FUMBLE IN THE LAST QUARTER GIVES GAME TO KANSAS WESLEYAN

Coyotes After 68-yard Run
Make Only Counter.

FINAL SCORE STANDS 6-0

Canines Easily Outplay Coyotes
But Deciding Break Is Against Them

By recovering a McPherson fumble in the fourth quarter and running 68 yards for a touchdown, Jones, Kansas Wesleyan halfback, scored the only counter in a spirited battle between the Coyotes and the Bulldogs on Friday afternoon at Salina. The final score stood 6-0 in favor of Kansas Wesleyan.

The Bulldogs fought hard throughout the entire contest and easily outplayed the Coyotes but the deciding break was against them. By consistent line plunging the Canines carried the ball on four occasions within scoring distance and then either fumbled or failed to make their downs. S. Keim intercepted a Wesleyan pass in the fourth quarter on the Wesleyan fifteen-yard line only to lose the ball within one yard of the Coyotes' last white line. The Coyotes displayed a brilliant brand of football near the close of the second quarter and put the ball on the McPherson one yard line just as the whistle blew ending the first half.

Bulldogs Largely on Offensive
The Bulldogs were on the offensive during the larger part of the game and gained more than four times as much yardage in scrimmage as did the Coyotes. The Bulldogs line field like a stone wall with the exception of a few minutes at the end of the first half and allowed only 33 yards gain thru it in the twenty-six attempts made by the Wesleyan aggregation. The Bulldogs gained primarily thru center rushes, off-tackle plays, and wide end runs.

Their aerial attack was not wholly successful; however, several passes, Hahn to S. Kurtz and Harrison to Mishler netted twelve and thirteen yards respectively.

Albright, Jones and Captain Hallock played a good brand of ball for the Coyotes. Hallock is a good defensive tackle, Albright at end broke

WIZARD OF ELECTRICITY PERFORMS EXPERIMENTS

Louis Williams Explains by Experiments Many Scientific Phenomena

Combining humor with science, Louis Williams, the Electrical Wizard, Thursday evening in Chapel, gave an interesting lecture interspersed with frequent experiments by which he brought before the audience scientific phenomena.

Experimenting with carbon dioxide, Mr. Williams, poured this gas down a trough containing three lighted candles. As the carbon dioxide reached them the candles went out, one by one. "So necessary to life is oxygen," said Mr. Williams, "that should carbon dioxide be poured into a room, forcing out the oxygen, one's life would be snuffed out, just as were the candles in the trough."

The rest of the evening was filled chiefly with experiments with hydrogen, the gyroscope and high frequency electricity.

Kaw Placed on Activity Ticket.

At convocation October 6, Washburn students almost unanimously placed their stamp of approval on the Kaw plan which places the Kaw, the school annual, on the activity ticket. Under the new system the Kaw will cost but three dollars. Half of this amount will be paid with the second quarter's fees and half with the third quarter's.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES TO BEGIN HERE NEXT SUNDAY

The evangelistic services held annually by the Brethren Church, at McPherson College, will be conducted this year, from November 2-16, by the Rev. M. Clyde Horst.

The Reverend Horst, a graduate of Juniata College at Huntingdon Pennsylvania, is now the pastor of the Brethren Church at Windber, Pennsylvania. He has an admirable record as a pastor, as a member of the district mission board, and as a participant in programs of annual conferences.

This man has been a successful pastor; he has a pleasing personality and is a splendid speaker.

ENTERTAINERS TO BE ON LYCEUM PROGRAM

Tobias-Harper Company To Give
First Number on Lecture
Course.

The first number of the lyceum course will be given at the Opera House Thursday night by the Tobias-Harper Company, which will present a miscellaneous humorous program. This company is composed of two artists, Jay Tobias and Maurice Harper. The program will be composed of comedy sketches, musical numbers and novelty stunts.

Mr. Tobias is a reader, comedian, character artist and general fun-maker. Miss Harper is a violinist, soprano, and an exceedingly clever imitator. These two artists have been associated in lyceum and chautauqua work for several seasons and many of their numbers are original. The program will be enjoyed by everyone who attends.

Tickets have been selling rapidly and a full house is assured. Students wishing to procure tickets should see Prof. R. E. Mohler.

PROMINENT "Y" WORKERS SPEAK AT LOCAL PROGRAM

B. E. Johnson, a "Y" worker from Wichita, Kansas, and F. W. West, general secretary of the state Y. M. C. A., were the speakers at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Wednesday morning. Rev. L. S. Ashley from the city introduced the speakers.

Mr. Johnson spoke of the lives the students are learning to live and the lives they are living here. He said, "We are not here merely preparing to live; we are now living. We must live rightly here." He spoke further of opportunities for service when students pass out from college.

Secretary West spoke on the effects of the work of the Association all over the world. He related the different forms in which it serves — morally, educationally and physically, in all nations. He made forceful the statement that youth now has the long-sought-for opportunity of making stable the principles of Christ in all countries, for all youth of all lands are now combined, working devotedly for these great ends. These two speeches were full of joyous facts and inspiration to the men hearing them.

The Ube, String Trio will give the finest program on the year's activity ticket. All who possibly can attend should not miss it.

STAFF EDITORS PLAN ESSENTIAL FEATURES FOR 1925 QUADRANGLE

Style of Tints and Cuts Discussed at Meeting.

ORIGINAL DUMMY REVISED

Late Developments Require Changes in Layout — New Style View Section Considered.

Essential features of M. C.'s year-book, the 1925 Quadrangle, were definitely decided at a meeting of the staff editors Tuesday evening. The original dummy was then revised to meet latest developments while the tints to be used, size of cuts most desirable and a new type of view section were discussed.

To Have Full Border Design
A full border design will be a feature never before used in the Quadrangle. The tint to be used is still a question although a grayish-green or blue-gray are considered. The tint will also be used on the senior section in a block instead of the conventional border.

Stiff Cover Planned
If proper arrangements can be made the book is to have a stiff cover and sewed binding. Such an annual will outlast the plain wire binding and flexible cover of former years, besides giving volume and beauty in addition. It is the addition of such features as these which will make the Quadrangle a typical college annual on a par with those of other institutions of this size.

Classes Vote Budget
The Senior and Freshman classes voted large budgets to Quadrangle use, thereby setting a precedent which will probably be followed. Such wholehearted support is appreciated by the staff.

Historical Theme Abandoned
As 1927 is Homecoming year for McPherson College and an historical idea may be appropriate for that edition of the Quadrangle, the idea was abandoned by the present staff, and a wheat design will be used instead. According to present plans the wheat is believed to be an excellent mode and several designs have already been made for the border and opening pages embodying this idea.

Snapshots for the Quadrangle should be handed to Harriet Mohler with the name of the contributor attached. Any snapshot that cannot be used will be returned to the owners.

CABINET MEMBERS TELL WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Wednesday morning the girls of the Y. W. C. A. were told just where the Y. W. C. A. money goes. The budget of $277 for this year will be made up by the annual pledges of the girls. Every dollar of this money goes toward the development and betterment of the local organization and for the dues for being a member of the national organization. Miriam Wenrick, treasurer, assisted by the chairman of each individual committee explained concisely the use to which her allotted budget is put. The payment of all pledges as soon as possible will be most sincerely appreciated.

ORGANIZING DISCUSSION GROUPS IN Y. W. C. A.

Madge Sills, Traveling Y. W. C. A. Secretary Is Starting the Work Here.

The Y. W. C. A. is fortunate in having on the campus yesterday, today and tomorrow, Miss Madge Sills, traveling secretary for the smaller denominational schools of the Rocky Mountain Region, who is here to help in organizing the work of the discussion groups.

Leaders are to be selected for each group which will be small enough that each member may take an active part in the discussion. As an outline for the discussions, the book, "How Jesus Met Life Problems," will this morning and this afternoon. Miss Sills plans to meet for several discussions with the same group in organizing the work.

Miss Sills is much interested in present day questions, such as race, the campus problem and all Y. W. C. A. problems. She is holding a number of private conferences each day. A special meeting with the freshmen is planned.

DOUBLE QUARTET GIVES PROGRAM AT PEABODY

In the rendition of a series of musical selections consisting of solos, duets, quartettes, and double quartettes, a group of McPherson College students made a splendid showing Sunday at the Church of the Brethren, near Peabody, Kansas.

A ladies' quartet: Margaret Bow-lus, Elveta Hawley, Ocie McAvoy and Miss Katherine Penner, voice instructor; the McPherson College Male Quartet: Samuel B. Kurtz, Harold Barton, Herkie Wampler, and Clement Haldeman, and the accompanist, Winston Cassler, left McPherson early Sunday morning for the Church of the Brethren, a few miles northwest of Peabody, Kansas, where the evangelist, Rev. A. L. Patrick, an M. C. student, is holding revival meetings, under the direction of the pastor, Frank Howell, also a student here.

The main feature of the day was the rendition of a program by the double quartette, which gave in song the story of "The Prodigal Son."

The church was crowded to capacity and no doubt each one present received an inspiration and a new challenge to face life fairly and squarely.

VOTE GOES FOR JOINT CONFERENCE AT ESTES IN REGIONAL COUNCIL

Enumerate Reasons for Favoring Combined Session.

DECISION IS NOT FINAL

Southwestern Y. W. C. A. Opposed—Decision Goes to National Committee.

Shall the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. have a joint conference at Estes Park next summer, was one of the important questions discussed at a joint session of the Rocky Mountain Division Regional Council of these two organizations held in Topeka October 17, 18 and 19. This council, by a majority vote, made a favorable decision regarding the matter; However, this action was not final. The Southwestern Division of the Y. W. C. A., whose approval is necessary before the plan can become a reality, voted against the joint conference a short time ago. The question has been referred to the National Executive Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Reasons for Decision Given
The leaders at Topeka felt that a joint conference is desirable for the following reasons:

1. It would promote greater national student movement through the co-operation afforded.
2. Better co-operation between the two organizations on the campuses would result.
3. College men and women should learn to think together.

Other Business Settled

Among other items of business considered it was decided that the Region would again support the Student Friendship Fund. Lester F. Eisel of Hastings, Neb., was elected Regional Council chairman for the Y. M. C. A. The question of combining the present Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. magazines into the Council of Associations was also discussed. Plans for the 1925 Estes Conference were started. The following speakers will be the big men at the assembly: Stitt Wilson, Van Dusen, Kirby, Page and Curry.

Le Roy Doty, local Y. M. C. A. president, and president of the state organization, represented Kansas at the conference.

WITS BEING SHARPENED FOR FORENSIC CONTEST

Large Number Are Trying for Debate Team — Race Promises To Be a Close One.

If interest in any sign of success McPherson College will have a winning debate team this year. With the tryout less than a month away, wits are being sharpened and material gathered for what promises to be some of the most fiercely fought forensic battles that M. C. students have ever witnessed.

The list of names in Coach M. A. Hess's little "Red Book" is continually growing and at least twenty have signified their intention of trying for forensic honors. With an equal chance for each contestant to show his ability and with the great amount of talent already shown in the Debate Club the personnel of the team is in doubt.

Of those trying out eight are freshmen and three are women. Rock and Jones, two of last year's team are among the contestants and will make strong bids for places on the team.

Schools are growing away from the idea that the school paper should be only a collection of jokes and gossip. They should be written with the consideration that everyone doesn't know everyone else and what seems funny to you may be a serious matter to another.

Low-Brow Grins and Bears It But Ford Owners Are in Ecstasy

A flash of vivid color — blue — orange — green, and a burst of sweet music! "What?" eagerly ask the budding ornithologists, "a peacock, a painted bunting?" Or from the student of folk-song, "Can it be a gaily dressed gypsy singing a lilt-ling Roman melody?" But the low-brow student of the gasoline drinking buggy hopelessly grins and shakes his head. "That fool Ford of Krehbiel's and Rowland's," he mutters, and puts his fingers in his ears. For only to the fond owners can the curious jumble of wave vibrations of a holler factory and a blacksmith shop be termed music.

However, there can be no doubt as to the owners' evident enjoyment. With their heads drooping through holes in the floorboard, with one hand clutching their struggling head-gear, and the other hand hanging wildly to the side of the careening car, but with faces lighted by cherubic smiles of utter ecstasy, they pursue their way down our own Gorduroy avenue.

Clingety clang! Boom baig! Whoopee! floats back from the bridges. The low-brow with knaw shakes his head again, withdraws tired fingers from tortured ears, blinks dazzled eyes and groans, "But the thing seems to get there just the same." And the unusual part of the whole thing, it does.

If there is anything stiff about the Spectator this week it is because our fingers were top numb to make it otherwise, the thermometer seems to have stood at absolute zero most of the time in The Spectator office.

POLITICS

An election time draws nearer some grow more certain that fighting Bob is the man for the place, others adhere to silent Cal, still others are firm in their convictions about John, the statesman, and possibly a few are arguing for the anti-evolutionist.

Whether we have inherited or acquired our allegiance to any particular party, and if we are still ignorant of how we will vote, it will be enlightening to read the tabloid survey of the parties, compiled by the World Tomorrow, to be found in the reading room of the Carnegie Library.

This survey of the eight parties putting forth presidential candidates briefly states their platforms, economic programs, international relationship and civil liberties theories, agricultural and educational plans, their attitude toward prohibition and electoral reforms, and short discussions of the candidates and their records.

We told you so. Last week 400 Spectators were placed in the hall for $50 paid subscribers. Some of you didn't get yours. There were no extra copies printed. Don't let some one else get your copy next time, and don't take the one that belongs to someone else.

THE NEXT WAR

How do the Allies regard the war question? In these countries the militaristic classes are confident that there will be another war. It is a common sight in France and Italy especially to see soldiers marching through streets on their way to training camps. France has 400,000 more men in arms today than in 1913. There is a spirit of bitterness and hatred which will cause trouble if not checked.

However, the persons who will resist war are the common people. They are the ones who are suffering and working that the present war debt may be paid. The wages and living conditions of the common people in these countries are deplorable. England has twenty-five per cent less trade than before the war; one-third of her people are living on the starving line; and one-third of the income goes to pay war debts. Think what this means when many receive only fifteen dollars a week.

Germany is willing to make reparations for her sin, but cannot pay the debt in money alone. This means that frequent adjustments must be made.

There is only one logical way to avoid another war. America, with these countries, must co-operate in a peace plan, making necessary adjustments, and settling their difficulties by arbitration in the League and World Court.

The make-up editor gets the bouquet this time. A critic fears we are spending too much time on the appearance of the paper. Congratulations, Sam.

Student Opinion

GOOD SPORTS

As a casual observer we are compelled to arrive at several conclusions as to what entirely too many of our fellow students consider the qualifications of a good sport. We base the following conclusions on facts that have been forced upon us by their very conspicuousness.

According to the views held by those fellow students, to give specific instances, the good sport of the classroom is the obliging person who always has his notebooks, syllabus, and so forth, ready for immediate perusal or duplication by his less ambitious acquaintances. In the dormitory she is the girl who will come to the fire escape door at a late hour to assist late arrivals to follow the path of least resistance to their respective rooms.

So it goes, the person who meets with approbation of many is the one who will assist them in postponing the revealing of their ignorance and laziness and help them in breaking laws.

Must this idea persist? Must we continue to be afraid to stand for our convictions? Many of us privately condemn and publicly condone those actions, lacking the courage to unite in forming a public conscience, the most essential factor in remedying the evil. People will be law breakers so long as there is group approval of breaking the law. Group approval is a strong motive power. It is up to the group to rout out this erroneous conception of a good sport and change it in the minds of every student to its real meaning; the person who plays the game squarely.

A CAMPUS BEAUTIFUL

Sometimes we wonder as we look around the campus whether our students are used to living in houses with lawns around them. Anyway, some of us do not seem to know that a place where people live, regardless of its beauty or lack of it, should be kept clear of rubbish and as neat as possible. Our campus, for the most part, is beautiful, but a number of unnecessary paths and car tracks going in all directions, tin cans and paper are beginning to make it look more like a back yard than a college campus. A visitor might think we spent all our time eating confections by the number of wrappers outside the bookstore door, on the walk leading to the library, and many other places. Of course our campus will bear improvements, but as it is, it is beautiful, and with a little thoughtfulness we can keep it so. It is the home of most of our students, and we appreciate order and attractiveness about our home.

TELLS OF UNDERGRADUATE JOURNALISM IN ENGLAND

The Varsity (University of Toronto) asked Gerald Sparrow, one of the members of the visiting Cambridge debating team, for an article dealing with student journalism in Oxford and Cambridge.

Wrote M. Sparrow: "You ask me, sir, for my impressions of University journalism in England. I pause to invent those impressions....."

"Now undergraduates in England are divisible into four divisions: 1. Hearty men who row and excel in athletics. 2. Lugnubrious men who are learned and excel in exams. 3. Ordinary men.

Finance Director, Although Circumspect, Is Caught

"Yes" said the director of finances to himself, "my game needs a little polish, and Monday night would be the auspicious time." Probably none of his little charges would be there, as the wild ones would still be tired from Sunday, and the tame ones still feeling the effect of Sunday's sermons, and thus his venture would escape embarrassing report. So he went, with mingled nonchalance and circumspection, to the heavy-lad room where indoor golf is played with sixteen ivories, and entered. But horrors! On the bench by the door sat the Bulldog line coach, and he knew that his trip would not go unheralded. Both say now that they went to catch others. They succeeded.

4. And undergraduates.

"Now the undergraduates who run the weekly papers - there are no dailies - are, again, either (a) Aesthetes, who write the reviews and editorials, and (b) Funny Men, who fill in the intervening spaces.

"The papers at Oxford and Cambridge are private enterprises. At each University there are two stable journals - one representing University thought and another Varsity thoughtfulness.

"At Cambridge, The Review is the organ of Orthodoxy and The Granta the Home of Heresy.

"The Oxford and Cambridge press is a sensitive machine of public opinion and affords pleasure to those who write - and even to those who read."

— The New Student.

FROSH TESTED IN SILENT READING AND COMPOSITION

Freshmen disclosed their ability in a test given to them a short time ago, the results of which have just been learned. Girls ranked the higher, only one boy being among those making the highest scores. The rate for the silent reading test resulted in an almost perfect curve that should satisfy even the most ardent adherent to the famous bell-shaped curve.

A five-minute test for silent reading and composition was given, silent reading being scored on rate and comprehension. The rate median was $9, the comprehension median 29. The composition test consisting of problems in punctuation, structure and diction, verb usage and grammar scored an average of above 60 per cent, the highest being $8 per cent. Paul Blienkestaff, Mabel Beyer, Ruth Kurtz, Beulah Peters and Evelyn Richards made the highest scores.

FRESHMEN CHOOSE LEHMAN AS PERMANENT PRESIDENT

John Lehman was elected permanent president of the Freshman Class in their business meeting Friday morning. The other officers chosen at that time are: Vice-president, Earl Reed; secretary, Elverta Hawley; treasurer, Raymond Trostle; cheer leaders, August San Romani and June Ellis.

PRESIDENT KURTZ GIVES LECTURES OVER WEEK-END

President D. W. Kurtz, as usual, has a busy week-end giving lectures in Kansas and Colorado. Friday evening he spoke to the Bankers' Association in Wichita, Kan., on "European Conditions and the Dawes Plan." Saturday he delivered an address at Bennington, Kan., before a Sunday school association, and from there he went to Colorado where he gave several lectures Sunday and yesterday at Wiley and McClave.

NEW CHURCH BUILDING TO BE INCLOSED BY JANUARY

To have the basement completed and equipped ready for Sunday school work by January 1 is the goal toward which the workmen on the new Brethren Church are striving. Plans are under way to hold the primary department sessions in their new home after that date. A crew of about a dozen bricklayers are making rapid progress in the erection of this beautiful new addition to M. C.'s campus. If weather conditions continue favorable the building committee expects to have the edifice inclosed in two months. Splendid response has been received to the effort to secure contributions for the proposed memorial windows. So far, five of these windows have been definitely subscribed. The Ladies' aid society is contemplating the contribution of another. The men of the congregation are determined not to be outdone by their wives and have decided to duplicate the action of the society. The committee is hoping to have nine such windows subscribed before time for their installation.

GIVE WAFFLE BREAKFAST

Dean and Mrs. H. J. Harnly graciously entertained the Junior-Senior men's Sunday school class at a waffle breakfast Sunday morning at their home. Dr. Harnly is the teacher of the class.

Exchanges

By decision of the members of the K. club, Student Council and Sacems of K. U., all men on the Hill may shave their chin-whiskers but the moustaches are to grow until a game is won or the football season is over. The Seniors, Council, and K men are to carry paddles all week. The colors are to stay up until after Homecoming.

Upon the Ottawa Campus stands an old gymnasium. Long ago the students there avowed they would burn the old structure with the coming victory over Baker, their old rival. Twice in the fourteen games between the schools, the teams have battled to a standstill, but never has the Ottawa team won, hence the crumbling edifice still stands.

A finding course is introduced this year, in the department of physical and chemical sciences at Kansas State Teachers College. The course is primarily for the benefit of boy students in the Junior high school and enables them to find their calling before the end of their high school training. It will tend to create a greater supply of qualified men fitted to teach some particular vocational course or allow the young man to go out into the field of industry and follow a paying occupation at an earlier age, is the opinion of Prof. J. A. Yates.

A new method of practice writing for students of the Kansas University department of Journalism has been adopted. This provides for the sending of groups of these students to various cities during week-ends or on special occasions to work on city dailies. "This gives the advanced students a chance for work for experience," says Prof. Flint.

My QUADRANGLE?
With all due apologies to—we are hoping each student realizes at least a portion of the importance and value of this year's Quadrangle. We cannot appreciate our annual as we will years hence when our college work and fun will be memories. Then the Quadrangle will be a most valued and cherished record of our school life.

The pictures of formal college life will be duly recorded, but the amount of fun recorded depends on you. It will be impossible for one person or a small group of persons to take a sufficient number of snap shots of the whole student body for the Quadrangle. If you have a kodak, use it; if not, be sure that some member of your class or the picnic or hiking group has one before you start out for a good time. Choose the best from your snaps and drop them in the snap shot box in the hall in Sharp Administration building. Write your name on the back and those not used will be returned to you. Do your bit with the Bulldog spirit.

CONDUCT INTERNATIONAL CHESS GAME BY RADIO

The first international intercollegiate radio chess match will be played by Haverford and Oxford late in November. American colleges have contested several times by means of radio, but this will be the opening battle between an American and an English college.

Two stations will transmit the moves on each side of the Atlantic. All work is being done by amateurs. G-2NM and G-2SZ will operate from England on wave lengths of 80 and 120 meters. 3-BVN, the Haverford College station, and 3-OT, the private station of a Haverford Sophomore located at Ambler, Pa., will transmit the American moves on a reserved wave length of 120 meters.

The game will be a test of long-distance, short wave length amateur transmission as well as a contest between rival chess players.

FORD BATTERIES

Ford Batteries possess three outstanding points of superiority to other batteries being marketed for Ford cars, namely—CAPACITY, ABILITY and LIFE. Its capacity is 6 volts, 80 amp. hours and has 13 plates as against 11 in most all others for Fords.

This gives it the ability to turn the engine over faster and for a longer period of time making it much easier to start in cold weather. It holds its charge better, which lengthens the life of the battery and the materials, as well as the workmanship, used are of the very best. See the one in our window which is cut in cross sections and you will be convinced of its superiority.

S. O. S. BRINGS RESULTS — BOBS ARE IN MAJORITY

Ads in The Spectator bring results. Shortly after the Spectator came out last week the following article came in:

"Complying with the request of last week's Spectator, a census was taken of the bobbed and unbobbed heads among the girls of M. C. It was found that fifty-seven per cent have already parted with their crowning glory and forty-three per cent remain 'unshorn'."

Without further parley or question those still in possession of their tresses must now take the back seat. The peculiar part about it is that, speaking literally, they have been occupying the front seats.

Smile a While

"Archimedes," read the pupil, "leaped from his bath, shouting 'Eureka! Eureka!'" "One moment, James," said the teacher; "what is the meaning of Eureka?" "Eureka means, I have found it." "Very well; what had Archimedes found?" James hesitated for a moment, then ventured hopefully, "The soap, mam."

Margaret — The hotel clerk was so flattering.

Ruth — Why?

Margaret — Think of it — he wrote suite 16 after my name on the register.

"Where did the car hit him?" asked the coroner.

"At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," replied the medical witness.

And the burly foreman rose from his seat. "Man and boy, I've lived in these parts for fifty years," he protested ponderously, "and I never heard of that place."

Little Bobby, who had been taken into the country for a day's outing, saw a spider spinning a web between two tall weeds. "Hey, Pop," he yelled, "come over here and see this bug putting up a wireless."

An old maid said to a neighbor: "I always feel safe when there's a man in the house."

"Well, dear," said the malicious lady, "there's no reason why you shouldn't."

Among the Alumni

Reunion in Topeka

The group of former M. C. students who attended the State Teachers' Meeting at Topeka, enjoyed dining together on Friday, October 17. A committee composed of Marguerite Muse, P. Roy Brummell, and Myrl Curtis arranged for the dinner which was given at the Chamber of Commerce.

Roy Brummell, toastmaster, extended a hearty welcome to all. Prof. J. A. Blair, who represented the College directly, brought news of this year's progress at M. C. Toasts were also given by Marguerite Muse, A. B. '22, Golda Zook A. B. '21, Louis Bowman, A. B. '21, Claude Wilson, A. B. '19, Earl Watkins, A. B. '18, Howard Engle, A. B. '21, and Foster Hoover, A. B. '22. Each speaker emphasized the truth that M. C. spirit is being spread over the world by loyal alumni who are doing their best in various lines of work.

As this was the day of the Washburn-McPherson football game everyone felt an unusual thrill of patriotism for McPherson College. This spirit was expressed in cheers for the Bulldogs.

M. C. Alumnus Making Good

W. Ellis Watkins, B. S. '23, who spent the past year in working out his master's degree at Manhattan, recently accepted a position as flour chemist for the National Biscuit Company of New York City. Mr. Watkins is the only flour chemist which the company employs. He has charge of that department in thirty-six factories and in twelve bakeries, thus holding a position of no small responsibility.

Bulldogs To Play First Game With Friends on Wichita Grid-iron Friday

The Bulldogs will for the first time this season invade new fields when they journey to Wichita Friday to play against Friends. The teams appear evenly matched although no definite comparison can be made until after next Friday. The result of the McPherson-Kansas Wesleyan game does not reveal the Bulldogs actual strength.

With an additional week's practice and the regular line-up going at full strength the Bulldogs will work hard to raise their standing in the conference and beat old man jinx in this first battle with a new foe. The Bulldogs will go to Wichita to beat the Quakers.

up some Bulldogs plays behind the line of scrimmage, and Jones at halfback played a consistent brand of ball in addition to scoring the winning counter.

Canines Show Fight

For the Bulldogs the Keim brothers at tackles played a mighty part on both offense and defense. S. Keim blocked the kick in try for extra point. After a week's absence on account of injuries "Big Jim" Ellwood was back in uniform with his fighting Bulldog spirit. Captain Hahn played his usual superior game at fullback. Every member of the team including the substitutes that were sent into the game played hard but were not able to overcome the six point lead.

Is First Game Lost to Coyotes

This is the first time in four years that the Coyotes have been able to overcome the Bulldogs in football. The Wesleyan rooters seemed very much aware of that fact by their merriment. A group of loyal rooters from McPherson accompanied the M. C. team and gave them their hearty support.

BULL PUPS PLAY THIRD TIE GAME AGAINST HIGH SCHOOL

The McPherson College Bull Pups played the McPherson High School warriors to a 6-6 tie on the local gridiron Thursday. During the first half of the game the seconds outplayed the high school and secured a touchdown in the second quarter with W. Lehman recovering a fumble made by a high school player behind the M. C. goal line. In the second half the high school battlers came back strong and outplayed the Pups, securing a touchdown in the third quarter by an aerial attack. Although threatening the Pups' goal line for a second touchdown the high school lacked the punch to put the ball over the last white line. When the final whistle blew the ball was near the middle of the field in possession of the high school.

Every member of the seconds played well with Hutchinson and M. Carlson especially playing a stellar brand of ball. For the high school Switzer, Colburn, Carlson, and Webb were the outstanding players. The friendly rivalry between the local high school and the college seconds has resulted in two tie football games during the last three years. Two years ago the game ended in a scoreless tie.
