Says devalues property and violates zoning laws

Citizen protests center

by Mary Krehbiel

"These children they are going to bring in here have been detained by authorities for some reason, some criminal reason, and that devalues my property," Albert Goodson, a citizen who lives across the street from Bittinger Hall, told the Hutchinson News last week.

For this reason, Albert Goodson has obtained 100 signatures on a petition protesting moving the juvenile youth center to the McPherson College campus on the grounds that it would bring an undesirable element into the neighborhood.

Goodson also complains that the city violated zoning laws by issuing a building permit to install locks and other security measures on the first floor of the dorm.

A zoning permit is necessary before the dorm can be turned into a detention center. A public meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday to discuss a special use permit.

Goodson said he can't afford the zoning lawyer in the attorney general's office and was told the issuance of a special temporary permit for the building permit was illegal without a public hearing.

Federal grant money was at stake and the center had to be completed by May 1 for the grant money to be received.

The center is now halfway completed and Goodson said the whole thing has been railroaded through illegally.

Officials of the college do not share Goodson's sentiments. Robert Keim, Professor of Sociology, feels that the Bittinger Hall Youth Center has the backing of the City Fathers. Although he agrees that perhaps a public hearing should have taken place before the remodeling was started, he is confident that the Youth Center will still be ready to use by May.

Miss Virginia Harris, Head College Librarian, has announced a change in library hours due to the Easter holidays. Miller Library will be closed Good Friday, April 20 and Easter Sunday, April 22. It will be open from 1:00 to 4:00 on Saturday, April 21. Regular hours will convene again on Monday.

Coeds collect cancer funds

by Joyce Betzen

One hundred thirty-three dollars and twenty cents was collected for cancer research by 8 women from Dotzour Hall in last Wednesday's city-wide Cancer Drive. Sherri Egle was the highest collector bringing in $60.35. Others who collected in the door to door drive were Ruth Ann Rowland, Judy Ward, Joyce Betzen, Nancy Wittmeyer, Rhonda Gomis and Diane Grone.

The women were organized under Becky Wagner, Dotzour's Resident Director, who served as an area chairman.

Mrs. Kenneth Bechtel, ward chairman, said she felt the women did really well and appreciated their help very much.

Mrs. William Moon of South Walnut Street was the city-wide chairman. The total sum for the city of McPherson has not yet been correlated.

Nixon's budget to change financial aids program

by Rod Neher

McPherson College students expecting to receive financial aid next year should be aware of changes presently occurring in the nature of various monetary assistance programs.

Several federal financial aid programs will come to students in new forms next year, the major question being Congressional approval of President Nixon's recommended 1973-1974 national budget. If the educational aids portion of the budget is approved as it stands, the Educational Opportunity Grant (EOG) program will be replaced by a Basic Opportunity Grant (BOG) program. EOG's ranged from $200 to $800 annually and could be received only by students whose gross family income did not exceed $9,000 per year, regardless of number of dependents. The BOG program guarantees $1,400 to each student in a family who demonstrates adequate need. As a part of this change, no federal funds have been recommended for the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant program.

It is questionable whether the Work-Study Program at McPherson will be as large next year as it is this year due to a 7.4 per cent national decrease in funds recommended for that program on the suggested national budget. Presently 62 McPherson College students are participating in this program.

Federal funds have also been curtailed for National Direct Student Loans (NDSL's). This does not mean, however, that the program will be discontinued. The college will continue to make NDSL's with money repaid to it by students who have borrowed finances through this program in the past.

Maintenance staff offers employment

Summer jobs available

For the first time, students enrolled in Summer courses at McPherson College will have an opportunity for employment with the Maintenance Staff. Both part-time and full-time positions are available.

Students may contact Jess Cooper in the Financial Aids Office to establish financial need and to apply for these positions.

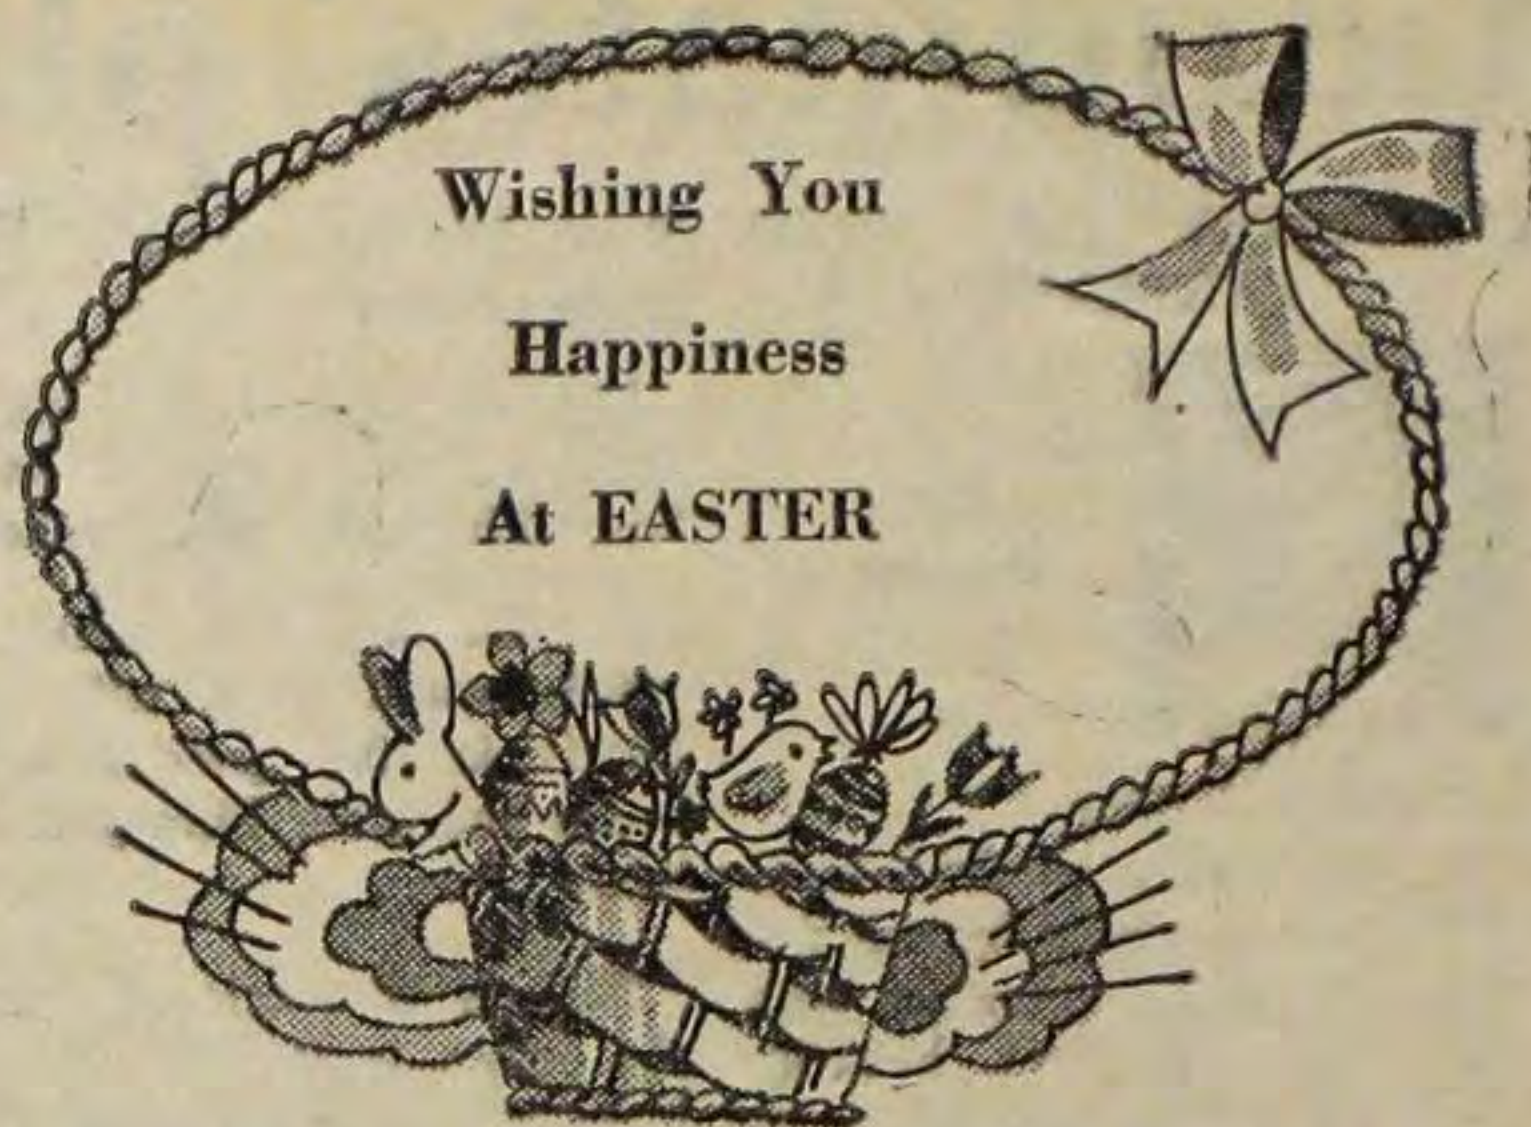

All students must establish financial need also if they wish to work during the Fall, 1973 semester. Since many students are employed part-time on campus and the amount earned is apart of their total Financial Aid Package, they may wish to get in contact with Mr. Cooper at their earliest convenience to find out what kind of job they can reasonably expect.

The Spectator Staff is searching for copies of the February 8, 1973 edition of the paper. They would greatly appreciate copies of the No. 13 edition to be turned in to the Spectator Office as soon as possible.

Candidates' platforms propose changes

CANDIDATES FOR STUCO PRESIDENT

Ed Goering

Platform Outline

- 1) Establish a Student Trustee, to be appointed by the stuco president in conjunction with the college president. Possibly later the appointment of a faculty trustee.
- 2) Establish more definitely the roles of both the MCCC and Stuco in the social structure of this institution.
- 3) Creation of a central calendar through which all activities must be scheduled.
- 4) Possibly bring the Mac

Shack into the realm of Stuco responsibility.

5) More publication of student activities, more special activities with public participation.

6) Establish a committee which would work with Miss Harris in the purchasing of books and other library materials.

This is a shortened list of the more important advances I would like to see accomplished during the next school year. McPherson College has a future, but the future lies not in the hands of Dr. Snell, the trustees, or faculty but rather with the students. It is our responsibility to create a future that will be worth experiencing and in turn remembering one day.

Don Hoover

I have three areas of concern. 1) Approximately half of Stuco's responsibilities are administrative. Some of these administrative responsibilities include granting charters to new clubs, allocating student body funds to various groups on campus and the financial responsibility for publications. In this area of Stuco jurisdiction, I have no earth shattering goals to advance. However, I do see improvements that can be made.

In view of the time and talent put into the editing and managing of the Spec and Quad, I would propose a raise in the salary allotment of $175.00. This would come out of Stuco's nearly $5,000 budget. In the area of publications, I see the need to adjust the amount of money allowed for printing.

2) Stuco in community relations. In past years, Stuco has been engaged in many service projects, such as the Heart Fund drive and the food bank collection. But have these projects fulfilled the original purposes? Some of the original goals were 1) to improve the relation between the college and townspeople and 2) to open up jobs in the business area to students. In view of this, I say it is time to stop our community service programs in its present form. As it is now, whenever the community brings its "needs" to Stuco, they ask Student Council to "take on the project for the community." They are asking the student body to cater to community needs.

I do then, propose for Student Council to turn away from the service relationship with the community towards a partnership relation.

3) Stuco's political responsibilities. The Stuco President is on MCCC and the administrative committee. The Administrative committee is "to assist the President in integrating the broad areas of administration: i.e. budget, personnel, student activities, and trustees administration - faculty - student relationships." (the Growl, pg. 27)

Here then is a nucleus of power which should be used to further student concerns. Through this channel pressure can be applied on policies which are generally untouchable. Two such areas are off campus living and maintenance policy concerning painting of a student's room. Through the President, then, Stuco does carry a significant amount of power to change policy.

I urge you to consider these areas of Stuco jurisdiction when voting on the Student Council President for '73-73. And it is because of my interest in Student Council, that I ask you for your support.

Ann Thomas

In past years, McPherson College Student Council has obtained an increasing amount of influence for the student. Yet we as a student body know little of Student Council.

The only time we hear of Student Council is at the time of election, or when Student Council needs volunteers for one of their numerous projects.

The student is every day seeking ways of becoming a more involved person, academically, socially, and politically.

Student Council is one way for the student to grow politically, to seek change and to hold back change. Student Council is the mechanism that can make McPherson College the college of the '70s. A college where all phases of the college community — students, faculty, administration, the Board of Trustees, and the people of McPherson — could be happy and comfortable.

The kind of school where a student can say, "I'm going to McPherson College, let me tell you about it."

I can make no promises, as I will not make a promise I cannot keep, but I can predict, that, as President of McPherson College Student Body, "This college would go places you've never dreamed of."

CANDIDATES FOR STUCO VICE PRESIDENT

Bruce Boccard

I feel that a major strength of McPherson College lies in the diversity of its student body. Every student must have freedom to express himself, no matter how liberal or conservative his views. Yet at the same time, the rights of the student majority must be protected. It is in this capacity that I see Student Council and MCCC,

We get letters

Liberal education needs athletics

Dear Editor:

In regard to the letter in the Spectator last week that suggested abolishing athletics.

I don't really understand why any department should have to be dropped from the program here at Mac, but to drop the physical education and athletic program would be one of the biggest mistakes the college could ever make. With the coaching staff and the potential here to work with, I feel this would be a drastic move.

If these two departments were dropped, about two hundred students would leave McPherson College. For many students at Mac, athletics are academics. For them math, chemistry, etc. just isn't where it is at.

If students come here for physical education and athletics, I feel they are entitled to them, since Mac has one of the best physical education and athletic departments I have found at any college.

By making the drastic change of dismantling these two departments, Mac College would be jeopardizing the chances of staying open as a college all together.

Concerned P. E. Major,
Peggie E. Howard

Editor-in-Chief:

Having read the letter by Verlin Ingram in the April 12 issue of the Spectator suggesting the abolishment of athletics, we would like to react not only to his opinion but also express our own concerning the issue.

A liberal education gives the student freedom of choice to learn. If we were to "consider the possibility of wiping out the entire Physical Education department," we would be limiting the areas for the student and the athlete to get a well-rounded liberal education. A student loses his freedom when the possibilities are limited.

We agree that there are a number of athletes who are not necessarily physical education majors, but their main reason for coming to this school is to participate in the athletic program. If it were not for these athletic programs, they would get their "liberal arts" education elsewhere. Our women athletes are almost entirely physical education majors.

Athletes not only spend numerous hours in training but they also must maintain a required grade point average to compete and a much higher average if they hold academic scholarships. They not only spend as much time in and out of the classroom as students with academic scholarships, but they spend additional time at their athletic endeavors. They earn their athletic scholarships.

Various universities and colleges throughout the United States have dropped their psychology and agriculture departments but we have not followed suit, so why should we drop our physical education department?

Graduate schools will accept undergraduate physical education credits and many of the schools require them.

If we were to abolish the athletic department, the education majors, as well as other majors, would have to go elsewhere to get their physical education requirements, and if we did wipe out the physical education department, our other departments would suffer.

McPherson College is a liberal arts college and we feel that opinions of discrimination against a department that plays such a major role in this college would only hurt the college and the students.

Special courses offer variety

As Mac students enroll for Fall '73 semester classes next week they may want to keep in mind the ACCK, Ace Wed. and independent study courses that are available. Students who are tired of taking all their major courses under one or two professors will find that going to other nearby colleges will enlarge their choice of professors as well as greatly increasing the variety of classes.

For a college as small as McPherson, the ACCK student interchange programs are a real plus. The accrediting team that was on campus the first of the month, praised the ACCK association as one of the strong points of McPherson's academic life.

McPherson presently has connections with six other colleges where students may take courses that are covered by tuition. Some of these classes are on Ace Wednesday and others are once-a-week courses. Twenty-four Mac students had courses on other college campuses this semester and 54 students came to Mac from other colleges.

The big prohibitive factor of taking courses off campus, i.e. transportation, is lessened since the ACCK has agreed to help pay for gas expenses. The travel problems really are outweighed by the benefits. Besides meeting new friends and learning under new professors, students gain a new perspective of McPherson College by finding out what is happening on other campuses.

Ace Wednesday courses are uniquely designed mainly for upper division courses so that students have the opportunity to delve into areas of study that are not available on the home campus.

Another good opportunity for learning is offered to Mac students through independent study courses. Although the red tape may seem prohibitive, the college does encourage students who are really interested in learning to use this method to explore academic areas of personal interest. The eleven students currently enrolled in independent study courses have come up with some very creative projects ranging from Greenhouse Management to Environmental Biology. Students with even more creativity can design their own major.

Exchange courses with other colleges and independent studies are a good answer to the academic limitations of a small college. The only fault is that students do not always use them to full advantage. Hopefully Mac students won't overlook these opportunities for learning as they enroll next week.

While their ability to create change is limited, they are able to direct and modify proposed changes in the light of student opinion.

Another idea I would like to work for would be that of closer cooperation between Student Council and MCCC. Since the Stuco president and vice-president serve on both they could easily serve as an effective link.

In the planning of homecoming, I would like to use a student-faculty homecoming committee to be the main body in planning and working out activities, including the current and past Social Committee chairmen.

In the past several weeks, the members of both MCCC and Student Council have expressed interest in expanding these organizations' scope of interest. I feel this would be important in letting student opinions and concerns be known. Even in an advisory capacity, spokesman for the student body can have an effect. Knowing student feelings and ideas is necessary before change can happen. I feel that serving on policy and activity committees is an important part of the vice-presidency.

One proposal I would like to work for would be to try to get a student representative on the Board of Trustees. This idea has worked successfully on other campuses, and should work here.

To make an affect on campus policy, the student body must make its concerns and opinions known in as many areas as it can including through the officers of Student Council. I would appreciate your consideration and your vote on Thursday.

Floy Ditmars

It has been very exciting this year as Student Council has been working with the new constitution and these elections are even more exciting because the constitution's specifications are finally completed with the election of dorm, off-campus and college court representatives.

I think a major responsibility of next year's Stuco shall be to develop this representative system and maintain close contact with the student body. Any student who is upset, confused, or who comes up with a solution for some aspect of life at McPherson College should have ready access to a Stuco representative or feel free to drop in on a Stuco meeting so that his concerns are heard.

Stuco can be helpful by finding answers in the Grawl, referring concerns to the proper committees, and making recommendations to committees and MCCC according to the feelings of each representatives's constituents.

To me, an actively functioning representative system is possible and very essential. Communication is much too slow when we deal with problems by waiting for the Stuco president to become aware of a situation and thus establish the agendas for each Stuco meeting.

Patty Wood

The position I feel qualified and eager about fulfilling is that of Vice President of Student Council. I do not propose major changes or promises, but rather present some of my goals of concern which I will endeavor to fulfill.

I am concerned about individual satisfaction of the learning process that is obtained here at McPherson College, whether it be social, emotional, or intellectual learning that is your preferable growth.

I also feel that we, as students, have the doors open to us to express our views and to be heard by the various committees. This process of being involved is increasing and I look forward toward a continued increase in workable relationships between the students, faculty, and the administration.

I feel that more needs of the students should be met, in order to make Mac a place for all to be proud of and to have a feeling of being a part. This, I feel, is part of the responsibility I must fulfill and be involved with, along with the responsibilities of the Vice President, as an officer of Student Council.

I would like to see an increase of activities available to the students and an increased development of coordinating activities with the community. To each of us, at the present, this is our home away from home. By establishing a positive relationship with the community and becoming more involved, a closer tie can be drawn.

As I look to past elections, there appears to be a lack of the total concern of students to express their desires. Without more of a majority representation, many concerns and ideals are left unheard. It is each student's responsibility to express his vote, as it is mine to lead and to communicate your concerns to the various committees. Student Council needs each one of you to support it and to acquire your needs, as I ask for your support in the position of Vice President.

Brent Peterson and Eileen Synder are running for treasurer and secretary unopposed.

Tests check proficiency

Students who are juniors, seniors, or transfer students, and have not yet passed the English Proficiency Test, will have the opportunity to do so Saturday, April 28. The examination will be given in Mohler-212, at 8 p.m. All McPherson students must pass this test in order to graduate.

Those who will be taking the test should bring a pen and dictionary to assist them in completing the objective and essay parts of the test. If any student is uncertain whether he has passed the test previously, he may find out by checking with Dr. Harley Stump.

Minister to new job

Rev. James E. Tomlinson, who recently resigned his position as Campus Minister at McPherson College, will become Associate Director of the National Interreligious Service Board for Conscientious Objectors in Washington, D.C. on June 15, 1973.

An ecumenical church agency, the Board represents the concern for conscientious objectors of 30 churches including: Mennonite, Church of the Brethren, American Baptists, Episcopal, Evangelical Covenant, Free Methodist, Lutheran, United Presbyterian and United Methodist.

Jim will act as a liaison person with the various church denominations, the Selective Service, and Congressional Committees working on matters concerning the draft. He will also edit the Board's monthly newsletter, "The Reporter, For Conscience' Sake."

A 1961 graduate of Manchester College, Jim received his Master of Divinity degree from Bethany Theological Seminary, Oakbrook, Ill. He now serves on the Board of Directors there. He has been McPherson College Campus Minister for two years after having spent three years as Associate Pastor in Education and Youth Ministries of the Church of the Brethren here in McPherson.

Tracksters 2-0 in dual competition

by Steve Burkholder
Mac's track team placed second in the Bethany College Pentangular Meet last Friday. Butler County Juco finished first with 76½ points, the Battling Bulldogs garnered 57, Tabor College 56½, Barton County Juco 56 and Bethany brought up the rear with 24 points.

As in previous meets, Big Roger "Ernie" Kamla paced the Mac cindermen with his first place finishes in the discus and shot put. Tom "Fosbury" Cope, a Dayton, Ohio, student, won three second places in both hurdle events and his special, the high jump.

Ben Work continues to shatter his personal best in the 880-yard run as he ran 1:56.3 at the Lindsborg meet.

Work anchored the sprint medley team to a third place finish with a fine 1:55.8 anchor half.

Mac took three places in the 440, with Jim Anewalt second with a time of 50.7, Zack "Mad Dog" Myers third in 51.2 and Bill "Cowboy" Reece fifth in 54.1

The Bulldog mile-relay team of Work, Anewalt, Myers and Steve Cameron won that event with a fine 3:24 time. The 440-yard relay team placed third with a time of 44.1. Cameron, Reece, Myers and Jim Ulrich composed the team.

Mac also placed three sprinters in the 220-yard dash. Reece was third, Cameron fourth and Ulrich fifth. Cameron also placed fifth in the long jump.

Vic Doll placed fifth in the 880 and also in the three-mile run. Tony Hoch ran a 60.7 in the intermediate hurdles, which was good for fourth place.

Mac's track team is also 2-0 in dual-competition following last week's win over Bethel College. The meet was also to include Bethany and KWU, but neither showed up for the meet. Mac outscored the Threshers 83-72.

Kamla, Doll and Cope were double-winners for the Bulldogs. Kamla again won his specialties, the shot put and discus. Cope won the high jump and tied for first in the 120-yd. high hurdles. Doll won the mile and three-mile races.

Other winners for McPherson were Work in the 880, Anewalt in the 220, and the mile-relay team.

Several other Mac track men have turned in good performances so far this year. Mark Lynch set a school record in the hammer throw with a heave of 126 ft., 3½ inches in the Tabor dual. Gary Best won his race, the 3,000-meter steeplechase, at the Tabor dual. Walking specialist Augie Hirt is also breaking records whenever he competes. His time at 14:35.4 in the exhibition two-mile walk at Emporia State was a new school record.

Steve Cameron hands off to Bill Reece in the 440-yd. relay at last week's track meet with Bethel College. Mac won the meet, 83-72.

Team chalks up victory

by Rod Neher

The McPherson soccer team chalked up another victory over Fort Hays State College at Fort Hays last Saturday, bringing its all-time record to a total of five wins and no losses. Preparations are now being made for the big upcoming game against the nationally ranked Kansas State team.

In spite of an under par passing situation due in part to a strong cross wind throughout the Fort Hays game, McPherson managed to outscore its opponent in a three to one ball game. Jose Urzagaste made the first goal of the match late in the first half. The second half brought a goal by Vinay Samudre, followed by the only goal scored against McPherson. Jerry Serrador clinched the contest for McPherson with a goal scored in the final minutes of the match.

Team members cited Marty Nolan for his outstanding job as goalie, and Al Sammis, who played excellently as full back.

McPherson began the game with its team arranged on the field in what is known in soccer terms as a five-three-two situation. This means the team had five forwards, three centers, and two full backs. About midway through the first half, the team returned to its usual and apparently more effective four-two-four positioning.

The Kansas State Wildcats are the next opponents for the undefeated team. Anticipation is running high among team members for this Saturday's game which takes place in Manhattan. McPherson students are encouraged to come and support the team.

Krehbiel leads golf squad

by Stan Adams

Sophomore Bruce Krehbiel continues to shine on the golf courses throughout Central Kansas, scoring a 76 at Hillsboro last Thursday in a triangular tournament and coming back with a strong 78 at Wichita in a dual match with Friends University Tuesday.

In the first match, Tabor thumped the Bulldogs 12½ to 2½ but McPherson knocked off Sterling College by the same score to finish second of the three schools.

Scoring behind Krehbiel was Les Dell shooting an 80, Ted Emerson had an 85, Ed Rogers a 96 and newcomer, Greg Stockstill came in with a 98.

In Tuesday's match, Friends edged out the Bulldogs 8-7 on the new Pawna Prairie course in Wichita. Ed Rogers clicked with a 79 and Les Dell followed close with an 80, Ted Emerson an 84 and Greg Stockstill an 108 for 18 holes.

Softball team loses to W.S.U.

by Joyce Betzen

The 12 women of Mac's softball team met the women from Wichita State University at the diamond on Walnut Street in McPherson on April 11, put up a tough fight, but came out on the losing side, 14-4.

With Pam Dziekonski at the pitcher's mound and the team backing her, the union was not strong enough to match the skills of WSU's team. The excellent pitching by the opposing team was the deciding factor of the game.

"They were a fantastic team — really fast!" said Peggy Howard, the team's right fielder.
