

Seniors Get Taste of Future Career

Thirty-one seniors are finding out what it's like on the other side of the desk this spring semester by student teaching.

Presently they maintain dual roles, attending educational psychology, or Understanding the Pupil, four days a week on campus and observing in the schools each Tuesday.

Full time student teaching will begin March 15 and continue eight weeks.

A total of 62 McPherson students took and are taking the teaching block this year, a few less than last year.

Dr. Dayton G. Rothrock, head of the education department, attributes the smaller number of students preparing for teaching this year to the smaller senior class, about thirty less than last year.

However, Dr. Rothrock feels that probably fewer underclassmen are planning to teach because of the present surplus of teachers.

This change from a seller's market to a buyer's market will bring about some differences in the teacher education program. For example, in the future students will be encouraged to obtain a second teaching field, to prepare for scarcity fields and to study the job market nationally.

The Advisory Committee for Teacher Education at McPherson College, consisting of students, faculty, and public school personnel, has met once to share ideas on improving the program.

More changes in the education department are pending decisions of the educational policies committee in regard to the Master Plan.

Those students teaching this term are as follows: McPherson High School & Junior High School — Pam Burns, girl's p.e.; Ray Lee, boy's p.e., world history; Joan Neufeld, math; Marcia Sellberg, Spanish; Tim Standafer, industrial arts; Dick Thompson, English;

Larry Bacon, industrial arts; Karl Matz, crafts; Ron Nelson, math; Dick Stalcup, boy's p.e.; Ted Fager, boy's p.e.; Ann

Interterm study shown on KTVH

McPherson College's interterm studies were featured on Community Window, a KTVH program Wednesday, at 7 a.m.

Appearing on the program were Frank Crawford, representing the Personnel Management class; Linda Eickbush, representing Art, and Ann Wingerd, representing Written Communications.

Dr. Howard Johnston of the ACK gave a background of what the ACK interterm program is.

The company is made up of ten dancers with a singer and guitarist. The brilliant company, led by one of the greatest interpreters of Spanish dance, Maria Alba, has been quoted by the Chicago Tribune, the New York Times, and many others as an exciting "all-Spanish dance program."

The color, the rhythms, and the wild excitement of their flamenco have intoxicated many audiences along with their high quality of choreography, stage design, lighting, and costumes.

Ravinia Festival, Temple University's Ambler Festival, and the Miami Beach Symphony are just a few of the many places the Company has toured. Their 1970-71 tour includes Colgate University, Bowling Green University, and the Milwaukee Symphony.

Enrollment Encouraging

A total of 584 students have enrolled in McPherson College for the spring semester, according to E. Dean Reynolds, registrar. This compares to a total enrollment of 640 students during the fall semester.

Although the total enrollment is presently 8.75 per cent less than in the previous semester, a 7-13 per cent reduction from the fall to the spring semester is considered normal. At this same time a year ago, McPherson College experienced a 12 per cent reduction of enrollment.

Reynolds also reported that there are 62 students enrolled for the present semester who were not attending McPherson College during the fall semester. This figure is considerably higher than those reported by other private colleges in the area.

College officials are hopeful that enrollment will increase substantially next fall due to the efforts of the recruitment staff, no tuition increase scheduled for next year, and the new County and State Freshman Tuition Scholarships now offered.

Drugs: Convo Topic

What's the drug scene really like? Find out when Ernest "Bud" Williams, co-author of the text, "Operation Reach," addresses the student body on "Street Corner Narcotics" in convocation, March 11. The book has been used to prepare teachers for work in schools for deviants.

Heart Fund Successful

Despite the wind and drifting snow, the student council and student volunteers set out to canvas the business district and residential areas Feb. 19 and 20th for the 1971 Heart Fund Campaign.

On the 19th, $68.10 was collected from the business district and $1,092.93 from residential areas the 20th, totaling $1,161.03 as of deadline Monday. Because of the weather, one group has yet to collect.

Those students collecting the most money from residential areas are Shirley Matile, Iris Jackson, Susan Stewart, Becky Bender, Jeanette Kirk, and Pat Keltner. The team collected $155.95. Gary Frantz took the individual high with $55.80.

The lecture includes his personal experiences in the form of stories of characters and stories of death that go hand-in-hand. He talks of the types of drugs being used, why young people use drugs, pushers, the law, and what parents must do.

Ernest Williams is well qualified for such a talk. He has taught and counseled for three years in an experimental high school for deviant behavior, and in a slum area for three years.

He is a director of the Asian American Narcotic Addicts Halfway House, and is currently involved in research in the area of drug abuse and narcotics with the L. A. Police Dept., Narcotics Division.

Mr. Williams tells what one cannot find in the encyclopedia.

Do you remember, Charlie, when I was so sick two weeks ago?

Of course, Nellie, I didn't see you for three whole days!

When are we going to find out what the mystery ailment was? The first day, they said 'in three or four days'; and the second day, it was three or four days again; and the third day, the same! Now it's been over two weeks. I hope they find out before I die of CURIOSITY!

Nellie, remember the flap over the UFFMAC some time ago? Sure, what ever happened to it?

I don't know. I guess their communications system was too good to be really true.

Well, maybe 'someone in high places' put TOP SECRET on all the committee's meetings. I sure hope they can tell us their plans for the trustee meetings.

Speaking of the trustee meetings, Nellie, I wonder what the trustees will discuss anyway? I sure hope they consult the students on the matters concerning students.

It's up to the students, too, to make their views known. You know what they say: SPEAK TO THE TRUSTEE OF YOUR CHOICE, BUT SPEAK!

I just hope the trustees are listening.

Flag Is No Wheaties Flake

What has happened to America's devotion to its noble ideals when a housewife can equate her flag with a breakfast food?

If you can't believe in Wheaties, where does that leave the flag?

That's what a Concord woman was reported to have said this week about Robert Choate's analysis of breakfast foods that showed Wheaties not very high on the list in nutritional value.

Without realizing it, that unnamed woman ripped the scab right off what's wrong with America.

Too many Americans have been equating the American flag with Wheaties.

The men who created the United States of America and the men and women who have nurtured it with courage and compassion, wisdom and wit through nearly two centuries were not thinking about Wheaties.

They were creating, perfecting and preserving a society under a government in which men would work together for the common good and in which they would live together in peace and freedom and in harmony, each respecting and protecting the rights of all others so that his own freedom could be secure.

And now, on the eve of our national bicentennial our appreciation of America, tarnished by overdoses of commerce, has been reduced to equating all the lofty ideals and goals of our founding fathers with Wheaties.

That flag is no Wheaties flake. It is rather the eloquent symbol of man's noblest aspirations, of the vision of a society in which despots will be extinct, in which every man, regardless of his birth, will have the freedom and the opportunity to use his talents to the utmost in the service of his neighbors; it is the symbol of hope that love will motivate men and their self-imposed government; it is the symbol of the agony and despair and the triumph and the faith that are part of the struggle toward that society.

Instead of bumper stickers showing the flag and the slogan, "America, Love It or Leave It," we need bumper stickers showing the flag and a slogan, "The American Flag, Make Our Nation Worthy of It."

If you can't believe in Wheaties, where does that leave the flag?

The silent majority has spoken.

Mac Number One If Only at Heart

"Friends Trounces McPherson for Third Straight Title" was the overstated headline on the sports page of the Wichita Eagle. I fear that this title does not tell the whole story, as you fans who were at Bethany can attest to.

You saw our team fight the Friends team right down to the wire. There was outstanding play on the part of both teams and I would like to congratulate the Friends team on their victory and the fine series they played us.

I would also like to wish Coach Widrig and the team a hearty congratulations and heart felt thanks for the many wonderfully played basketball games this season.

Win or lose, the team was in there fighting all the way, and I am sure that all the fans will agree that winning was wonderful and the losses painful, because we felt them too.

As team captain Lowell Monke said, "I'd better keep this short because I get embarrassed when I get emotional. We're number one!" If not in the conference standings, then in heart.

The McPherson paper had the headline, "Bulldogs Settle for Second for KCAC Race." Settle, hell! We fought one hell of a good fight to get there. See you next year friends.

Concern

Man, it has been observed, keeps looking for new ways to discover that money won't buy happiness.

Today we know that money alone won't even cure poverty.

In many community programs the mere allocation of funds doesn't necessarily guarantee success.

What is frequently missing is men skilled in getting things done, energetic leaders who know how to make things happen.

Comments Team, Fans

My congratulations to Coach Widrig and the basketball team for an outstanding season!

Our convincing victory over Bethany College made us the number one team in our division. We gave Friends University a run for the conference title in both games. I want to commend students and staff for their loyal support of the team.

Next year we can win the championship!

Sincerely,
J. Jack Melhorn

Answers

Editor's Note: The following is a creative contribution that the staff hopes to continue to run. It all depends on you.

Students at McPherson College are obviously tuned in on the major questions facing us. Here are a few answers:

- 1) Genocide for everyone over 30.
- 2) Well, most of them will be graduating soon.
- 3) C-rations.
- 4) Only his hair dresser knows for sure.
- 5) An army travels on its stomach.
- 6) Grappling hooks.
- 7) The out to lunch bunch.
- 8) Soften often.
- 9) Once a week.
- 10) Mother.

To illustrate the principle, a sample answer might be "nine months." The obvious question is "How long is a typical school year?"

Those who have other answers are encouraged to share them with the college community in future issues.

Around Campus

Approximately 12 guidance counselors from Denver, Colo. will be on campus Wednesday, March 10 to look at the campus. This group will be on a tour of the ACCC Colleges. The purpose of this trip and others in the future is to acquaint the high school personnel with the ACCC Colleges.

Miss Becker is a junior at McPherson College majoring in home economics.

Mr. Hughes, also a McPherson College junior, is majoring in industrial arts.

A summer wedding is planned.

Industrial Tours Lend Insight

A two-day trip to Dallas provided an interesting change of pace and educational experience for sixteen members of the Interterm Personnel Management Class.

This trip provided the students with the opportunity to tour various large industries, visit with their personnel managers, and look into job possibilities in the area of personnel management.

The class departed from Wichita, Jan. 28, and upon arrival in Dallas, was given a tour of the airport. This included an unexpected but extremely interesting tour of a Boeing 747.

More tours were on the agenda for the afternoon and the second day. Dallas Cap and Emblem, General Motors, and Vought Aeronautics were the industries visited. After each tour, the class questioned the personnel managers.

This information obtained from the personnel managers, plus the chance to visit industries of a different location and size made the trip a very beneficial one.

This committee is a bipartisan organization organized to direct a statewide campaign on behalf of this amendment. Linda Keim, soph. Lawrence, president of MCRYR, is treasurer of the committee, and Pat Hill, 1970 McPherson College graduate, is serving as executive director.
