

Colloquia series begins, Goldsmith next speaker

"Why Third World Problems Can't be Solved" will be the topic of Dr. Dale Goldsmith's colloquium on religion Thursday at noon in the private dining room. The lecture will be the second in a series of colloquia presentations to be given this year.

The Colloquia Lecture Series was begun last fall by Mr. Bob Green, professor of english, in order to "provide another forum on campus where people of some authority can discuss issues or share presentations that they have prepared."

Prof. Green adds that the forum is also a means of communication through which faculty members can report on experiences and pursuits of their sabbatical leaves of absence.

Often members of the college faculty prepare research papers to be delivered at regional and national professional meetings and conventions. Colloquia allows the college community to hear these presentations and also aids the speakers by providing them with a sort of trial audience and potentially constructive inputs.

Eight colloquia are scheduled for 1978-79. Prof. Green tries to schedule lectures that are related to a wide variety of disciplines.

"I'd like very much for students to feel welcome," he says.

The luncheons feature one speaker and time is usually devoted to a question and answer session after the formal presentation.

Dr. Goldsmith's upcoming colloquium will reveal some of his insights in the area of liberation theology. Liberation theology concerns third world nations and their problems in the areas of distribution of goods, justice and equality.

Adams addresses

Dr. Timothy Adams, newly appointed executive director of the Associated Colleges of Central Kansas, will give the convocation address Monday at 11 a.m. in Brown Auditorium.

The ACCK is responsible for planning and coordinating all programs in which member colleges participate. These member colleges are Bethany, Bethel, Kansas Wesleyan, McPherson, Sterling and Tabor.

Dr. Adams assumed his position with the ACCK on June 19. Prior to this, Adams was associate director of the Northern Plains Consortium in Jamestown, N.D.

Raised in the Brooklyn, N.Y. area, and a graduate of the State University College at Fredonia, N.Y. with a degree in political science, Adams had never been to Kansas before last June.

He claims, however, that what he found here was what he had expected. "McPherson is a fine town. Especially after a couple of North Dakota winters!"

The topic of Adam's convocation speech will be cooperation, "cooperation in general, or in terms of colleges and other organizations."

Homecoming

A full weekend of activities

by Jana Flory

"The Best is Yet to Come" is the 1978 Homecoming theme as well as an apt description of the activities which have been planned for homecoming weekend, Oct. 13-15.

Col. Kelly's Kansas Fried Chicken Supper will kick off the weekend's events Friday evening. Enjoy all the chicken you can eat from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the Student Union while being entertained with live Dixieland music.

"An Evening of Stars" will be presented at 7 p.m. in Brown Auditorium. The variety show is open to faculty, students and townspeople who would like to enter an act. The audience will judge the acts and prizes will be awarded to the best in each of three categories: song and dance, drama-comedy and instrumental. At the close of the variety show, a free will offering will be collected for the United Way.

The 9 p.m. pep rally between the Student Union and Brown Auditorium will feature a bonfire. The McPherson college pep band, varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders, and 12 Spirit Kickers will set the mood for Saturday's game.

Friday's final event, Casino Night, will take place in the SU basement at 9:30 p.m. Winners at blackjack, or the craps table may bid on prizes with the chips they accumulate throughout the evening.

Miller Library will open its doors to visitors Saturday from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. At this time an Alumni Board meeting is scheduled in Room 101.

Main and Euclid streets are to be the scene of the 1978 Homecoming Parade. Beginning at 10:30, the pep band, faculty band, cheerleaders, and two types of displays (floats and other entries) will decorate the parade route. The top three displays in each category will receive cash prizes. Awards for first through third in the float division will be $50, $40 and $30, respectively, and $20, $15, and $10 will be given to the top three entries in the other category.

Alumni will renew old acquaintances during their noon class reunion luncheons. Locations differ for the various class reunions of 1958, 1963, 1968, 1973, the Golden Key Club (1928 and earlier) and the 1958 football team. Those not attending reunion luncheons may dine in the cafeteria from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Visitors may browse in the college bookstore on Saturday, Oct. 14 from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Pre-game activities will begin at 1:30 p.m. at the college stadium with the alumni-varsity cross country meet, nine alumni have been invited to take on the varsity team of Jim Kitson, Albert Zavala, Harold Spencer, Lyle Grosbach, and John Moyer.

The afternoon's music will be provided by the Mac College pep band, and enthusiasm spurred on by the cheerleaders.

Kick-off is scheduled for 2 p.m. The Bulldogs will meet the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes from Salina in the homecoming contest.

Halftime entertainment highlights will include the coronation of the homecoming queen and her attendants. The displays that participated in the morning's parade will be on exhibition and the six winners announced. Special recognition of McPherson College's 1958 football squad is to be offered by Don Rominger, and the alumni who participated in the cross country meet will be introduced.

A Sports Fan Sandwich Supper will honor the 1960 team in the college gym from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Supper will be served in the cafeteria from 5 to 6 p.m.

Saturday evening, President and Mrs. Paul Hoffman will host an open house at their home, 1000 E. Euclid, from 6:15 to 7:45 p.m.

"Where's Charley" is the homecoming production to be presented by the McPherson College Drama Department. The musical comedy may be viewed at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium on Oct. 12 and 14.

Rounding out Saturday's festivities will be the homecoming dance in the Student Union at 10 p.m. The band, Starbird, from Lincoln, Neb., will perform at the semi-formal occasion.

Sunday, October 15 visitors and students are welcomed to attend a 10 a.m. worship service at the Church of the Brethren.

Drama season continues, 'Charley' debut approaches

by Smita Nirula

With less than one week to go before opening night, rehearsals for "Where's Charley?" the homecoming musical, are getting exciting, as well as a little frenzied. Yet there's a certain amount of humor involved in the final preparations for the show.

"It's great to see people who have never done this kind of thing before so excited and enthusiastic about it all. They do a good job too," says Ken Forsyth, the play's musical director.

No newcomer to the stage, Billie Hegge is choreographing three of the show's production numbers. She teaches at Union Valley Elementary School in Hutchinson and has worked with Ken before. Judging from the two numbers she has choreographed so far, her talents will certainly contribute a great deal.

Director Rick Tyler comments, "It's almost been going better than I had expected, and that's great! Things are getting together and beginning to shape up now. There's much more cohesion in the whole structure."

Singing, dancing and deadpanning their ways through comic situations, the cast carries on, with their sights set on Thursday's opening at 8 p.m. in Brown Auditorium and the homecoming performance Oct. 14.

Anxiously awaiting the approaching kickoff are Becky Baile, soph., Warrensburg, Mo., and Tonie Alvarado, soph., Sublette. They are two of the five varsity cheerleaders working to build up spirit this year at McPherson. (photo by Petty)

Let's hear it!

School spirit on the upswing

by Becky Baile

Rah, rah, ree! Kick 'em in the knee! School spirit, let's hear it! These phrases are often heard at football games as the crowd roars with excitement during a winning season.

McPherson College has, like many other colleges and universities, had a lack of school spirit for the past several years. But no matter what the cause of this lack of spirit, it is not too late to change.

There have been three football games so far this year and the number of enthusiastic fans has been great. Many students however, are still avoiding college activities for some unknown reason. If you really believe in the functions and future of this college, then support it!

"How?" is the next question asked by an individual who decides to do something besides sitting in the dorm.

There are many ways to show school spirit. Next week has been designated as Spirit Week. If you want to show your support, here is what to do.

On Monday, everyone is to wear overalls of any color or shape to show that the Bulldogs will "overhaul" the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes. Tuesday, show the Bulldog's power to "sock it to 'em" by donning your craziest socks.

"Clash With the Coyotes Day" is Wednesday and you should mix up your weirdest combination of colors, stripes, and plaids. (For some members of the student body this will be the simplest day.)

Thursday is "Hats Off to the Bulldogs Day." Everyone is to dig up their sharpest looking hat and tip it to a Battling Bulldog. Red and white, the school colors, are to be proudly displayed on Friday as the Homecoming activities commence.

Football games are not the only place where you may display your school spirit. There are women's volleyball games, soccer games, cross country meets and women's tennis matches almost every day of the week. These activities deserve the attention of students and faculty.

Tired or bored with school? There's no reason to be with the dozens of activities or groups you could become involved in. Get up, get out, and get involved.

School spirit—let's really hear it!

Budget proposals heard

Attending the Student Council meeting of Sept. 27 during which budget presentations were made by various campus organizations proved interesting.

All council members were at the 6:30 p.m. session and a concerned representative (in some cases two) from each organization requesting funds was there with information in hand to substantiate their requests. Several administration and staff members were also in attendance.

The meeting was an important one and it was handled accordingly. Presentations were made and copies of budget proposals distributed.

Requests by large groups and small clubs were considered. Whether their budgets totaled over $1,000 or $15, the organization had obviously done some detailed planning. Their itemized figures sometimes included allotments they planned to use to sponsor some sort of activity which the student body as a whole could benefit from.

Time was taken for careful questioning, and often significant points and suggestions were made by council members who for the most part, listened attentively and thought out their statements.

How to allocate our money to campus organizations so that we will get the most out of it was Stuco's task. A difficult one, but one that was approached professionally and with intelligence.

We get letters

SAB admission fees

Dear Editor:

I would like to respond to Smita Nirula's letter questioning the charging of entrance fees to social events.

The main reason for charging for campus social events stems from the way in which the Student Activities Board is funded. As opposed to the athletic and drama departments which, I understand, receive individual budgets directly from the college's general fund, Student Activities has a very limited budget.

The general fee of $70 that each student pays is broken down into separate categories, 33½ percent of which goes into Student Activities (see page 25 of the Student Handbook). Out of this 33½ percent, which really goes to Student Council, the Student Activities Board is allocated whatever amount Stuco feels is fair to allow it with regard to the other clubs and organizations needing funds.

Hence, the Student Activities Board receives only a portion of a portion of the $70 general fee, making its working budget fairly limited for planning activities, decorating, getting supplies, booking bands, and food costs.

It is not absolutely necessary for the SAB to charge for student functions, and many activities are free or nearly so (Ice Cream Nights, some dances, Pizza Nights, etc.). The reason for the charge is to help to replenish a rapidly declining supply of money, and the charge is mainly for entrance into activities that demand the largest expenses (movies, dance, bands).

Movie rentals are the greatest single expense for the SAB which is why there is a repeated minimal admission charge to this activity.

If SAB completely uses up all its funds there will be nothing to draw on for spur-of-the-moment activities nor anything to start with the following semester. So the charge continues mainly to allow SAB to have an active working budget; instead of all the money continually draining out, there can still be a small flow coming back in.

If there are further questions regarding charges or the SAB budget, I will be glad to talk with anyone, or better yet, express your concerns at a SAB meeting (Tuesdays at 9:30 p.m.). Thanks for your interest.

Sincerely,

Sue Quay
Student Activities Coordinator

Sadie Hawkins changes traditional roles

by Harold Briscoe

Sadie Hawkins Weekend has become an annual event at McPherson College. Last week, a bluegrass band, movie, football game, Hoe Down Supper and dance made it a worth while happening—especially for the guys.

With the young ladies asking the gentlemen for dates, traditional social roles were switched. Although passage of the Equal Rights Amendment may be at hand, men had to cope with the still unfamiliar experience of being escorted by members of the opposite sex.

"I enjoyed it and would do it again because I'm broke," comments Brent Willems, fr., McPherson. This monetary advantage proved to be a definite plus to many of the guys who are accustomed to paying on dates.

When Scott Foust, Fr., Rocky, Okla. met his date at the door, he says, "I felt weird 'cause I wasn't used to being picked up."

The opportunity to ask out the man of their dreams didn't automatically make it easy for the women, believes Deb Lolling, jr., McPherson. "Some girls got into little groups like the guys do to decide which guy was the one to ask out," she revealed.

You might say Sadie Hawkins

Weekend turned the tide of male dominance on campus. Male dominance of the dating game that is. Someone has to do the asking and the women seemed to take to it enthusiastically.

Already thinking ahead, Grand Odokara, sr., Nigeria, suggests that next year, "They should make it a real week including activities such as bowling, a picnic in the park and roller skating."

"Depending on how liberal your community is can make a difference in how a female reacts to asking a male for a date and how he will feel about being asked.

"It's not that much of a problem in mine," says one weekend participant.

One thing is for sure, Sadie

Hawkins activities will always be interesting, even intriguing events to look forward to.

Zavala active in Stuco, athletics

by Stephanie Reyes

Every morning at 6 a.m. a group of cross country runners can be seen leaving campus for a three to five mile run. Among this group is Albert Zavala, sr., Rocky Ford, Colo. Albert has attended McPherson for the past four years and is majoring in business administration.

I talked with Albert one morning at 7 a.m. after his usual run. As he finished the banana he was eating for breakfast, he talked about himself, some of his experiences and future plans.

"I had an older sister who graduated from here, and I'd come up and see her sometimes and just kind of check out the school when I was here," is the reason he gives for first deciding to attend McPherson.

Albert or "Bert," as some of his friends call him, is not only involved in cross country, but track too. After running for six years, including high school competition, he feels that his greatest accomplishments in cross country and track are his 13th place finish in the marathon at Nationals and a 10th place finish in the marathon at K.U. This was during his sophomore year. "Last year I was injured, so I had a real bad year."

Aside from running, a large portion of Albert's time and energy is put into finding jobs for McPherson students on work study. When asked how he goes about finding jobs for applicants, he explained that he tries to match students with specific talents to professors and administrators who are in need of workers with a particular talent.

Albert admits that being so busy, he doesn't have much time for hobbies, or time for himself. But when he does find time, he enjoys working on his car.

Albert will graduate from

McPherson with a B.A. in business administration. "I kind of hope to get into personnel management. I'd like to work a couple of years and then hopefully I'll still have the desire to further my education with a master's degree in personnel management."

Albert speaks openly about his feelings for McPherson. "I've become involved in a lot of close relationships with people that I wouldn't trade for the world." He also points out and stresses that the most important thing to him has been his relationship with God.

"Everything good that I have accomplished through this institution has been through the Lord."

Study Brethren roots abroad

Studying Brethren history and interacting with German families will be the purposes of a one month interterm trip to Europe scheduled to depart Dec. 28. Jan van Asselt, professor of German and Paul Miller, campus minister, will travel with a group of McPherson College students to their first stop, Frankfurt, Germany.

Throughout the trip, the students will be staying in German homes. By living in the homes, the students will be able to take in the true culture of the country.

Paul Miller explains, "It's always good to broaden our horizons by visiting people from other countries."

During their first week in Germany, the group will stay in Marburg, the site of Philipps University. Philipps University is one institution where students involved in the Brethren Colleges Abroad program may choose to study. Three McPherson College students, Lori Sheppard, Rick Judy and Allan van Asselt are now studying there.

While in Marburg, the students will attend lectures each morning at Philipps University concerning Brethren history. "It will give us a chance to see where our roots got their start," says Paul Miller. Afternoons and evenings will be spent sightseeing.

Besides Germany, the group will also travel to Switzerland and Holland. In Geneva, Switzerland they will spend a day at the World Council of Churches. A possible trip up the famous Mount Blanc, located high in the Swiss alps outside of Geneva, is also on the agenda.

In Vorden, Holland the group will visit the home of Jan van Asselt's parents. During their visit to Vorden the students will be staying in private homes.

So far, 12 students have signed up. There is room for 22 students and anyone interested is urged to sign up. The cost of the trip will be approximately $1100.

Students need not know German, but are encouraged to try and pick up key phrases and words before the trip.

Keeping a log of the journey and being able to recall information given during the lectures will be two requirements of the trip. Students will earn four hours of credit in Brethren history upon completion of the course.

Bulldogs to meet arch rivals

by Greg Upshaw

McPherson's first home game last Saturday saw the Bulldogs slipping past a tough, fired up St. Mary of the Plains team. The Bulldog's offense, starting out slow and sluggish, was plagued by some penalties. But they went on to rack up 241-yards and the 12-7 win.

The game was a hard-hitting contest from start to finish. Here's how the scoring went: Quarterback Johnnie Rutledge darted in from 26-yards out late in the first quarter off the option play. Then half way through the second quarter, running back Darren Staton took a hand-off from Rutledge and went in from five-yards out to score.

The Bulldogs failed on both of the conversion attempts, and that left the score at halftime 12-0.

Early in the second half, the 'Dogs made two more threats to break the game wide open, but were held by the St. Mary defense. Late in the third quarter, St. Mary scored on a one-yard run by quarterback Ice. This made the score 12-7.

The opposition then tried an on-side-kick which failed to go the designated 10-yards. They were penalized 10-yards. With the help of their defense, the Bulldogs managed to hold on to the 12-7 lead.

Actually, most of the game's excitement came from the Bulldog's explosive defense. They held the other team to a minus 19-yards rushing. The only big mistake the defense made was pass interference at their own 40-yard line in the fourth quarter. But they turned around and proceeded to push the St. Mary's team back to the original line of scrimmage.

Key players last week on defense included William Reed, who had nine unassisted tackles and seven quarterback sacks.

Frank Freeman had seven unassisted tackles and one quarterback sack. Steve Lockett and John Hall had six and five unassisted tackles, respectively.

The McPherson defense sacked St. Mary's quarterback for a loss of 81-yards in last week's game, and two fumbles were given up by the Cavalier's battered offense.

Coach Gragg believes that, "The defense probably put together their best effort of the season so far in last week's hard fought game."

For the year, the Bulldogs are now 2-1 overall.

They have a perfect conference record going into tomorrow's KCAC conference battle against undefeated Bethany at Lindsborg. Game time is 2 p.m.

Rugged schedule for young team

McPherson's women's volleyball team has been very active during the past couple of weeks and will continue to be so all through October as KCAC action begins.

As for recent action, on Sept. 28 the Bulldog women took on Garden City Jr. College and McPherson Central at Central, splitting a pair of long hard fought matches. First, against Garden City, they came out on the short end of a 5-15, 7-15, 15-5, 4-15 score. But then the Bulldogs came back against Central, winning in five sets, 5-15, 15-11, 8-15, 15-11, 15-9.

Sept. 30 found the team at Wichita's Carroll High School, where McPherson lost two matches to Kansas. Newman and Sterling quickly disposed of the Bulldogs, 15-4, 15-7, but Sterling had to come back to down the stubborn 'Dogs, 11-15, 15-9, 15-9.

Last Tuesday McPherson traveled to Dodge City to meet St.

Mary's and Kansas Wesleyan in a triangular, and Thursday the team went to Sterling to play the Warriors and Bethel. Results of these four contests were not available at press time.

A rugged schedule for the Bulldogs will continue next week as they play Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. First, Monday at 4:30 p.m. Bethany and Tabor will play here. Then, Wednesday, another trip to Wichita is in store, to challenge Friends and Southwestern there. Friday, they will be at Salina to meet Marymount and Kansas Wesleyan.

Coach Gillette expects to finish somewhere in the middle of the KCAC standings, consistently beating the lower 4 or 5 teams and occasionally surprising the conference powers. Tabor and Bethel have to be considered the favorites, says the coach, and most competition will be good.

Regardless of the team's record

Netters continue fine year, shot at State tournament

by Don Stinnette

The women's tennis schedule is already more than half completed, but the most important tournaments lie ahead. Today McPherson will finish a rain delayed match with Bethel here. Tomorrow the team journeys to Hillsboro to play in the ACCK, Tournament. Next Wednesday, Oct. 11, McPherson meets Friends at Wichita, and, Oct. 16, the regular season will end at Marymount in Salina.

Then, on Oct. 18 and 19 comes the KCAC Tournament at Southwestern. If the team as a whole, an individual, or a doubles team place first at that tourney, they will play in the State Small College Tournament on Oct. 27-28, which will be held right here on McPherson's campus!

In recent matches, on Sept. 23 McPherson defeated Tabor 5-4, on Sept. 27 they pounded Sterling 8-1, and last Monday, Oct. 2, were clipped by Hutchinson Jr. College 5-4.

McPherson's women's tennis roster includes, in order of singles play, 1-Karen Burkholder, sr., Buhler, (3 letters), 2-Kathy Burkholder, fr., Buhler, 3-Dianne Wyatt, jr., Hutchinson (2 letters), 4-Gail Coon, soph., Norwich, 5-Diana Layton, sr., Mulvane, 6-Karen Brubaker, sr., La Mirada, Calif., plus Mary Rodgers, jr., Guthrie, Minn., Pam Oxley, jr., Hutchinson, and Diane Miller, soph., McPherson.

Doubles team combinations are: 1-Burkholder and Burkholder, 2-Wyatt and Coon, 3-Brubaker and Miller.

Coach Coppock stated that No.1 singles player Karen Burkholder and the No.1 doubles team of Karen and sister Kathy have a shot at the state tournament.

"Karen," says the coach, has "been playing a good brand of tennis" this year. She played in tournaments during the summer, and practiced doubles play with Kathy, adding strength to their doubles combination.

McPherson would love to have one or more of their players representing them in the state tournament, especially since it will be here on our own campus this year. This is a possibility, as is a high finish for the team in the KCAC.
