FACULTY RECEPTION

How do you do . . .

Both new and veteran students were received by the members of the faculty at the reception on the lawn behind the president's home. Entertainment was provided by faculty members and lunch was served to the formally dressed guests.

Don Simpson . . . sing it, man.

Mary Ann Eckman . . . squeeze-box serenade.

FRESHMAN TALENT SHOW

Versatile freshmen. . .

The freshmen began orientation into college life early by presenting a talent show to the rest of the student body. The frosh displayed some entertaining talent.

PAJAMA PARADE

Hip, hip, hooray. . .
Through the street, down the alley,
winding through stores, the cheerleaders led pajama clad football en-thusiats on the annual pajama parade.
It aroused interest and pep for the first game of the season. The parade was punctuated by pep yells and concluded with a movie at the Manor Theater.

WALL-ROGALSKY MILL

1954 HOMECOMING ATTENDANTS

Rachel Anne Brown, Sophomore Attendant

A radiant, blue-eyed blonde, Eula Mae Murrey, was chosen to reign over the 1954 homecoming festivities. Her attendants were Rachel Anne Brown, sophomore, and June McDaniel, freshman. Anneliese Koch, senior retiring queen, crowned Eula Mae at the Queen's Banquet given in her honor and later she viewed the homecoming football game from her throne.

CAMPUS DECORATIONS

Eat 'em' up . . .

Homecoming saw the campus gayly decorated. Each organization had a specific plot of ground on which they were to erect a stationary float. The sophomore class, the cheerleaders, and the S. C. A. took first, second, and third places, respectively.

"DEEP ARE THE ROOTS"

Well cast and well done. . . .

This was a play about prejudice, and the cruel and irrational things that prejudice leads people to do. The play, by Arnaud D'Illipseau and James Gow, was directed and supervised by Mrs. Wilbur Yoder of the English Department. Max Parmley played the part of Brett Charles, a negro, who had received honors in the war and returned to his home in the south.

CHRISTMAS FORMAL

Christmas in song and drama . . . Both faculty and students cooperated to make an evening long to be remembered. The gymnasium was gayly decorated for the students who came to enjoy it in their formal attire.

Thanks . . . you look pretty sharp yourself.

Candles, frothy gowns, silvery streamers, surprise announcements . . .

Friendly fellowship at the spring faculty formal.

"THE INTELLIGENTSIA"

Formals, food, fun for everyone . . . .
 Almost 250 students and faculty members attended the faculty's "Intelligentsia" on February 19. All of the guests enjoyed a five course meal which was prepared by the Dames' Club and served by the male members of the faculty. The evening's entertainment included several musical numbers, and two skits. Two engagements of college students also were revealed during the evening.

RELIGIOUS LIFE

The better things of life . . . . Religion plays a vital part in the lives of Maccollege students. An active organized group is the Student Ministers. A large number of future ministers have pastorates at various churches in this section of Kansas. Members of this group also take turns writing editorials for the Spectator.

CAMPUS JOBS

To help pay the way...
The cafeteria, dormitories,
library, officers, grounds -
in fact almost every area
of campus life - involve students who have campus jobs.
Available for both men and women students, they help
the student earn part of their college expenses.

SHARP HALL

The ad building . . .

Sharp Hall, the central building on Macollege campus, holds fond memories for several generations of students. This structure houses administrative offices, a chapel for both spiritual and entertaining programs, a Student Union Room with television, a Dog House which furnishes refreshment along with relaxation, and classrooms.

HARNLY HALL

A busy place . . .
 Harnly Hall sees more students in and out her doors than any other building on the campus.
 This dignified structure, one of the most beautiful buildings on the grounds, makes a vital contribution to higher learning.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION BUILDING

Exercise and recreation . . .

The physical education building, known to the varsity athlete as well as to the student through physical education classes and the intramural program, aids the student in building a strong body as well as a sound mind. Both volleyball and basketball intramurals as well as varsity basketball practice provide opportunities for healthful and sportsmanlike development for many on campus. Last winter the medieval banquet was held in the game room, which is the scene of many extra-curricular activities.

Learning by doing . . .
 Welding paintbrushes on easels, welding, and learning about rural life are a few of the varied activities going on in the Frantz Industrial Arts Building. Besides classrooms, this building boasts of a woodworking lab, ceramics and drawing and painting departments, and the Dell Laboratory which gives Macollege men an opportunity to learn welding and mechanics.

ARNOLD HALL

For boys now . . .

Arnold Hall took on a new look when the women students moved into Dotzour Hall over a year ago. This new look is the male students that have been inhabiting the dormitory. Former students and alumni still are not accustomed to seeing men climb the stairs.

DOTZOUR HALL

Our new home . . .

Dotzour Hall, the pride and joy of all the women students, gives a refreshing newness to the atmosphere of the campus. The one hundred eight girls and the house-mother, Miss Neher, truly are enjoying the dorm so generously given to us by Royer and Edna Dotzour.

Exams tomorrow . . . mate asleep,

Beautiful, modern . . . Dotzour Hall houses lucky coeds.

KLINE HALL

Vivian, Ruth, and Kay . . . welcome to our home.

KLINE HALL

For gals and married couples . . . Kline Hall stands as proof that marriage and education can go together. The first two floors are made up of two-room apartments to which many happily married couples look back as their first home. The third floor has the distinction of housing a number of college coeds. These girls are convinced that Kline is a good place to live.

FAHNESTOCK HALL

"Fanny" to us . . .

Fahnestock Hall is home to sixty male students and the head residents, the Willems family, who abide there. The three-story structure is the headquarters for many bull sessions and general merrymaking as well as the serious business of studying.

At home in Fanny . . . Don, Karl, Kenny, Lee, Wendell, Ed, Leon.

Ruthe, Mark, Al . . . Fahnestock residents.

"Mom" and "Dad" to Maccollege students. . . Dr. and Mrs. Bittinger in front of their home.

PRESIDENT'S HOME

Welcome. . .

This beautiful structure stands with open doors to all the students of McPherson College. They have learned that they are welcome to use both the basement and home at anytime for informal parties and gatherings. One-thousand East Euclid truly is our "home away from home" with a wonderful "mom" and "dad" as host and hostess.

Organ lesson . . . San Romani and Hubbard.

Wedding march . . . Dean and Esther Cotton.

COLLEGE CHURCH

Church away from home . . . .
The stately college church with its many stained glass windows provides the place of worship for many students. The basement is the scene of social events and the chapel adjoining the sanctuary is used for early morning and evening meditation. The pipe organ is used almost every hour of the day by organ students. Many former and present students are endeared to this church as the one that started them on their marital road together.

Heart Sister Party . . . social room in basement.

Beginning of the cafeteria line . . . students leave the church bound for the cafeteria and dorms.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The governing body of McPherson College... This year's Student Council is made up of sixteen members which includes four faculty representatives. Besides acting in the usual spheres, which include the Spectator, Quadrangle, Dog House, the budget, S. U. R., and the Growl; the council arranged for several exchange Chapel programs, purchased two new love seats for the S. U. R., acted on the Sadie Hawkins Day controversy, and tried to promote good will between international students and the towns people.

PI KAPPA DELTA DEBATE SQUAD

The "Barking Bulldogs" . . . War of words, retaliation, and rebuttals are fundamental principles of both these organizations. The debate squad with this year of experience behind them should prove to be a strong challenge to other squads in future years. Those who have attained certain standards in forensics are eligible for membership in Pi Kappa Delta.

Debaters await results at Mac tournament.

ALPHA PSI OMEGA PLAYERS CLUB

Both acting and production. . . .
 Membership in the Players Club is open to all interested in the various phases of play production. This year's major production was "Deep Are the Roots" given during Regional Conference. The cast is invited to present it in June before the annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren in Grand Rapids, Michigan. Members of the Players Club may become members of the Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic society, by meeting rigid requirements in both acting and production.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Better homes, better futures . . .

Organized only two years ago, the Home Economics Club has steadily grown into a strong club. In the monthly meetings, members learn flower arrangements, the art of applying make-up, table settings, hair styling, and others, from business and professional women of the city. The club is affiliated with both the State and National Home Economics Associations.

VOCAL ENSEMBLES

Beautiful music. . .

The four vocal ensembles are some of the busiest groups on campus. Each took both a fall and a spring tour to various churches of the region. The seventeen students in the groups traveled to seventy-four churches on their deputation trips. These ensembles also presented various chapel programs which were enjoyed by all.

The battling Bulldogs...

This fall the Bulldogs faced a gigantic rebuilding task. The job was taken care of by such able bodies as Coach Sis Smith, Assistant George Keim, and Dick Wareham, trainer. With a 3-6 won-lost record, the Bulldogs displayed much power at times, and out-gained their opponents in all categories other than total points.

Steve Bersuch, Bill Smith, and Bill Goering received special honor by being chosen on the All-Kansas Conference second team.

With only four members graduating from the team, the canines have bright prospects for the next and following years.

Practice and physical fitness...

Team spirit and co-operation were displayed by the 1954-55 Bulldog team. Many times they outscored their opponents in field goals but lost games due to fouls. Bill Smith broke the school record of 30 points for a game to set a new one of 41. With Ed Frantz being the only senior on the team and with eight freshmen, the school looks forward to a successful season next year.

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders . . .

The job of promoting enthusiasm and pep at both football and basketball games lies on the shoulders of the capable cheerleaders. The freshmen cheerleaders were elected by the freshman class late in the fall to lead cheers at the "B" team basketball games.
