

Dept. is revamped

by Charles L. Baker

The Educational Policies Committee last Thursday voted to create a Behavioral Sciences Department. This department will consist of the Psychology, Sociology, and Anthropology departments. Five different areas of emphasis will be offered: Anthropology, Corrections, Sociology, Social Work, and Psychology.

Such a program has been made possible by the endowment of an anthropology chair, and a cooperative social work studies program with Tabor.

The Psychology degree will not be dropped, and according to Dr. Robert Keim, professor of sociology, there are several applicants for the Psychology post. Hopes are that someone with a Ph.D. in psychology will be acquired.

The new department brings together under one roof all the "people who study people," in their cultures, as individuals, and as groups. Says Keim, "Among the most important things will be the opportunity for students and faculty to rap between the disciplines."

One feature will be more cross-listed courses, such as Social Psychology, which is listed under both Sociology and Psychology. Such a course may be used as credit toward either major.

According to President Snell, the new department is not a move to de-emphasize the former departments. "In fact, we will very probably expand the departments."

Trustees to sit in open sessions

Next Thursday afternoon, March 1, members from the college Board of Trustees will meet with various committees on campus. These are open to anyone who would like to attend. If persons are not members of the committee they would like to meet with, they are requested to sign up in the Dean of Students' Office. Faculty should sign up in the Office of the Dean of Academic Affairs.

The three committees that will meet with trustees are: McPherson College Community Council, Miller 105; Campus Life Committee, Mohler 227; and Education Committee, Mohler 231. All meetings will begin at 4:30.

The purpose of these meetings is to provide the opportunity for students, faculty and trustees to get acquainted and to listen to each other.

The objective is to gather general information through committees and representative bodies, without making commitments, with the possibility of some items being considered for administrative recommendation and Board action.

All persons on campus are welcomed at these meetings and urged to attend.

Last Saturday the campus witnessed meetings of two committees of the McPherson College Board of Trustees — the Campus Life Committee and the Education Committee.

The four members of the Campus Life Committee present commenced their fact-finding mission by meeting with Dr. Galen Snell, president of the college; Robert Mann, dean of men; and Milton Goering, dean of student affairs.

Mid-morning saw the committee discussing various issues of concern facing the college community with a group of thirteen college students. The Spectator was denied the privilege of having a reporter at this session of the meeting.

The Education Committee of the Board of Trustees met in a joint session with the Educational Policies Committee of McPherson College. Discussion centered around preparing the agenda for the annual Board meeting in March.

Trustees chosen for Board

by Mary Krehbiel

Orientation for new McPherson College trustees will be held on Wednesday, February 28 for the purpose of preparing them for the responsibilities of their coming roles. These sessions precede the regular March meeting of the Board of Trustees.

"The trustees are an important group on campus in that they have the power to do as they choose," commented Dr. Galen Snell, president of McPherson College. In order that the trustees understand the significance of their commitments, a handbook has been compiled which includes various aspects of a trustee's job.

Vital decisions in which trustees participate include the selection of a college president, setting and reviewing college policy, and soliciting financial resources for the college.

"The trustees help to cultivate giving from people in their areas of representation, as well as giving of their own incomes," stated Snell. "The present board has committed four per cent of their incomes to McPherson College."

Trustees serve on various committees, including the executive, campus planning, development and public relations, educational, finance and investment, and the campus life committees.

New trustees are nominated by the Church of the Brethren districts, alumni, the city of McPherson, and the executive committee of the Board of Trustees. All nominations must be reviewed by the entire Board, which may approve or reject them. Thus, the board is a self-perpetuating group.

Members of the Church of the Brethren constitute, the largest part of the board, with twelve representatives from districts stretching from the Rocky Mountains to the Mississippi River, and from North Dakota to Texas.

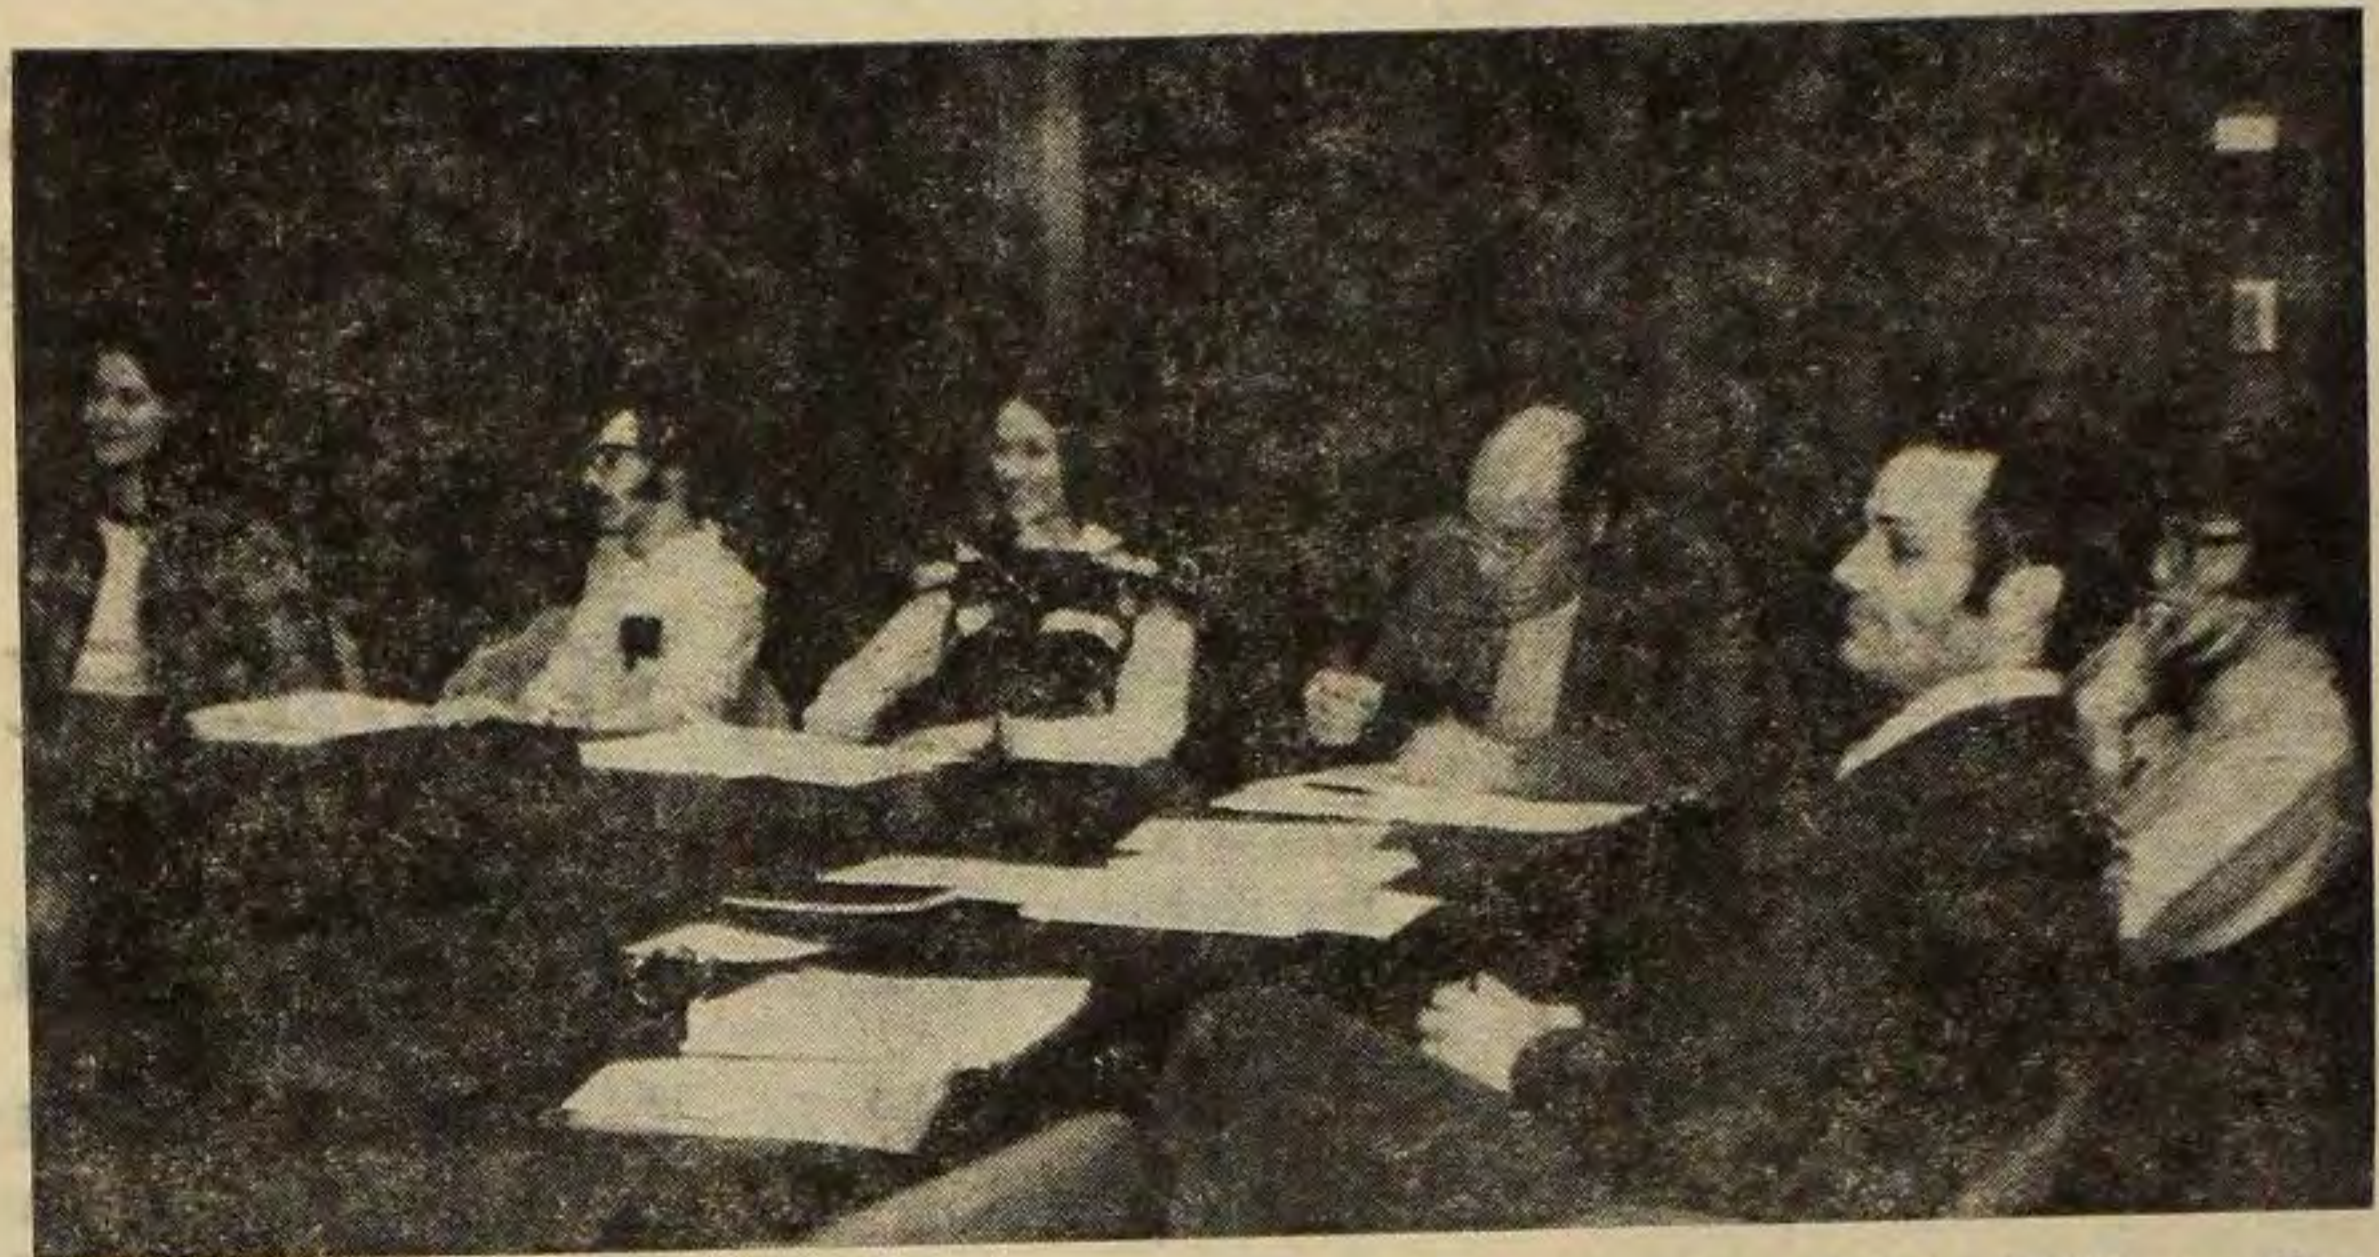

The alumni have five representatives on the board, the city of McPherson has one, and ten representatives are elected at large.

Snell, Fox, DeCoursey, Egle, Strauss, and Smith discuss the issue of military recruitment at last Thursday night's MCCC meeting.

MCCC defeats recruitment bill

The proposal concerning military recruitment on the McPherson campus ended in defeat last Monday night at the second meeting of the MCCC this semester. With six MCCC members absent the proposal which would have limited military recruiters to the Placement Office lost by two votes.

In transacting other business, the council placed on first reading a resolution broadening the scope of concerns that the MCCC may act upon.

Reasons were varied for voting against the military recruitment proposal. Some members of the council wanted to hold out for a stronger proposal and others expressed the opinion that traditional Brethren values should not be imposed on a student body where Brethren are a minority.

The proposal needed eleven "yes" votes to pass. Voting was as follows: DeCoursey, yes; Egle, no; Emerson, no; Fox, yes; Frantz, yes; Goering, no;

Holman, no; Hughbanks, no; Keim, yes; Lengel, yes; Melhorn, yes; Reynolds, yes; Smith, yes; Strause, yes. Final count, nine yes and five no.

Students attend Bethany seminar

McPherson theology students will participate in a seminar at Bethany Theological Seminary located in Oak Brook, Illinois, March 2-3.

The seminar is being offered to interest students in doing graduate work at Bethany. Students from several other Brethren colleges will be attending and all will be given the opportunity to meet with the Seminary faculty and see for themselves the type of educational program being offered.

Two car loads of students plan to leave early Thursday, March 1. Travel expenses, board, and room will be taken care of by the seminary. The only expense involved is a $5 registration fee for each participant.

Anyone who has not applied but would like to attend may contact Dale Goldsmith or Jim Tomlinson.

Workshop stresses ecology

The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom is sponsoring an ecology workshop entitled "Lifestyles That Have a Future." The workshop will focus on personal and family lifestyles and their effect in the ecological problem.

This federally funded program has been offered in Newton by the South Central Kansas Environment Education Center, (SK-EEC), who will offer the program in McPherson every Tuesday night for five weeks beginning March 13.

The workshop is aimed at families, but single and young married students may participate. Classes will meet at 7:00 p.m. at the McPherson Jr. High School for 2 hours each week.

Dr. Wesley DeCoursey, Mac's chemistry professor, will assist members of SKEEC in directing activities, including discussions and films. Field trips and family activities between sessions are also being planned for the workshop.

Applications for the program may be obtained by calling Duane Kerr, 241-6108; Ann Schrag, 241-4408; or Kaye Yoder, 241-2935.

Unification is road for change

McPherson College is obviously in the process of change. For quite some time our student body has been advocating various types of change: smoking in the dorms, open dorm visitation hours, student participation on administrative and faculty committees. So far all of these requests have been met.

Just recently we were denied the request to increase the number of dorm visitation hours. Because this request was denied, we as students should not begin to feel that all attempts to bring about change are futile.

We have a voice in the makeup of this college. Let us be sure that we exercise the right to be heard. It is through the expression of our concerns that many needs will be met.

It is important for all concerned with McPherson College to realize that the changes requested by the students are made with the best interest in mind.

Now that Mac College is taking steps to find its direction, it is of vital importance that we as a unified student body stand up, speak out and be heard. We should have a part in helping to decide which direction we must go. Organize students! Take a look at the dilemma we are facing and let us do our part to see that McPherson College survives as an institution of higher learning with the goal of seeing that its students are being prepared to face the problems that reach beyond the perimeters of the college.

Get it together people! Let your concern for the welfare of our school be known. Let us always make our concerns known for without exercising our right to speak out we are no longer a functioning part of the college.

Stuco President

Mac destroys morale

I feel that I must congratulate the administration of this college for having destroyed the morale of the student body with an efficiency which would have impressed the founding fathers of the Third Reich.

Among these youth

Among these youth,
their feet not on the ground
their minds in the clouds their heads between their thighs their fists tight clenched their eyes and ears all shut their mouths gaping wide cry,
GIVE ME,

Am I, my youth behind me sitting on that part of which these youth remind me.
Michael L. Wagner

In any democratic system the beginning of the end is signaled when the majority is overruled by a minority. When that minority consists of one man, the system has failed.

This institution has not yet reached its end. It is however, defeating its own purpose, i.e. to educate and prepare students to take responsible roles in a world which is not all "Christian Ethics."

The utopia that the administration envisions, where sex, drugs and (heaven forbid) atheists are intolerable, does not exist. It never has and never will. This college is failing us. I fear that nothing can be done so long as basic issues are resolved behind closed doors or, worse yet, when those issues are resolved in a closed mind.

Dorm uses positive punishment

Dear Editor,

I would like to respond to the letter written last week about Dotzour Dorm Council. I am really sorry for the person who wrote this letter and for the girls on her wing who feel that dorm council isn't doing anything.

Has no one in Dotzour heard of positive corrective punishment? Its basic idea is to give a punishment that is not detrimental to the person and is corrective to his thinking. Even our courts and penal institutions across the land have tried positive corrective punishment.

Example: "Irresponsible college student" pulls fire alarm, not knowing how they work, or if they work when they don't have all the pieces. Dorm council delivers a warning to her. Now that the student has learned how it works, she has no reason to pull a fire alarm again, excepting for fire. A punishment would have taught her nothing, and punishment for punishment's sake seems rather stupid to me.

The rules in the handbook and the Grownl should be upheld, but I feel that they are being upheld. Just because the punishment differs from that set down by the handbook doesn't mean that the rules aren't upheld. The dorm council should become a "punishment for punishment's sake" organization, then I would feel sorry indeed. It is 1973, not 1873, and if college students don't feel secure unless they know extreme fear when thinking of dorm council, I give them all of my sympathy, for they most surely need help.

Lastly, I would like to apologize to all of the Sepetator readers not living in Dotzour. I'm sorry that people felt we must air our dirty linen in public. But since it has been aired, I hope to clean it up a bit by this letter.

Love and Peace,

Unhappy students not potential donors

McPherson College is well esteemed by its former students. At least it would appear so judging from the fact that alumni contributed $104,751 last year to the college. Students of 20 to 30 years ago have so much faith in McPherson College that several thousand dollar grants and trusts have recently been made to the college.

It's reassuring to note that the college has a fairly solid financial base to operate on. The disturbing problem here is, who is going to be footing this kind of a bill in the future.

At present, McPherson College is having a hard time inducing its students to remain for four years, or even two or three. It seems doubtful that students who are so eager to leave will become alumni that are willing to give.

Only 35% of the freshmen class entering in 1969 will graduate from Mac this spring. Future graduating classes may be even smaller judging from the large number of transcripts the registrar's office has been sending out lately.

Many transferring students are dissatisfied with the college's present policies. Dissatisfied students are not potential benefactors. Neither will they become parents who will encourage their sons and daughters to attend McPherson College.

In the past, McPherson has given its students something to be proud of and worthy of supporting. This support will amount to nearly $180,000 this year estimates Jerry Holman, Mac's director of development. "Alumni are the backbone of a private institution such as Mac," states Holman.

It is sad to see McPherson College lose the respect of its students. Students are a college's most valuable resource. Once a college loses the devotion of its students, it eventually loses the donation of its alumni and many of its potential students.

McPherson College has a lot to offer. There are beautiful people here, and there are good programs. But the depressing attitude that now exists on campus stemming from recent administrative decisions is sure to kill the college if not heeded and corrected.

If the board of trustees and administration is concerned in the long range survival of the college they had better lend more of an ear to the rumbings of present students. There is much deep seated frustration, a frustration that could be quite detrimental to the college.

Ks. tuition grant application necessary for financial aid

by Barb Moore

Hear ye, hear ye, all Kansas students! Any of you needing financial assistance other than an academic scholarship must apply for the Kansas Tuition Grant before you will be considered for financial aid from McPherson College.

Tuition grants are non-repayable sums of money furnished by the state toward a student's college expenses at a fully accredited private college of his choice.

To be eligible a grant recipient must 1. be an undergraduate not having obtained a baccalaureate degree prior to September of the academic year in which the grant is to be used; 2. meet admission requirements or be a student in good standing at an independent college; 3. be a Kansas resident; 4. be a full-time student; 5. and contribute $450 of his own toward the cost of attending college.

A student is a resident and eligible for a grant if his or her legal parent or guardian has resided in Kansas the six months preceding the academic year in which the grant is to be used. A self-supporting student is a resident if he or she has resided in Kansas in a non-student status for a period of six months preceding the acaademic year in which the grant is to be used.

Financial need is determined by the American College Testing Program (ACT) on the basis of information obtained from the family financial statement (FFS). Dependent students will be ranked on the basis of their parent's ability to contribute toward the cost of a college education. If appropriated funds are insufficient to meet the needs of all applicants, awards will be granted to dependent and self-supporting students on the basis of the rankings in direct proportion to the number of applications in each category. Academic excellence will not affect the awarding of grants.

To apply for a tuition grant, a student must submit an application form to the State Education Commission office. The deadline is 5:00 p.m., March 19. A completed Family Financial Statement is also needed by the American College Testing Program by March 19. In preparing the FFS, only 1972 tax year data will be accepted. If self-supporting and under 26 years of age, a student must submit notarized documentation on forms provided.

Mac pulls out victory in double overtime

by Stan Adams

History repeated itself Saturday night as McPherson College beat Friends University of Wichita in two overtimes for the second time this season. The first meeting between the two clubs in January saw the Bulldogs coming out on top 109-108. Saturday increased their winning margin by eight points.

The offensive explosion last week yielded 233 points with Mac winning 121-112. The Bulldogs bombed the hoop with 93 shots making 52 of them for a sizzling 56 per cent while Friends made 42 of 85 from the field for a respectable 49 per cent.

McPherson gained the lead for the first time at 35-33 but lost it to the Facons at 44-46 late in the first half. McPherson tailed 51-49 going into the locker room at half time. Wild scoring continued in the second half with neither team being able to out-gun the other for any sizable lead. Two key steals by Don Cameron and Tom Glenn and a shot from the free throw line enabled the Bulldogs to rally and tie the game when they had been down by five points with one minute left to play.

A foul was whistled against McPherson just as regulation time ran out, but a Friends player choked on his foul shot forcing the contest into the extra session.

Both teams were still hot as each dumped in 10 points in five minutes during the first overtime. In the second overtime McPherson continued the fireworks while the frustrated Falcons failed to score a single point.

Junior Tom Glenn, who came into the game with barely a minute left and stayed for both overtimes, was considered by most as the hero of the game. He scored eight points, four of them from crucial free throws, ripped down six rebounds, and held high-scoring Falcon Mike McGee to just 4 points in the eleven minute span he was in the game.

Don Cameron led the Bulldogs in scoring with 26 points while Larry Doll poured in 20, Russ Clifton and Dennis Cotton had 17 each, Kevin Sundahl 13, and Tom Schulte and Tom Glenn each ended with 8 points.

McPherson hoopsters were on the opposite end of the totem pole earlier in the week when the Southwestern Moundbuilders topped the Bulldogs 78-72 at the McPherson High School Roundhouse. Southwestern, second in the conference standings behind Bethel, ended their own four-game losing streak and snuffed out the Bulldog's three-game winning streak.

Southwestern jumped to a quick lead in the first half, 12-2, and despite nine turnovers in 20 minutes, the Moundbuilders continued on top the entire first half, holding a slim 39-36 margin over the Bulldogs at half-time.

McPherson turned things around quickly early in the second half behind the hot shooting of Cameron, Doll, and Sundahl, but Southwestern soon recovered and regained the lead midway into the period, building up an eleven point lead with 10 minutes to go in the game. The Bulldogs nibbled away at the difference and finally tied the contest at 72-72 with 2:05 remaining.

Southwestern made four free throws and one bucket during the final two minutes as the Bulldogs kissed their victory goodbye.

McPherson outscored their rivals by five field goals but the Moundbuilders connected on 24 of 28 free throws while McPherson managed only six out of ten from the charity strip.

Mac's record is now 3-6 and the Bulldogs are tied for third place with Bethany and Friends. McPherson, having one game remaining against Tabor may still have a shot at second place in the KCAC.

Despite 23 points by sophomore Glenn Anderson in Tuesday night's game, the junior varsity lost to Southwestern 69-66. With one more tilt to go, the B-team record after Saturday's win stands at 7-7.

Team enters state meet

by Joyce Betzen

Two more victories have been added to the women's basketball team bringing their record to a 10-4 standing. Mary Holloway and Pam Dziekonski each made 15 points leading the team to a 53-40 victory over Wichita State University last Tuesday night. Another victory was gained Thursday when the women trampled Bethel 42-29. Laura Sundahl was the leading scorer with 16 points and Mary Holloway was second with 11 points.

The women met Tabor last Saturday in a play-off for the state tournament, winning by the narrow margin of 47-45. "I'm very proud of the way the girls played," commented Dr. Coppock.

The state basketball tournament will be held in Hays tomorrow and Saturday. McPherson co-eds will meet the top teams from other conferences in the state.

The last league game was played Tuesday against Bethel whom the Bulldogs had defeated twice.

Augie Hirt clips along at a fast pace over the sidewalks of McPherson in daily workouts for walk racing.

Hirt walks in first at Doane

by Jim Osche

On January 13, Augie Hirt represented Mac College in the one-mile walk at the Doane Indoor Relays in Doane, Neb. Hirt's first place finish in a time of 7:34.5 at the Doane meet was one of the best small college performances ever established.

By taking first place in the Doane meet, Augie qualified for the NAIA Indoor Championships the following weekend in Kansas City. In this meet he entered the two-mile walk, instead of the one-mile walk.

Steve Taylor from Oregon College of Education took individual honors with a time of 15:04; Hirt finished fourth out of a field of nine with a time of 15:55.

In preparing for these meets, Hirt has averaged 50 miles a week walking. The daily workouts include a balance of both interval and distance walking.

After graduating from McPherson this spring Hirt intends to move to Columbia, Missouri, (home of Olympic race-walker Larry Young), with his wife Joanne, to concentrate on race-walking competition.
