the future... who knows?

I wonder
What will the future bring
Just by looking at today.
Swirling, raging, surging masses
Of humanity
Each going nine directions at once
Vaguely aware of the world
Around them—not really caring.
Metallic automated monsters
Doing our thinking, working, playing
Telling us what to do

And when to do it
Is that progress?
The big-shot politicians playing
Russian roulette
With lives, homes and nations,
And through all of this
You and I are Slowly sinking out of sight.
What will the future bring?
Happiness, a better life?
Maybe the end . . .

Fall Follies Provides An Afternoon of Fun

Many students, new and returning, turned out for a warm autumn afternoon of food and games. Fall Follies got underway at noon with lunch in the park. Teams were then chosen by dorm floors and the rest of the afternoon was spent in competition in a variety of races which seemed to be designed to bring out the best of everyone's speed, coordination and talent. An egg toss, gunny sack races, toilet paper "mummies" and a bat race were just a part of the fun.

The bat race proved to be one of the more exciting events of the afternoon. The race involved running to a baseball bat and turning 10 circles around it by putting your forehead on one end and the other end on the ground. Few of those with enough courage to participate remained standing for long before hitting the ground from a combination of dizziness and laughter.

Zong Show Helps Charity

During Homecoming weekend, the college held a Zong Show to raise money for the United Way. The judges were urged by the audience to zong the contestants and booed when they rated too high or too low. The talent consisted of everything from ballerinas to "Coneheads". The winner was Franchiel Spencer with her impression of "Nadia", accompanied on the piano by Cosette Button. Franchiel contributed her $15 prize winnings to the United Way to start off the drive.

Gamblers Go For Prizes

The gamblers came out in full force Casino Night. Students received their poker chips and played to win. The gamblers played Bingo, 21, and Craps. The night ended with the players bidding their winnings on prizes such as coupons for hamburgers and record albums.

Homecoming Is Still Crazy After All These Years

The Homecoming theme "Still Crazy After All These Years" fit the occasion. Homecoming Weekend was wet but that didn't bother the students at Mac. Trustees, alumni and parents showed up to help make the weekend enjoyable. The activities started with trustee meetings, which students were encouraged to attend. The evening meal was Colonel Kelly's Kansas Fried Chicken with all the fixings anyone could imagine. The Zong Show, pep rally and Casino night concluded Friday's activities.

Saturday morning started off with the parade. Both students and faculty were involved. The women's tennis team hosted Fort Hays and was defeated by a score of 3 to 6. The Cross Country team crossed the finish line together to defeat the Alumni. The Bulldog football team was beaten by Southwestern College 17 to 6, but put up a good fight. During half-time at the football game recognition was given to the 1952 Football Team, which was undefeated. Bruce Wagoner and Paula Schnalthman were crowned King and Queen, with Kirk Higgins and Brenda Brenneman as Sophomore attendants, and Ken Nagamatsu and Kim Eisele as Freshman attendants. "A Comedy of Errors" was the homecoming play presented by the Drama Department. Homecoming activities came to a close with the performance of "Madgic" at the Homecoming Dance.

Will We Ever Forget?

Living in the dorm gives you a chance to see what everybody else looks like when they wake up in the morning. You get the opportunity to scream at your neighbors to turn down the stereo or just to shut up! Raids and paybacks for "what you did to us" add to surprise and excitement in the dorm. Dorm life also means birthday parties, gab sessions, open dorm hours and what do we do now?

Some students find their way to the library (some more than others). In the library you can find everything from magazines to the College Learning Skills Lab.

A most important part of campus life is the cafeteria. Who hasn't had the thrill of being at the bottom of the stairs in line? (We know who you are!) And the dream of every student is to make it through 4 years of school without breaking a glass or dropping a tray.

Ah, yes, the joys and pains of campus life! Will we ever forget them?

"A Comedy of Errors"

Homecoming weekend featured two performances of William Shakespeare's play "A Comedy of Errors". The play is the complicated story of two sets of identical twins who have no knowledge of their look-alikes. Long hours of rehearsal paid off for The McPherson College Players and their director, Rick Tyler, as students, faculty, parents and alumni found themselves caught up in the fun.

Excellent performances were turned in by all four leading actors. Dromio of Syracuse and Dromio of Ephesus were played by sisters Anne and Gail Erisman. Mike Roberts was cast as Antipholus of Syracuse and Kyle Robinson as Antipholus of Ephesus. The parents of the four were played by Steve Newcomer, Ageon, and Rae Ann Frantz, Amelia.

Aristocrats in the play were Joan Cunnick, Debbie Stong, Celia Stover, Becky Baile, Kathryn Frantz, Roy Dare, Jeff Gumm, Paul Rohrer, John Hoffman, John Fleming and Lori Christy.

Cheryl Hammerlund, Yolanda Grove, Camillia Lewis, Franchiel Spencer, Sara Janssen and Sara Penner performed as the Dance and Acrobatic Troupe. The townspeople were Theresa Netolicky, Marie Miller, Sandy Sharp, Michelle Keedy and Janice Monk, Janet Brumbaugh and Karen Miller were cast as puppeteers for the performance.

Roles Change

Sadie Hawkins began with an Elvis Presley movie, "Blue Hawaii". The audience enjoyed singing along with Elvis and "really getting into it". Next came ice cream in the Student Union which was enjoyed by a good sized crowd. Friday night the girls invited the guys to a banquet and a disco dance afterward. Saturday night was a home football game followed by a square dance in the gym. The couples were taught to square dance by a professional "caller".

1. Couples work on their square dancing techniques. 2. Tammy Lavy and Guy Bourke relax during the square dance. 3. Kevin Wood, Louisa Panigides, Teresa Gregg and Bob Trocheck enjoy the ice cream.

Ladies Night

An evening of entertainment and delicious food was planned for the ladies at Mac College. Supper consisted of shish kebobs, baked alaska and efficient? waiters. Logan Tusow and Scott Robinson provided the laughs along with other entertainment from a barbershop quartet. The roles changed, which provided a wonderful "Ladies Night" out.

"THE NIGHT THOREAU SPENT IN JAIL" is a drama which depicts one night in the mid 1800's that Henry David Thoreau spent in jail, with flashbacks showing what type of person he was. This play did not portray Thoreau and Emerson with God-like images as many people think of them. Instead it showed a side of their lives that people do not think about, the comical side. Thoreau was put in jail for refusing to pay his taxes. The reason behind this was because he was against war and he felt that his taxes supported the military in their war against Mexico.

“Antigone” Enclosed and Surrounded Audience

The Little Theatre was the setting for the production of Jean Anouilh's "Antigone." "Antigone" is a drama about two sons and two daughters of Oedipus, a deceased king of Thebes and his sister-in-law Creon who is now Queen. The two brothers kill each other and Creon leaves them lying in the streets unburied. Antigone defies Creon's orders and buries them in a grave. She is killed for this act, which results in other suicides that leave a lasting impression on Creon.

Rick Tyler, director could not visualize a man playing the tryanical "King Creon" opposite Antigone but he could see a powerful female Queen Creon.

A totally black set was used with white costumes of different materials to offset it. In the atmosphere and closeness of the Little Theatre the tension, anticipation and powerfulness of the preformers enclosed and surrounded the audience.

"Antigone" is a one act play involving eleven characters. They included: Antigone played by Deb Stong, Queen Creon played by Kathy Frantz, Ismene played by Franchiel Spencer and Haemon played by Harold Briscoe. The rest of the cast consisted of: Deb Lolling, Steve Newcomer, Russell Carswell, Harold Spencer, Tammy Lusk, Smita Nirula and Celia Stover. Others involved on the technical side were: Karen Miller, Kyle Robinson, Murial Moffitt, Lori Tunell and Terry Netolicky.

“We Love You Just the Way You Are”

The night of April 14, 1978 many couples were dancing under dim lights to the music of “Snow.” The theme of Prom “We Love You Just the Way You Are” was perfect for the atmosphere of those students and faculty who enjoyed the last formal dance of the year.

The dance was held at the Elks Club in McPherson, which turned out to be decorated much like a prom. Craig Holman, Lynda Atherton and Tina Roesch headed the committee to get Prom together and make it a success. Crepe paper was strung from the ceiling and a wooden bridge with its own stream and fountain put the finishing touches on the decorating.

A banquet featuring smothered steaks, scalloped potatoes, green beans and bread preceded the dance.

The total evening was planned well and turned out to be a great dance to end the year and create more warm memories. “We Love You Just the Way You Are” McPherson College!

The intramural program, headed by Coach Paul Graber and Tom O'Reilly, offered a variety of sport competitions. A touch football round-robin was scheduled in September and October. A men's volleyball round-robin was completed before Christmas break. The highlight of intramurals was a double round-robin tournament in basketball. Seven teams were involved and participation increased a lot. Women's basketball was played on Tuesday nights with two teams participating. A bowling day was held in April with 32 bowlers showing up. The season ended with a softball round-robin in which five teams competed.

James Brooks was voted unanimous all KCAC and NAIA District 10. Bruce Wagoner was also voted all KCAC. Kent McDowell and James Brooks were Co-Captains for the Bulldogs. These two men provided the spirit and kept the attitude good through all the hardships.

Bulldogs Build for the Future

The Men's Basketball team faced many ups and downs throughout the season but finished the year by winning four out of their last seven games. Mac Bulldogs were led by team captain Dave Romo in scoring, by averaging 22.3 points per game. Mark Mueller averaged 12 rebounds a game to lead the Bulldogs and Tom O'Reilly led the team in assists.

Quickness was the major strength of the Bulldogs. They utilized quickness with the fast break and full court press. One point that hurt the team was the lack of height, especially second semester after losing Kent Harris and Chuck Pike.

After losing to Friends the Bulldogs faced a tough decision. There wasn't any chance of winning KCAC or even getting in the play-offs. So the team had to make a decision, either to stop trying and lose the rest or work as a team and look toward the future. The Bulldogs chose the later and finished their season impressively.

The last game was dedicated to the lone senior Dave Romo who was named all KCAC and was second NAIA District 10 scorer. The Bulldogs were ready to face third ranked Tabor at home in the round house. Mac outscored them 77-70 in front of the largest crowd at home during the year. Ending their season with a 8-16 record.

"Sam" Named to KCAC All-Conference

The Mac College women's basketball team coached by Gaylord Gillette ended their season with a 7-13 record and 5th in KCAC. Five seniors ended their college basketball careers. They include Janis Cordell, Denise Creevan, Celia Stover, Deb Enos and Lisa Gaskill.

Sam led the team in scoring with 276 points, 30 steals and averaged 13.8 points per game. It was these kind of figures that led Janis "Sam" Cordell to earn the honor of being named to the KCAC All-Conference team. Sam was also voted the Most Inspirational Player by the team. Lisa Gaskill received Honorable Mention KCAC and was voted by the team as the Most Valuable Player. Deb Enos received the Most Improved Player award.

The women started out their season against Marymount College. During the non-conference Marymount clash, the Bulldogs were defeated 75-58. The team had only two weeks of practice before this game and much of it had been conditioning. "This year depends on how well the new players can develop into the team unit," said Coach Gillette. The team developed into a unit and won its next two games.

Throughout the year the women's basketball team had their good games and bad games. The experience and inspiration of the seniors will be missed next year but they influenced the newcomers to become better ball players and to look forward to another season.

The Women's Basketball team consists of: (front row) Coach Gaylord Gillette, Judy Oard, Wylene Schmidt, Sharon Luthi, Janell Baldner, Lisa Gaskill, Tammy Lavy, Janis Sam Cordell, and Anne Ward, manager. Holman's Take KCAC Honors

Bulldog Coach Jerry Holman was chosen KCAC coach of the year by his fellow coaches in the conference. Coach Holman coached the Men's tennis team to a 2nd place in KCAC and 2nd in the NAIA District 10.

The team successfully opened their season by posting a 6-3 victory over Washburn University. The Bulldogs continued their winning by boasting 9-0 victories over Kansas Newman, Southwestern, Bethel and Kansas Wesleyan. Phillips University was a challenge for the netters. Last year McPherson was defeated 8-1 by them. But this year proved different. The tennis team battled to an impressive 7-2 win. The match against Fort Hays turned out to be tough but the men pulled out a close win 5-4. Bethany defeated Mac 8-1 with only Craig Holman winning in number one court singles.

For the third straight year Craig Holman was the singles champion for KCAC and District 10. He traveled to nationals in Kansas City but was defeated in the first round.

The Bulldogs finished the regular season with a 10-4 record. "There were many highlights, and a few pitfalls," said Coach Jerry Holman, "but on the whole we had a pretty good season." The Bulldogs will lose only one player, Marty Ward, who played number two singles.

PEOPLE

President Hoffman Plans Changes For Future Years

During his second year as President, Dr. Paul Hoffman continued to be an effective and innovative leader. Despite his busy schedule Dr. Hoffman spent much time talking with interest and concern to many Mac students. He finds students very exciting and highly praises their accomplishments, insights and leadership.

For the upcoming year, Dr. Hoffman has planned many faculty changes in his continuing efforts to improve the quality of the academic programs offered at McPherson College.

ADMINISTRATION

As Director of Admissions much of Joe Johnston's time is spent in recruiting new students to McPherson College. Joe also is involved in many extracurricular activities around campus including public address announcing for college sporting events and being faculty advisor to Mac Ambassadors.

To Joe, McPherson College has meant a place through which he "can make a contribution to serve student needs."

Merlin Frantz has been an important figure in the high levels of academic achievement students acquire at McPherson College. A former professor in the Education Department, he now holds the office of Dean of Academic Affairs.

Administration Keeps Mac College Running Smoothly

Dean of Student Affairs, Milt Goering, resigned from his position at the end of the year. His duties included keeping things going smooth among the students.

Dean Reynolds is the Business Manager and Treasurer of McPherson College.

Norma Tucker became Associate Dean of Academic Affairs this year. She is very involved in the job and helps both student and professors a great deal.

Gerald Holman is the Director of Development for McPherson College. He also coaches the men's tennis team and this year won the honor of ACCK Tennis Coach of the Year.

FINE ARTS

Assistant Professor of Music Ron Aden conducted concert choir and "Opus II" so well he was chosen as Professor of the Year. Ron feels "the academic attitude of the faculty and staff as well as the interests of the students" helps him to "be excited" as a teacher at McPherson College.

Mary Ann Robinson teaches almost all the art courses at McPherson College. She enjoys music and travel as she attends concerts regularly and has been to many parts of the world. She is also the founder of the local Humane Society.

Rick Tyler graduated from McPherson College in 1974 and returned this year as head of the Drama Department. Rick taught such classes as Speech and Oral Interpretation as well as having a very successful year of drama department productions.

Larry Kitzel enjoys his hobbies of biking and photography, he offers instruction in both to Mac students for credit. But his biggest responsibilities are in the music department where he works with several small ensembles and bands as well as giving private lessons.

NATURAL SCIENCE

Dr. John Burkholder, Professor of Biological Sciences, teaches courses such as Human Anatomy, Ecology, Genetics and General Biology.

Dr. Richard Zerger, Physical Sciences, instructs students in Introductory Chemistry, Quantum Physics and Spectroscopy.

Dr. Gilford J. Ikenberry, Jr., brings many of his outside interests into the classroom such as backpacking. He does this by offering Wilderness Experience, backpacking in Colorado during June. Dr. Ikenberry also teaches General Biology, Botany, Microbiology, Cell Biology and Man and His Environment.

Assistant Professor of Biological Sciences, Alfred Dutrow, is responsible for many of the agriculture courses taught on campus.

HUMANITIES

As a native of Holland, Dr. Jan van Asselt fills in his German language students on the culture of the country. He has also led trips to Germany and helped many students visit that country.

Professor Bob Green's courses range from a study of Shakespeare to composition classes. He is also advisor for the publications, Quadrangle and the Spectator.

Dr. Harley Stump is the head of the English department. He teaches a wide range of literature courses and allows students to express their own ideas in creative writing classes.

Corinne Hughbanks is the Spanish instructor at the college and Registrar. This year she took a group of students to Guatemala over Interterm.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Dr. Alvin Willems resigned this year after being with the Industrial Arts program here for 28 years.

Assistant Professor of Home Economics, Connie Nichols provides many field trips in her classes. Her Child Development class works with the McPherson Early Childhood Education Center, of which she is a board member.

Assistant Professor of Industrial Arts Gene Hill teaches courses in Engineering, Graphics I & II, Woodworking I and Cabinetmaking.

APPLIED ARTS

Dayton Rothrock, Professor of Education and Psychology is involved in preparing students to become teachers.

Dr. Doris Coppock was chosen as Women's Tennis Coach of the Year in the KCAC. She also teaches Anatomy and Kinesiology, Health and Methods in Teaching Physical Education.

Don Rominger is the Athletic Director of McPherson College and also was the football coach.

Associate Professor of Education Monroe Hughbanks instructs students on what to expect when they become teachers. His classes include Introduction to Education and Field Experiences.

Head Basketball Coach Paul Graber teaches physical education and many of the related courses at the college.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

Besides working in the administration Dr. Leland Lengel teaches Medieval History and Early Modern Europe. He has been a member of the faculty and administration for 15 years.

Assistant Professor of Behavioral Sciences Frances Moore offers to her students the chance to get involved with the many social services provided in the community. Her classes included American Minorities, Society Today and Juvenile Delinquency.

Dr. Don Rominger works with the history and sociology departments on campus. Social Problems, American History and Sociology of Sport are just three of the classes he teaches.

Professor of Behavioral Sciences John Burden helps his students get involved in outside projects, such as the Big Brother and Sister program at the Youth Center. He teaches Psychology Today, Behavior Modification and Adolescence.

Dr. Raymond Flory, head of the History and Political Science department, took a sabbatical the Spring Semester of 1978. He traveled around the country talking to alumnus of the college from its first days.

BUSINESS-MATH

John Cameron, Professor of Economics and Business Administration, involved students in the Experienced Based Education program offered here. The students work in what may become their career and learn what it is like.

Associate Professor of Mathematics Stan Beery teaches most of the math courses on campus.

Emma Hofer, Associate Professor in Economics, retired this year. The classes she taught included Financial Accounting, Financial Management, Investments and Auditing.

Paul Miller is the campus minister, serves as instructor for Brethren History and Thought and coaches the golf team.

Kathryn Achilles is known as the "mail room lady." She sorts the mail and distributes it to the students in their boxes six days a week.

ADMINISTRATION

Steve Jackson, a student at the college and Jan Shrock an alumni, work with the Admissions office. They are responsible for recruiting new students and making them feel at home.

Paul Wagoner runs the Copy Center located in Templeton Hall. The work provides many services for the school, from student directories to syllabus for classes.

Joanne Hamlin, Assistant Dean of Students, is involved in the ACCK as an advisor to the Minority Council. Joanne is an instructor in the Learning Skill Labs located in Miller Library.

Corinne Hughbanks is kept busy as the Registrar, besides teaching Spanish classes.

Jim Chipman, Director of Student Activities, heads the social life on McPherson College campus. This included shows, dances and ice cream socials. He is also Resident Director of Metzler Hall.

To all Mac College students, faculty and friends:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank my staff members and photographers for all the hard work. Susie, Anne, Denise, Karen, Kevin, Kenny and Gary—THANK YOU! Also, a very special thanks to Bob Green for his support and help throughout the year.

In completing the QUADRANGLE, it was my intention that in twenty, forty, eighty years from now, we can all look back to the 1977-78 QUADRANGLE and see how our lives at McPherson College were. Don't forget to look back and see

Thanks again,

Pam Oxley
