The pictures tell the story. The old gym is no more. Built in 1938, this gym served several generations of McPherson College-goers, but many saw a need to replace it. In early August, 1982, the razing began with the first crash of the wrecking ball. The beginning of the 1982-83 school year saw part of the shell of the gym still standing, but even that was gone by the time Homecoming arrived. In its stead, part of the new building's foundation was already laid. Visitors were able to view the progress and speculate as to the length of time it would be before the new facility was ready for occupation.

The picture on the preceding two pages is a copy of the architect's rendering of the new Campus Center, as it is called. Pyle Construction, the contractors, anticipated that work could be completed in August, 1983, in time for the 1983-84 school year.

Since 1976, Dr. Paul Hoffman has served McPherson College as president. In addition to that responsibility, in July 1982, at the Annual Conference of the Church of the Brethren, he was installed as moderator of the denomination and served in that capacity until the summer of 1983.

President Hoffman is often seen about campus chatting with students, eating in the cafeteria, and otherwise familiarizing himself with everything that happens on the McPherson College campus. He has become a confidante for a number of students because of his open mind and open door policy. He also teaches several courses including Counseling and Marriage and Family.

President Hoffman graduated with a B.S. from Manchester College and then went on to get his M.Div. from Bethany Theological Seminary, his M.A. from the University of Michigan, and his Ph.D. from Purdue University.

Different buildings mean different things to all of us, if anything at all. As a matter of fact, a person could spend their entire time here without ever stepping across the thresholds of some of the buildings on our campus.

Arnold and Kline Halls (not pictured) were formerly used as dormitories. Metzler and Fahnestock Halls are the men's dorms; Dotzour Hall, the women's; and Bittinger Hall now serves as a coed dorm. The College Courts provide homes for married students.

Beeghly Hall, the former Carnegie Library, houses the music department; Frantz Hall, the art department. Miller Library serves not only students, but also community groups who use its meeting rooms. The industrial arts find their home in Templeton Hall. Harnly Hall houses not only the natural sciences, math, and social sciences, but also the physical ed. department during its transition period between buildings. Mohler Hall, the administration building, serves a dual purpose with its classrooms, and Brown Auditorium, which often opens its doors to the public, houses the drama department. Last, but not least, is the Student Union, where everyone meets to play, work, and eat.

Homecoming. The word itself sounds warm. This year was no exception. The Homecoming festivities officially started with the Fair on Saturday morning, but the preparations began months in advance. Clubs decided what to do for booths for the Fair, students looked for places to house family and friends during their weekend stay, and the football team practiced.

These were just small parts of the total involvement. The amount of work was realized when the weekend finally arrived. Using the theme "Jubilee," a court had been selected, the campus's clubs and organizations displayed booths to the curious who braved the early morning chill, the spirit kickers performed prior to the football game, the pep band marched at half-time, the King and Queen were crowned, and the drama department presented the play, "God's Favorite." During the course of the weekend, the trustees met, the centennial campaign received its kick-off, and some alumni joined with the choir for a few numbers during the annual Homecoming Concert.

1) "Welcome to Homecoming" — just one of the many decorations adorning our campus during Homecoming weekend. 2) Mary Coffman, Lynn Carlson, and Galen Reeves check out what the Music Dept. booth has to offer. 3) The Quadrangle booth displayed old yearbooks and pictures for visitors to browse through. 4) The Homecoming Court: Wendy Rayno & Mark Swick; Cindy Dell & Jim Hoffman (standing in for Bruce Appel), King and Queen, and Emily Zavala & Bill Snyder. 5) The crowd present at the football game was treated at half-time when the McPherson Pipe Band and McPherson Pep Band performed. 6) Small, but determined and spirited, the Pep Band marched a routine ending in the "MC" formation. 7) One of the cheerleaders' many pyramids. 8) Quite a pile-up, but where's the ball?

The members of the Homecoming Court were Cindy Dell, Wendy Rayno, Emily (Memo) Zavala, Bruce Appel, Bill Snyder, and Mark Swick, all seniors. Crowned King and Queen were Bruce Appel and Cindy Dell. The game itself on Saturday afternoon was a heart-breaker, as the MAC Bulldogs lost by a narrow margin to the Bethel Threshers, 31-35. The afternoon was warm, though, so most fans stayed until the game ended.

On Sunday afternoon, the Concert Choir performed Handel's The Anthem on the Peace, a hemisphere premier. At the close of the concert, alumni joined the choir in singing the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah and "Beautiful Savior," the choir's theme song.

The winners of the fair booth competition were:
 1st - Intercultural Forum
 2nd - Dotzour Hall
 3rd - MENC

1) The pep band helped add pep and spirit to an already exciting game. 2) Metzler Hall's Fair booth required the use of at least a basic knowledge of basketball, as a number of people tried their luck at shooting foul shots. 3) President and Mrs. Hoffman, in attendance at all of the Homecoming festivities, are shown here at the football game. 4) The final seconds of the hard-fought football game. Disappointed isn't a strong enough word to describe the emotions of the coach and his players shown here. 5) Michael Kravets, Joel Reinhold, and Stuart Knoll indulge in a few antics, to the delight of the crowd. 6) One of the half-time features was the presentation of a plaque to Dr. Price, by President Hoffman, in honor of the many years of medical service given to the athletic department. 7) The meeting of the Board of Trustees was one of the many events scheduled during the weekend, and was certainly one of the most important.

Campus life. What does it mean? The first thought goes, of course, to the dorms, those homes away from home. Inside can be found almost any activity possible: eating, sleeping, studying, talking in volumes ranging from whispers to full-fledged screams, dancing and running, not to mention a multitude of other things. Where but a dorm can you find so many varied activities under one roof at one time?

The Student Union, affectionately known as the S.U., sees its share of the action, too. Inside it, meals are eaten, students (and others) spend their quarters on electronic games, future pool sharps sharpen their skills, people watch the new big-screen T.V., and others gather at the snack bar to eat or just to talk.

The library gets a few visitors, too, but it's not a place for the rowdy. What you'll find there are books, silence, and a lot of hard-working people.

Campus life goes far beyond the realm of these few places, though. Everyone has a favorite place on campus; some in the midst of the hustle and bustle, others as far away from it as possible. Individuality is the basic component of campus life; it makes McPherson College what it is.

1) One of Bittinger 3rd floor's popcorn parties. In attendance are Tracy Griffiths, Diana Shenefelt, Judy Lindblade, Angie Henson, and Suzie Glaves; 2) Marsha Hornbaker sports a Will (Shakespeare) Power T-shirt; 3) Scott Unruh and Scott Heim strike a beckoning pose for the photographer; 4) Charles Ogwang seems ready to go on a clear sunny day; 5) Pam Thies and Jeff Frazier take time out for a few good laughs; 6) Marie Barnes performs the answering duty as the phone rings again for the tenth time in as many minutes; 7) Some people don't like to study. Mark Gard has to be tied down to a chair; 8) Courtney Chaney and Scott Green "show us their stuff" in the Student Union basement.

CONVO . ETC .

Fall convocations saw a smaller number of required attendances, but continued to present informative lectures and programs. Lyle Lichty told of his experiences in Poland, Jeff Frazier did excerpts from "Give 'Em Hell, Harry," and Elmer Staats, former Comptroller General of the United States, visited as a part of the Mohler Lecture series. SAB offered chances for growth and learning through involvement. The Student Activities Board showed movies, including "The Elephant Man," organized dances, and planned Mystery Van excursions, for example.

1) The ground-breaking ceremony for the new Campus Center was the convocations theme on September 16, 1982. Students, faculty, and staff provided the muscle to break the ground. 2) Duane Hunn, Chuck Cuthbert, Vic Williams, and Mike McKellip were members of the band "The Outcasts," who participated in the SAB-sponsored Air Band contest. 3) Pres. Hoffman guided the plow used to break the ground for the new Campus Center.

1) Frank Bliven, Lutenist, performed at convocations. 2) Kevin Kruschwitz, a member of the winning "Toxic Shock" air band, jams on his air guitar. 3) Dan Levalley, Dawn Bryant, Frances Dutton, and Glenda Skarphol jig to the heat of the beat. 4) Prof. Fran Jabara, Economist from WSU, informed us all how to become an entrepreneur in the '80's. 5) Lela Ball accepts her sport's award from Dan Hoffman.

God's Favorite

The Benjamin twins, Mary Coffman and Wendy Rayno, help their father Joe (Don Stinnette) when the house alarm unsuspectedly goes off.

The cast of the play look on with great concern as Joe Benjamin suffers through his test from God.

Jeff Frazier proves he's the messenger sent by God with his "Big G" sweatshirt.

Cleaning up after the devastating house fire are the butler and the maid (Kevin Miller and Pam Doucette).

Mrs. Benjamin (Allison Shepard) admires her jewelry while checking to make sure it is all there.

The mischievous messenger strikes again!

Erny Figueroa characterizes Joe's only son, the alcoholic, after a "very fine New Year's Eve party."

Begging her husband to denounce God and get the whole ordeal over with is Mrs. Benjamin and daughter Wendy Rayno.

The Last Of Mrs. Lincoln

Robert Lincoln (Jeff Frazier) finally finds his mother living at an institution.

Mary Todd Lincoln, played by Ida Yarbrough in her senior project, weeps that son Robert is mistreating her.

Robin Rose played the part of Mary Harlan during Lynn Carlson's absence.

The cast of The Last of Mrs. Lincoln.

Mary Harlan (Lynn Carlson) and Robert Lincoln (Jeff Frazier) hold a serious conversation about Robert's mother.

Elizabeth Edwards (Mary Coffman) is the wife of a close friend of the Lincoln's.

Robert gets a little violent while trying to talk some sense into his mother. Unfortunately, she doesn't see his point.

Night Must Fall

Mrs. Bramson (Sandra Reisinger) satisfies her craving for chocolates.

Olivia Grayne (Mary Coffman) gets nowhere in a conversation with Herbert Laurie (Galen Switzer).

The full cast and crew of the McPherson College Theatre Department's production of "Night Must Fall."

Mrs. Terrence (Pam Thies) tells Mrs. Bramson (Sandra Retsinger) she is an "old hag"!

Olivia Grayne (Mary Coffman) discusses a case with Inspector Bel-seitz (Peter Kratz).

A pose of part of the cast and crew of "Night Must Fall" during a technical rehearsal.

Mary, Mary

Mary McKellaway (Karlene Tyler) wants her conversation to continue, but Dirk Winston (Gary Long) has another idea - according to the script!

Bob McKellaway (Jeff Frazier) gets his reward for buying his fiancée a present.

Tiffany Richards (Wendy Rayno) and her soon-to-be husband enjoy a quiet evening alone.

Mary McKellaway (Karlene Taylor) seems to have plenty of energy while discussing "past experiences" with her ex-husband.

Dirk Winston (Gary Long) has a man-to-man talk about love and girlfriends.

Elb McKellaway (Jeff Frazier) gives some friendly advice to his friend Dirk Winston (Gary Long) while Bob's lawyer (Erny Figueroa) looks on.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

Titania (Kathy Whitacre) and her train of fairies give royal treatment to the "changed" Bottom the Weaver.

The Mechanics from Athens perform a play. Here Pyramus (Steve Zimmerman) begs his lover, Thisbe (Craig Spitzer), to kiss him through the wall.

The Duke and Duchess enter into their courtyard on "their wedding day at night."

Titania is escorted by Oberon (Dave Tottier), the male fairy.

The evening festivities progress with a May Pole dance at the wedding celebration.

The Duke gives final word on who shall marry whom as the two lovers strongly disagree.

Life At Mac Is Richly Varied

1) Flossie Grove is one of the many non-traditional students on our campus. 2) Mary Ann Robinson helps a student from Central College on her ceramics project. 3) Spring is here, and it makes students like Gary Long walk with a bouncier step. 4) Deb Holderread finds that a bunk bed is a good place to study. 5) Jan Esgar plays her guitar while Pam Hieronymous and Kent Nicholson sing at an FCA meeting. 6) Kathy Patterson doesn't look too thrilled about "laundry-time". 7) Larry Kitzel, Steve Gustafson, Stephanie Graber, and Susan Taylor visit with prospective students on a Visitation Day.

Juniors

Some MAC students of sophomore or junior status choose to spend a year abroad, learning in another culture. This is done through the BCA (Brethren Colleges Abroad) program in cooperation with four European universities in West Germany, Spain, England, and France. This year's BCA'ers from MAC were senior Matt Howell; juniors Evelyn Smith, Carine Ullom, Matt Geisert, and Bruce Spitzer; and sophomore Roxanna Curry.

1982-83 A Year Of Change

Linda Butler

Cuthbert

As in any other year, the 1982-83 school year was one of change for McPherson College. The major change taking place, of course, was the razing of the old gym, subsequent relocation of physical education offices, and the building of the new Campus Center. Professors in the P.E. department were able to practice what they preached about keeping in shape, as their offices were moved to the 4th floor of Harnly for the duration of the school year. That wasn't all that happened in Harnly, though. Several rooms on 4th floor were remodeled in an effort to improve existing facilities.

Students came back to school to find a newly remodeled and redecorated bookstore with more room, new displays, and less hassle. Bookstore employees became responsible for finding needed texts, as the textbook section was put in another room.

A very welcome change was the addition of a big-screen TV in the student union. It very soon became one of the most popular machines on the campus, especially when an interesting movie was on. A large number of students gathered around it to weep and laugh and watch the last "M*A*S*H" showing, as that series was ended after more than ten years of being a household word. McPherson College salutes a job well done.

McPherson College's size and educational policies do make a difference. How? It's called involvement. Because McPherson is a liberal arts college, students are introduced to new ideas, new ways of thinking, and new areas of study — areas in which they might discover a great interest or competency, which otherwise would have been left untouched. And because of McPherson's size, the students can take these same interests and ideas and use them. History and education majors play varsity sports alongside P.E. majors; industrial arts and home economics majors sing and play instruments next to music majors in the choir and band; persons from all disciplines and areas of the community get involved in theatrical productions. At McPherson, there's always room to try.

SPORTS

Football Cheerleaders

The 1982 football cheerleaders were Cindy Dell, Jan Esgar, Leigh Richardson, Linda Sutton, and Aimee Wise. Assisting them were yell-leaders Stuart Knoll, Michael Kravets, Rory Nansel, David Pote, and Joel Reinoehl. A neck injury sustained by Jan Esgar during a fall from a pyramid did nothing to injure the group's spirit, and they kept on cheering — perhaps a bit more cautiously — but just as energetically and spiritedly as ever.

Basketball Cheerleaders

The 1982-83 basketball cheerleaders and yell-leaders were Leigh Richardson, Raquel Elliott, Diane Hess, Melissa Thompson (1st semester), and Aimee Wise; Dave Biscaro, Courtney Chaney, Dan LeValley, Rory Nansel, and Dave Rich. Their voices and stunts at the basketball games assured everyone that they were there, cheering the teams on, and just providing spirit in general.

Spirit Kickers

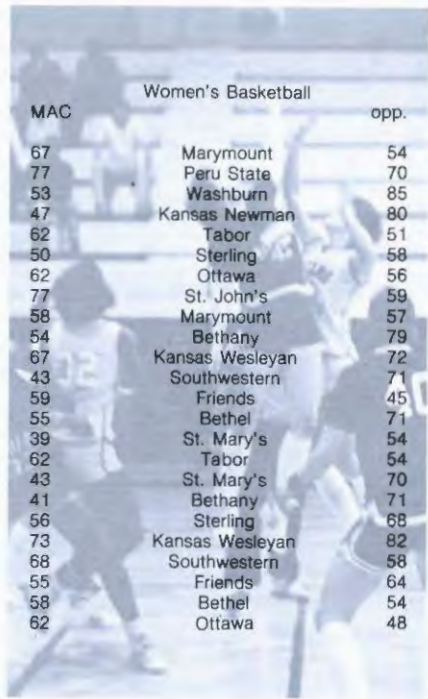

There's a new group on the McPherson College campus. Formed in the fall of 1982, sponsored by Joanne Hamlin, they are known as the Spirit Kickers. One of their first performances was at Homecoming, and they performed several times during the basketball season, in addition to their appearances at football games. The members in 1982-83 were Iyabo Iyewarun, Glenda Skarpohl, Kathleen Ballentine, Dea Ann Reber, Jana Huffman, Joy Flora, Cheryl Lolling, Sandy Haworth, Mandy Sowell, and Dawn Bryant.

B-u-l-l-d-o-g-s!

The 1982 football season started with high expectations, but ended in frustration. The Battling Bulldogs never tasted victory during this season, although they were close on many occasions.

The season began with games that were competitive and close enough for the Bulldogs to win, had they had one or two breaks. When the victories didn't come, the coaching staff, led by Dave Cripe in his second year at the helm, and fans alike were scratching their heads.

This season of frustration was typified in the homecoming game versus Bethel. The Bulldogs held a commanding 31-13 lead, before they lost the lead in the last nine minutes of the game.

In spite of these setbacks, the team for the most part kept a good attitude from the two-a-days in September, right through the final play of the Friends game. That is no small feat in an 0-9 season. Positive attitudes are to be expected from Dave Cripe's teams. Cripe continually stresses the positive, and it rubs off on his players.

Gerald Henderson, MAC's outstanding running back, was once again named to the first team all-KCAC squad. Everett Bradley had a banner year and was named to the second team. Bruce Appel, Steve Moore, and Ed Crumpacker all gained honorable mention in the KCAC.

Volleyball

The volleyball program at MAC has made great strides lately, so their 5-22 finish came as a surprise to most observers.

The problem centered around integrating so many freshmen into the program. It was apparent near the end of the season that the team had finally jelled. At that time, the team played more like the third place finishers they were projected to be. Coach Paul Graber's recruiting year paid off with some big wins in the last few games.

This late season turnaround was made possible to a large extent by the patience and determination exhibited by Lady Red netters throughout the entire season. That momentum should carry over, and spells good things to come for the 1983 team. Led by senior Valecia Kelly, the team is expected to provide excitement all season, playing inside the just-completed athletic facility.

Lady Red Basketball

The 1982-83 Lady Red basketball season began with a bit of uncertainty. They were coming off a year in which they went to the state playoffs, but they had lost two All-KCAC performers. In spite of this, they came through with another exciting year of women's basketball. Though they weren't serious contenders for a KCAC crown, they played good basketball for much of the season.

The ladies began the year with five wins in their first seven tries. Then they went into a prolonged slump before regaining their shooting touch near the end of the season. The result was an 11-13 won-loss record.

The Lady Red lacked size inside, and thus rebounding suffered. Coach Paul Graber will be looking to recruit more size for next season. The players that did play during the 82-83 campaign were very talented and made up for their lack of size with intelligent play and all-out hustle.

The Lady Red's first season in MAC's new gym complex promises to be an exciting one. First team all-KCAC pick Valecia Kelly, now a senior, will lead the Ladies in their quest to get back into the first division of the Kansas conference.

Men's Basketball

During the 1982-83 season, the McPherson College Bulldogs played an exciting brand of basketball. They improved their record from 1-23 to 5-19 and played an important spoiler role near the end of the season.

Coach Roger Trimmell, who played on a championship team here at MAC, took over as head coach. His down-to-earth coaching philosophy helped the team and promises to be a plus in the future. The Bulldogs played much more cohesively during this season. The attitude of the players was also much improved.

Kelly Unruh emerged as a force to be reckoned with in the KCAC, as he was named to the first all-star squad. Kevin Carlson played consistent ball. He always seemed taller than he really is, as he was one of MAC's best rebounders. This and his overall consistent play earned him honorable mention KCAC as a junior.

The Bulldogs will play for the first time in the new athletic facility this season. This should give them a better home-court advantage, and should make them a force in the KCAC.

6

1) Peter Kratz and his wife, Boniface Waweru, and Charles Ogwang take time from the dancing to just chat a little bit. 2) Deb Garvey and Mark Swick are so talented that they can carry on a conversation while they're dancing! 3) Just one guy to dance with all these women? Having fun are Kathy Gribben, Susan Nigh, Suzie Morales, Dian Proffitt, Tim Gribben, and Kathy Tharrington. 4) Prom holds some "Cherished Moments" for at least some people. 5) Everyone but Clayton Allen seems to be having more fun watching the band. 6) Break-time!! "Resting" are Jennifer Willes, David Powers, David Shepard, and Susan Potter. 7) The Hoffmans were just a few of the people who enjoyed the banquet at the Holiday Manor.

1) The senior class of 1983 made many contributions to McPherson College. 2) The wind almost proved to be hazardous to a few graduates' hats. 3) Finally, the thing everyone had been waiting for - the receiving of the diplomas. 4) Father and son - Graduate Jim Hoffman and President Paul Hoffman. 5) The European Choir, joined by the graduating seniors, sang "O Clap Your Hands," and "Peace Prayer."

1) This year the processional began at Miller Library, went past Harnly Hall, and then entered Brown Auditorium. 2) President Hoffman was the master of ceremonies. 3) Corinne and Monroe Hughbanks were one of the couples involved in graduation. 4) Kathryn Deitz and Ann Dirksen look pensive as they await the beginning of the processional. 5 & 6) The reception following graduation usually marks the end of an exciting weekend.

Good-Bye, 1983 Grads!!

THE GYM NEARS COMPLETION

During the winter and spring of 1983, Pyle Construction crews worked diligently to complete as much of the gym as possible before the spring rains started. By the time graduation weekend arrived, the gym was really beginning to look like a gym, as the lower right-hand picture shows. As of this time, everything was on time as far as the completion date goes.

AND THE YEAR DRAWS TO A CLOSE

1) The underclassmen started a new tradition - Senior Appreciation Day. 2) Robert Kungu found time to study while working at the Bittinger desk. 3) Studying for finals got to be too much for some people.
