Dedication

To the future - -
To the unborn, unseen, unknown
Untried, unproved, unaccomplished
Unpredictable,
Neophyte future.
This book is hopefully dedicated.
--Harley Stump

Foreword

"Goe little booke: thy self present - - " 1.

Go, little book, out among the peoples of all the earth;
Out among the students and the graduates,
The faculty and alumni;
Out among the broad expanse of many lands and many nations;
Out along darkened streets and whitened highways;
Out among hearts that are weary and tired and sad;
Out where people are joyful and strong and glad.

Go, little book, thy mission to fulfill.

And when you reach your destination,
Recline not upon a darkened shelf in a dusty corner;
Rather, illumine, inspire, and encourage
All, wherever you may be;
That courage, dreams, ideals, and hope
Might live among all who chance to touch you;
That plodding slumber might come awake,
That senseless strife might change to love,
That cautious fear might turn to strength,
That minds and hearts and souls of men
Might grow and reach above the atom cloud,
And match the ever surging student crowd,
The ever growing campus ground,
The broad expanse of buildings new,
With dreams and hopes and skills and work,
And thus create a new found joy - -
The Kingdom true of one true God!

Go, little book - -
That campus growth and student pain,
Be not in vain,
But that through you love shall remain
Fore'er 'mid Man's domain!

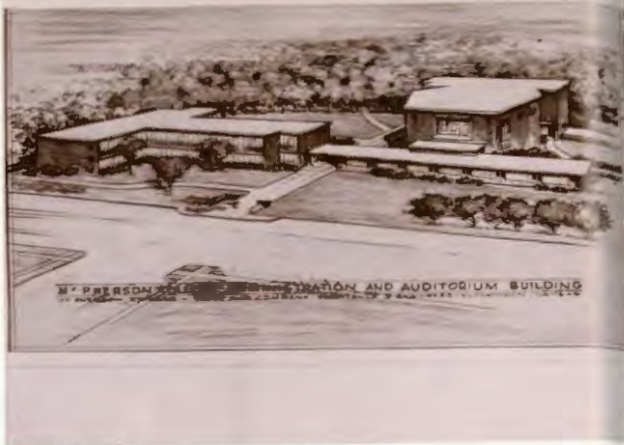

Go, little book,
--Harley Stump

Dear McPhersonites of Today and Tomorrow:

We are at the same time both inheritors and debtors. All that we have and believe we have inherited from the past; the homes, the schools, the churches, the cities in which we live have come to us from our progenitors. The only way we can be faithful to this inheritance is to preserve it, improve it, and transmit it to the future.

With this in mind, McPherson College undertakes to be faithful both to the past and to the future. We are now in the last two years of a ten-year development program. During this period of time there has been expansion in plant, in teaching equipment, in faculty. The latest completed project has given the entire campus a new look. Mohler Hall and Brown Auditorium pleasantly greet all comers. The final stage of the ten-year plan involves the completing of the Student Union Cafeteria pictured above, plus a major extension of Dotzour Hall and additional housing for married couples.

What of the future?

Another ten-year plan is being formulated. Do you have suggestions as to what it shall include by way of curriculum, campus expansion, classroom facilities, library, faculty, students?

The future is in your hands.

Yours sincerely,

D. W. Bittinger, President

Don Koehn hurls the discus for more Bulldog points.

Galen Huffman tops the bar for another win in the pole vault.

Spring

The Bulldog track team competed in a total of ten meets. In five triangular meets, the Bulldogs took three firsts, one second, and one third. Two dual meets ended in victories for McPherson. The trackmen also competed in the Ottawa relays, the Doane relays and the Conference meet.

The tennis team, coached by Dr. DeCoursey, ended the season with four wins and five losses. Friddy, Landrum, and M. Weddle were the letter winners.

Reinecher, Clark, Gustafson, Diehl, and Kuster display their clubs. The golf team finished the year with three victories, four losses, one tie, and sixth place in the Conference meet.

Sports

Trainer Rogge, Assistant Coach Keim, and Coach Smith.

Intramurals

Fast action in the championship game makes the win!

Intramurals are an important part of the college athletic program. The intramural program offers an outlet in sports for those unable to make the varsity teams. They include volleyball, softball, and boys' and girls' basketball.

The winning team of Stine-Browning poses happily after the championship game.

Women's Basketball

Dona Hutchison, Delores Lahman, Diane Patton, Shirley Vanderau, Sue Warrick, Gail Clark, Nancy Krehmeyer, Frances Hutchison, Delores Edmonds, Wilma Miller, Gail Fillmore, and Connie Andes.

Women's varsity basketball provides athletic competition for the women of McPherson College. The team plays a ten-game schedule with about twenty girls participating. Doris Coppock coaches the girls.

Choir and orchestra perform for the Dedication of Brown Auditorium and Mohler Hall.

Concert Band

Pep Band

Swing Band

One of the first bands at Mac in the fall is the college marching band, which performs in halftime intermission during football games, and also marches in town parades. It is made up of some members of the concert band. Swing band, a small organization composed of around fifteen members who enjoy playing dance music, performs at some of the college formals.

Thought for Food...

It requires considerable planning to provide tasty, nutritious meals for students at McPherson College. That's our job. We're proud to serve McPherson and 143 other leading colleges & universities. We look forward to providing food service in the future.

And, for you members of the Class of '61 who are leaving, the best of everything!
