THE WORLD DOES NOT PAUSE. . .

Colleges today have changed perspectives. Attention is no longer on domestic problems; instead, it centers on the world.

In 1964 international policies manipulated our November election. Diplomatic affairs were the targets for campaigns as voters made their choices.

Centers, targets, and destinations change with education. Spheres, realms, and new frontiers crave new leaders . . . for the world does not pause when one man dies.

FACULTY

challenges student minds

McPherson College campus was the scene of life and action as students, under the guidance of faculty, realized the infinite boundaries in the world of knowledge and understanding. From the atmosphere of a formal classroom to the natural setting of a dormitory, Student Union, or library, students were challenged to stretch their minds beyond the point of mere acceptance as they began to see new glimpses of reality.

Faculty members, consisting of 47 men and women, are as unique as any individuals on campus. Their daily endeavors rest not only in the realm of creating a stimulating course, but also in counseling students, sponsoring organizations, speaking in chapel, attending innumerable meetings, and being a genuine friend to many students. Increasing by seven members this year, the faculty includes 36 full time and 11 part time professors. Fifteen hold doctorate degrees.

College facilities include 12 major buildings which are spread over 25 acres of campus area. Four dormitories provide temporary homes for single students, in addition to two developments for married couples. Brown Auditorium and Friendship Hall bring opportunity for social gathering and cultural enlightenment while the Student Union stands as the hub of all campus activity. Beeghly Library and the six remaining buildings constitute the formal classroom atmosphere on the campus.

Certain moments will endure the age of time in the minds of many students. Some moments may be personal, others may not. But they are all part of the Highlights of the school year 1965.

HIGHLIGHTS

And so it began—the first of many treks from car to dorm as Dan Zinn, Joseph Ezeka, and Barry Haldeeman unload. (Who said girls had all the clothes?)

FIRST WEEK OF COLLEGE BUZZES WITH ACTIVITY

Life on McPherson College campus during the first week of school was an array of activities that revived the college spirit and introduced the neophytes to their new environment. New roommates, old friends, cluttered rooms, half-packed suitcases, constant chattering, and an irregular schedule perfectly describe conditions in the dormitories.

Parties to get acquainted were held in the Student Union basement with crazy games and hot apple cider for refreshments. Long lines became the major complaint as students registered and tolerated beckoning stomachs.

Formality came with the Faculty Reception which ended with informal visits to faculty homes. Still more introductions followed with a fashionable Women's Tea and a "bean feast" for the fellows.

Dripping helplessly, a large crowd enjoyed the M-Club Watermelon Feed in the gym parking lot after an evening of talent scouted from the student body.

Finally, marking the beginning of the football season, students danced through main street in their smartest PJ's grasping for air and hanging on for dear life.

Mike Ziemann, Arnold Groff and Ray Hutchison found that the all school party was an ideal place to meet new people.

Lynne Swanbeck practices the "chow line cut" on her friend Gay Morton.

Earl Saffer was one of the students who met informally in a faculty home after the Faculty Reception.

Bashful freshmen learned to call each other by the right name at the Freshmen Get Acquainted Party.

Fashions and pretty smiles were the focus of attention as Georgianna Krebbel modeled for the Women's Tea.

Beans, beans, and more beans decked the table at the Men's Supper.

first week activities

Jim Pricken, Earl Solomon and Glen Grove made a big splash as they were the first to feel the effects of another sophomore victory.

Glee Hoover sang her tale in French of hanging apples on a lilac tree.

Samly Hoover and Larry Kitzel puffed away at a duet as they made their traditional appearance in the All School Talent show.

Dr. and Mrs. Büttinger slurped their watermelon a little more neatly than others.

Breathless and staggering, students hung on for clear life at the PJ Parade.

CELEBRATION MARKS THE WEEKEND OF NOVEMBER 6

With a woman's touch, Janice Winkler and Suzanne Carlisle slopped paint on the pep club float the night before display.

Judy Fox Mohler, retiring queen, returned to the throne to crown her successor.

Homecoming 1964 donned the McPherson College campus as organizations and classes began spotting the campus with floats. Many alumni gathered in spontaneous groups to find old friends and surroundings.

Chosen by popular vote of the student body, Karen Andes graciously reigned as Homecoming Queen, with Georgianna Krehbiel, Sophomore attendant, and Sue Metlin, Freshman attendant. Retiring Queen Judy Fox Mohler returned to crown the 1964 Queen at the afternoon McPherson-Bethel Homecoming game. "November Harvest", the homecoming theme, provided a warming atmosphere at the Queen's Ball as a golden harvest moon shone over the guests who gathered.

One wonders what the girls saw on the field!

Karen Andes, the 1964 Homecoming Queen, is an English and speech major. Brimming with poise and efficiency, Karen's extracurricular interests range from music to sports and drama. She plans to teach after graduation.

Sophomore attendant Georgianna Krehbiel possesses a venturesome and vivacious spirit which is shown in her active participation in campus drama, debate, and publications.

Sue Metlin, freshman attendant, radiates a charm and calmness of manner captivating to many. Sue plans a major in English and speech.

The Burke Family Singers presented choral entertainment from a repertoire of sacred and classical music. Featured was a flute debut by the youngest daughter.

The Turnau Opera Players captivated an audience with well performed opera in English.

CULTURAL SERIES PRESENTS FIVE ATTRACTIONS

Philip Hanson brought back the art in story-telling as a solo performer without costume or stage properties.

Raymond Michalski wooed the audience with his basso voice.

Alirio Diaz brought his guitar and a repertoire of classical music to the campus.

College students made a visit to the President's home, 1000 East Euclid, for Open House.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT TAKES MANY FORMS

Student Council, under the chairmanship of Lowell Flory, heeded concerns of college students, encouraged student participation in campus affairs, and strove to increase unity between the student and the student government. The college bulldog mascot began appearing at basketball games as a result of the Student Council's interest in school spirit.

Social Committee coordinated social activities such as the Friday night twenty-five cent movie, after-game dances, and the Winter and Spring formals.

The Board of Publications met during the year spasmodically to accept publication budgets, applications for publication positions, and to decide on a ratio for dividing the Student Council's publication budget between the Spectator and the Quadrangle.

Student Court is a student oriented body on campus for handling disciplinary items. It functions throughout the year both as a counseling body and as a court with the power to assess penalties in cases of student misconduct.

BOARD OF PUBLICATIONS... Judy Hoover, Lowell Flory, Phil Miller, Carolyn Lehman, Carol Christy, Ken Ullom, Dr. Frantz, Barbara Bollinger.

QUADRANGLE UNDERGOES CHANGES

Changes in the 1965 Quadrangle began in the spring of 1964 when editor-in-chief, Judy Hoover, attended a publications workshop at Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kansas. Throughout the year Judy, and Assistant Editor, Barbara Bollinger, planned and scheduled pictures which captured the student and his activity at McPher-son College.

Photographer, Alan Cable, willingly took all of the 1965 faculty pictures and instantaneously appeared in some of the most unexpected places.

The realistic factor behind the rest of the dreamers was Gary Fisher, who represented the yearbook's financial efforts. His accomplishments are reflected in the advertising sold to merchants in hopes of mutual support.

Noticeable changes in the yearbook are an additional 24 pages and a full page of color.

Harriet Swinger claimed a thinking stool and an eraser as assets in copy writing.

Business Manager Gary Fisher kept track of every penny as his assistant learned the ropes.

Trying to fit the best pictures in the best places was not the easiest job for editor Judy Hoover and her assistant Barbara Bollinger.

Carol Radatz and Carolyn Pierratt checked on copy assignments before they hustled out to gather needed information.

Managing editor Jamie Oslev, Editor Carolyn Lehman, and Campus editor Ron Cassidente, as signed stories, copyread, and made layouts for weekly productions of the Spectator.

PRESSES ROLL OUT 30 SPEC' ISSUES

An experience never to be forgotten by Editor-in-chief, Carolyn Lehman, occurred at Homecoming time when a special 'six-page issue was being produced. The Campus editor was called home, the Managing editor came down with the flu, the Faculty advisor had to leave town—and the Editor-in-chief nearly had a nervous breakdown!

Throughout the year a staff of five students, plus reporters and a photographer, provided every student and off campus subscriber with a total of 30 issues of the Spectator.

Alan Cable, relieved of his picture orders, signs in photographic equipment.

Jerry Barrows, Business manager, and his assistant, Jim Lambert, conferred with merchants in hopes of selling advertising.

COED' COUNCILS WELCOME NEW STUDENTS

Welcoming the new "femme fatale" at the Women's Tea, and the new male populace at the Men's Supper in the fall, were major responsibilities of the coed councils. Blood donors were also solicited by both councils, schedules arranged and donors notified.

Heart Sister week, climaxed with an early breakfast on Valentine's morning, girl chats, and a requested second WPA week were among other Women's Council efforts.

Second semester brought a host of new students and especially for Men's Council, another array of welcoming activity.

Men's Council members Rui Grout, and Max Gumm checked files for new second semester students.

DORM COUNCILS ASSIST IN HOUSE ACTIVITIES

Christmas parties, open house, dormitory dues, new irons, a card or a plant for a hospitalized friend...dormitory council members met regularly to discuss the concerns of the house.

Aside from the more pleasant concerns of the council, was the duty of encouraging order in each house, respect of property and consideration for other residents. They must act upon any infraction of dormitory rules and may counsel with other student governing organizations on campus, as well as the Dean of Women and the Dean of Men.

Members were elected by popular vote of the house residents.

AND INTELLECTUAL ENLIGHTENMENT CAMPUS COMMITTEES

Food Committee members were a mediary between students and Slater Food Service, representing the student's likes and dislikes in food preparations. The Committee carried out a food opinion poll and used the results to plan more satisfactory menus.

The Student Union Board met occasionally to handle matters which would benefit the student in the use of the Student Union. Among these matters were the placing of two Sandzen pictures in the Student Union lounge and the freedom to use the television set in the basement.

Functions of the Chapel and Assembly Committee were on display to everyone twice a week at the convocations meetings. Most of their time was spent dreaming and evaluating how to improve the programs. They brought political speakers, foreign performers, and people from various religious and cultural backgrounds to McPherson College campus.

Variety of expressions were seen on unaware faces during Chapel meetings—

AGRICULTURAL CLUB . . . Walter Miller, Dave Coppock, Galen Neher, Stan Hoover, Duane Gibson, Lee Miller, Alay Walmer, John Miller, George Snavely, Dr. Ward.

VOCATIONAL CLUBS CREATE FUTURE LEADERS

Several organizations on campus serve as interest and information centers for students desiring to enter vocational fields of agriculture, music, teaching, home economics, or church service.

Students who appreciate good music found MENC meetings to have an inviting atmosphere. Aside from field trips to performances and observing various kinds of keyboard and woodwind instruments, the organization sent invitations to surrounding colleges to attend music activities on McPherson College campus.

Future teacher aspirants shared concerns of their rising profession through joint meetings with Kansas Wesleyan and Bethany colleges.

Home Economics activities were focused on "Family Living" discussions. In October members rallied together to prepare a tasty meal for the Red Cross Blood Mobile survivors.

STUDENTS BECOME INTERNATIONALLY MINDED

Much of people's attention continues to focus on national and international affairs and McPherson College campus is no exception. On November 27 a General Assembly convened on campus. The Model UN was established in order to become well acquainted with the structures of the UN and to study various country's positions on international affairs.

Verstehen Sie Deutsch? Practice in conversational German, German music concerts, and bicycle rides were among the activities for German Club members.

International Relations Club members shared picture slides and opinions as a cultural exchange between foreign and native backgrounds.

Twelve hours of history and an overall grade average of B or higher were prerequisites for members in the honorary Phi Alpha Theta society.

Dale Marrs and Bob Slater, two McPherson College students, studied in Marburg, Germany, during their Junior Year Abroad.

Between classes, Dale and Bob stop at the Marktplatz in the old sector of the city.

Dale Marrs and Bob Slater amble down the hill from the dormitory in Marburg, Germany, on their way to class at Philip's Universitat.

DEBATE...Doug Rapp could not wait to get a debate going with Gary Flory, Ken Ullom, and Lowell Snyder.

ELECTION YEAR CREATES POLITICAL ACTIVITY ON CAMPUS

McPherson College Debaters traveled to Wichita State University, Kansas State University, Nebraska University, and St. John's College for debate competition.

Phi Kappa Delta, the honorary forensics organization, hosted the McPherson Invitational tournament for surrounding Kansas debaters in early February.

"All the way with LBJ" was the avid expression of all Young Democrats during the election year. Young Republicans contradicted with "In your heart you know he's right!" Showing much enthusiasm, members distributed campaign material, posted campaign posters, helped in voter registration and promoted student interest in politics.

Young Democrats also led a car caravan to Hutchinson, Kansas, to hear Vice President Hubert Humphrey speak, and likewise the Young Republicans jaunted to Wichita to see Senator Barry Goldwater.

PHI KAPPA DELTA...Ken Ullom, Norman Howell, Roger Solomon.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS...Jr. Hendricks, Charles Snyder, Carlos Green, Terry Reyher, Carolyn Lehman, Ron Cassidente, Gary Wilson, Ken Ullom, Janice Howell, Elaine Sales, Modena Hoover, Kathy Parks, Pat Howell, Martha Farringer.

Students tried to decipher facts from campaign propaganda.

CBYF CABINET...Glenn Frazier, Roger Schrock, Galen Neher, Donna Gochenour, Dorothy Wine, Mary Steele, Barbara Bollinger, Craig Miller.

BLACK CANYON, CAMP WEBSTER PROVIDE CHANGE OF SCENE FOR CLUBS

Caroling at Christmas time with cold toes and a runny nose, trips to Black Canyon, and campfires, were a few of the more lively activities of the Brethren Youth Fellowship.

MCY sponsored "Camp '68", a membership drive for new freshmen members, which was held at Camp Webster near Salina. Several students also participated in a workcamp whose project was to clean up an inter city church in Kansas City, Kansas.

With the aid of Malcolm Cheek and Nevin Poff, Prof. Stern enjoyed "Camp 68's" abundant chow.

STUDENTS STAY PHYSICALLY FIT . . . ENJOY SPORTS

Skaters waltzed and tumbled at roller-rinks surrounding McPherson on Friday evenings. Active members found a worthwhile way to combine service with fun by volunteering to help thirteen retarded children from the McPherson area learn to skate.

Considerable amounts of energy were expended as students participated in intramural sports. Organized by students representing the various sports, college students were able to participate competitively in volleyball, basketball, baseball and bowling activities.

INTRAMURALS: Larry Bowman, Granville Taylor, Tom Reazin, Wendell Kuhlman, Ed Johnson, Gary Wilson

SPORTING SPIRIT SPARKS CAMPUS

Juicy watermelons, game programs, and chairs for heavy-backed spectators, passed through the hands of M Club members during their year's activity. At Christmas time they entertained a group of sixth grade McPherson boys at a sporting party and in the spring presented the annual gaiety of the M Club carnival.

WAA members participated in playdays and bowling tournaments with neighboring colleges, besides participating in volleyball, basketball and individual sports throughout the year.

Pep Club, with their cowbells and megaphones, and the A and B string cheerleaders were responsible for a greater share of the noise at the round house and the football stadium during games.

MUSIC GROUPS TOUR IOWA, MINNESOTA, MISSOURI AND KANSAS

McPherson College A Cappella Choir dedicates itself toward the ideal of a spiritual group experience through the medium of music. Under the direction of Professor Donald R. Frederick, the choir participated in the Sunday morning worship service at the Kansas State Fair, a television program on the McPherson churches at Thanksgiving time, sang in Chapel and during church services, toured Iowa and Minnesota and gave a Spring Concert in Brown Auditorium.

Ladies Trio consists of a group of girls selected from the A Cappella Choir. Directed by Professor Frederick, the group made several appearances on campus and on a deputation tour through eastern Kansas and Missouri in early February.

Chapel Choir enlists students who enjoy singing and have two hours a week free for rehearsals. Appearing in various Chapel programs during the year, the choir is directed by Dr. Doris Goppock.

LABORATORY THEATER INTRODUCED TO McPHERSON COLLEGE

Alpha Psi Omega is an honorary society whose members must meet a definite standard of requirements in both areas of acting and production. Just developed this year by Professor Reyher was the laboratory theater, a special project assigned to Alpha Psi Omega. Members of the society also ushered at major productions in long formals and white dinner jackets.

Players Club members have participated in a drama or have done technical work for a production.

ATHLETICS

football

Charles Wiggins chalked up another gain for McPherson.

New strategies flashed through busy minds as coaches Smith and Widrig conferred.

Seconds were ticking off in the final minutes of the game as team members scrutinized every play.

McPherson Bulldogs rushed into the gridiron season with 6 returning senior lettermen. Battling upon the field they ended the season in fifth place with 4 wins, 5 losses in the conference standings. Scrimmages and workouts started weeks before school began as the bulldogs drilled for their hard won victories. Duane Pope and his roommate Nick Petrucci won the honors of captain and co-captain of the team. Additional honors went to Duane Pope for being chosen first string on the all conference defensive end.

Sideline activities varied from complaints about the good tasting nutriments to the numerous injuries suffered.

SENIORS FOLLOW PATH TO GRADUATION

Wrinkled up noses, smiling and sipped to the bone, seniors would be the last people to miss the noon feed.

Soon seniors will be quoting, "Ah, but those were the good old days when I was in college . . .". When the class of '65 graduates there will be no one to boast of the first parties in the new Student Union building, the initiation of Slater Food Service to the campus, the debut of the Fine Arts Festival, or of being the very first to live in the new wing of Dotzour Hall. These will probably grow into long tales which the class of '65 will share at future alumni meetings.

Throughout the year seniors accepted responsibilities in student government, publications, political organizations, music and education organizations and also initiated the Model United Nations.

Now, thoughts of the future streak through their minds as they contemplate their new role in society—as a teacher, a businessman, a student abroad or in graduate school. Seniors will become a part of a bigger world.

JUNIORS BECOME MORE AWARE OF EDUCATIONAL DEMANDS

Juniors wonder at the rapidly passing college years as they prepare for their final year. Memories return with the excitement of the adventuresome freshmen, and bewildered sophomores, and now they must face a decision in a major field.

As usual, the junior proficiency exam haunted 119 juniors and revealed a classroom of students signed up for a 12:20 session of bonehead english.

Studying in Marburg, Germany, two members of the class, Dale Marrs and Bob Slater, promoted cultural exchange and people to people understanding. Other juniors were busy on campus filling key publication positions, contributing to musical and dramatic productions and serving as chairmen on vital school service committees. Nominated by the junior class, Karen Andes was selected by the student body to reign as the 1964 Homecoming Queen. Later, the Spring brought the traditional junior-senior banquet and an air of formality.

Throughout the year juniors became more aware of the demand for a good education and its meaning in their own future, as well as the future of the world.

SOPHOMORES REACH HALFWAY MARK IN COLLEGE CAREER

Reaching the halfway mark in their college career, many of the sophomores began to take college a little more seriously. They made a running start for another good year by pulling the freshmen in the lagoon at the traditional tug-of-war — which makes them champions twice in a row.

As a class they are well represented in various interests on campus and hold many key positions in athletics, music, publications, and drama. In the fall they worked together to produce the second prize winning Homecoming float. Together also, they wonder at the thought of facing the Junior Proficiency Exam next year.

Realizing their capabilities, desires, and responsibilities, the sophomores continue to mature.

FRESHMEN MEET NEW CHALLENGES

Richard Martin is captivated by one of the many volumes which waits for attention.

Beans, enthusiasm, and homesickness marked the beginning of a new challenge for 216 freshmen, the class of 1968. Initiation procedures made their inevitable mark with the traditional beans, bare feet, boxes filled with books, spooky sack masks, and an occasional branding of an "M". Beans flew high at the first football game as freshmen rid themselves of their caps—while the uncooperative neophytes remained in a cage at the south end of the field to view the game.

Representing 22 different states and 4 foreign countries, the freshmen brought talent and promise of academic excellence to the campus. A total of 82% ranked in the general superior intelligence grouping of the mental maturity tests.

Throughout the year freshmen learned the importance of budgeting time between studying, working, sleeping, and recreating. They experienced a new kind of independence and were beginning to accept the responsibilities that were included.

McPherson

Our flag flew at half mast three times within the last sixteen months . . .

But it never failed to rise again.

Each new tomorrow brought insight, increased understanding, knowledge . . .

Spheres, realms, new frontiers crave new leaders.

IN DEDICATION

Service has been a by word with Dr. and Mrs. Bitinger. For the past 15 years mankind as well as McPherson College has been served with dedication. It is now fitting that we dedicate this book to them.
