McPHERSON COLLEGE LIBRARY
McPHERSON, KANSAS

Bill Daggett, Editor

Dean Cotton, Business Manager

Our Campus

Sharp Hall, now the oldest building on Macampus, stands as the traditional symbol of McPherson College. Transcripts, records, hills . . . chapel, classes, conferences . . . publications, choirs, relaxation . . . all a part of the great cooperative enterprise—education.

Harnly Hall, the largest building on the campus, offers many opportunities. Whether it be cutting up a cat, viewing a saber tooth tiger, discussing philosophy, or distinguishing between the sweet smells from the home economics department and the odors from the chemistry lab, Harnly still retains its dignity.

Carnegie Library, recently redecorated, harbors the massive volumes of accumulated knowledge, carefully selected periodicals and dramatic fiction. It is the scene of many a headache as students struggle with daily assignments, and Miss Harris and Miss Vancil guard the stacks or help a bewildered freshman.

Physical Education Building is situated on the north edge of the campus. The gym resounds with many a shout of victory or moan of defeat during the intramural seasons, as well as being the training center for athletic minded Bulldogs. A lighted gym at night may mean a formal reception, kid party, or just an all-school party.

Our Church beckons with each alluring call of organ swells. The impressive stained-glass windows are an inspiration to all who study their rich colors and the story that each reveals. The doors are open for all who seek higher aspiration, moral discipline, and greater social achievement.

Frantz Hall, commonly known as the industrial arts building, is known for both fine arts and practical arts. Everything from baby beds to self portraits is created within this small but attractive and unassuming piece of architecture.

Kline Hall yields the smell of scorched potatoes or burnt cookies as the newly-married bride tries her hand at cooking while her studious husband struggles with the family budget. From third floor comes the familiar giggle of ten or twelve girls.

Arnold Hall leads a happy life watching and protecting her 60 girls and listening to their joyful yet serious chats within her walls. Even the boys cannot resist her friendly atmosphere—why? it must be because of her ability to provide food, or is there another reason for the frequent appearance of fellows in her doorway??

Vets' Apartments give many of the couples which are attending college the opportunity to live close to Macampus. These rectangular buildings offer the first homes to many of our next generation of students.

Jahnestock Hall, pride and joy of the men, is one of the most recently constructed buildings on Macampus. Its dignity is often thwarted by the various hull sessions, friendly fights, and midnight snacks. Once a year the closets are cleaned and the doors are opened for inspection by the public, including the envious girls.

Who's Who in 1950

These five students were selected by the faculty and recommended for election to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. To be elected to this honorary position, a student must excel in scholarship, leadership, and citizenship. From the upper division classes, a list of students with outstanding grades is chosen. Each student is then evaluated on the basis of leadership and citizenship. We are happy that these five students have attained the desired standards and are elected to Who's Who. McPherson College proudly recognizes these students from its student body.

"Are the 'Specs' out yet?" is the query of the Mac-campus students around noon every Friday. As he patiently waits in line in the cafeteria, everyone eagerly scans the pages to see what is the latest on the campus. Behind the finished product are many hours of faithful labor by the busy staff of editors and reporters.

Under the able direction of the editors-in-chief, LeRoy Doty, first semester and Lorene Clark, second semester, the Spectator takes shape each week. Silently reporters watch the campus activities. The Spectator not only enlightens the students, but also friends and relatives of distant states are watching the headlines to see what is going on down at McPherson. Hats off to the Spectator Staff; they have done their job well.

It has been our desire to create a book of memories . . . happy joyous occasions, hard work, old friends, well-planned pranks, embarrassing situations, parties, and a host of other things . . . memories of Macampus, 1949 - 1950 . . . memories of another year—another step up the ladder of success . . . of the struggle for education . . . of the time when you found that "certain person" . . .

To those who will not be back . . . good luck! and may you reach the top rungs of the ladder; to the rest of you "We'll see you next year," and may this little book be a living monument of MacCollege as the years roll past and we all get old and grey.

A Cappella Choir

Soft strains of "Dedication" by Robert Franz drift out on the silent air; the curtains roll back; the audience sits breathless; once again it is the annual A Cappella Concert. Following "Dedication" are best-loved hymns, spirituals, and folk songs. First the sopranos take the lead, then the altos; now the basses.

Powerful anthems, the sacred "Lord's Prayer," the tender "Mary's Lullaby," and the dynamic Christmas selection, "The Shepherds' Story" are examples of the accomplishments of these thirty-six well-chosen voices. Other favorites include spirituals such as "Swanee River" and "The Old Ark's A-Moverin'"; folksongs, "Wagon Wheels," arranged by the talented director, Professor Frederick; and novelty numbers such as "Carillon," which is a vocal imitation of bells; and many other difficult pieces from well-known choral composers.

The coming of spring sends the choir on its traditional tour carrying beautiful music and good will throughout the Region.

Each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon Sharp Hall resounds with the vibrant music of the Chapel Choir, a group of thirty-six selected voices. As the name indicates, this choir provides special music for the Wednesday chapel service. Also, it makes a definite contribution at other programs. During regional conference, the members of the choir were on their toes to provide inspiring music for those in the congregation. Combined with the A Cappella Choir they did their part in the presentation of the annual Vesper Musicale on Regional Conference Sunday.

The Chapel Choir participated in the annual Christmas Musical both separately and combined with the other college and church choirs to give a dynamic presentation of the Christmas story. The beautiful blend of the sopranos, altos, tenors, and basses of the Chapel Choir is not to be forgotten for they have acquired a definite place in the galleries of McPherson College.

Church Choir

The church choir, alternating the participation in the local church services with the local church choir, makes a unique contribution to the program of the college church. As the beginning anthem is played, the choir silently takes its place in the loft. As the service proceeds, the choir adds dignity and inspiration through the various chorales and responses. The mellow, blended voices render the anthem, sometimes accompanied by a special brass quartet. The church choir enriches and gives vitality to the Sunday morning church services.

Every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning at 7:15 is tune-up time as the band gets ready for rehearsal—that is, all band members who are awake.

The band made its first contribution of the year during football season. Shivering in the early November wind, the band members displayed their ability by marching up and down the field forming various emblems and letters, or playing background music while the drum major twirled his unique fire baton. It was the band which preceded the Homecoming Queen and introduced the coronation ceremony with a sharp, precise fanfare.

The small ensembles have made contributions in the church and on campus as well as at various programs downtown. They have made numerous tours throughout the churches of the Western Region.

The repertoire of the groups, including hymns, spirituals, folk songs, and novelty numbers, shows evidence of many hours of hard, patient practice. Through the able leadership of Professor Frederick, the three quartettes and trio developed into excellent representatives of McPherson College.

Under the direction of Dr. Metzler, the potential ministers meet twice a month to discuss problems which they are likely to face in their ministerial service. Outside speakers and discussion with veteran ministers help send the fellows on their way to the goal they hope to attain in the ministry of Brethren principles and God's Word.

Each Sunday evening the students of McPherson College meet at the church before the regular Sunday evening service to listen to inspiring speakers and discuss pertinent subjects. Chalk talks and a large variety of musical programs provide additional interest. The CBYE helps to give spiritual encouragement and religious guidance to many students.

Membership for this honorary forensic fraternity is limited to those who have shown a genuine interest and have participated in three or more decisive debates. These orators have proved their abilities and won recognition as marvelous extemporaneous speakers. As exhibition debaters their battles of words and ideas have been a handicap to all who have opposed them.

Humor, logical reasoning, much practice and the will to win have combined to create this group of speakers.

Professor Roy McAuley has served this fraternity this year in the capacity of debate coach. He, with his wit and leadership ability, has given incentive and guidance, both of which are necessary for accomplishment and high quality in the forensic field.

The Student Christian Association, a prominent religious organization on Macampus, was organized of students who endeavored to further the Christian way of life on the campus and in student relations. One project of this group was the partial support of Gina Munda, an Italian student at McPherson in her sophomore year. Socially minded, the S. C. A. sponsored a watermelon feed, Sadie Hawkins's Day, a Christmas Party, and other activities. Marilee Bowman and Vernon Nicholson, co-chairmen, directed the cabinet which tried to meet the needs of the students through various commissions.

Each Monday evening finds the Recreation Council planning, working, and playing together, striving for ability in leadership and better recreation. The members make intermittent field trips to study and lead recreation in various communities and churches. The recreational spring workshop, consisting of a weekend of work and play, is an out-growth of the Recreation Council.

The members of Skate Club have been rolling on to perfection these past few months. Newly organized last September, the Skate Club has taken its place among other organizations on Macampus by sponsoring all school parties and training students to be skillful skaters, as well as for patching bruised knees and sprained ankles.

The Shutter Bugs, more clearly identified as "camera friends," meet to discuss the merits and demerits of various photographic techniques. Having perfect, interesting, unique pictures as a goal provides the incentive to produce good work. With Irwin Porter as president of the group and Professor Roland Plaxter as sponsor, the Shutter Bugs have equipped for themselves a dark-room in Frantz Hall. Such enthusiasm and progress will win for the Shutter Bugs a distinct place in MacCollege's list of activities.

Under the guidance of their captain, Marie Miller, Women's Council has tried to make the past year smooth sailing for the women students of MacCollege, especially in the fall when they sponsored a Tea for the "big sisters" and their "little sisters" who were new on campus. Throughout the year Women's Council sponsored other activities such as Heart Sister Week to further sociability and friendliness on Macampus.

The Men's Council assists the Dean of Men in his efforts to serve the manhood of the campus by fostering better student relationships, improving standards of scholarship, furthering worthwhile discussions, and recommending steps for college improvement. Early in the year the group concerns itself in helping the freshmen men become orientated, and sponsors the annual freshmen men's feed in the Dog House.

The Student Council, thirteen students and three faculty members, meets each week to discuss current problems of the student body.

Every time you read the Spec, look at your Quad, use the Student Union Room or Student Assembly Room, or watch the Bulldogs in action you are availing yourself of the privileges made possible in part or in whole by the Student Council. The Student Council is responsible for Homecoming—the parade and coronation of the Queen.

During the past year, the Student Council was responsible for the new parking lots out near the gym—drawing up plans, executing part of the labor, and raising the money.

The Student Council has been responsible for drawing up a new organization on campus namely, the Student Court, whose purpose is to handle discipline problems.

With Vernon Blickenstaff and John Ward as the co-pilots—Blickenstaff, first semester, and Ward, second semester—the Council has again proven itself an essential part of the machinery of McPherson College.

Alpha Psi Omega is the National Honorary Dramatics Fraternity on our campus. Membership is limited to those of the Players Club who have fulfilled certain requirements. A total of fifty points must be earned in the field of acting and in the field of play production also.

The McPherson College Players Club is open to all those who share an interest in dramatic acting, dramatic production, and are ready for plenty of hard work. The Late George Apley, a satire on Bostonian life, opened the dramatic season of this year. Following this play, the Players went into rehearsal on the three-act play. Again in the Spring, the Players packed their enthusiasm into the spring production which successfully brought the season to an end.

What would Mac College be like without the Dog House and its famous "cup of coffee"? And how would we get this "cup of coffee" if it were not for the faithful "Dog House crew"? Each morning, noon, afternoon, and evening the crew is at its post serving the students—and of course the best-liked is the one who sells twelve cents worth of ice cream for a dime.

As spring rolls around the music student feels a desire to show the world what he has accomplished during the year. Through the medium of a formal recital, several students have expressed such a desire this year. Many hours of daily practice, which extend over the entire year, are required to produce the finished product which the audience hears. Only the student himself can fully appreciate and enjoy the tremendous amount of time and effort involved in a recital.

The Conference was centered around the dynamic addresses of Dr. Clausen, and many other inspiring speakers and musical contributions.

Preceding the adult Conference was the two-day Youth Retreat which consisted of recreation, seminars, and general fellowship for the young people of the Region. Leaders, specialized in youth work, provided education and inspiration.

Homecoming Queen

Verlla Hummer

Homecoming comes but once a year. And each year we must have a Homecoming Queen, a junior girl elected by the student body. Personality, scholastic ability, originality—these are the attributes that count. And Lois Yusler was the one that received this honor.

Queen Lois reigned graciously at the Queen's Banquet, she serenely led the Homecoming Parade. Finally she was crowned at the Homecoming dance by Bonnie Alexander, the retiring queen. Her attendants were Maxine Gonzales and Verlla Hummer.

Lois had been active in many things. She is a member of Women's Council and Student Council. In W.A.A. and the Pep Club our Queen has served actively. She also has a deeper side which is evident in SCA and BY participation.

Lois is tops—she is our Queen—may her reign be a happy one!

Football Squad

The fighting Bulldogs of McPherson College, under the leadership of Forrest C. 'Frosty' Hardacre, closed their 1950 grid campaign holding last place in the conference. They won one of the season's nine games. Major injuries to some of the vital players and general inexperience accounted for most of the losses. McPherson snapped a long losing streak by beating Sterling in the second game.

Although they were constantly handicapped by injuries the college always pushed their opponents to the limit with a dash and a fire which will contribute toward a successful season next year. Co-captains Carol Tillman and Dale Buckenstaff played a consistent, powerful game throughout their final college season to lead their team mates.

Basketball Squad

The 1951 McPherson College basketball team did not prove to be a team whose record of games won and lost is as impressive as those of some other Bulldog teams. Its path through the season was filled with many desperate battles; in some of these the Camnies often turned super-men to win their achievement against terrific odds.

The McPherson team won but three of the nineteen games it played, defeating Baker, College of Emporia, and Sterling each once.

Although it has been a rather disastrous season, Coach Hardacre did excellent work, this being his second year as head basketball coach. Four members of the team will be lost at graduation. They are Lyle Goering, Glen Pyle, Gene Arnold, and Bob Odle. All of these men will be greatly missed, but a large squad will return next year fighting for the conference championship.

All during the season the leadership of Captain Lyle Goering held the team together and formed a dangerous obstacle in the path of every contender for the conference title. His consistent playing and his ability to drive through the opposing defense for baskets helped make the team what it was. Loren Blickenstaff, who started playing at mid-year, proved to be one of the hardest fighting centers McPherson has had for years; he was a bulwark on defense and, at the same time, an accurate shot. Glen Pyle was great on defense while Bob Bechtel, a freshman, has shown well.

So we have had our hour of basketball glory; this year we have tasted defeat to the dregs. Such is basketball, and such is competitive sport in general. From it we learn to take our loss with a smile, setting our eyes on the future with the determination that next time victory shall be ours.

Intramural

A widespread, varied program of intramural athletics was sponsored this year by Coach Dick Wareham and Miss Lamb. Probably more students have participated in the intramural program than in any other single extracurricular activity this year.

Perhaps the most spectacular part of the intramural program was the single round robin basketball tourney, and the single elimination tourney for the men. Twelve teams were formed, captained by various students not on the varsity basketball squad.

The Delorpeh, captained by John Ward, won the tourney. At no time during the tournament were the Delorpeh out of first place. The Delorpeh team consisted of Carol Tillman, Wendell Burkholder, Phil Houser, Chuck Petelish, James Scruggs, Ellis Albright and John Ward.

There were several outstanding scorers during the season. Some of them are Dick Warham of the Characters, Delmar Senger of the Wildcats, Bill Tolle of the Imps of Satan, and Ken Pritchett of the Proving Eight.

Elvin Wolf, John Ward, Harry Heckethorn, Pete Doersch, Hubert Newcomer, and Coach Dick Wareham composed the intramural basketball committee. They were the people who made rules and led the game.

The outstanding game of the year was between Delorpeh and the Bowery Boys in the final of the tourney. Delorpeh had won the single round robin tourney but the Bowery Boys had been right behind them. The final game was a nip-and-tuck battle with Delorpeh coming out on top 25 - 19.

Table Tennis

Couch Dick Wareham started something new with an invitational table tennis tournament played at Mac in competition with various neighboring colleges.

In order that Mac could utilize the four top players of the school, Dick formed an intramural ladder tournament. The four top players were to play in the invitational tourney.

The ladder was so constructed that anyone on the ladder could challenge either of the two immediately above him. If the challenger won, he then took the other's place on the ladder. Anyone not on the ladder could challenge the player on the bottom. Some of the top ping-pong players of the ladder are Ken Kinzie, John Ward, Ivan Rogers, Elvin Wolf, Chuck Petefish, and Al Zunkel.

Women's Basketball

Previous to this year the fellows had been getting most of the exercise as far as intramural sports were concerned. However, this year, under the supervision of Miss Lamb, girls' physical education director, a roster of six girls teams was set up to play on Wednesday nights.

The teams participating were as follows: Town Girls, W.A.A., High School Girls, Kline Hall, Third Floor Arnold, and Fourth Floor Arnold. Fourth Floor and Town Girls were the two top teams, but in the final game Fourth Floor won the championship.

The girls' games were exciting and attracted as much interest as the boys' games. More power to girls' intramurals in the future.

Volleyball

A mixed volley-ball league was carried on again this year. There were no outstanding players, for everyone played together and had fun. Four boys and four girls composed each team. These teams played every Tuesday night during the fall of the year. The four top teams were captained by Vaio Alalima, Gerald Neher, Sora Mae Williams, and Ken Kusur.

"M" Club

The "M" Club has for its purpose the furthering of the spirit of brotherhood and the advent of better athletics. It strives to promote a better spirit of friendship among athletes, faculty, and student body.

To any athlete who, through his skill and ability, has won recognition by winning a letter in any of the varsity sports goes the privilege of becoming a member of the "M" Club. Upon proper initiation such a person is registered as a member of the club for life. The interest of the club is naturally athletically inclined and the activities sponsored by it center around the athletic life of the college.

The "M" Club sponsored two all-school functions this year. The first was the All-School Carnival, followed second semester by a Box Social.

Women's Athletic Association

Women's Athletic Association offers a sport for every girl and a girl for every sport (for a sound mind in a sound body ... for maximum physical fitness ... and for popularity ...
PLAY!)

W.A.A. is divided into three seasons. In each season is four sports. Skating, swimming, tennis, basketball, outing, bowling, and softball were the outstanding sports this year.

A red chenille letter is awarded for participation in fifteen sports over a period of two years. The highest recognition is the gold pin award for being active in nine additional sports.

To cover the girls' expenses they serve refreshments at football games. This year the club purchased an electric stove and hot plate to insure more and better food.

Interest was stimulated by exciting intramural basketball games. The most novel of the season was between the girls and the boys using girls' rules.

The anticipated highlight of the year is the formal banquet attended by the members of the association and their guests. At this gala affair the officers for the following year are revealed.

Hats off to a fine organization that has as its goals:

1. To promote the ideals of health
2. To stimulate an interest in the participation of Athletic activities.
3. To create a spirit of good sportsmanship

The Pep Club helps promote school spirit on Macampus. It is the duty of these members to attend games faithfully, and cheer even if it is a losing game. Pep Club has had a part in planning pep assemblies, it has sponsored a chili supper. Its members are always bolstering school spirit by wearing red and white on game days. For additional incentive, the girls can earn points. These eventually stack up to a "bulldog emblem," which can be worn on the front of a white sweater.

Spring '49 Baseball Squad

The baseball team of 1949 enjoyed a good season, winning six of eleven games. Coach Wareham and the Bulldogs were never beaten by more than two runs. Their outstanding ability was shown in that they scored one hundred fourteen runs to their opponents seventy-three.

The Bulldogs had an outstanding batting average—.309. Gene Arnold was remarkable in the batters box, pounding out a .405 average, which is very good for college ball. Dean Ward batted .385, while Elvin Ramsey worked to a .350 average. Captain Duane Ramsey's outstanding ability was shown as he knocked in seventeen runs and came across home plate eighteen times, himself.

On the playing field, Captain Duane Ramsey was a remarkable leader, pitching and playing first. Chuck Petefish and Gene Arnold also had outstanding field ability, playing short stop and third base, respectively. The pitching ability is shown as Coughenour won three, lost none; Duane Ramsey won two, lost three; and Bill Tolle won one and lost two.

Spring '49 Track Squad

The 1949 cinder men did not make an outstanding team because of the lack of material. The team had several excellent men but could not gather enough points to win a meet. The team consisted of three sophomores and seven freshmen who worked hard throughout the year.

Injuries during the season proved a problem to the boys as well as the coach. Dave Metzler and Dale Carpenter, two outstanding freshman cindermen, suffered pulled muscles which hindered their point gathering greatly. Dave won an outstanding half-mile and mile. Besides placing fourth in the conference mile, Dave won several firsts in other meets. Dale Carpenter was excellent in the dashes and broad jump. Although Dale did not place in the conference meet he took many firsts and seconds in the dual and triangular meets.

The other members of the track squad were Zimmet, Schmidt, Oltman, Augsburger, Miller, Daggett, Ford, and Connell.

McPherson College Trustees

Each year the general board of the trustees of McPherson College assembles in February to plan for the on-going program of the school. The trustees of the school anticipate the new buildings, discuss financial possibilities and needs of the school, and consider many items of progress in the school activities in regard to academic and extra-curricular.

The general board of McPherson College is a representative body of men and women from the various districts of the Church of the Brethren served by the school. There are sixteen districts in the college region, all states west of the Mississippi River and east of the Rocky Mountains, including the district of Idaho and Western Montana. These members come from several walks of life, including farmers, ministers, teachers, businessmen, real estate agents, insurance executives, dry cleaners, bankers, and others. These men and women are people who are interested in the college and plan for the school's growth.

The city of McPherson has six representatives on the board who compose the executive board of the trustees. This group meets bi-monthly for current planning and discussion of the problems of the school. The executive board also works with the President on the actual running of the college program.

In the hands of these men, the church and alumni have placed the responsibilities of the school, McPherson College. The alumni, former students, friends of the college, faculty, and students appreciate the work of these men in keeping McPherson on a high scholastic standing.
