Mary Whiteneck Acts the Part of Toastmistress in a Very Effective Way

PINK AND GREEN COLORS USED

Elaborate Program of Music Is Rendered As Closing Number

A memorable event of the McPherson College Academy of 1923 took place Friday evening in Arnold Hall where the Juniors so royally entertained the Seniors.

The Seniors were first welcomed into the parlors by the Juniors and from there led to the dining room which was very attractively decorated in pink and green draperies and pink geraniums. The twelve quartet tables were adorned with bud vases of pink carnations. Attractive folders representing a pink carnation contained the menu and program to which was attached the place-card. The Senior motto, "Onward and Upward," was also brought out in pink and green decorations. The color scheme was further carried out in the four course dinner prepared by the ladies of the Cosmos Club and served by the following Sophomores and Freshmen: Margaret Dresner, Rachel Dunham, Merle Shatto, Salome Stouder, Emma Eschmann, Frank Hill, Leonard Whiteneck, Theodore Baker, Herbert Martin, and Ted Dell.

Four Toasts Given
Mary Whiteneck effectively acted the part of toastmistress. The welcome address was given by Charles Spicer and the response by Evelyn Lyons. Following these there were four toasts, "Trifles" by Lillian Andrews, "Good Fellowship" by Prof. C. R. Keim, "Memories" by Harvey Lehman, and "Advice" by Prof. Ebel.

Owing to unfavorable weather conditions it was impossible to secure a piano for the dining room and the remainder of the program was given in the parlors. Fern Lingenfelter of McPherson High School gave a piano solo. Harry Haggood, with water glasses, rendered "The Holy City" very beautifully. Adela Hale of McPherson read "The Last Word" after which a vocal solo was given by Roy Brammell. The class prophecy which was received from O. H. Hardman of Washington, D. C. and broadcasted by Viola Bowser was very entertaining. Francis Haggood, Theodore Harms, Bonnie Dee McMurray, Loren Curtis, and Albert Street of McPherson High School composed the Saxophone quintet which gave two numbers that closed the very enjoyable program.

WINE CHANGES LOCATION

Emery C. Wine, A. B. 1922, who has for the past year taught in the high school at Zenda, Kansas, has recently accepted a position as teacher of History in the high school of Preston for next year. Mr. Wine is anxious to get into departmental work, and for that reason will take graduate work this summer in the University of Chicago. He will probably visit McPherson College during Commencement week and also take a trip back to his old home at Woodside, Delaware.

The mule put his heels—
Where Paul put his meals—
And so far as we know that's all.

GRACE CRUMPACKER GETS POSITION AS LIBRARIAN

Miss Grace Crumpacker has accepted the position of High School Librarian in the consolidated school at Ashland, Kansas for next year. This is a unique position as the system to be used at Ashland is to be tried for the first time in Kansas. Miss Crumpacker will have charge of the reading room in the high school library where she will supervise the reading and study for the students of the Junior and Senior High Schools. Instead of the usual large group of students in the study-hall, there will be only about twenty students in the reading room at one time. Other schools will watch with interest the success of the experiment.

SENIOR OPERETTA TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY EVE

IS ENTITLED "THE CAPTAIN OF PLYMOUTH" BY TIBBALS AND ELDRIDGE

The Senior Operetta entitled "The Captain of Plymouth" by Tibbals and Eldridge which will be given in the gymnasium Friday evening at eight o'clock is the story of the brave Miles who with his army subdues the Indians and wins the admiration of the colonists.

Captain Miles thinks much of Priscilla, the fairest maiden of Plymouth, (when he isn't thinking of himself) and wishes to marry her. He entrusts John Alden, his diligent secretary, the well-liked lad of the colony, to carry to Priscilla his offer of marriage. Alas! John is, himself, in love and with Priscilla. Ent in the name of friendship he nobly carries his message and pleads the Captain's cause. Be sure to hear Priscilla's retort—our demure foremothers, too, had a bit of the modern "mind of her own."

The Captain and brave Erasmus are captured by the fierce Pequots and at last after Miles promises to marry Katonka, the Indian princess, she releases the bonds. The result is interesting for the Indian is a determined creature—so is Miles.

Finally Miles appears in Plymouth; the Puritans in gratitude promise him anything he may wish. He asks the hand of Priscilla. The Elder promises—and the Elder's word is law.

What will John do?

AUTHOR DONATES BOOK

The library is grateful for the recent donation to its shelves of a novel entitled "The Madonna of the Curb" published in 1922 by George W. Jacobs and Company of Philadelphia and written by Miss Anna Balmer Myers. Miss Myers is the author also of "Patchwork" and "Amanda." Her works depict a type of life treated rather un sympathetically in "Tillie the Mennonite Maid." Special interest attaches to these books from the fact that the author is a cousin of Dr. Harnly of the M. C. faculty.

The teacher was visiting the families of her pupils and wandered into the yard of one of her bright hopefuls.

"Good morning," Tommy, said she, "is your mother at home?"
"Yes'm," said Tommy, "that's why I'm working in the garden."

WORK ON QUADRANGLE FOR 1923 IS RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION

A Number of New and Interesting Features Have Been Added This Year

OVER 300 COPIES ARE SOLD

Present Plan Is To Have Year-Book Ready for Distribution by Close of School

The 1923 Quadrangle, the year-book of McPherson College, is nearing completion. Work has progressed rapidly under the direction of Estella Engle, Editor-in-Chief and Sanger Crumpacker, Business Manager. Splendid co-operation has been received from the members of the Staff and their intensive work is showing results. Most of the engraving has been completed and the material is being organized before it is sent to the printer. It present plans materialize the book will be completed before school closes.

Color Scheme Will Be Used
The Quadrangle this year will have many new and interesting features. A color scheme will be used which will add much to its attractiveness. A new department this year is that given to dramatics, which will be recognized as an activity in itself. Athletics will be given proper attention as well as all other organizations and activities. Every effort is being made to produce a representative annual.

To Cost Four Dollars
Over three hundred copies have been sold and the Staff hopes to have an even larger circulation. The sale price will be four dollars, the same as last year. No one can afford to miss the enjoyment of owning an annual for this price and with the united support of the students, faculty, and alumni the members of the Staff will be assured of a success of their undertaking.

ACADEMY DEBATE CLUB ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Officers for the Academy Debate Club for next year were elected at a meeting held Tuesday evening. John Lehman was chosen president; Marie Brubaker, vice-president; Gladys Fishburn, secretary-treasurer, and Ted Dell, reporter.

A program consisting of parliamentary drill followed the election. Minnie Hutchison acted as temporary chairman and Jesse Carney as secretary. The motions brought before the club were presented in argumentative form and were well discussed by different persons who presented both sides of the question. The last part of the program was conducted with Marie Brubaker and Gladys Fishburn as chairman and secretary, respectively. The program was very helpful in making clear those things that are essential in successful business meetings.

Prof. Hess, the adviser of the club, gave a few suggestions in the way of encouragement to keep alive and even increase the efforts in debate in the future.

WEST POINTER VISITS M. C.

Colonel L. H. Holt, professor of History in the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York, was a visitor on the campus last Monday. He is joint author of the historical work entitled "European History, 1862-1914," a book much used and referred to in the schools. Colonel Holt was reared in McPherson but went East for his educational career, having received his Ph. D. from Yale University. He has taught in West Point for a number of years.

You cannot afford to miss the Senior Operetta, Friday evening.

DR. MASON WILL SPEAK ON EDUCATION IN A DEMOCRACY

Dr. Wilbur N. Mason, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church at Pittsburg, Kansas, who is to give the commencement address here May 25, will use Education in a Democracy as the theme for his discourse. Dr. Mason is declining an invitation to deliver a commencement address on Thursday, May 24, in order to be at McPherson for the program on Friday. Since Dr. Mason ranks high among the foremost men of the nation in the field of education the senior classes of M. C. are well pleased in having secured him to give the commencement address this year.

"Y" GROUPS TO STUDY INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS

A BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF EMPLOYEES IS BEING SOUGHT

An undertaking fraught with exceptional opportunities for a better understanding between college students and industrial workers known as the Collegiate Industrial Research Movement has recently assumed national proportions. It began in the summer of 1920 when a number of college men from western institutions assembled in Denver for a close-up, first-hand study of the problems of industry. The experiment grew out of a conviction that the average college man has a very meagre understanding of industrial conditions. The real merit of the movement in providing for such actual laboratory experience can scarcely be appreciated.

To Be Conducted This Summer
Groups will be conducted in a number of American cities during the summer of 1923, generally opening about July 1 and continuing from six to eight weeks. Men's groups will be under the auspices of the Student Y. M. C. A. and those for women under the Student Y. W. C. A. Each man will be expected to get an ordinary job in an industry and live on his wages. No special privileges will be given, each being expected to share as fully as possible the life of his fellow workmen in leisure as well as in working hours.

Open To Mature Students
An experienced director will be in charge of the group which will meet on two evenings a week for seminar and on Sunday for Bible Study. The groups will be open to mature students who have an earnest purpose to understand the industrial problem and find the Christian solution. Just what action will be taken at McPherson College is not yet fully known.

PROFESSOR GAW ADDRESSES MEETING OF THESPIAN CLUB

The Thespian Club met in the chapel Saturday evening to study Opera. Seven new members were accepted and welcomed by the Club after which Professor Gaw clearly and briefly outlined the development of the opera, also giving some of its important characteristics and possibilities. Following this, a number of operatic records were played on the victrola and short sketches given of their themes. The numbers were arranged according to the date of their composition so that the gradual development in orchestration could be observed. The records were of splendid quality and were fully enjoyed by the audience.

At the conclusion of Professor Gaw's talk the guests were dismissed and a short business meeting held. The Club is planning two more meetings, one to be given over to a study of the Photoplay, the other to the production of three one-act plays.

JUNIORS PRESENT THE WRONG MR. WRIGHT IN A VERY PLEASING WAY

Ray S. Wagoner, David Brubaker, and John Harnly Play Leading Parts

ENTIRE CAST PERFORMS WELL

Comedy Is Marked by a Series of Cases of Mistaken Identity

The presentation by the Junior Class of the three-act farcical comedy by George H. Broadhurst, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," was enjoyed by a crowded house at the gymnasium Thursday evening at eight o'clock as one of the big events of the annual Junior Week. The play was coached by Prof. Mercedes Chapman, head of the Expression Department of Central College. Ray S. Wagoner, David Brubaker, and John Harnly played the stellar parts.

Held in Gymnasium
The difficulties in giving a performance in the gymnasium were admirably overcome, a large, roomy stage having been built and decorated. The cast with no exceptions entered into the spirit of the comedy and adapted themselves to their respective parts. From beginning to end the audience laughed at the humorous situations produced by a series of cases of mistaken identity and at the eccentricities of the various characters.

Ray S. Wagoner Stars
Ray S. Wagoner, "The Wrong Mr. Wright," as the miserly hoarder of gold who had lost faith in women through a disappointment, angered because the detective agency had placed a woman on the track of the man who had been shrewd enough to rob him of fifty thousand dollars, and who succumbed to the charm of that same woman, was faultless through the entire play, contributing much to its success.

Isabel Knauts Plays Well
The quick-witted detective who worked the transformation in Sites, falling in love with her prisoner whom she believed to be a thief, presented by Isabel Knauts, was a constant source of interest, not a weak point being found in her interpretation.

Dale Strickler as Captain Crosby was ever that gallant, gentlemanly gentleman who did the right thing at the right time, and in the right way.

The disappointed heiress, played by Grace Ebaugh, the girl whose life was a constant struggle against the hindrances of wealth, but who proved to be as charming without her money as with it, showed talent and training in her impersonation.

Rufus Daggett playing the happy-go-lucky spendthrift youth brought a great deal of laughter by his clever acting.

David Brubaker and Elsie Forney, as brother and sister, the brother dominated by the unappropriated sister still hoping for romance of whom it was truly said, "They don't build them like her now-a-days" were the cause of much merriment.

Lord Brazenface Well Presented
John Harnly, in the person of Lord Brazenface could not have been excelled in his portrayal of the monocled Englishman stranded in the "slowest beastliest place he ever was in." His perfect ease on the stage and dramatic ability were unquestioned.

The part of the aspiring maid, acted by Hazel Vogt, who in this capacity exchanged places with the heiress, whose conception of the social life of the elite was not entirely orthodox, even termed "vulgar" by Captain Crosby, was exceedingly well interpreted.

Harold Barnes was the typical,

MISSION BAND

Dr. Harnly gave a very good talk to the Mission Band Sunday evening. He presented very earnestly the need of workers in the weaker church districts. Dr. Harnly says that Christian workers must be able and willing to go out and make a job and a place in which to work and then put everything into the cause. Small and weak church districts should not perish and Dr. Harnly believes that as long as God favors the cause and one person is faithful, success is possible.

One of the bosses at the Baldwin Locomotive Works had to lay off an argumentative Irishman, so he saved discussion by putting the discharge in writing. The next day Pat was missing, but a week later the boss was passing through the shop and he saw him again at his lathe. Going up to the Irishman, he demanded fiercely, "Didn't you get my letter?" Yes, sorr, Oi did," said Pat. "Did you read it?" "Sure, sorr, Oi read it inside and Oi read it outside," Pat said, "and on the inside yez said I was fired, and on the outside yez said, 'Return to Baldwin's Locomotive Works in five days.'"

COLLEGE SENIORS WILL PRESENT THE CHRISTIAN

The College Seniors have started to work on their class play, "The Christian," which will be given at the Opera House, Wednesday evening, May 23. The play is from the novel of the same name by Hall Calne. C. E. Oelrich will coach the production.

This play is by the greatest undertaking in dramatic lines that has ever been attempted here. It is in a prologue and four acts with three different sets of scenery. Besides a large cast, the entire class will be used in the mob scenes in the second and fourth acts. It is a play of large dimensions and will be staged in an exceptional manner.

The class is very fortunate to obtain Mr. Oelrich as coach as he has coached this play a number of times. Furthermore he created the role of Brother Paul in the New York productions.

sleepy bell-hop to the very last brass button on his crimson uniform; Omer Vanseyoc, the "fearless" detective who had the knack of following the wrong clue, and Carl Schneider and Irvin Ithrig as policemen, were right on the job whether their services were necessary or not.

Mercedes Chapman Coaches Play The Juniors were fortunate in securing Prof. Chapman as coach for the comedy and her training was very commendable. Much credit also is due W. E. Bishop, general manager; Vilas Betts, ticket manager; Rufus Daggett, stage manager; Ursula Flory, costume manager; Harlan Yoder, property man; and Hazel Vork, advertising director.

The merchants and townspeople were very generous in loaning properties for the play. Those to whom the Juniors are indebted are: Mercantile, Golden Rule, Mrs. Helstrom, Mrs. Matthews, Smalley's Art Shop, and "Fat" Lawson.

A city man recently visited his "country cousin." The man from the city, wishing to explain the joys of metropolitan life, said: "We certainly have been having fun the last few days. Thursday we autoed to the country club and golfed until dark, then trolleyed back to town and danced until morning."

The country cousin was not to be stumped in the least and began telling some of the pleasures of the simple life: "We have had pretty good times here, too. One day we burgled out to Uncle Ned's and went out to the back lot, where we baseballled all the afternoon. In the evening we sneaked up into the attic and poked until morning."

A sturdy old farmer who was listening, not to be outdone, took up the conversation at this point and said: "I was having some fun about that time myself. I muled out to the corn field and geahowed until sundown. Then I suppered until dark and piped until 9 o'clock, after which I bedstended until the clock fived, and then I breakfasted until it was time to go muling again." —From the Literary Digest.

McPHERSON PLACES FOURTH IN COLLEGE MEDLEY RELAY

McPherson College placed fourth in the college medley class at the Kansas Relays held at Lawrence Saturday under the auspices of Kansas University.

The men composing the team were Ira Brammell, 220 yard dash; Ray Vaniman, 440 yard dash; Sanger Crumpacker, half mile; and William Hiddlebarger, mile. They reported royal treatment at the hands of the Sigma Chi Fraternity, to which Coach "Dutch" Lonborg belongs.

The meet was the classiest one held in this part of the country, bringing in star athletes from various colleges and universities all over the United States. It was considered such a success that the Kansas University Relays will probably become an annual event.

McPHERSON TENNIS TEAMS ARE DEFEATED AT TOPEKA

The McPherson College tennis teams were defeated by Washburn Friday in a Kansas conference match played at Topeka. Frank Coutts won from Kenneth Krehbiel 6-2, 6-1. Gerald Hamilton also in a single match won from Arno Rodes 6-0, 6-3. The doubles team composed of Garland Lichty and Kenneth Krehbiel was defeated by Gerald Hamilton and Lauren Barnett 6-0, 6-2.

Due to rain the match was played indoors in an underized court, which handicapped the Bulldogs who were experienced only in out-door playing. When the Ichabods invade McPherson May 2, the Bulldogs expect to make a different showing.

—Joe Sims in Dighton Herald

An Irish farmer, waking up in the night, saw an apparition at the foot of the bed. He reached his hand out for a gun and perforated the ghost with a bullet. In the morning he discovered that he had made a target of his own shirt.

"What did you do then?" inquired a friend.

"I just knelt down and thanked God," he said, "that I hadn't been inside it."

Coming to a river with which he was unfamiliar, a traveler asked a youngster if it were deep.

"No," replied the boy, and the rider started to cross but soon found that he and his horse had to swim for their lives.

When the traveler reached the other side he turned and shouted: "I thought you said it wasn't deep."

"It isn't," was the reply, "it only takes grandfather's ducks up to their middles."

An absent-minded professor was hurrying with a friend to catch a train, when he stopped suddenly and exclaimed: "There! I've come away and left my watch."

"Let's go back and get it," suggested the friend.

"No: I don't believe we will have time," said the professor, and he drew the lost watch out of his pocket, looked carefully at the dial, and added "No, there won't be enough time."
