EAVTY

God, in his infinite wisdom, has placed before us Horizons of beauty, of inspiration and of idealism, each beckoning us onward to a fuller realization of life.

In telling this story it is our hope to picture some of those Horizons we have seen during the year just past.

The first of these to encounter as we come to college is the beauty of our campus as it radiates the spirit of Life and Light.

To those who are not actively in contact with McPherson College, may this book widen their Horizons and give them a greater appreciation of the school's contribution to youth; and to those whose daily life has been centered about the campus during the year, we hope to keep for them a permanent record of the Horizons they have seen, reached for and achieved.

The
of

TRENGTH

To the faculty members and to the students of McPherson College, we dedicate this, the 1930 Quadrangle, for through them we have gained power that drives us on to the achievement of our goals, and they have placed, beyond, broader Horizons which we strive to reach.

It is the purpose of the College to widen the Horizons of its students, equipping each so that he may be better able to live well, serve better, and display a noble character in a colorful and complex world.

The friendships we have made among the faculty members and the students have brought us in contact with new ideals, noble purposes, and high aspirations, which have strengthened us in our effort to attain the widening Horizons as we build our foundations for later life.

INSPIRATION

To inspire and to give us enthusiasm on our journey through the college year we must achieve success and reach some of the goals we set out yonder on our Horizon at the beginning of the year.

The pigskin across the line, the basket ball through the hoop, the tape broken by a runner, or a swift serve across the net, bring forth a cheer for our Alma Mater as we succeed in our endeavor.

As we realize our visions of victory in debate or oratory, a musical program, a dramatic production, a Spectator edition, or a "Y" activity, we feel an impelling force which pushes us on and upward to those Horizons beyond our immediate college career. The inspiration received from our victories and failures helps us to sail on smoothly to the harbor of our reward.

ELAXATION

Having dreamed, haven striven, and having accomplished, we now relax and look up and laugh. Thus the fourth side of our Quadrangle is complete, and upon this square we stand and look out at our receding Horizons that have been pushed back by our visions, our efforts, and our achievements, and we welcome the reward of well-earned rest.

As we live again the year of 1929-30 in our memories we will cherish the thoughts of those happy hours when our minds were free from cares and books, and we gave them wings on which they flew through the gate-way of recreation into the wholesome atmosphere of our college frolics.

It is here that we feel free to relax and to display our true individual personality, the development of which is the aim of our widened Horizons.

BEAUTY

All the beauty on the campus is not confined to trees, shrubs, and buildings, but many a young fellow has feasted his eyes on a passing co-ed, on her way to class, hoping that perchance she will look his way and respond to his winsome smile.

BRETHREN CHURCH

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

—Psalms 46:1.

SHARP HALL

A little leaven leaveth the whole lump.

—Galatians 5:9.

HARNLY HALL.

*Science and art belong to the whole world,
And before them vanish the barriers of nationality.*

—Goethe.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY

All that mankind has done, thought, gained, or been; it is lying as in magic preservation in the pages of Books. They are the chosen possession of men.

—Carlyle

GYMNASIUM

*Worth, courage, honor, these indeed
Your sustenance and birthright are.*

—Stedman.

ARNOLD HALL

*Man was made when Nature was but an apprentice,
But woman when She was a skilled mistress of the art.*

—Dekker.

FAHNESTOCK HALL

*God gives us men. A time like this demands
Strong minds, great hearts, true faith and ready hands!*

—Holland.

KLINE HALL.

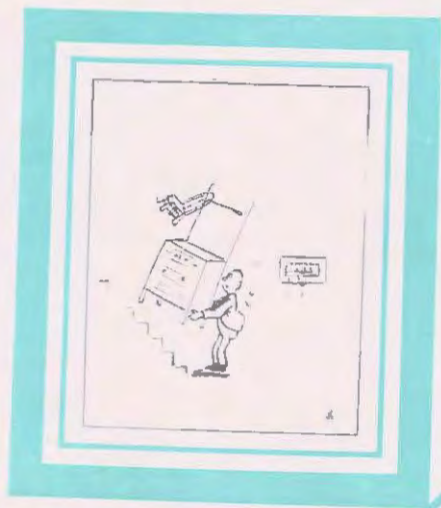

*True love's the gift which God has given
To man alone beneath the heaven.*

—Scott.

STRENGTH

A strong mind and a weak back are not found in the same person at McPherson for it is the lot of the student to be expected to exert some physical effort along with his mental activities. The straightening up of a stacked room may call for a piano mover's ability and skill.

VERNON FRANKLIN SCHWALM, A. B., A. M., Ph. D.
President of the College

The future of our civilization depends on the vision, the attitudes, and the ideals of leadership of tomorrow. If the character of that leadership is one of self-interest, class discrimination, exclusive nationalism and racial hatred, the future will see a repetition of the holocaust of 1914. But if that leadership embraces all humanity within the scope of its interests and devotion, we may look for an abolition of some of the curses of mankind. Nothing short of an altruistic, international humanitarianism is sufficient for the leadership of tomorrow. To supply this leadership is the stupendous task that is laid on the shoulders of the colleges and universities of our day.

Young men and women often come to college shut in by inexperience, by provincialism, by prejudice, by self-interest, by national pride and race hatred. To push back these horizons is one of the tasks of the college. If the teachers of these youths are world citizens, earnestly devoted to truth and the welfare of humanity, the student will find his horizons pushed back one by one until he, too, embraces all humanity within the scope of his interests.

V. F. SCHWALM.

THE OVALDRANGLE

The science department offers to the student practical information concerning the earth and the life it sustains, and links up science with the progress of man in his endeavor to discover new truth. The department merits its popularity by its efficient instructors, practical courses, modern equipment, and adequate laboratories which give an insight into the workings of nature and its application to constructive thinking and living.

J. WILLARD HERSEY, B. S., Ph. D.
Professor of Chemistry

Dr. Hershey gained international recognition by making the largest artificial diamond in the world, and by his pleasant understanding personality has won the respect of all of his students.

Prof. Nininger's main hobby is meteorites and this hobby has led him to spend several months in Mexico as well as travel all over the United States in search and study.

H. H. NININGER, A. B., A. M.
Professor of Biology and Curator of the Museum

J. L. BOWMAN, A. B., M. S.
Professor of Mathematics and Physics

The subjects of mathematics and physics are ones that are usually dreaded by most students, but Prof. Bowman, in his quiet way, has the ability to present these sciences in an interesting and fascinating way.

Dr. Harnly is a living example of his teaching. By applying the laws of health that he teaches he is today the oldest living college professor in Kansas doing active work with the vigor and vim of a young man.

H. J. HARNLY, B. S., A. M., Ph. D.
Professor of Physiology, Biometrics
and Geology

THE OVALDRANGLE

In the courses in Economics, Sociology, Education and Psychology the student is taught how to fit himself into society, to make his contribution, and to become immune to the wiles of high pressure methods of modern business, while just across the hall the Commerce department trains the prospective salesman the technique of breaking down a stubborn defense and selling a customer something that he does not want.

J. J. YODER, A. B., LL. D.
Professor of Social Science

Dr. Yoder, with a wide and varied experience as a teacher, traveler, and business man, has a keen insight into the economic and social side of life.

Prof. Blair in his eloquent manner instructs the would be school teacher in the tricks of the trade and he is largely responsible for the placing of many McPherson College graduates in teaching positions.

J. A. BLAIR, A. B., A. M.
Professor of Education and Psychology

Snap quizzes seems to be Prof. Bohling's middle name for that is about all that the commerce students talk about. At any rate he gets results and with his getting he secured a wife.

E. R. BOHLING, A. B., A. M.
Professor of Commerce

The rattle of typewriters in Commercial hall any afternoon is evidence that Miss Hovis is busy training wayward fingers to see the letters on a blank keyboard at the rate of about fifty words a minute.

ALBERTA HOVIS
Instructor in Typewriting and Shorthand

THE QUADRANGLE

The student who wants vocational training can find it at McPherson. On second floor of Harnly Hall one is greeted with the aroma of a dinner in preparation, while the Agriculture laboratory, on third floor, smells like a creamery or hatchery and the art department, on the floor above, has the odor of paints. The manual arts shop, in the basement of Fahnestock Hall has plenty of noise.

MILDRED THUROW, B. S., M. S.
Professor of Home Economics

Miss Thurow is looked to as the model for dress and manners. Her classes in cooking and dress-making equip the prospective housewife or Home Economics teacher with useful and practical knowledge.

Prof. Boone keeps a well ordered shop and every year turns out expert cabinet makers to fill the growing demand for McPherson College trained high school Manual Training teachers.

G. N. BOONE, A. B., M. S.
Professor of Industrial Education

Professor Mohler, along with his duties as dean, teaches several classes in the art of agricultural engineering and he proves the soundness of his theories by applying them to the college farm in a way that it makes money.

R. E. MOHLER, A. B., M. S.
Professor of Agriculture

Miss Colline has made the art department a real asset to the college in the way of interesting students in art and training them to produce really beautiful articles.

CLARA COLLINE
Instructor in Art

THE QUADRANGLE

The History department attempts to lay a basis for all knowledge and make the past live in the minds of the students of today in such a way that we may better appreciate our lot and profit by the successes and failures of our ancestors. The Bible and Philosophy department has as its ultimate aim the enrichment of personal experiences in Christian faith.

RAY C. PETRY, A. B., A. M.
Assistant Professor of History

Professor Petry, himself an outstanding scholar, has won for himself great respect among the students of the college. He carries his vim and vigor into his classes and makes them pulsate with life.

Dr. Schwalm has the interest of the students at heart and is a true friend to anyone who will take him into his confidence. He loves student life and enjoys student fellowship.

V. F. SCHWALM, A. M., Ph. D.
Professor of History

J. H. HECKMAN, A. B., B. D., Th. M.,
A. M.
Professor of Theology and Philosophy

Professor Heckman has as his aim the teaching of students in the best things of life. He is vitally interested in the religious life of the campus and is faculty advisor to the Y. M. C. A. and the World Service Group.

Miss Heckethorn attempts to make the library an ideal place to study and is willing to help any student to find the material he needs.

MARGARET HECKETHORN, A. B.
Librarian

THE QUADRANGLE

Ability in the expression of thought is an art that distinguishes the educated person from the uneducated. Skill in expression must be developed and trained, whether it is oral or written, original or interpretative, by an individual or a group, in English or continental language. The patience of Job and the wisdom of Solomon must be combined to properly polish a freshman in four years.

EDITH MCGAFFEY, A. B., A. M.
Professor of English

To appreciate all of the masters' literature is superhuman. To appreciate freshmen themes is superdivine. Miss McGaffey attempts both and remains human. "The prison to which we doom ourselves, no prison is".

Personality plus! Miss Lehman has a radiant smile for everyone, a good story for every occasion, a clever idea for every party. With her, "studies serve for delight, for ornament, and for ability".

DELLA LEHMAN, A. B., A. M.
Professor of English and Expression

LOUIS A. UTRECHT, A. B.
Professor of German and French

Professor Utrecht is the man who makes you "see" a language. Unassuming and quiet, we wonder if knowing many languages hinders him in the use of his own. Perhaps "still waters run deep".

Mrs. Gates' thorough knowledge of the dramatic world keeps her interested in it as an avocation. She has a marvelous faculty for making everyone work, as every Thespian will agree.

MRS. LAWRENCE GATES, A. B.
Instructor in Dramatic Art.

•• THE QUADRANGLE ••

The visitor to fourth floor of Harnly Hall need not be told where the music department is for he will hear the results of the efforts of some would be Fritz Kreisler, Paderewski, or Madame Patti as he struggles for mastery of his instrument or vocal organs. The achievements of McPherson College students in music contests show the music department ranks with the best in the state.

JESSIE BROWN, B. M.
Director of Piano Department

Miss Jessie Brown is seldom heard to speak in public, but she always has a message in the form of piano music for anyone who loves good first class music.

Miss Lingenfelter at the piano is a common sight in chapel and at any musical program. She is called on when a competent accompanist is needed.

FERN LINGENFELTER, B. M.
Instructor in Piano and Public School Music

MRS. ANNA TATE, A. B.
Instructor in Voice

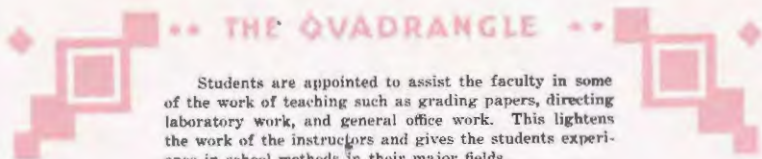

Aside from her regular teaching work, Mrs. Tate directs the work of the quartets, the chorus, and leads singing in chapel. Her biggest project this year was the "Mikado".

Miss Shelley is an artist when it comes to violin music. She is director of the orchestra and every Friday morning finds her practicing with that group preparing them for their appearance in chapel.

MARGARET SHELLEY, A. B., B. M.
Instructor in Violin

Students are appointed to assist the faculty in some of the work of teaching such as grading papers, directing laboratory work, and general office work. This lightens the work of the instructors and gives the students experience in school methods in their major fields.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

The Class of 1930 entered McPherson College in September 1929, being the largest Freshman class registered in the history of the college. We were duly installed. The first few days were given over entirely to ourselves. Time was allowed to acquaint ourselves with our fellow classmates and the members of the faculty. Our first hike was a trip to Brubaker's pasture where we were thoroughly soaked by a Kansas rain-storm. As a class we carry the particular distinction of being the first to wear the traditional "Frosh cap", under the threat of paddles in the hands of awe-inspiring upper-classmen.

A picnic in Anderson's Grove, and the choice of Miss Della Lehman as class sponsor were the outstanding events of our second year. As Sophomores we dared a St. Patrick's Rook Party and quite successfully got away with it.

Very few were lost from our ranks and we came back stronger than ever as Juniors. Our first class undertaking was a picnic at Twin Mounds. In April the traditional sneak day was observed with great success. The class of '29 was banqueted in a Southern flower garden on the third of May.

As Seniors we started the year with renewed enthusiasm. A "kid party" was put on for the Freshmen. Dr. Schwalm's birthday was duly observed. The Senior sneak was taken care of in great style. The fourth year has been greatest of all with Rush Holloway as our leader. We finished strong by presenting to the public the greatest tragic drama ever tackled by a graduating class, St. John Ervine's "John Ferguson".

We leave with you a model of class loyalty and solidarity rarely found in college circles. We leave, also, many unfinished tasks which we trust will be carried on in an even greater way than we were able to do.

THE QUADRANGLE

The Class of 1931 has been the smallest organized group in the school this year, totaling less than thirty in number. We have, under the leadership of Eugenia Dawson, experienced one of our most pleasant and successful college years.

The first social event was a hike and picnic early in the fall. Later, followed a picnic at Salina, on the "senior-sneak day". Then finally, the Junior-Senior Banquet in the Spanish Roof Garden of Hotel Hawley as a tribute to the Class of '30.

Despite the fact of the class being few in numbers, we have been unusually entangled in school activities. Our members have found places of leadership in every aspect of school life.

As we near the end of the year, we begin to realize that we must cast aside our childish ways and assume the traditional dignity that goes with fourth year students. As we approach our senior year with one-sixth of our number holding responsible positions, we, seriously, give ourselves to the task of promoting the "School of Quality".

♦♦ THE QVADRANGLE ♦♦

Faint light—more light—, and then there appeared on the horizon, the blazing sun, the Class of 1932. They called us green, but they were seeing only the grass which covered the world of our natural resources. One hundred and twenty-two enrolled in the first year class, being the second largest Freshman class in the history of the college.

The usual Freshman activities were held several days before the older students returned to school in the fall, which was something new. We wore the precious little Freshman caps until we beat the seniors in football.

In the fall of 1929 we were back for work, our pride and power had grown and our sophomoric abilities were becoming recognized. Guy Hayes was our president. Nothing spectacular has been done, but our members are largely scattered into the various fields of student activity until we are a group quite representative of the college life.

We are looking forward to achievement with the hope that we may have a large part in making and keeping M. C. the "School of Quality".

THE QUADRANGLE

The "Green Wave" which swept onto the McPherson College campus in 1929 was none other than the Class of 1933, one hundred strong. The little red caps were immediately donned to complement the traditional Freshman hue in forming the Yuletide colors.

Under the leadership of Blanch Harris the class was soon brought into the spirit of the "School of Quality". The first year has been an interesting and fruitful one with Freshmen participating in many of the school activities in a large way. The effectiveness of our group has been felt throughout the school even though we lost the football game to the Sophomores.

We experienced the usual routine of orientation well blended with pangs of homesickness last fall, but in due time we became a part of the old institution the same as the other three classes. It is about as hard for us as it is for the Sophomores to understand why we too cannot have a "snack day" as well as the Juniors and Seniors. That is why we cut classes and everything else the day they went.

In spite of our meanness and blunders, we have hidden potentialities. We are eager to grow and draw out the potent threads of life that may now be concealed.

The ordinary student needs a little stirring up occasionally and possibly nothing can do it better than participating in some school activity, especially some intercollegiate contest in which the Bulldogs stage one of their spectacular comebacks and send the opponents home with the little end of the score.

LADIES' QUARTET

For the first time in many years McPherson College has had a Ladies' Quartet. During the past school year, under the personal direction of Mrs. Tate, voice instructor, these young ladies have met with unusual success and an increasing popularity from their first appearance.

Members of this group are the most popular singers of McPherson College. It was made up of: Esther Dahlinger, first soprano, and popular soloist who received her bachelor's degree in voice this spring; Ruth Turner, second soprano, and junior student who won state-wide recognition for both herself and her school in winning the Mid-West Voice Contest at Bethany College this spring; Eugenia Dawson, first alto, popular junior soloist who played a leading part in the "Mikado" this year; and Irene Steinberg, second alto, a senior who has accomplished much in music and received her diploma in that field this year.

They contributed to the deputation work of the college in many good ways. They were an asset to the "School of Quality".

THE QUADRANGLE

The Chorus, organized and directed by Mrs. Anna Tate, is composed of a group of about fifty college students. It is not a select group, but is open to any student who can sing reasonably well, and desires to enter. It seeks to provide a means whereby those who are musically inclined can develop and express themselves more fully in that field. It aims to develop not only in its members, but in those who are privileged to hear it, a keener sense of appreciation for the best music.

In the past, its presentations have largely been operas, or cantatas, and it is the aim of the organization to present at least one, and if possible, two musical programs of this type during the school year. This year, at Christmas time, the chorus presented the Cantata, "Child Jesus", an arrangement of Christmas Carols by J. W. Clokey and H. J. Kirk. The big success of the year however was the opera, "Mikado", presented March 18th. It was regarded by those who have heard and witnessed a large share of the chorus performances in the past years as the best ever presented by the organization. The secret of its success lies in the untiring, efficient, leadership of Mrs. Tate, and to her we give the honor.

The Cecilian Music Club is now three years old at McPherson. The local organization is a part of the national movement which has as its purpose the creation of interest in good music and to keep the music public informed about the new developments in the field.

Membership is open to anyone who is interested in good music and is willing to promote the cause of the club.

Under the leadership of Irene Steinberg the club has enjoyed a successful year. It had bi-weekly meetings on Monday evenings and had programs of value to anyone who wished to learn more about music and its production. The lives of several composers and great musicians were discussed and some evenings were given over entirely to music, either vocal, instrumental, or phonograph. The music faculty gave one program and the junior members were given one evening to show their accomplishments in music. The program that attracted the biggest crowd was given by the Melody Four from Inman, a male quartet who furnished good musical numbers, readings, and humorous selections.

THE QUADRANGLE

To relieve the routine of chapel procedure, the Orchestra occasionally took charge of the Friday Chapel hour and rendered music that pleased the student body.

That orchestra is composed of the students who have musical instruments and who wish to receive practice and participate in ensemble playing.

The untiring effort of Miss Shelley, the director, is largely responsible for the development of the orchestra. Very much improvement could be seen as the group continued to appear on the chapel platform and by the end of the year the college could boast of a well organized, well trained group of musicians.

Every Friday morning at eight o'clock the orchestra met in the chapel and spent the entire hour in study and practice.

The orchestra was called upon to furnish music at several public entertainments and plays and probably the biggest project was to furnish the instrumental music for the opera, "Mikado", which was given by the McPherson College Chorus.

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA

Left to right: Van Blazicum, Fiske, Chester, Atiles, Warner, DesBris, Nelson, Ely, Swain, Dahlmeier, Witt, Neales, Beyer, Crabb, Dell, Conner, Rishel, Roll, Mitchell, Shelley, Hamblin, Hopkins.

McPherson College has a wide reputation of possessing one of the most colorful, peppiest, and best organized cheering sections in the state. A very vital portion of a good cheering section is a snappy and peppy jazz band.

The Bulldog Band under the direction of Max Conner has been faithful in aiding the Bulldog cheering section during tense moments at our athletic contests. The band boys were always an added attraction which was greatly appreciated by the spectators. At every home game the band was on hand whether at gridiron or court to get the enthusiasm of the crowd running high before the game started and to keep up the pep during the full playing time. At pep meetings during the fall, held in the gym, the band always added to the effectiveness of the events by helping students to "whoop it up".

The members of the band ably demonstrated their abilities to produce good music, when they gave a program in chapel previous to the Christmas recess which was greatly appreciated by all.

The success of this band has rested largely on the fact that the leader has been persistent in his efforts to keep the players together and give them a weekly work-out.

BULLDOG BAND

Top row—Walker, Falkenrich, Rolf, Conner, Crabbs, Watkins, Beyer.
Middle row—Conner, Kelly, Fleming, Swain, Nogley, Spilman, Seltz.

THE QUADRANGLE

The Varsity Male Quartet started its activities this year with three of the past year's members. They were Ross Curtis, bass, with one year's experience; Walter Fillmore, second tenor, with one year's experience, and Lloyd Diggs, high tenor, with three years' experience on the varsity quartet. After some timely consideration, John Berkebile was selected as baritone.

Months of training and practice under the close direction of Mrs. Tate qualified this group to make its first public appearance on the chapel platform. During the second semester it could usually be depended upon to fill in on any type of musical program. The last two months of school the quartet spent considerable time traveling to neighboring towns on week-end trips for the rendition of lyceum programs. It also helped represent the college in its deputation program during the spring months.

This group shared greatly of the popularity that usually goes with a male quartet in college circles. There seemed to be a constant demand for their services in programs on the campus. Their popularity was not limited to the campus, but spread to the downtown civic and social clubs of the city, where they were often heard before luncheons and dinners of various sorts.

ORATORY

Forensics have held a large place in McPherson College and have contributed toward making it the School of Quality.

This year Miss Lucille Crabb, representing McPherson in the State Peace Oratorical Contest held at Tabor College, Hillsboro, April 17, won second prize with her oration, "Women In Peace". Miss Crabb is the first woman to win a money prize in a State Peace Contest in the seven years of the oratorical association. She is a freshman and has attracted favorable attention with her readings wherever she has appeared on the platform.

John Lehman won second place in the Old Line Oratorical Contest held on our campus March 17. Last year he won the National Peace Contest with his peace oration.

Ward Williams represented McPherson College in the Anti Tobacco Oratorical Contest held at Central College. Williams is a freshman and with the experience that college forensic activities can give him he should develop into a forceful speaker.

The Forensic Club is made up of those students who are interested in debate, oratory, public speaking, or any kind of public expression. It was originally organized for only those who took active part in debate or oratory, but it widened its field so that other students, though not participants in competitive debate or oratory, who were interested in forensics, might become members and take part in the programs.

The club purposes to give opportunity for development in expression and persuasive ability and to discover students who have potential abilities along those lines. The ideal of the club is to interest students in forensics and provide a means through which this interest can be kept alive by sponsoring programs, debates, and oratorical contests. Such a procedure would fill a needed place on the campus and furnish a continuous supply of material for debate teams and oratorical contests. It has been the custom of the club in the past to sponsor bi-weekly meetings in which varied programs of readings, speeches, orations and musical numbers were given.

Under the presidency of Otho Whiteneck, interest seemed to lag and two regular meetings were held during the school year.

FORENSIC CLUB

The forensic activities of McPherson College commanded much attention this year. The Bulldog debaters displayed talent and willingness to work and won high honors for the school.

Professor Hess was again faced with the task of developing a team out of green material, but at the tryouts on November 21st there was keen competition for places on the team and the judges decided that Melvin Landes, John Lehman, Otho Whiteneck, and Ward Williams should represent the college.

This year the question "Resolved: that the nations of the world should adopt a plan for complete disarmament, excepting such forces as are necessary for police purposes" was used by the league.

On February 21st the debate season opened with a victory over Sterling. In the second debate on March 7th the negative team lost to Bethany, but the affirmative won by a wide enough margin to give the Bulldogs a two point victory. On March 21st the Bulldogs won the Northern District of the state by having a three point advantage in a divided debate with Kansas Wesleyan. The State Championship debate on March 29th was lost to Southwestern College.

THE QVADRANGLE

The Student Young Men's Christian Association is a voluntary, self-determining, indigenous, cohesive fellowship on the McPherson campus that is committed to creating and maintaining the attitudes and ideals of Jesus in all the relationships of life, through study, prayer, experimentation, and vicarious living. It is closely connected with and is a part of the Student Movement.

The program this year brought to the campus such personalities as A. J. "Dad" Elliott, Norman Thomas, Frank Wilson, Clark Eichelberger, Margaret Read, Lucille Day, Roy McCullough, Lyman Hoover, William Braisted, and Harold Colvin. The Christian World Education Institute was the outstanding part of the program which came in March.

Campus-wide activities such as an Intramural basketball tournament, a new bulletin board, a new parlor in Fahnstock Hall, an All School Thanksgiving Social, an Open House Party in the Men's Dormitory, and the annual watermelon feed together with many other activities for the orientation of the Freshmen constituted the efforts of the Association to make life richer, deeper and more meaningful for the men. Weekly devotional meetings were regularly held.

The Cabinet met, regularly, with the sponsor, Professor Heckman, in his home, on Wednesday evenings, and was inspired by its study of Hodgkin's "The Way of Jesus".

Top row - Walter Fillmore, Paul Bowens, Milton Early, Harold Crist, Clarence Zink, Kermit Hayes.
Bottom row - Glenn Harris, Lawrence Turner, Emery Metzger, Clinton Trumble, Fred Atolreus, John Lehmann.
Insert - Emery Metzger, President of Association.

The Young Women's Christian Association has been a vital force in the spiritual and social lives of the girls of McPherson College during the past year. Expressing the purpose "to unite in the desire to realize a full and creative knowledge of God", and determining "to have a part in making that life possible for all people" the members have sought, through the association, to better understand Jesus and through following Him, to enrich their spiritual growth.

An Easter breakfast, a Christmas party, a Mother-Daughter Banquet, and Heart Sister Week are the social activities that have gone far in increasing the sense of good fellowship among the girls. Co-operating in many ways the two Christian Associations brought outstanding speakers to the campus during the school year. The Christian World Education Institute in March was the largest of its kind ever undertaken by a student group on this campus.

A close Cabinet fellowship was built around weekly Wednesday evening meetings and Friday Morning Watch. Active interest on the part of the women of the college attests to the success of the Y. W. C. A. this year.

THE QUADRANGLE

The World Service Group purposes to intensify the devotional life of the campus and to create an active interest in missions and definite Christian work. It welcomes into its fellowship student ministers, volunteer students, and those interested in Christian service. Though small, the Group has had a place in the campus life. The drive for funds to send medicine kits to Mexico and raising money for the Crumpackers on the China mission field were two of the projects taken up this year. The deputa-tion work of the school is sponsored by this organization. One of the outstanding events of the year was the presence of Mrs. Induk P. Kim, a native Korean Christian, on our campus February twelfth. She stirred the student body in a way that few speakers have done, bringing to us a live message of the conditions and needs of her people.

The Chemistry Club endeavors to interest the students in Chemistry by giving information and making a practical application of the principles and processes of science to every day living.

Under the leadership of Dr. Hershey, head of the Chemistry Department, the club had bi-weekly meetings throughout the year. The biography of several eminent chemists and their contributions to science were studied and discussed. General discussions about chemistry in industry were carried on in which such subjects as the atom, explosives, paint, rubber, and medicine, were studied. The meetings were made especially interesting by occasional demonstrations of some kind, probably the most interesting of which was the method of making artificial diamonds. One program near the end of the year was given over entirely to demonstrations in which the chemistry assistants made chemical flower gardens, froze mercury, produced dazzling colored flames, and many other interesting effects and at the same time kept the room sounding like the testing department of an ammunition manufacturing plant.

In the early spring the club gave a party in the Y. W. C. A. room and later the entire first year chemistry class made a trip to Hutchinson to study the industries of the city.

THE QVADRANGLE

The Thespian Club is a part of the wide-spread movement interested in raising the level of dramatic appreciation and production by discovering the best dramatic talent in the school and by giving worthwhile, artistic productions. There is a large field open to those who can qualify for this type of work. Members of the organization are expected to become acquainted with the field so that they may aid development in the communities which they enter later.

Membership is gained through tryouts or by unanimous election of the members in recognition of meritorious dramatic work. Newly initiated members usually feel that the merit comes in surviving the initiation.

Besides the annual three-act play, the club sponsored Miss Della Lehman's presentation of "Ramona" in Spanish and Indian costume.

Mrs. Lawrence Gates, coach, and Bernice McClellan, president, directed the production of "The Queen's Husband", by Robert Emmet Sherwood. The play is a satire upon royalty, a humorous production of high dramatic value. New scenery was made for it by the club, which can be used for future productions in the school.

MISS LORA TROSTLE, MATRON

"Girls! Girls! What does this mean? Don't you know it's after ten-thirty"? This is an expression that is often heard when Matron is forced to make a midnight call to remind some group of girls that the other occupants of the building are not especially enjoying the little program that happens to be in progress in one of the rooms.

This is just one phase of the contribution which Matron is making to McPherson College. It is perhaps the least desirable and yet a necessary part of her work.

Matron reveals her true self when she is playing the part of "Mother" to the girls who are entrusted in her care. She understands the needs and problems of each girl and usually has a solution for every difficult situation.

Homesickness is soon forgotten when Matron begins to tell those interesting stories of the ones who were here years before and how they had experiences similar to those of the students today and lived through them. She need not read story-books to supply her with material for thought, but she sees stories lived in the lives of those about her. And when one leaves Matron's room it is always with the feeling that it was good to have been there.

Matron's hopeful attitude and her optimistic view of life demands the respect of all who really know her. Her own cares and troubles are kept in the background in her attempt to help others to see only the best in life.

Such is the beautiful character of Matron, which is continually shedding its influence upon the lives of many girls as they come and go.

Athletics

FOOTBALL

During the five years that George Gardner has been coach here, McPherson College athletics have been of the championship kind. Being a mighty athlete who has often tasted of the fruits of excellency, Gardner has had in his own personality a brilliant example to hold up before his athletes. His basketball teams have been as good as any in the state and far superior to any the school produced previous to his time. His track men have been state champions in many lines. The athletes he has trained have gone the limit in receiving honorary positions on mystical teams. Fond memories of great achievement rest with us as he leaves our school this year.

Paul Bowers gave the best of his athletic ability to McPherson College by playing center on the football team for three years. His senior year saw him at his best. He displayed all the pugnacious qualities necessary to good football together with a good sense of sportsmanship.

Emery Windmill, as a Bulldog guard, was able to hold his own against the best trained and heaviest lines in the conference. His greatness was equal in all games, whether winning or losing.

Floyd Barngrover was the substitute that could go in at half-back without slackening the game. He was a fine player with a lot of hard fight.

Herbert Hochstrasser, at end, was nothing less than a disadvantage for his opponents. His speedy, well directed playing terrorized the "enemy" and encouraged his teammates.

The squad as it looked just before going on the field for the last battle of the season, the Swede game.

YE TEAM!!!

Ray Nonken, Bulldog football captain for two consecutive years, was one of the shiftiest half-backs McPherson College ever had. His stellar playing ability, mingled with admirable sportsmanship, has won for him a warm place in the hearts of all students and friends of the college. During his four years here Ray has embodied the very spirit of McPherson College athletics in such a way that he typified our ideal. Those who saw the Sterling game on the golf course will never forget Nonken's long run through the line for a touchdown.

On the field Ray Nonken could do anything from broken field running to throwing a long accurate pass. He has earned, while at McPherson, four letters in football and places on several honorary teams.

Lawrence Sargent developed into a hardfighting end this season with a lot of well-directed punch. In spite of his small size he was one of the biggest men on the team.

Lawrence Barngrover, Freshman full-back, came as a veteran player who developed into one of the best in the conference. His "line-plunging" skill made him famous as a Canine "ball lugger".

Newell Wine was the strength of the Bulldog line. During his second year he attracted more attention than any other lineman, which enabled him to demonstrate the value of clean living, coolness, and hard fighting.

Benjamin Lengel was "just a chip off the old block", one of the many Lengels to make good on the Bulldog gridiron. "Benny" was a forceful guard with a lot of spunk.

Roll call and instructions before practice each evening on the field.

BULL DOGS

BULLDOGS FINISH FOURTH IN KANSAS CONFERENCE

	McPherson	Opponents
Points Scored	120	54
First Downs	99	69
Yards Gained in Scrimmage	1686	1210
Forward Passes	54 for 618 yds.	35 for 430 yds.

The 1929 Football Season was the most successful George Gardner had during his five years at McPherson. The Bulldogs won two of three non-conference games. They won two of five conference games. Of the four games lost two were by one-point margins.

Melvin Miller, the hard-fighting, never-dying Canine quarterback of the 1929 season, finishing his long McPherson College football career by displaying all the qualities of a veteran player. His unparalleled coolness together with his unique ability have made him an object of admiration.

Harvey King was a fine "red-headed" scrapper, who could play guard as well as any other man on the squad. He went in as a substitute when the line lacked "punch".

Byron Swain was the midget Bulldog half-back that had more "scrap" per cubic inch than any other man on the squad. His courage was undaunted. Severe injuries kept "Barney" from taking part in several games.

Elmer Keck, cool, level-headed, Bulldog guard, was filled with strength which he made count for Canine success. He was quiet but all there.

A tense moment in the Swede game in which the Bulldogs make a gain against a stubborn defense.

William Bigham was as fine a football player as McPherson ever had. With "Bill" playing full-back the Bulldogs never failed to make substantial gains. He has another year to give to his Alma Mater.

Clarence Zink was the only Canine gridster to tip the scale beyond the two-century mark. He was as great a guard as he was enormous. Almost single-handed, "Tiny" was responsible for the victory over St. Mary's. He was substituted in case of an emergency.

Reuben Bowman showed a fine spirit, developed through many years of training on a Bulldog squad. This veteran tackle saw plenty of action during his senior year.

Wray Whiteneck was a "gritty" player, a scrappy guard, and a good teammate. He was a hard worker, a faithful trainer and always gave the best that he had for his Alma Mater.

Nonken carrying the ball on an end run against Sterling on a field covered with patches of snow.

BASKET BALL

Melvin Miller, 1930 Bulldog basketball captain, was by far the greatest cager McPherson College ever produced. This veteran stellar center who had played on the Bulldog team for four years has been placed on the All Conference teams three times, All American third team once, and the All American first team, as center, in 1930 as a fitting climax to an enviable career. He was a master of the game and an artist at hitting the hoop when the team met a crisis. He always played a cool-headed game and seemed never to tax the limit of his ability.

Melvin Miller most always got the tip at center, no matter who he jumped against. He was mainly responsible for many of the characteristic rallies near the end of the game that brought McPherson out of the hole and piled up a lead that the opponents could not overcome.

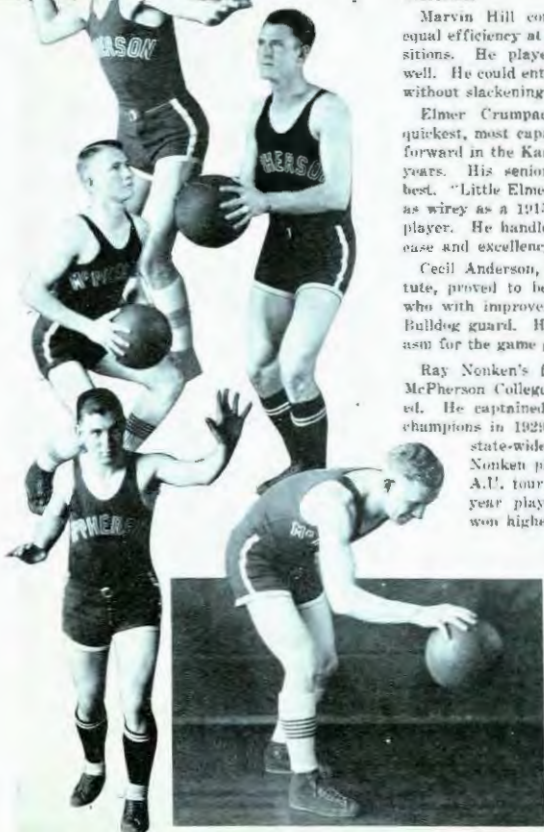

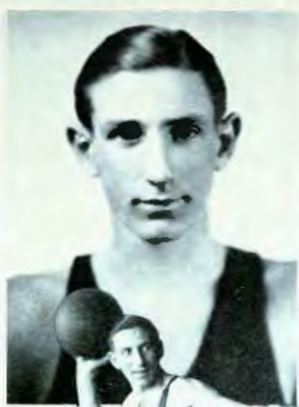

Marvin Hill could be substituted with equal efficiency at center or at forward positions. He played hard and cooperated well. He could enter the game at any stage without slackening the pace of his team.

Elmer Crumpacker was the smallest, quickest, most capable and most dangerous forward in the Kansas conference for three years. His senior year saw him at his best. "Little Elmer", being left-handed and as wiry as a 1915 Ford, was a dangerous player. He handled the ball with unusual ease and excellency.

Cecil Anderson, Freshman guard substitute, proved to be a very capable player who with improvement will become a real Bulldog guard. His interests and enthusiasm for the game got him where he now is.

Ray Nonken's four basketball years at McPherson College will long be remembered. He captained the Kansas conference champions in 1929 and has received much state-wide honorable mention. Nonken played in the National A. A. U. tournament three years, this year playing with the team that won highest honors.

Thrilling basketball! Baker "Wildcats" leading 23 to 8 with twelve minutes to play. Bulldogs begin to settle down and finally hold Baker scoreless while they score eighteen points. Game ended 23 to 26.

CHEERLEADERS

The position of the cheerleaders is one of great responsibility because the "pep" of the school virtually hinges upon it. It is the duty of the cheerleaders to promote "school spirit", which is done through the medium of "pep chapels", bonfires, parades, and various stunts during the intermission at athletic contests. The cheerleaders must direct the enthusiasm and keep the morale of the crowd high during the games. In order to fill this position efficiently, the cheerleaders must have executive ability, insight, and originality. Guy Hayes and Casey Voran were the Bulldog "pep mentors" in 1929-1930.

Harvey King, reserve guard, was a splendid player. He was used often and gave a good account of his abilities as a basketball player.

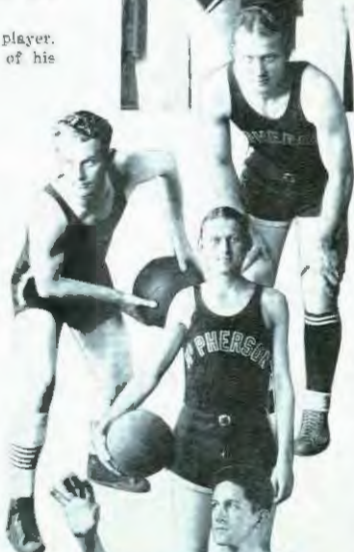

Rush Holloway, a veteran Bulldog cager, found himself to be leading substitute this year. He was as capable as any man on the regular team and could fill any position equally well. It often took his cool, level-headedness to calm the team for proper performance. He has been a model Bulldog sportsman.

Vernon Flaming was a "find". As a substitute he was a wonder. His three-point play in the St. Mary's game is one that will long be remembered.

Posey Jamison, giant Bulldog guard, was the rangiest man on the squad. Every inch of his elongated body bespoke the fine spirit with which he entered each game. His knowledge and ability together with his determination to win were largely responsible for the large number of games won by his team this winter.

Irvan Deschner proved himself worthy of wearing the red and white uniform this year. He was a strong "big boy" with plenty of good sense and a keen eye for the basket. As a first year man he proved his ability to hold a place as forward in spite of keen competition.

The Bulldog basketball players were the prime leaders in popularity in the State of Kansas in spite of their losing the Kansas conference title. Their stellar playing earned for them publicity galore.

The 1930 basketball season was one of the most interestingly hectic seasons ever experienced by a Bulldog team. The inevitable invariably happened. Coach Gardner started the season by taking his charges on a "barnstorming trip" to Oklahoma, Missouri, and Iowa. Although the Bulldogs won but fifty percent of their games, this team consisted of the greatest collection of stars in the state. The Bulldogs specialized in the spectacular . . . the kind of basketball which thrilled the spectators.

- May 11—Bulldogs place second in State Meet at Ottawa on a rainy day and a flooded track.
- May 18—Mile Relay team won second place in Tri-State Meet at Pittsburg.

Top row—Ohmart, Vovan, Rock, Bradley, Campbell, Barnetover.
 Second row—Vogt, Sargent, Gardner, Miller, Mowbray.
 Front row—Fuchstrasser, Burnison, Puckett, D. Bowers, R. Bowers.

TRACK

The mile relay team composed of Puckett, Ohmart, Sargent, and Hochstrasser was one of the fastest in the state and it placed first in every meet that it entered except the tri-state meet at Pittsburg where it placed second in competition with the best teams in Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma.

Herbert Hochstrasser is the only man to hold the Leslie Edmonds' quarter mile cup for two years.

Captain Hochstrasser was a consistent winner in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes.

Lawrence Sargent was usually a sure winner of the low hurdles and a fast relay man.

Harold Crist could be depended upon to bring in points on the mile and two mile.

Loren Rock was equally efficient in the shot, javelin, and discus.

Robert Puckett was a sure winner of the dashes and the lead man on the mile relay team.

Lower right, page 88: Puckett, Hochstrasser, and Nonken take first, second, and third in the 100 yd. dash.

Lower left, page 89: Hochstrasser wins low hurdles in Pentangular.

Lower right, page 89: Crist and D. Bowers tie for first in the $\frac{1}{2}$ mile.

Verle Ohmart was second man in the mile relay team and a good dash man.

Roy Vogt put all his energy in the half mile.

Richard Burnison was a winner of points in the low and high hurdles.

Orville Voran could be depended upon to bring in points in the broad jump.

Edward Bradley was a consistent pole vaulter.

Donald Bowers made his letter in the half mile.

THE QUADRANGLE

Tennis has come to have a very real place in the lives of McPherson College students. The four modernly equipped courts on the west side of the campus give evidence to this fact, in that they are in use continuously in any sunny spring or autumn afternoon during the school year. They are often being used by daybreak in the morning, by students who are too busy during the other hours of the day for this recreation.

Each spring an All School tennis tournament is held, from which men who show particular skill and excellence are chosen to represent the school in intercollegiate contests. Tennis for men has become one of the more important spring sports in the Kansas Conference. It is a sport in which the Bulldogs rank fairly high in comparison with other colleges.

The Athletic Board awards the official "M" to those players who win the contests in which they represent the school. The varsity team consists of these lettermen who are in school together with new men surviving the spring tournament.

THE QUADRANGLE

Physical exercise is a dead thing until it can be linked up with the interest that comes from competitive sports. The Women's Athletic Association has been organized for the purpose of putting life into and sponsoring the women's sports at McPherson College. The activities of the Association free the college girl from the tension of study; liberate her from an inferior physique; and in general raise her level of physical efficiency to a point making possible better scholarship and good fellowship.

Soccer, baseball, basketball, volley ball, horseshoe, and tennis comprise the sports sponsored this year by the W.A.A. under the leadership of Doris Ballard. Health rules are emphasized throughout the year and are observed by many of the girls. Hiking takes the place of the competitive sports when they are out of season.

The McPherson group was represented at the State convention at Emporia this year. Also a team was sent to represent our school at the Play Day events at Hays. A banquet was held in honor of the new members in March. A pie social was sponsored for the "M" Club this spring. All in all this year has been one in which a growing interest in women's sports has been manifest.

W. A. A.

Top row—Churchill, Weidie, Van Blaricum, Swenson, Early, Early, Allen, Crist, Allen, Trostle, Devilbiss, Dayle.
Second row—Holderread, Collins, Brunk, Bovis, Lehman, Crist, Jamison, Butterbaugh, Rodabaugh, Seitz, Wattenbarger, Heckman, Wawer.

The "M" Club continued its policy of clean athletics and the promotion of sportsmanship among the men of McPherson College during the year 1929-1930 under the leadership of Ray Nonken. Special emphasis has been placed upon those things which develop and maintain the Bulldog Spirit. Efforts are made to keep students patriotic toward McPherson.

The letter men have encouraged the wearing of Freshmen Caps in order to create a class loyalty among the first year men.

The "M" Club banquet in April was the outstanding event of the year for this group. Cooperating with the athletic board the Club was able to bring A. N. "Bo" McMillin, famous football coach, to this banquet as one of the outstanding speakers of the occasion. The banquet was attended by some ninety persons, many of whom were former students and athletes of the college.

Together with the loss of the sponsor, George Gardner, the Club is also losing a large number of its members in graduation this year, some of which are the best athletes in central Kansas.

THE "M" CLUB

Top row—F. Burns-over, Viran Spilman, L. Barnegrove, Bowman, Swain
 Middle row—Cronpa-Ret, Betts, Curtis, Hill, King, Whiteneck
 Front row—Holloway, Miller, Wino, Lelmar, Nonken, Bowers, Zink

RELAXATION

The Y. W. social room seems to be the favorite place of relaxation for some students. From their appearance as they leave the room after the ten-thirty whistle blows one would judge that they had been under a severe strain, but they call it relaxation so let it go at that.

Feb. 22 The men serve the mothers and daughters at their banquet and Arnold Hall is invaded by unknown plunderers.

March 1 Freshman and sophomore Sunday School Classes pull a backwards party.

March 5-7 The Y. M. and Y. W. sponsor the Christian World Education Institute and bring to the campus Norman Thomas, Clark Elcheberger, Frank Wilson, Margaret Read, and Lucille Day.

March 7 We divide honors with the Swedes in debate.

March 7 We lose our final court try to the Swedes 14-13 and Wesleyan forfeits.

March 18 The chorus presents the Mikado in colorful costume.

March 18 Clinton Trastle and Eugenia Dawson are elected to head "Y" organizations for next year.

March 21 We win over Kansas Wesleyan in debate by a three point margin and win the district championship.

March 25 Ninninger shows his movie films taken in Mexico to a full house. Since we were not along with him we will have to believe most of his tales.

March 27 Mr. and Mrs. Walker entertain the Quadrangle staff with a banquet, a line party to the "Taming of the Shrew" and Book.

March 28 The W. A. A. honor new members with a banquet symbolizing a voyage on a ship.

March 29 We lose the state championship debate to Southwestern.

March 31 Student Elections. Students money goes to Pyle. Zinn and Jamison get the Quadrangle. Betts manages the Spectator. Doyle, Voran and Weaver wield the megaphone. Many shady political schemes uncovered. Jack and Windom given a second trial.

April 4 Seniors take the class track meet by wide margin.

April 9 All go to Twin Mounds for the All School Picnic, some fall in the water. Several break into the movies.

April 10 Seniors give Proxy a birthday surprise party.

April 12 "Bo" McMillin speaks to the letter men at the "M" Club Banquet.

April 16 Juniors buy off some irresponsible-senior and learn the date of the sneak so both classes could go on the same day. Sophomores and freshmen turn green with envy and pull off a lot of high school stuff.

April 18 University of Springtime opens. Miss Lehman throws a big party for the senior class.

April 19 Ruth Turner wins Mid-West Voles Contest. Paul Bowers shared in receiving congratulations so much that he thinks he could win a hog calling contest.

April 25 Chemistry classes spend day in Hutchinson, visiting movies, etc. They all managed to get through the Reformatory.

W. A. A. representatives go to Hays play day.

April 26 High school festival. Biggest in the history of the school if it had not rained.

April 27 Big Easter pageant "The Light of the World" at the Brethren Church.

May 2 Junioritas again attempt to be simpatice y tiran el Toro. Junior-Senior Banquet a estilo Espanol. Hawley's Roof Garden-ita es el novedades.

May 10 Spectorator Banquet.

May 14 All Schools Day.

May 24 Schwalm's entertain the seniors at a formal reception.

May 25 Seniors on dress parade for first time. Baccalaureate Sermon full of good advice.

May 26-28 Reckoning days. Profs. show us mercy.

May 27 "John Ferguson", the greatest dramatic tragedy ever produced by a college class.

May 28 Last chapel. Awards made for various achievements.

May 29 Class day. Seniors exhibit their wares. Not such a bad class after all. After some time and consideration it was finally decided that school could continue next year.

May 30 Degrees are conferred upon seniors. No one took notes on the commencement address. Afternoon spent in "good-bye" handshakes and fond farewells. Every Lizzie, gallopin' goose, leaping Louie and other means of conveyance loaded down with students and their acquisitions headed out of town to the uttermost parts of the earth. Good-bye and best of luck.

The Swede-Bulldog game was tighter than a Pullman window.

BURIED TREASURE

Vast and ever-caster are the uncharted realms, the undiscovered riches that the Bible unfolds before expectant pilgrims. Luring vistas of moral insight, expanding horizons of social vision, enlarging perspectives of divine meaning unroll before them.

During the past twenty-five years, hundreds of Christian leaders have found in Bethany Bible School a satisfying source of leadership in their search for truth. Here are trusted and experienced pilots that steer the way to the ultimate haven. Here is a ship that turns neither to the right hand nor the left. . . It is the established policy of studying the Open Book with the Open Mind.

Bethany Bible School is prepared to give expert guidance and supervision for persons wishing to enter any one of the major lines of Christian leadership. Bethany Bible School specializes in giving religious training to college-trained students.

It is not too late to seek a newer world,
Push off, and sitting well in order smite
The sounding furrows; for my purpose holds
To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars, until I die.
It may be that the gulfs will wash us down;
It may be we shall touch the Happy Isles,
And see the great Achilles, whom we knew.
Tho' much is taken, much abides, and tho'
We are not now that strength which in old days
Moved earth and heaven, that which we are, we are,—
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.

—Tennyson
