MOVING-IN 'A Sweaty Job'

Drops of perspiration fell to the floor from their noses as the new and returning Resident Assistants moved boxes and suitcases filled with books, papers and clothes into the bare, dull-looking dorm rooms. It never seemed this hot at home to some, but after they said good-bye to Mom and Dad's air conditioning and hello to that hot, humid dorm life everyone seems to enjoy, the R.A.'s became more organized and comfortable in their rooms. Still a week before the other students arrived, the campus remained, for the most part, quiet and motionless. Nevertheless, activity started to pick up as freshmen, transfers and returning students also began the sweaty chore of moving in.

After the moving was finished and new friends were made, it wasn't at all difficult to see that each and every student that came to McPherson College was different. Our college community during 1983-84 was made up of students from 27 states and 5 countries, from large Eastern cities, medium-sized Western suburbs and small mid-Western rural communities — all showing a great diversity. We, with all our differences, came together in the middle of the United States just as if we were 501 "Pieces."

(1) Janet Powell (jr., Moulton, IA) relaxes with some tea and Camp Fire Girl's mints in her dorm room. (2) During the Air Band Concert, Pam Doucette (soph., Salina) and Beth Battles (fresh., Dallas Center, IA) cheer on their favorite air band. (3) Joel Reincoehl (soph., Olathe, KS) signs in to Dotzour to wash up his laundry. (4) Working on her homework, Elizabeth Odokara (sr., Nsukka, W. Africa) makes use of her time in the library. (5) Looking for some resources for a paper, Jane Onken (fresh., McPherson) uses the card catalogs. (6) Deb Garvey (jr., Cerro Gordo, IL) laughs at the camera while watching the Homecoming football game. (7) Headed for Fanny, Karen Whitacre (fresh., Golden, CO) and Roy Winter (soph., Wichita) stop for a quick snap of the camera.

Time Management

Lazy days and short nights. That's mostly what our college life consisted of. We ate most of our meals in the cafeteria, except for some of those times when we played raquetball too long or just didn't feel like cafeteria-style food. Then it was off to Hardees for roast beef or McDonald's for the newly priced 39 cent hamburger and the 49 cent cheeseburger.

On Monday and Thursday of each week we would congregate in Brown Auditorium for our Convocation period. But Convocations were not the only things that happened in Brown! Brown was the place of action for many different emotions. Hard work was always put into the building of sets, memorizing lines and the blocking of each play's action.

Nevertheless, there was always time for goofing around. We had time for air band concerts, tinkering on our cars or helping a friend with theirs. We made time for TV, watching M*A*S*H and "the Doctor" every evening after supper. We even made time, by working our class schedules just right, for our favorite soap operas. And, of course, we made some time for studying — whether it was in our rooms or in the library and whether or not it practically drove us insane, we really did study!

(1) Lori Ellis (soph., Kansas City), Marie Barnes (jr., Kansas City), and Glen Wright (sr., Kansas City) eat in the cafeteria with friends during Homecoming. (2) After Convo, students usually have time to check their mail boxes for a letter from Mom or Grandma (3) Nancy Pennell (soph., Baltimore, MD) and Tammy Sweeney (jr., Cooper Hill, VA) help build a set for another drama production. (4) Enjoying a lazy Sunday afternoon, Jeanette Brooks (sr., Quinter, KS) watches TV (5) Ken Turner, (jr., Chicago) tries to start his car after he finishes (hopefully) working on it. (6) Stan Spate (soph., Rocky Ford, CO) is haunted by his homework! (7) The crowd cheers like crazy as Ken Warren (soph., McPherson) performs in the air band concert.

Finally Finals!

First came Homecoming, then midterm exams and Fall Break. Later, most of us traveled home-ward for Thanksgiving Break. After "Turkey Time" we finished our semester with our final exams for which we spent long hours preparing. Our attire of shorts and t-shirts turned into jeans and sweaters and jackets as the warm weather turned colder forcing most of the action of our campus to move indoors to warmer surroundings.

Student Activities Board (SAB) sponsored a Computer Date Night which turned out unsuccessful but some still found dates. Also sponsored by SAB, and which made "a big hit," was the Air Band Concert held in Brown Auditorium.

Along with the colder weather came the visits to the campus nurse for flu shots and medicine for colds, sore throats, and stuffy heads. Through all the ups and downs of college life, we all survived and lived to see the closing of 1983 and the opening of 1984.

(1) Trying to get rid of the frisbee is Tim Crouse (soph., St. Cloud, FL) during an Ultimate Frisbee game in the Quadrangle area. (2) David Pote (jr., Wichita) lies motionless after unsuccessfully proposing to Jana Huffman's teddy bear. Jana (jr., Quinter, KS) just laughs! (3) Homecoming was great for Bob Doud (soph., Udell, IA) because it gave him a chance to show off his sister. (4) Craig Spitzer (soph., Kalona, IA) and his two friends Gertrude (Deb Garvey, jr., Cerro Gordo, IL) and Bertha (Sarah Baile, jr., Warrensburg, MO) pause for a picture. (5) Wild and crazy Jerel Eller (soph., Adell, IA) encoices the Air Band Concert. (6) Freshman Carla Engle (Liberia, KS) forces a smile for the persistent photographer while trying to rest. Thanks Carla! (7) Roy Grosbach (jr., Enders, NE) talks to one of his friends on the campus phone.

HOMECOMING,

1983

The week before Homecoming was a busy one for the entire college community. A lot of creating was put into Monday's convocation entitled "Faculty Follies," which was presented by the faculty and staff and featured oldies from Homecoming as it was when they were in college.

Each day drew closer to the "magic moment." The theme "This Magic Moment" was used to draw alumni, parents, students, and friends of McPherson College to the campus for the 1983 Homecoming weekend activities.

The honors convocation, followed by the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the new Sports Center, started off the weekend's activities on Friday morning, October 7. During the fanfare by the McPherson College Trombones, 800 red and white balloons were released to the skies by the anxious crowd that gathered for the long-awaited opening of the new center for sports. Other Friday activities included the first presentation of Mary Chase's "Harvey" and a pep rally led by the cheerleaders.

(1) Connie Andes, Director of Admissions, happily (as always) does her job of distributing information about our college. (2) During the "Faculty Follies" convocation, Lois Reimer performs to the song "Where The Boys Are." (3) McPherson College's 1982 Homecoming King and Queen are preparing to crown the 1983 King and Queen. (4) The 1983 Homecoming Royal Court. (5) During the Homecoming Fair, Jana Huffman (jr., Quinter, KS) visits with friend Lyle Grosbach. (6) 1983 Homecoming Queen Deanna Koehler (jr., Udell, IA) and Homecoming King Mark Scruggs (sr., Denver). (7) Eight hundred red and white balloons filled the skies above the football field as the new sports center's ribbon was cut!

"This

Because the weekend was cool and misty, the Saturday morning fair was held inside, in Friendship Hall. Some organizations designed money-making booths, while other groups created very interesting displays. The crowning ceremony took place in Brown Auditorium during an intermission of the fair. Junior Deanna Koehler from Udell, Iowa, was crowned Queen and Senior Mark Scruggs from Denver was named King. Their attendants were Seniors Lela Ball, Welda, KS; Gerald Henderson, Maywood, IL; Valecia Kelly, Cincinnati, OH; and Scott Miller, Hesston, KS.

Magic Moment"

Battling Bulldogs

MAC's football team started out the season with a win, the first win in two seasons, making the Homecoming game against Tabor one that was looked forward to with great anticipation. The game was a defensive battle, ending in a 7-7 tie. The dances and reunions that brought the weekend's activities to a close created some magical moments of their own in the memories of those who were fortunate enough to share this special time.

by Erny Figueroa

"Lunch Hour," a new comedy by Jean Kerr, opened the season for McPherson College Theatre as a small dinner theatre playing September 15, 16, 18, 22, 23, 25. "Lunch Hour" tells the story of Oliver DeVreck (Galen Switzer, jr., Hutchinson, KS), marriage counselor or who is confronted by Carrie Sacks (Mary Coffman, soph., South English, IA), the wife of his spouse's lover. Carrie, a hyperactive character, along with Oliver, plot a confusing story to get back their respective mates. The story becomes more involved until it isn't quite clear who is having an affair with whom. With the help of the downstairs landlord, Leo Simpson (John Lauver, fresh., Kansas City, KS), Oliver and Carrie get back their spouses, but not without establishing a relationship with each other that may or may not continue.

1) Oliver DeVreck (Galen Switzer, jr., Hutchinson, KS) reads over his notes while his wife Nora (Allison Shepard, jr., Portland, OR) gives her opinions. 2) Leo Simpson (John Lauver, fresh., Kansas City, KS) examines his precious plants. 3) Carrie Sacks (Mary Coffman, soph., South English, IA) investigates Oliver closely. 4) Nora gives Leo a good "tongue-lashing" as Peter (McKinley Dedmon, fresh., Pueblo, CO) looks on. 5) All's well that ends well! The full cast of "Lunch Hour."

Homecoming Play: "Harvey"

by Enny Figueroa

Mary Chase's "Harvey" amused Homecoming audiences with its classic story of Elwood P. Doud (Jeff Frazier, alumnus, McPherson) who is the tragic concern of his family and friends because of his "relationship" with Harvey, a six-foot, invisible white rabbit.

His sister, Veda Louise (Una Yoder, Professor Emeritus of English, Speech and Theatre), and niece Myrtle May (Lois Reimer, Director of Career and Life Planning) seek the help of Judge Gaffney (Rick Tyler, Assistant Professor of Speech and Theatre) and Doctors Chumley (Steven van Asselt, fresh., McPherson) and Sanderson (McKinley Dedmon, fresh., Pueblo, CO) to commit poor Elwood to the sanitarium. The proceeding action clearly reveals Elwood as the only true sane one among the many eccentric characters.

1) "A man — what did he do, Mother?" Myrtle Mae Simmons (Lois Reimer, Director of Career and Life Planning) shows concern for her mother, Veta (Una Yoder, Professor Emeritus of English, Speech and Theatre) as Judge Omar Gaffney (Rick Tyler, Assistant Professor of Speech and Theatre) looks on. 2) Elwood P. Doud (Jeff Frazier, alumnus, McPherson) tries to explain to Lyman Sanderson, M.D. (McKinley Dedmon, fresh., Pueblo, CO) that there really is a 6-foot rabbit named Harvey as Ruth Kelly (Iyabo Iyewarun, sr., Kwara States, Nigeria) and Duane Wilson (Matt Robinson (soph., McPherson) listen in disbelief. 3) Dr. Chumley (Steven van Asselt, fresh., McPherson) and Duane Wilson (Matt Robinson) try to reason with Judge Omar Gaffney (Rick Tyler) as the Judge tells them they are going to be sued. 4) Elwood P. Doud (Jeff Frazier) looks fondly at a portrait of himself and Harvey, the invisible rabbit. 5) E.J. Lotgren (Jerel Eller, soph, Adel, IA), the taxi driver, explains the hardships of his life to Veta (Una Yoder) as he tries to get his cab fare.

Wings

by Erny Figueroa

An event in experimental theatre was presented December 2, 3, and 4 as the first of three senior projects in drama. The title of the show, "Wings," by Arthur Kopit, uniquely told the story of Emily Stilson (Iyabo Iyewarun, Kwara States, Nigeria), a stroke victim struggling on her way back to recovery and rehabilitation.

"Wings" used an effective variety of drama, multi-media, film, and sound to show not only Emily's struggle, but also how she perceives the world around her through her distorted senses. Kopit symbolically equates Emily's former career as a wing-walker to the struggle of recovery in a touching way.

1) The cast of "Wings," Iyabo Iyewarun's (sr., Kwara States, Nigeria) senior project in drama. 2) Emily Stilson (Iyabo Iyewarun) ascending to heaven. 3) The Therapy room. 4) Billy (Ken Turner, jr., Chicago, IL) and the doctor (Matt Robinson, sr., McPherson, KS) discuss room arrangements with Emily. 5) Emily becomes confused and frightened when she hears hospital noises.

Flowers For Algernon

Senior Project Of Erny Figueroa

by Erny Figueroa

The spring season opened with the classic story of "Flowers for Algernon" by David Rogers, running Feb. 16, 17, 18, 19, 24, 25, and 26.

The play tells of Charlie Gordon (Erny Figueroa, sr., Temple City, CA), 32, who is mentally retarded with an I.Q. of 68, and of the ambitious Dr. Strouss (Mary Coffman, soph., South English, IA) and Prof. Nemur (Don Stinnette, alumnus, McPherson) who develop a technique of inducing artificial intelligence. Charlie is chosen as the first human being to be tested.

The rest of the story shows his struggles as he progresses from gentle retarded man to self-centered genius. It is soon clear that the experiment will not be a success and Charlie struggles to hold on to his intelligence but soon regresses to his original level of intelligence. This was the second of the three senior projects.

The Prime Of Miss Jean Brodie

Senior Project Of Bruce Spitzer

by Erny Figueroa

"The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" by Jay Allen, the last senior project, was performed on March 30 and 31. The play, set in Scotland, recounted the happenings in a small private girls school in the middle 1930's.

Miss Jean Brodie is a woman in her "prime" and all the girls she teaches are the "creme de la creme," that is to say, life's elite. It soon becomes clear that Miss Brodie does have an extreme effect on her girls, instilling them with her own warped, demented values on life, sex and politics.

Her ambition eventually results in the death of Mary McGregor, one of her students who runs off to Spain to fight in the war. This and Miss Brodie's betrayal by her most faithful student, Sandy, lead to her dismissal, but not before she leaves a deep impression on each of her girls.

1) Two members of the "Hello Dolly" cast relax off stage. 2) Glen Wright (sr., Kansas City, KS) and John Lauver (fresh., Kansas City, KS) work the lights for one of the plays. 3) Iyabo Iyewarun (sr., Kwara States, Nigeria) shows Dave Spitzer (fresh., Kalona, IA) how she will build the set. 4) Mary Coffman (soph., South English, IA) puts on her makeup for "Lunch Hour."

Behind The Scenes

"Hello Dolly! Well

Hello Dolly!"

The spring season ended triumphantly on May 4 and 5 with the college/community show "Hello Dolly" by Michael Stewart and Jerry Herman, based on "The Matchmaker" by Thornton Wilder.

Dolly Levi (Karlene Tyler, McPherson), a widow matchmaker, plots to get Horace Vandergelder (Jim Pauls, McPherson), head citizen of Yonkers, N.Y., as her second husband. But first Dolly must find someone to interest Irene Molloy (Carlene Berg, Lindsborg, KS), Vandergelder's soon-to-be fiancée. What better a match for Irene and her assistant at the hat shop, Minnie (Dana Weddle, McPherson), than Vandergelder's sheltered head clerk Cornelius Hackel (Mark Gard, sr., Newton) and his sidekick Barnaby Tucker (Ryan Reazin, McPherson)?

Through this juggling of hearts Dolly still has time to ensure the marriage of Vandergelder's niece Ermengarde (Lynn Carlson, sr., Assaria) to the artist Ambrose Kemper (Kent Sallee, McPherson).

When Vandergelder finds his life turned upside down with no fiancée, no clerks and no niece, Dolly steps in to help Horace in his time of need, as his wife, of course.

1) The whole cast took part in the many musical numbers. 2) Ambrose (Kent Sallee, McPherson) and Ermengarde (Lynn Carlson, sr., Assaria, KS) in the polka contest. 3) Dolly Levi (Karlene Tyler, Registrar, McPherson) and Horace Vandergelder (Jim Pauls, McPherson) enjoy their meal at Harmonia Gardens. 4) The orchestra directed by Dr. Stephanie Graber. 5) The waiters at Harmonia Gardens harmonize with Dolly. 6) Dolly "puts her hand in" this love affair.

ORGANIZATIONS

The Quadrangle

Craig Spitzer (soph., Kalona, IA) edited this year's Quadrangle. The Quadrangle staff, consisting primarily of freshmen, developed the theme "Pieces of a Puzzle."

In the fall the staff attended a Josten's/American Yearbook Workshop in Hutchinson, KS.

Board Of Publications

Steve Harrison (sr., Garden City, KS) as treasurer of Student Council, presided over this year's Board of Publications. The Board is a committee of Student Council to aid the editors of the Spectator and Quadrangle.

The Board of Publications is also responsible for choosing editors and business managers for both publications.

Spectator

Paula Burkland (jr., Sutton, NE) served as editor-in-chief of the Spectator in the fall and Tim Crouse kept finances in order as the business manager.

Spring brought changes and a new approach to journalism at McPherson. Four page editors contributed to the semester's ten issues. Matt Howell (sr., McPherson, KS) provided new insight on editorials, Kerri Snell (jr., McPherson, KS) kept us on top of Mac news, Tim Crouse (soph., St. Cloud, FL) enlightened us with special features, and Kevin Burton (jr., Wichita, KS) reported on sports action. DeWayne Jackson (jr., Denver, CO) served as business manager in the spring.

Art Club

Art Club members Mike McKellip (soph., Nampa, ID) and Jewelene Anglemyer (soph., Sebring, FL) pack pottery for a display in Friendship Hall.

Art Club

The Art Club actively promoted art appreciation on campus. They sponsored field trips each semester, one in the fall to Kansas City, where they visited the Nelson Art Gallery and saw the art in the Plaza. In the spring they visited the Wichita Art Museum and the Sandzen Art Gallery in Lindsborg.

Their talent has also been appreciated through decorations in the Student Union and through the May Fete backdrop for All School's Day.

M-Club

Members of M-Club worked concessions during football and basketball games and served as officials, hustlers, and secretaries for track meets.

Their annual year-end banquet honored senior lettermen and women, and watches were given to outstanding seniors.

Behavioral Science Club

Patty Helmer (sr., Tescott, KS) and Roxanna Curry (jr., Strasburg, CO) served as co-conveners for Behavioral Science Club. BSC sponsored two movies for the big screen t.v. — "A Clockwork Orange" and "Taxi Driver."

Other activities included a trip to Larned State Hospital, a "Quality of Working Life" symposium, guest lecturers, and numerous educational movies and field trips. The annual spring picnic, the choosing of the Behavioral Science student of the year, and the annual paper presentations rounded out the year.

MENC

MENC sponsored several musical events, including Prof. Steven Gustafson's organ recital, guitar and flute players for convocations, a workshop with Alan Gumm, and the senior recitals.

The annual Rocks Springs Retreat and a Halloween party in Prof. Bob Green's barn were fun diversions for members.

Student Council

Student Council was very active throughout the school year. Starting out with a fresh, diverse group of people, the Council carried out all of the main business items of budget allocations, homecoming, and other activities for students to attend.

Student Council worked efficiently, effectively and very responsively to various requests and needs expressed by students on campus. This led to the forming of the Peace Awareness Project to look into aspects of peace and related issues. Also instigated was a possible change in library hours so more students could study later into the evenings.

The Council went through some tough times, but it came out on top to finish the year with a positive attitude and a stable foundation for the '85 Council.

Student Activities

The Student Activities Board kept busy this year. They sponsored the building of a new t.v. room for the S.U., provided movie videos, and organized dances, parties, air band contests, and student coffee houses.

SAB out did itself with the first Mac-Olympics and a '60's week, and with concerts featuring Michael Kelly Blanchard and Bob Brozman.

Business Club

Business Club meetings included speakers Don Miller, head of the M.B.A. program at Emporia State University, and Joan Nichols, staff accountant with Merrill Lynch. Also, members enjoyed a Christmas party and a tour of the local Sterling Drug plant.

Closing the year, the Business Club banquet featured Dale Sprague, a representative in the Kansas legislature. Carolyn Spate (sr., Rocky Ford, CO) was named outstanding student in accounting, and Steve Harrison (sr., Garden City, KS) outstanding student in business.

S - NEA

The Student — National Education Association returned to McPherson College this year after several years absence.

S-NEA, sponsored by Prof. Joan Hoffman, represented McPherson at the Fall Leadership Training Workshop and the KSNEA Representative Assembly.

Alpha Psi Omega

Theta Epsilon chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, a national honorary dramatics fraternity, recognizes students active in acting and production.

This year the chapter again planned, prepared, and served the First Nighters Dinners and sponsored educational theatre tours.

Also, working with the McPherson Theatre Guild, they sponsored the spring production of "Hello Dolly."

The Intercultural Forum held monthly activities during the 1983-84 year. They sponsored several dances, including one at Halloween and another at Christmas. Another first semester highlight was the fashion show, "Fall into Winter."

In January the Intercultural Forum presented a special program, "Celebration for Dr. Martin Luther King." In February the annual Intercultural Week featured ethnic meals, films, and a slam dunk and 3-on-3 tournament. Also, a convocation "Coming Together Through Our Differences" was presented.

The year culminated with the crowning of Iyabo Iyewarun (sr., Kwara States, Nigeria) and DeWayne Jackson (jr., Denver, CO) at the Mr./Miss McPherson College Pageant.

Circle-K

Circle K is a service organization in cooperation with the Kiwanis Club. This year they participated as volunteers for the Special Olympics, sponsored a Japanese Tea Garden at the CROP festival, assisted with the blood mobile, attended a fall training conference in Hays, and helped local Kiwanis with the Christmas Food Basket Program.

The McPherson College Circle K Club ended their year of service as hosts for the 1984 Kansas District Convention.

Brethren Identity Group

The 1983-84 school year will be memorable for the Brethren Identity Group. Attendance at activities averaged thirty people and every event was successful. In addition to regular meetings, BIG hosted a hayride and campfire, a midnight catacomb service, a regressive dinner, seminars on Brethren Volunteer Service and Church Vocations, Chuck Boyer, peace consultant, a retreat for World Hunger, and finally a love feast in the park.

The Cars Club remained active this year attending area swap meets and hosting a variety of speakers from the field of Auto Restoration. The club helped Hesston celebrate fall festival, driving antique cars belonging to the college and members in the parade.

Cars Club is also responsible for the red lockers in the new gym and an annual swap meet during All Schools' Day Weekend at the 4-H building.

Peace Awareness Project

Officially approved by Student Council, the Peace Awareness Project had a very successful year in its first year on campus.

The group sponsored weekly Thursday luncheons including speakers on the nuclear freeze, amnesty international, Latin American peace issues, and the peace academy.

Other campus activities included letter writing sessions, voter registration, a presentation by "Fools Unlimited," and the designing of a peace ribbon for the 1985 Washington demonstration.

They also sponsored a domestic abuse workshop, a presentation on the East German peace movement, and attendance at peace lectures and conferences.

FCA

FCA was a very busy club this year. With many activities planned and weekly Wednesday evening meetings, they found time from their studies and workouts to share with God.

The club sponsored a fall retreat which many attended for the pleasure of getting off campus and relaxing. They also sponsored a movie on the videodisk player and a picnic in the park just before the end of school.

Brass Quintet

The Brass Quintet was made up of four students and one sponsor. They traveled to churches in the community and neighboring towns to add flavor to their Sunday Services.

At Christmastime, these people took their precious instruments out in the cold of winter to play for the Christmas shoppers down on Main Street.

In the spring they toured southward into Arkansas and Missouri. They also made a tour eastward to the college campus at Notre Dame, Indiana.

Professor Larry Kitzel, associate professor of music, is sponsor of the quintet.

Concert Band

Concert Band

The 1983-84 Concert Band worked hard all year to provide the big band sound the campus and community enjoy hearing.

The Spring Concert featured many soloists on some contemporary music. Dressed in long black dresses and black tuxedos, the members of concert band performed well under the direction of Professor Larry Kitzel.

Trombones

The McPherson College Trombone Choir was very active, performing on and off campus. Larry Kitzel, organizer of the group, has built up a strong choir through the last few years, and this is something our campus has become very proud of.

The trombones "traveled their hearts out" this year, making several tours through many midwestern states. They also made a royal performance at Homecoming when they provided music for the Homecoming fair and coronation.

Pep Band

Honking horns at ballgames, pep rallies and once during supper, the McPherson College Pep Band was there to set the mood at the right time.

The Pep Band sat in the stands at all the home football games despite the cold weather. But it didn't freeze their strong, supportive spirit and keep them away from the home basketball games. They played contemporary music of today, and after the basketball game was over, fans could hear the trumpets echoing inside the new Sports Center as they went home.

Singers

The Singers perform while on Choir Tour.

The 80-member Concert Choir is an audition ensemble made up of both music and non-music majors. As well as the traditional fall and Christmas concerts, the choir performs with the McPherson Community Symphony Orchestra during the fall semester. Spring activities include the Choir Tour and a home concert following the tour.

Every three years a forty-voice choir is selected from the Concert Choir to travel overseas and present American music to European audiences. During the summer of 1983 the McPherson College European Choir toured Norway, Denmark, Holland, Germany, and Switzerland from May 25 through June 28.

The McPherson College Singers are a select vocal ensemble which performs for various campus activities and throughout the community and state. These two vocal groups are directed by Dr. Stephanie B. Graber, Assistant Professor of Music and Chairperson of the Music Department at McPherson College.

Bulldogs Break Record McPherson Scores A Win!

by Kevin Burton

The 1983 Bulldogs finished with a 2-6-1 record in the KCAC.

The defense was stellar as the 'Dogs got off to a quick 2-0 start. The pivotal game of the season was a heart-breaking loss at Kansas Wesleyan. McPherson clearly outplayed K.W., but their own mistakes cost them the game. After that, Mac could muster only one tie.

After the season was over, the KCAC determined that McPherson would forfeit their first win over Friends due to the ineligibility of one of their players. So, the official record will be listed as 1-7-1.

In his senior season, Gerald Henderson (Maywood, IL) broke the all-time McPherson record for yards rushing on his way to being named all KCAC. Also on the first team was Steve Moore (McPherson, KS), also a senior.

Billy O'Neil (soph., Houston, MO) was named to the second team, and three other standouts received honorable mention; Glen O'Neil (sr., Houston, MO), Doug Fitzmorris (soph., Lucas, KS), and Eddie Crumpacker (soph., McCune, KS).

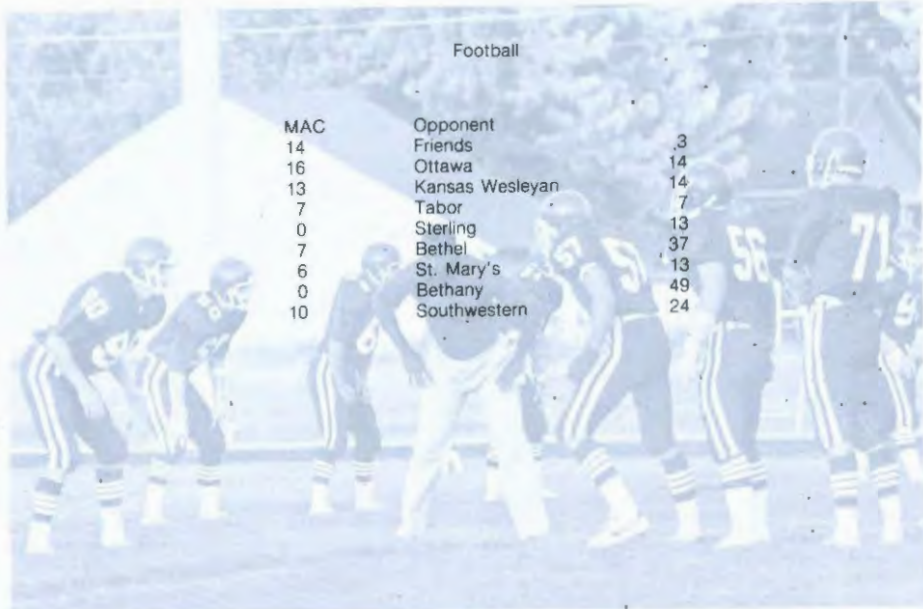

Also following the season, Coach Dave Cripe announced his retirement after three seasons at the Bulldog helm.

The 1983-84 basketball cheerleaders were headed by squad leader Roxanne Curry (jr., Strasburg, CO). Their sponsor was Mrs. Dawn Hoffman.

Cheering to big crowds at home games in the new Sports Center was exciting, as the Bulldog teams were competitive. The cheerleaders also accompanied the team to all the away games to cheer on the fans who were there.

During a basketball game, the cheerleaders kept the fans cheering!

Lady Red Basketball

by Kevin Burton

The Lady Red basketball team finished the season at an even 12 and 12. They placed fifth in the KCAC.

Despite a banner recruiting year, the Ladies struggled throughout the first part of the schedule, before righting themselves near the end of the schedule.

Once again, Valecia Kelly (sr., Cincinnati, OH) was named to the all-KCAC team. Her role as a leader for the Lady Red went beyond statistics.

Lori Ellis (fresh., Kansas City, KS) and Carol Zink (fresh., Leoti, KS) received honorable mention at the KCAC meetings.

The Lady Red provided their fans with a lot of excitement during this season, and also their young talent gained valuable experience toward other KCAC seasons.

Bulldog

by Kevin Burton

The 1983-84 basketball season was an exciting one for the Bulldogs. Although little was expected of them, they finished 11-13 and 9-9 in the KCAC — good enough for fifth place.

In January, the Sports Center became the home of the Bulldogs. It was not long after they began in their new facility that the wins started coming. It was their come from behind win over Southwestern at the new "Doghouse" that served as a turning point in their season.

Kevin Carlson's (sr., Herington, KS) consistent excellence was rewarded, as he was named first team All-KCAC. Kelly Unruh (jr., Galva, KS) received honorable mention in that voting.

Roger Trimmell, in his second season coaching the 'Dogs, was named co-coach of the year in the conference.

Basketball

1) The Bulldogs' opponent goes up for two points. 2) Bulldog defense working hard! 3) Kevin Carlson (#34) had a lot of fans watch his games. 4) Maria Ullom (fresh., Wiley, CO) and Todd Schrag (soph., Moundridge, KS) played in the pepband.

Men's Tennis

The men's tennis team spent more time battling the elements than Coach Roger Trimmell would have liked. This made it hard for the team to gain any consistency.

At the KCAC finals, held in Wichita, the team placed sixth on the strength of Glen Snell's (sr., McFarland, CA) first-round victory.

Mark Scruggs (jr., Denver, CO) practices on the college tennis court.

Coppock Named New Golf Coach

The number of players participating in golf under new golf coach Dr. Doris Coppock was very encouraging.

Mac placed third at the conference tourney, held in Hesston. At the meet, Steve Harrison (sr., Garden City, KS) placed fifth.

At the first McPherson Invitational, Rob McKay (jr., Lakewood, CO) and Wade Thiessen (sr., Henderson, NE) were medalists.

The women's track team finished third in the KCAC. They narrowly missed second place in the conference.

Many of their points came from the high jump, where McPherson dominated. Sandy Nichols (soph., Oberlin, KS) set a McPherson and KCAC record by jumping 5'5".

ACADEMICS

Academics Humanities Division

The Division of Humanities offers courses generally considered to be the core of a liberal arts education. Majors are available in art, English, foreign languages, music, philosophy and religion, and speech and theatre.

This year the division has requested a $300,000 matching humanities grant and hopes to implement their goal of developing interdisciplinary senior-level seminars for humanities majors. The division is also exploring humanities computer programs for possible use.

Highlights included the addition of a half-time position in the English department, Interterm trips to Mexico by Spanish students and to New York by drama students, and the selection by students of Dr. Corinne Highbanks, professor of languages and chairperson of the Humanities Division, as professor of the year.

Although the national trend is downward for humanities majors, McPherson College's enrollment has increased in this area in the last two years. Strong junior year abroad programs and the European Choir Tour are representative of popular humanities offerings.

Academics

Natural Sciences Division

The Division of Natural Sciences at McPherson College offers majors in biology, agriculture, chemistry, physics, computer science, and mathematics as well as the divisional majors of environmental science, medical technology, and health arts.

A strong component of the science major is the student research project, which involved ten students this year. One student presented research findings at the Kansas Academy of Science, and six others shared their work at an ACCK Poster Seminar.

The poster sessions, a trend in presenting scientific research, are a good way to share research from many individuals in a limited time period, according to Dr. Gilford Ikenberry, professor of biology and chairperson of the Natural Science Division.

The computer program was strengthened by the installation of the Harris HB00 in the ACCK Offices and terminals in the computer room in Harnly Hall. Computer students also used the new IBM PC's for word processing and graphics.

Academics

Academic Candids

Academics

Social Science Division

The goal of the Social Science Division is the study of collective human behavior with the scientific method and historical research. Majors are offered in business, accounting, psychology, sociology, administration of justice, and history.

Dr. Lowell Flory, associate professor of business and economics, joined the faculty as chairperson of the business and economics department. Changes are being made in curricula to prepare students for today's business world, including increased emphasis on accounting and preparation for the CPA exam. A major gift of desktop computers, which are located in Mohler Hall, is strengthening the program. A department highlight was the Interterm trip to Japan.

"Teaching in the Small College," a conference of small colleges in the Central Plains, was organized by the behavioral science department and held on our campus in April.

The chairperson of the Social Science Division is Dr. Leland Lengel, professor of history and political science.

Academics

Applied Arts and Sciences Division

The Division of Applied Arts and Sciences includes majors in education, audio-visual communications, physical education, home economics, interior design, industrial education, and auto restoration technology.

The auto restoration program continued to receive national attention, being featured on the "Nightly Business Report" on PBS television and in a Christian Science Monitor article.

State program approval for teacher education was instituted this year, meaning stricter requirements and better programs for teacher certification. Enrollment in education here increased in quantity and quality, and the department proudly graduated nine music education majors.

The highlight of the year was the health, physical education, and recreation department moving into the new Sports Center in January after three semesters of being temporarily housed in Harnly Hall. "This gives us the facility for a much stronger academic program," said Dr. Dayton Rothrock, professor of education and psychology and chairperson of the Applied Arts and Sciences Division. Courses in racquetball and other life sports are now being offered. Campus morale rose as the Sports Center quickly became a popular place for faculty and student recreation.

by Bruce Spitzer

Like straws in the wheat field, the class of 1984 began its college career in August of 1980. They were a diverse group, coming from all parts of the field as it were. But as lifetime friends were formed and "golfing buddies" became close companions, these straws bonded into a broom. All we wanted was to make some type of sweep on our floor: McPherson College.

We are now seniors and almost done sweeping. Some of our jobs have been pretty tough piles of dirt, others only tiny pieces of dust. But all our sweeps have been important. We have seen changes: the gym, a new food service, remodeling of the Student Union and many others.

But the broom must eventually wear out. Some of the straws fell out soon, others clung till the very last. Those who are left will be scattered by the winds of the world. Some of our straws will stay together as husband and wife. Others will go their separate ways through various career choices: teachers, accountants, biologists, farmers, and restoration technicians. The most hardy straws will choose to join another broom in the graduate school of their choice.

We can only hope that our broom has made a good clean sweep on McPherson, a sweep that, for a while, won't get too dirty.

Juniors

by Lois Lehman

The juniors on any college campus face a year of decisions. Is this what I want to do with the rest of my life? If not, what major do I change to? Am I even at the right college? Do I marry the person I'm dating — this year, or after we graduate? What do I really want from life? De-isions — these are what characterize the junior year.

The junior year is an in-between time. All of a sudden, college is half over, there is "senioritis" to look forward to during the next year, and to top it all off, it seems like every friend in the world is graduating, leaving the very lonely juniors behind to face their senior year alone.

The junior year is also a year for new faces. It is at this point that many people transfer in from junior colleges, universities, and neighboring small colleges — time for a change of pace for them. And conversely, it is also a time to say goodbye to some old faces — those who transfer to another college, or just quit college altogether.

The junior year of college — it can be summed up as a time of decisions, transitions and change, a preparation for all that lies ahead.

Sophomores

What is it like to be a sophomore? Well, with all the different styles of living shown by so many different people, we can see we weren't Mr. Hotshot or Miss McPherson College. Each and every different one of us showed through more this year and we seemed to be a little more mature. We found ourselves helping each other through stronger situations.

We all experienced tougher classes, longer term papers and more confusing labs. But somehow we survived. We survived those "lousy" tests we just couldn't study for after trying so hard for hours. We survived the many left-over entrees in the cafeteria and we survived the approved Stucco budget that many thought unsatisfactory.

All in all we had a good year getting over our differences and working together as a unit — as a class: The class of 1986!

Freshmen

One of the most important experiences for McPherson College freshmen is the Freshman Orientation experience. Every new student — freshman and transfer student alike — is strongly encouraged to attend this introductory experience.

Freshman Orientation activities were designed to make the student aware of three important points: (1) goals which all students aim toward, (2) important changes that end up enriching each student's academic and cultural life at MAC, and (3) the diverse student personalities that exist on campus which are brought together toward unified goals to strengthen the MAC experience.

The Orientation process consisted of faculty and student leaders working with the new students. The students were divided up into small groups. Each small group was given a student leader who conducted different activities. One activity was each student was asked to write a paragraph about himself.

The new students also did activities as one large group. A new project was the simulation experience. This lasted 50 minutes but the students experienced a simulated school year. It showed them that time management is a very important factor in college.

Workshops, given by several of the faculty leaders, proved to be very informative to the new students. These workshops gave the students advice on Listening and Notetaking, Time Management/Memory Enhancement, and Interpersonal Communication.

There were fun and games throughout the Orientation experience. Since all the Orientation activities were held at McPherson High School, the students had access to volleyball and basketball equipment. They also saw the video-disk movie "Superman."

After the Orientation weekend came Enrollment Day and Class Walk-Through Day. Then the college experience finally became reality for the Freshmen!

Winter Covers Campus

Second semester came after Interterm. And Interterm was one covered with snow, but that soon melted and February brought on a warm spell. But that didn't last long and more snow covered the campus.

Still kept indoors for the most part, students were watching more TV, playing racquetball in the new Sports Center, and having more popcorn parties — trying to add a social life to their studious college lives.

SAB provided movies in Brown Auditorium and a 60's week to keep the activities rolling for the campus. Then spring came and that's a different story . . .

1) The McPherson College Jazz Band performed at their annual spring picnic. 2) Tony Goossen (fresh., Hillsboro, KS) plays the pinball machine in the SU. 3) Learning how to use the new IBM/PC is Dr. van Asselt. 4) Spring weather brought the rain but that didn't keep the Ultimate Frisbee players off the Quad! 5) Doing his spring cleaning, Steven van Asselt (fresh., McPherson) sweeps the lounge in Fanny.

"The Last Few Pieces"

The last few pieces of our puzzle were put in place. Spring hit us with the rain at first, then the green grass, warm sunshine and "Spring Fever!" Students took advantage of the nice weather and had picnics, rode their bicycles, and brought out that dusty frisbee. Some of the girls even hung their laundry outside to dry!

Spring semester brought the seriousness of new recruits, busy visitation days and the last of the deadlines for the college publications. But the spring semester also brought the craziness of the students: late-night visiting on the steps of Fanny, sunbathers, dorm picnics with "moon pictures" and even camping trips!

1) Sally Meyer (fresh., Elgin, IL) prepares for a picnic. 2) Takashi Ando (fresh., Nagasaki, Japan), Carolyn Horning (soph., Lombard, IL) Mike Neher (jr., Quinter, KS), Karen Whitacre (fresh., Golden, CO) and Roy Winter (soph., Wichita, KS) all going crazy from spring finals! 3) Kerri Snell (jr., McPherson, KS) works with Janet Powell (jr., Moulton, IA) on the Spectator 4) Prof. Al Dutrow, assistant professor of agriculture, visits with a prospective student. 5) Freshman Sheri Eller (Adel, IA) hangs up her wet towel to dry.

Dear Friends,

Another year has come to a close and another yearbook is ready for printing. It was a good year and good yearbooks are products of these. I feel very positive about this yearbook and I think you all will enjoy reading it.

I would like to dedicate this page to all of you. Without you there would be no yearbook for all of you have provided for the pictures printed within.

Let me take this opportunity to acknowledge a few people who were behind me while working on this: the most important person is my advisor and teacher, Mrs. Susan Taylor. Susan was the one to help out in times of need. She pulled me out of the hole when I was in too deep and disorganized.

I would like to show appreciation to my staff: Jewelene Anglemeyer, Patricia Keats, Kathy Moore, Angie Murphy, Janet Powell, Annette Taylor and Lori Walker; the photographers Carolyn Brossman, David Franklin, Lyabo Iyewarun, Cindy Jones, Jay Nicholson and Marla Ullom. I thank the following students who submitted copy: Sarah Baile, Kevin Burton, Erny Figueroa, Lois

Lehman, Bruce Spitzer and Lori Walker. All of these people devoted time and effort which has added to the success of this book.

There are a few people who also supported me in their own ways. I thank Mrs. Jeanne Smith for her cooperation and her favors; my advisor Dr. Jan van Asselt for his caring patience and his positive support; all my professors who understood when I was late to class, missed completely; and to all my friends who understood when I wasn't smiling — and especially to Lori Lehman who provided on-the-spot advice and answered all my trivial questions. Without these people I would not have been able to complete this job.

The 1983-84 Yearbook Staff and I present you this book for memory's sake. Enjoy!

Sincerely

Craig Spitzer
