

A team of Chapman College educators and administrators, under its Division of International Studies, has been assigned to coordinate all ship-and-shore programs.

World Campus Afloat currently is at sea for its last semester aboard the Holland - America Line ship S.S. RYNDAM. On board from McPherson College are Carl S. Guyer, Rose Marie Ullom, and Jane Brubaker.

Details about the program and applications for enrollment are available through Dr. Melhorn, President of McPherson College.

CLEP Test Is March 6

Saturday, March 6 is the date for the CLEP Test which is required of anyone interested in entering the Teaching Block next year. The test takes about five hours and costs the scoring rate of $4.

The test covers the sciences, math, humanities, and social sciences.

Anyone interested in taking the test should sign the sheet in Mohler Hall or see Dr. Rothrock. A test must be reserved for all those interested by March 6.

"Reach Out and Touch" Theme of Conference

"Reach Out and Touch" will be the theme for the Regional Youth Conference, March 12-14.

High school students from North Dakota, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado, Louisiana, and Arkansas, with the District and Western Conference combined this year, will be attending the conference.

The estimated 350 students who are expected will be staying in Arnold Hall and other dorms with scheduled planned activities, meetings, and buzzgroups.

There are three freshmen and two sophomores on the General Committee for the conference with Steve Tuttle as the Chairman of the Regional Youth Conference. There are over 30 campus students involved in the conference and many will help lead group discussions and the various scheduled meetings and events.

The purpose of the conference is to get these high school students involved and experienced with college life. Buzz sessions are planned so that the students can ask questions and talk about their problems as well as to meet other students and those on campus. They will have a chance to "reach out and touch" campus life.

A few of the many activities will be a dance, recreation, meetings, programs, and a banquet. There will also be folk-singing, worship, and discussion.

Glenn Cunningham, from Augusta, one of the speakers, will talk about his experience of being badly burned in a childhood accident and overcoming the doctors' predictions that he would never walk again, to become a world renowned miler.

Bentley Peters, from Elgin, Ill., will talk about new forms of worship and music. Sidney Adams from Denver, a gospel singer, will have an exciting program.

Rev. Harold Bomberger, moderator of the Church of the Brethren, will also be a guest speaker and President J. Jack Melhorn will give a multi-media presentation open to the public.

Encounter Berlin Through Film

A "Travel and Adventure" series sponsored by the McPherson Lions Club is featuring "Berlin, Island City" at 7:30 p.m. February 27, in Brown Auditorium.

The film is narrated by Art Wilson, the photographer, who was arrested during his stay because of his filming. The beauty of Berlin and the unusual accounts of the foreign people and his surprising encounter with them will also be shown.

West and East Berlin will be shown objectively with surprising and actual scenes not usually experienced or filmed.

The film will be open to the public. The admission without a season ticket is $1.50 at the door and 75 cents for students.

Requisition: Responsibility

The United States government finally gave 18-year-olds the right to vote in National elections, and Kansans will be voting in April concerning the 18-year-olds voting privilege in this State.

It seems that throughout the country people are realizing that young people want to have a voice in matters. This is true at McPherson College.

Some students have expressed their desire to communicate with the administration. They want to be honest in this communication.

I believe that the College Administration wants to hear what the students have to say. Students have been invited to meetings of the Educational Policy Committee. Students, how many of these meetings have you attended?

The Governance Committee wants to know how you feel about the governance model. Have you made your thoughts known? Lots of people are willing to listen - students, faculty, and the administration.

President Nixon, in addressing a student-faculty convocation at the University of Nebraska concerning the voting privilege of 18-year-olds, made some remarks that seem applicable to McPherson College students of 1971:

"It may be tempting to suppose, like the ostrich, that what we choose not to be involved in will, therefore, not involve us. But we cannot make a separate peace, not one of us can. We are all committed, whether we choose to be or not.

"You can reject this, you can come to the task of being an American (a Mac student) like Nietzsche's ropemakers, who pull out their threads in length and themselves are always going backwards.

"Or you can accept the commitment. You can accept the challenge. You can accept the high adventure of being an American (a McPherson College citizen."

Now is the time to have a voice in the future of McPherson College. Speak up!

Unbelievable Logan music

"Unbelievable" can be the only word to describe Larry Logan's performance on the harmonica on the evening of Feb. 13.

Mr. Logan made some educational and interesting remarks about the harmonica, which he prefers to call the mouth organ. He explained how the hands were important in producing the proper tone quality and demonstrated how the harmonica could sound similar to a violin, a piccolo or a French horn.

Part of his purpose in traveling and giving performances is to educate people to the possibilities of the harmonica. His virtuosity and variation of tone quality and style can only be appreciated by spending an evening listening to his varied repertoire.

He was accompanied by Miss Lois Ostrotenk at the piano, who ably demonstrated her skill through the performance, and especially during her solo numbers which included Rachmaninoff's "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" and "Sabre Dance" by Khachaturian.

Mr. Logan's numbers ranged from "Rhapsody in Blue" by Geršwin, to "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, to the gypsy music found in "Roumanian Fantasy" by Chagrin. The performance concluded with an encore ending with an arrangement from "My Fair Lady."

Student Jobs Abroad Give Cultural Opportunity

Jobs Europe program officials in Panorama City, Calif., announced that they have guaranteed jobs available in Europe anytime of the year for hundreds of young Americans 18 to 26 years of age.

The aim of the program is to give young people an inexpensive and unique cultural opportunity to live in and learn about Europe.

These salaried jobs are mostly for general help with large first class European hotels. Most jobs include board and room. Friends can work with, or near each other, if they apply together.

Vice President Dr. Van der Velde from Holland stated that My gosh, Charlie! Look at all those cigarette butts on campus. And there's a beer can!

Yeah, and there is a lot of toilet paper in the trees around Metzler, too.

Well, as Gramps would say, Just goes to show...

Nellie, I like the way the UFFMAC is trying to get the administration to finally outline their student policies.

Charlie, do you really think the administration knows what their policies are?

Sometimes I wonder, but at least they always seem to think the trustees do.

Charlie, I'm going to college just like you and earning a degree. I'm well informed on most important subjects. I appreciate cultural events, such as the theatre and good music, and I have several interesting hobbies. I can hold down a good job and support myself. Do you think of me merely as a sex object?

individuals or groups, and the right to organize and to hold meetings.

While no group shall be required to furnish lists of members or participants, the welfare of the community requires that the Community Council know at all times who the responsible leaders are for all groups that use the College's facilities.

Beliefs
Each student shall be free to hold his own beliefs, religious, moral, and political.

Equality
No laws or rules shall be made or enforced which discriminate against class, creed, race, color, age, or sex.

Privacy; Security
Every student shall have the right to privacy, the right to hold private conversations as privileged, the right to be secure in his person, and the right against unreasonable search and seizure of his room and possessions.

Better relationships grow from off-campus learning

Four months on the pancake land in Kansas. Four months of dorm life and cafeteria food. And four months of the deadening patterns. Dorm to Harnly, Harnly to dorm, Dorm to Library, Library to S.U.

Zombie-like behavior increases, depressions grow, the daily rut becomes deep and finally, apathy sets in. And just how good is apathy for learning?

So sixteen kids and one professor ran away. We ran from McPherson to Key West, Florida. And we are studying Written Communications on the beach.

We are here to catch a breath of life between semesters, to see new places and new people and to learn. We have revived ourselves with change, a change of environment, a change of pace and a change of activity.

We have seen the deep South, many of us for the first time. We read and studied For Whom the Bell Tolls by Ernest Hemingway and are living in the area where he lived and worked.

What are the Apes Saying?

How about that!
A center that does research with apes at Atlanta, Ga., has discovered that its chimpanzees, orangutans and gorillas love television.

In response to a public appeal, citizens have donated old and used sets to Dr. Geoffrey H. Bourne, director of Yerkes Regional Primate Research Center.

One of the male chimps is really hooked. Sits before the set for hours, deeply absorbed in what he sees.

Next sets will be put in the nursery where the younger apes can watch the kiddie shows.

We get an uneasy feeling that the apes are telling us something...

—The Carteret County News-Times, Morehead, N. C.

Due Process
Each student shall have the right to due process, to a fair hearing, and to face his accusers. He shall be considered innocent until judged guilty, shall be advised in writing of the charges against him before his hearing, and shall not be required to testify against himself.

No student convicted or charged by the civil authorities shall be punished in any way by any body of the College on the sole basis of that conviction or charge.

Appeal
Any member of the college community may bring charges before the Campus Judicial Committee against any other community member for violating any of the above provisions.

Any member who feels that he has been unjustly dealt with by any campus body may appeal his case to the Judicial Committee.

We are picking up knowledge in everyday happenings. The city kids got to see a cow giving birth one morning at a truck stop in Florida when one of the country kids helped a trucker pull a calf.

A few kids visited a commune for the first time in Key West. New experiences have been a major part of our trip. Our learning has not been separated from our life, they have been blended together.

Perhaps the most successful aspect of our trip is the togetherness that the group has developed. We have lived together, played together, worked together, learned together, talked together and have grown surprisingly close in the short time that we have been together.

The kids have quite a positive response to the course. I think that most people consider the closeness that has developed to be the best part, but mixing learning with fun has been a positive aspect also.

Living with the professor has provided great opportunity for outside help. He knew when we worked and when we didn't, but he was also there whenever we needed help or advice.

We are together all of the time, not just for fifty minutes, three days a week, so we aren't strictly confined to certain subjects while we are together. We have time to talk about whatever we please and we have time to see and discuss movies, go get ice cream, go fishing and just loaf around together.

The problem that we encountered were really all rather minor. Rocky beds, deflated mattresses, torn pants, dirty hair, broken flashlights, seasick fishermen, missing forks and sunburned bodies. Irritating yes. Important, no.

It has been a valuable and worthwhile trip. It has made us happy, given us friends, helped us learn and prepared us for another semester in pancake land.

Sees Senate From Inside

Have you wondered what it is like to be a part of a Senator's office? Linda Keim had that chance. She is a junior majoring in history and was in Washington, D. C. on an internship with Senator Dole of Kansas during this last interterm.

Her internship was based on an independent study called "Studies in American Government" with four hours credit instead of the usual three. Dr. Leland Lengel was the head of the McPherson end of the project.

Situated on the second floor of the Senate building at her own desk, she was able to see much of what went on in the busy but crowded office. Her desk was next to the press secretary, as well, so that she was able to learn about procedures, publicity and human interest stories.

In her research, she was given all privileges of the usual Senate staff — which meant that she was allowed to go where the Senate staffers could go and do what they were allowed to do. She was on her own schedule. She said that sometimes she put in a 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. day.

She was doing legislative research when she was on the Hill and was allowed to pick her own topic. She had to do original research and decided on the Seniority System. In this research she was able to interview many people.

The staff consisted mainly of Kansans, many who graduated from Kansas State University. Of course, Senator Robert Dole is also from Kansas — Russell. He recently became the Chairman of the National Republican Party whose new building opened in D. C. One of the highlights of this building is the Eisenhower Room which is like a small version of the Abilene museum.

One of her duties was to escort our group of representatives to the Brethren Youth Seminar. Also, she was allowed to hear some of the Supreme Court hearings; one of which was on mercury pollution and another on the rights of a "so-called" illegitimate child.

Linda was not pleased with the situation of the blacks in D.C. She called Washington a "rich man's city," in which 90 per cent of the inhabitants are black. She cited the fact that when the first Congressman was voted in (Washington, D. C. had not been allowed to have Congressmen), the voting in the 18-21 age group was very small and "very sad." She also said that when marches like the one on Martin Luther King's birthday occur, the local D. C. residents have to shoulder the tax burden.

She really enjoyed her four weeks in Washington, D. C. She must have learned quite a bit about our system of government from her stay there.

Angel Of Mercy Cheers III

by Harve

Spirits of the inmates of the third and fourth floors of McPherson County Hospital were on the rise Monday night, partly due to the efforts of a non-patient who spent most of his time there during the first hours of the dilemma.

Gay Thompson, soph, began carting students to the hospital at about 11 p.m. Sunday and after delivering his last load shortly before midnight stayed to help boost the morale.

Thompson entered the hospital by the emergency exit and made his way to third floor where he removed his coat and shoes so that he looked like all the other students. He stayed until 7 a.m. helping guys walk to the bathroom and generally trying to make everyone more comfortable.

Thompson "thought the whole thing was funny at first but the next morning when they still didn't know what the thing was, I knew it was serious." He then went back to the dorm until 2 a.m. when he entered again.

"I used the excuse on fourth that I was a third floor patient so that I could give Chris Caputo cigarettes and Bruce Johnson a letter..."

Later when rapping with some guys in the hall on fourth, "the nurse told me to go back to third where she thought I belonged. When I told her in a little bit, she threatened to turn me in and I said 'go ahead'."

She got a bouncer who after being put off went to third floor and returned smiling and accused, "You're not even a patient!" It took them half an hour to throw him out.

He returned again from about 6-8 a.m., taking cards and such to the kids and sitting and rapping with them. He reported that many were feeling better and anticipating getting out Tuesday morning. A lot just wanted to know how everyone else was feeling and how things were back on campus.

He concluded, "I didn't really do that much but it wasn't the fact that I was doing anything but it was just the fact that someone was there. I don't know if I did them much good but I sure as Hell didn't hurt them."

Dogs, Swedes Tie Divisional Title

McPherson College Bulldogs threw a full court press at the Swedes and defeated Bethany College 76-65 before a large crowd at the Roundhouse.

Bethany and Mac are now tied for first place in the North Division, each with 6-2 records. Mac holds an 11-7 record for total games of the season; Bethany has a 12-8 total game record.

This was the final home game, but the Bulldogs still have two more away from home divisional games to play — Tuesday, Feb. 16 against Ottawa and Saturday, Feb. 20 against Tabor.

The Bulldogs hit well from the field making 40 per cent while holding Bethany to 30 per cent for the game. At the free throw line Mac made 72 per cent of its shots, while Bethany made 37 per cent.

Mac had 39 attempts for free throws, making 28; Bethany made 15 out of 26 attempts. A total of 29 fouls were called on the Swedes, with 17 of them being in the last half. Only 17 fouls were charged against the Bulldogs.

The Bulldogs gained an early lead and held leads of 8-2, 10-4 and then the Swedes tied the score at 10-10, went ahead 12-11 and tied it again at 13-11, and from then on it was all the Dogs' game. They went ahead 18-13, 26-16, 37-24 and the half ended 42-29.

Early in the second half with the Dogs' press still causing the Swedes difficulty, the Bulldogs led 48-36, then moved ahead to 56-39; then 60-46 and 67-51.

Bethany cut this margin to 10 points with 2:13 remaining to play, 69-59, but the Dogs scored from the field and at the free throw line to win by the final 11 point margin.

John Pyle was the scoring star of the evening, making 10 field goals and 13 out of 16 free throws for the total of 33. Roger Trimmell made 17 points, including 11 out of 13 free throws. Russ Clifton with his deadly jump shot scored 15 points.

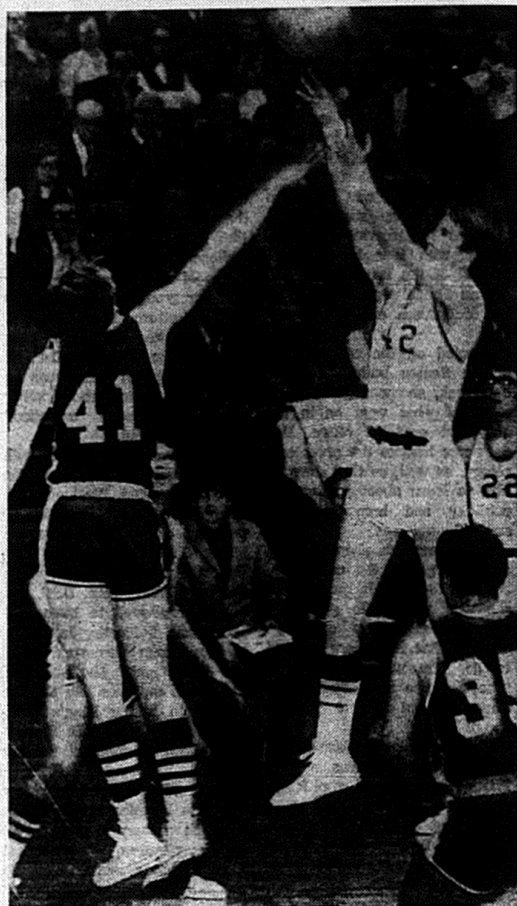

The North Conference standings are:

Conference Total Games
Bethany	6	2	12 8
Mac	6	2	11 7
Tabor	5	3	7 11
Ottawa	4	4	5 15
Baker	3	5	8 12
K.W.U.	0	8	8 8

The Mac junior varsity lost to the Bethany junior varsity, 76-70. The Swedes led 35-26 at half and in the last half the Dogs outscored the Swedes 44-41, but it was not enough to offset the first half lead.

Feagler tallied 19 points for Mac while Stern scored 15.
