THAT'S SHOW BIZ!

The camera turns, focuses, and tapes your movements. This is no run through — no dress rehearsal. The lights are up, the curtain opens.

You are at McPherson College in McPherson, Kansas. You are eating, sleeping, studying, crying, loving, and laughing. The time spent here is not a prerequisite to life — it is living but under unusual conditions for all eyes to see.

The year starts for some with freshman orientation. A lot of choices to be made: choosing classes, professors, clubs, activities, and friends. Deciding how to spend your time and how much time you really have. Always questioning, always wondering, have I made the right choices?

At the final curtain call, will the audience have shared your emotions? Will they give you a standing ovation and dream of an encore after the curtain finally closes?

Variety at McPherson

McPherson College's setting consists of a wide variety of people who have been brought together under the college's wings for one main reason: education. Ricky's Roadies

Ricky's Roadies had three companies this year: spring, fall, and Interterm companies. They traveled around doing shows for churches, schools, and private groups. They deal mainly in readers theatre material and have used materials from comics to classics. The student body was able to see their performances in the "Miss Piggy's Guide to Life" performed in the Fall Halloween Convo skit in October, and the "Broadway Review" Convo in the Spring.

1) "Look at the birdie!" (Diana Hunt, no. Miss A2) 2) "Life is so..." (Jackie Alonzo, no. Hutchinson, KS) 3) "I'm a cool man!" (Eric Johnson, no. The Curious Savage

Crazy or Normal?

The play, The Curious Savage, was presented by the McPherson College Department of Speech and Theatre on October 11 and 12 in Brown Auditorium.

It starred the following dramatists: Helen Grossnickle as Florence Eric Johnson as Hannibal Jennifer Williams as Fairy May Darwin Offenbacher as Jeffrey Lora Coffman as Mrs. Paddy Bryan Buehler as Titus Jerel Eller as Samuel Mary Coffman as Lily Belle Nancy Pennell as Mrs. Ethel Savage

Leigh Knoff as Miss Wilhelmina Matt Robinson as Dr. Emmett

Normally this play is performed by high schoolers who "caricature the various characters." However, Professor Rick Tyler said that the playwright John Patrick states "that the characters who are in 'The Cloisters' are to be portrayed as being normal and those outside of this place are portrayed as being crazy." This is where the twist of the whole show is created.

1) The Family-Samuel (Jerel Eller) Lily Belle (Mary Coffman), Titus (Bryan Buehler), and Mrs. Ethel Savage (Nancy Pennell). 2) Professor Rick Tyler directs The Guests during rehearsal. (From left to right) Jerel Tyler, Darwin Offenbacher, Eric Johnson, Jenny Williams, Lora Coffman, and Helen Grossnickle. 3) Mrs. Savage (Nancy Pennell) receives a note from Bryan Buehler while Miss Wilhelmina (Leigh Knoff) and Dr. Emmett (Matt Robinson) reference their lists.

Crimes of the Heart

"Just Terrific"

Another great production put on by the Speech and Theatre Department was the play "Crimes of the Heart." It centers around three women who learn to deal with the events that they are caught up in. According to Professor Rick Tyler, the three ladies that portrayed the main characters were "the three most talented that have ever worked together and with him" in his capacity as chairman of this department.

The cast included the following persons:

Karlene Tyler as Lenny Magrath
Robin Rose as Chick Boyle
Bryan Buehler as Doc Porter
Mary Coffman as Meg Magrath
Diana Hunn as Babe Botrelle
D. Scott Webber as Barnette Lloyd

The play was performed as a dinner theatre during December 6-8 and 12-14. "The action of the play takes place in the Magrath kitchen in Hazelhurst, Mississippi - a few years ago."

1) Babe Botrelle (Diana Hunn) and Lenny Magrath (Karlene Tyler) enjoy a moment of laughter with one another. 2) Meg Magrath (Mary Coffman) appears to be delighting with the other two women. 3) The main characters of the play - Karlene Tyler, Mary Coffman, and Diana Hunn.

Summertree

Self-worth

Summertree was performed February 27, 28; March 1, 2, 6, 7, and 8. Matt Robinson chose to do this play as his senior project because, according to Professor Rick Tyler, "when he chose to do this particular play people were worried about getting into a war with Nicaragua, and with Summertree he felt that he could make some kind of social statement." No, the play has nothing to do with an impending war with Nicaragua; however, it does make a statement about the Vietnam War which is sometimes all too often just forgotten, particularly concerning those men who fought in Vietnam. Yet, the play focuses in on the relationship of a Vietnam soldier with his family and friends.

The cast included:

Matt Robinson as Young Man
 Travis Peterson as Little Boy
 Cindy Trimmer as Mother
 Rick Tyler as Father
 Lora Coffman as Girl
 McKinley Dedmon as Soldier

1) The cast of Summertree: McKinley Dedmon, Travis Peterson, Matt Robinson, Lora Coffman, Cindy Trimmer, and Rick Tyler. 2) Young Man (Matt Robinson) seeking the meaning of himself and life. 3) Young Man and Girl (Lora Coffman) enjoy a tender moment together yet while remembering war. (Photos provided by Spectator photographer, Ellen Herschelman.)

Cinderella

Men as sisters

Another production put on by the theatre department was the classic fairy tale, Cinderella.

According to the Prof. Rick Tyler, the play was a "lot of fun" to produce because a "lot more were committed" to the success of the play. Plus, "scads of little kids" from the community showed up to view the play, which was really enjoyable for the cast.

The play followed the normal lines of the fairy tale, but there was one twist: men were used as the stepsisters. Jeff Harlow and Rick Tyler played the roles of "Joy" and "Portia" respectively. Penny Stoss was "Cinderella," and Bryan Buehler played "Prince Charming." Other cast members were Helen Grossnickle as the "Fairy Godmother"; Nancy Pennell as the "Step-mother"; Eric Johnson as the "King"; and Sue Holdersrad Miller as the "Queen."

The play was performed on April 18 and 19.

Technicalities

The audience sometimes fails to appreciate the amount of behind-the-scenes work that goes into the production of a play: costumes, lighting, scenery, etc.

The yearbook would like to give credit to those who weren't necessarily the actors but those who worked toward the success of each play given by the theatre department. As evidenced in the pictures on this page, careful planning and much thought went into the designs of each play.

Prom

This past year the Junior Class sponsored Prom in an unordinary manner. They held a dance with a fruit and cheese bar in the Student Union on May 10. And, instead of having the usual banquet in which they would have to pay for the cost of the meal, they purchased the portraits that were taken there; so, even though there was no formal banquet, it all evened out with the cost of the pictures.

Those who attended the dance had a very good time, particularly when some of the crowd found the helium tank used to blow-up the balloons. The crowd danced to the music provided by deejay Ernie Allen, who has played at the school before.

1) Michele Rensch (R., Quarter, KS) is Eric Johnson's (l., Delano, N.J.) guest; 2) Greg Greed (R., Greeley, CO) has a "singing time"; 3) Family Sweeney (R., Gopher Hill, VA) and Dave Schrick (R., LaMesa, CA) act naturally for our photographers; 4) Miss LaFing (R., MacPherson, KS) relays the punch bowl; again; 5) The photographer and Kathy Miller (r., Macksville, KS) smile for our photographers.

1) The Blues Brothers: Paul Delinger (sr. Prescott, AZ) and Bob Clark (sr. Madison, CT) 2) Dave Koehler (sr. Scottsbluff, NE) and Jenny Williams (so. Mt. Morris, IL) dance in the midst of decorations 3) Flen Henschelmann (sr. Galosburg, IL) "boogie" 4) Jon Muggen (sr. Kalmiada, Uganda) and his guest 5) Cindy Frazier (sr. Berthoud, CO), Melva Culling (sr. McPherson, KS), and Kathy Mack (sr. Dallas Center, IA) watch the crowd

Graduation 1986

May 25, 1986, was a memorable day for many of McPherson College's seniors; it was the day that all of their hard work and struggles paid off because they received their diplomas.

On Saturday morning, May 24, graduation exercises began for the seniors with a reception at Dr. and Mrs. Paul Hoffman's home. Then, it was on to a picture-taking session and rehearsal at 10:00 a.m. that same morning.

The excitement for the seniors really began at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday the 25th when commencement exercises began.

During the ceremonies, Kelly Thomas, Senior Class President, gave her address to the Class of 1986.

1) "This is a strange looking party" comments Merri Petersen. 2) The faculty prepare to line up for the procession. 3) Looks as if Doug Fitzmorris (sr. Lucas, KS), Lorraine Heigle (sr. Longford, KS) and Paul Dellinger (sr. Prescott, AZ) don't know what to do with their mortarboards. 4) Steve Fouke (sr. McPherson, KS), Jim Mack (sr. Diller, Center, IA), Andy McConnell (sr. Birmingham, AL) visit with an alum. 5) Connie Ocker (sr. Hutchinson, KS) is flabed about the prospect of graduation. 27

ORGANIZATIONS

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is a National Honorary Fraternity. The McPherson Chapter is Theta Epsilon. Alpha Psi Omega is for those who have experience in both the acting and technical aspects of theater.

During the year the group performed occasionally for various organizations. Also, most of the members of this group also comprise a majority of Ricky's Roady's, but this is not a prerequisite to being a Roady. The group also serves all the dinner theaters and the First Nighters.

The group worked closely with Admissions this year by visiting high school theater productions and visiting with the performers after the shows.

One thing to remember is that Alpha Psi Omega is not just for theater majors, as mentioned previously, it's a combination of the different aspects of theater.

Art Club

This year Art Club was under the leadership of President Joe Mugenyi, Charlene Zenger as Vice-President, and Susan Mack as Secretary/Treasurer.

Art Club promotes art appreciation on campus. This year they offered two field trips off the campus: one to the Nelson Art Gallery in Kansas City; the other to the Wichita Museum. Both trips were offered in April. In May Art Club held a Student Art Sale. Also, Joe Mugenyi displayed his senior exhibit in Friendship Hall in April.

1) Ed Summers works on a clay creation. 2) Deborah Lenz takes time out to look at our photographs.

Pep bands and trombones

The editor of this yearbook wishes to apologize to Dr. Larry Kitzel and his bands because our photographers were unable to get a formal picture of trombones and pep band.

However, as is evident here, Dr. Kitzel kept his bands active. The shots that we have here show these two bands in action. Pep Band played during every home basketball and football game. The Trombones went on a weeklong tour in April and travelled throughout several states, giving many performances.

B.I.G.

Most people know that B.I.G. stands for Brethren Identity Group; however, did you know that a part of the group's purpose, as member Kathy Moore describes, is "a fellowship group that meets to do spiritual things and (also) secular enjoyment." The group is not limited to those of the Brethren faith; it is also for "whoever can identify with Brethren."

BIG has been very active this year by offering various forms of fellowship for the entire campus to participate in. The group sponsored various retreats, such as the retreat on time. Another major event was the reenactment of the crucifixion of Christ.

Business and Economics Club

Business and Economics Club. What is it? Is it for business majors only?

As president of the club, Joy Flora states that Business Club is "an organization that is primarily made up of business majors but also anyone interested in business (may join)." The group does a lot of fellowshiping, such as the annual Christmas party. But, it is also to increase the learning experience, such as listening to speakers about being an entrepreneur. One gets to learn more about business in general.

C.A.R.S. Club

One of the most interesting clubs on campus is the C.A.R.S. Club. What do the letters C-A-R-S stand for? College Auto Restoration Students.

Aside from this, though, this club is comprised primarily of auto restoration majors. However, the talent in this group is amazing when one considers that the members can take a wrecked, rusted, and ruined vehicle and grind, weld, sand, bend, and fabricate new for old parts and turn out a new auto!

The group travels to swap meets and visits businesses relating to their vocational field. Also, every Monday the club meets and listens to presentations from speakers relating to their field. One cannot appreciate the uniqueness of this group until one takes an interest in what they do.

Christian Vocations Club

Christian Vocations Club is for those who wish to combine their faith and their job but not necessarily be in a religiously-oriented profession.

The purpose of the group is as follows: "(It) exists for the purpose of providing a format for round-table discussions, skill development, field trips, and other learning experiences for those students 'interested' in a Christian vocation."

Also, CVC is concerned with understanding and accepting the various religious faiths via discussions with those of different faiths.

The Christian Vocations Club did several types of activities throughout the year. The group travelled to Prairie View and also to the Menninger foundation. These two trips can be considered as eye-opening for the members and definitely an educational experience.

The group hosted several speakers during the year; the BVS recruiter was among one of the guests at the club's meetings. CVC also held a picnic for the group and the campus was invited. As one can see, CVC is an attempt to combine one's faith and vocation.

The McPherson College Circle K Club is a part of Circle K International which is sponsored by Kiwanis. The group is oriented to do service for mankind. Wherever there is a need, Circle K strives to fulfill it.

How does our local club meet this challenge? Who do you think sponsors the Bloodmobile? That's right, Circle K. They take care of the sign up list and setting up for the blood drive. They donate their time throughout the day.

This club also helps out with the CROP festival by manning the Chinese Gardens booth. Plus, they have also helped with the March of Dimes walk. As a fundraiser, the group sold survival kits at X-mas. Talk about dedicated!!

Governor Charla Blau

On March 16, 1986, Charla Blau was elected Governor of the Kansas District of Circle K International. Nice title; what does it mean? For one thing, it means that she is in charge of building new Circle K clubs at different colleges in Kansas; this is no easy task since it requires a great deal of time and speaking abilities. Her title also entitles her to a great deal of travelling within Kansas. However, one of the benefits is that she will be able to see a lot of the U.S. with all expenses paid!!

A lot of her job will consist of human relations, but in the end it's worth it.

BEST OF LUCK CHARLA!!

Singers

This was an eventful year for this year's choir members because many of them participated in the European Choir that travelled throughout Europe this past summer, including Russia. For many it was a cultural adjustment. However, some like Tammy Sweeney, Todd Schrag, and Craig Spitzer were studying in Europe with BCA, and for them it was a chance to become reacquainted with old friends and familiar faces from McPherson College. Also, Prof. Steve Gustafson served as choir director for the fall semester while Dr. Stephanie Graber was on sabbatical. So, new and old choir members were given the opportunity for growth and learning under both of these instructors, and a little change does us all some good.

Singers perform for outside groups, plus comprise the Renaissance Singers.

This year the Computer Users Group was a little bit more active due to the new computer networking system on the campus. The group is for those who are interested in computers and new technology in the computer field. During the year the group went to a technological convention in Denver, Colorado. This exposed the members to new devices and systems that are currently used.

The Industrial Arts Club was led by the leadership of Doug Fitzmorris as president, Lonnie Heigle as secretary, and Stan Swinger as vice president. Gary Mahoney served as the club's advisor.

This club is for all Industrial Arts majors. They sponsor open shop nights. This year the club attended the International Technology Education Association Conference and Trade Show in Kansas City in March. As you can see, the club does more than projects.

ISO's purpose is to provide support for the international students and for the mixed cultures to experience the "American way" and vice versa for American students. It provides a way for these students to share their cultures with one another.

The group did various activities this year such as the Japanese meal that the group served and prepared. Also, they were one of two groups whose booth took first at Homecoming. The different students also did the fashion show at the CROP festival which was held in the fall.

Vince Spradling-Vice President
If you have a certain music talent, check out the music department to see what organization(s) you may become a member of.

This year Intercultural Forum sponsored various events on campus, such as dances. Probably the highlight of this year was the ACCK Conference at Bethany College in April. Members listened to a key note speaker and also a panel discussion. Dewayne Jackson participated on the panel discussion. This year Kim Williams served as the club's president. Joanne Hamlin is the group's sponsor.

Kappa Omicron Phi

Kappa Omicron Phi is a national honor society which recognizes the achievements of Home Economics majors. Those in it had to meet certain standards, for example, sophomore status and two years of Home Economics classes, along with a certain GPA.

Sterling, Bethel, and McPherson make up the chapter in the ACCK. Every year the schools take turns on which officers are from the schools. March is a service project for the community. The group supports Crossnore, an Appalachian school.

M-Club

M-Club is open to all those who participate in sports. M-Club is in charge of manning the concession stands at the home games, and this happens to be a major fundraiser for the club. Out of the funds raised, the club purchases jackets and watches for all graduating seniors. M-Club also is in charge of running the track meets. They also hold picnics every spring.

Mike Salmans served as president. Cindi Harrison was secretary. Karen Walters served as treasurer, and Kevin Patrick was the club's vice-president.

Intramurals

Intramurals this year gained momentum with Dave Unruh serving as adviser to its directors: Scarlett Rudd during fall semester, and Dave Malone during spring semester. Intramurals sponsored many various events; for example, flag football contests, a frisby contest and a volleyball contest.

SNEA stands for Student National Education Association. It is a professional organization for future teachers. SNEA is a part of the NEA—the National Education Association for teachers.

According to Lori Anderson, the group's goal is "to increase awareness of the importance of education." And to this group, it is, indeed, very important.

One of the activities throughout this past year was to sponsor a movie during American Education Week. The group also sold cakes on Valentine's Day as a fundraiser for them. They also sponsor various speakers who deal with current educational topics.

Phi Alpha Theta

Although Phi Alpha Theta is not considered an active club, it is an honorary history fraternity (so to speak) for those history majors who have met certain requirements; for example, one of the requirements is that the student have had 12 hours of history before being accepted, along with a certain GPA also. Phi Alpha Theta concerns itself with student presentations at conferences throughout the United States.

Roxanna Carlson says that the purpose of Psych-So's is to "provide the students with experiences in behavioral sciences." This means that the club's members are given exposure to various aspects of behavioral sciences.

As for activities during the year, the group was quite active. It travelled to the University of Oklahoma in Norman, OK, to the labs there. The group attended an all-day workshop on the locus of control at Bethany. The seniors gave their presentations at Eriporia in April. They also made Christmas cards for the residents at a nursing home in Haven.

Psych So's

Quadrangle

The yearbook staff this year chose the theme of this year's yearbook to match that of Homecoming's: Up In Lights. However, the staff used this theme to focus on the individuality of each person on campus. Although the staff was a bit limited in numbers, the staff strove to develop the yearbook as if it were a program to a show on stage, and we are the actors. No, the yearbook staff is not the actors; it incorporates everyone here at McPherson College.

This year Glenda Skarphol served as Editor with Prof. Susan Taylor as advisor. Much help was given by Tammy Sweeney.

Each semester on the Spectator staff, members change. First semester Greg Creed, Kevin Burton, Cathy Holderread, and Tim Crouse served as editors. Second semester it was Joel Knoery, Gary Foulke, Ted Thompson, Vic Ullom, and Jim Mack. Also, second semester brought about changes in the format of the Spectator.

As Joel Knoery said, "(It is the) official publication of the McPherson College campus." People are allowed to express their opinions.

S.A.B.

S.A.B., Student Activities Board. This group is the one in charge of what happens on campus as far as dances, air band concerts, skating parties, bowling parties, and the list goes on and on.

This group of people cannot be described in one picture of the people that have helped at one time or another. Probably the best way to describe S.A.B. is in pictures of some of the members throughout the year and some people enjoying themselves at S.A.B.-sponsored events.

Dave Unruh served as advisor for the group. Glenda Skarphol served as chairperson fall semester; Kim Williams served in the spring.

Student Council was led by President Leona Braden. As to her goals for the year, Leona felt that most of them had been met since she basically wanted to make StuCo more visible to the entire campus. As she said, "We made good progress towards being more open but it will take more than one year to change the image." One service activity that the group did was to send to the Philippines books that had been left in the StuCo office almost four years ago. Also, there was not a tremendous turnover in offices this year, which is very good.

The purpose of the group is to practice Spanish and to use it. And, at their dinner discussions, they do have the opportunity to practice and use this skill. Dr. Corinne Hughbanks serves as the club's advisor. There is no need for offices since they practice Spanish.

Class

Seniors

Patti Foster, Kelly Thomas, Carolyn Hanning, Sheryl Lohing

President Kelly Thomas led the senior class right on up to graduation on May 25. What can one say is the purpose of a senior class officer? Basically, they are in charge of making preparations for graduation, and that is about it. One could say that the senior class officers deserve it easy since it is their final year, and the past is behind them. Class members concentrate on making plans for their years after graduation, since the "real world" is only a few months ahead of them.

As Kelly Thomas put it the officers are in charge of "tying the four years up." Or, to put it another way, the senior year is the "wrap-up session" of everyone involved.

What will become of the members of the Class of 1986? Well, only time will tell, but one thing's for sure, their years at McPherson will help them in their years ahead. GOD LUCK TO THE CLASS OF 1986!!!!

Juniors

What can one say about the duties of the junior class? Well, they probably have the toughest job of planning for Prom (or the Spring Formal).

The junior class did a new thing this year as far as officers go. They had co-presidents (Kathy Miller and Cindi Harrison).

One can say that these officers felt a flood of relief when this year was finished for them; planning a Prom can be a very trying task.

Officers

The Sophomore Class Officers' duties consist of getting into the full swing of McPherson College. Most of the members of this class are not new to the campus since they came in the previous year; so, they have become accustomed to the college life. Also, they have established themselves as far as the organizations they choose to participate in. Some have also declared their majors.

Sophomores

The Freshman experience is a very difficult one to get through one's first year at any college. It's a time of establishing new friendships away from the hometown friends, and it's a time of being away from one's family for a few months before getting to see them again. And, in most cases, the freshman students really are not sure just what they want to major in or become. For the Class Officers, there really is not much for them to do since they are adjusting to life at McPherson.

Dorms

Bittering

Bittering is for, mainly, upper classmen. It is also a dorm for those students with a certain grade point average.

As a fundraiser to buy a new color television for the dorm this year, the dorm sold fruit baskets for students to help them during the week of finals. The dorm also sold T-shirts.

The dorm sponsored Sadie Hawkins Week which also included a dance. They also sold dorm sweat shirts and T-shirts. Plus, the girls in Dotzour also sponsored a movie for the campus which also served as a fundraiser for the dorm.

This was the Rothrock's first year as the Dotzour Dorm Parents.

Fahnestock

This year Phil Hofen served as President of the Fahnestock Dorm Council. Tim Crouse was Secretary, Treasurer was Andy McKinnell, and Kevin Miller served as Vice-President.

The dorm sponsored many activities this year. By far, the largest event was the Toga party, which had a really great turn-out. As a fundraiser, they had a car wash. Naturally, there was the annual Fanny Spades Tournament.

Also, many of its inhabitants are faithful Ultimate Frisbee pro's; so, they sponsored an Ultimate tournament and a Frisbee Golf tournament. The dorm also worked on making a film about itself.

Dave and Marnie Unruh are the Dorm Parents of Metzler. Dave serves also in the capacity of Student Activities Director, an assistant football coach, and a recruiter for Admissions.

College Courts

The residents in the college courts are sometimes overlooked by the campus because they really aren't considered as living "on" campus. However, many residents of the Courts prefer the peace and solitude which is one of the advantages of living there.

Also, the college courts are for married students or older students who choose not to live in the dormitories.

Perhaps, the residents of the courts are seen as being too far from campus, but they are close enough to walk to their classes while keeping in shape.

1) Lori Krawets (sr., Valley Center, KS) and Roxanna Carlson (sr., McPherson, KS) visit in the warm sunshine.
2) Karen Winter (j., Roaring Springs, PA) is one of the newest residents of the courts. 3) Ruth Heidebrecht (sr., McPherson, KS) studies for a test in Miller Library.

Off-Campus

Another forgotten section of students are those students who live off-campus. These are the ones who travel back and forth from the towns that they live in so that they, too, can get a good college education. Often, this set of students is older than the ones living in the dormitories. Yet, they, too, play a role in the varied life of the McPherson College campus. When they can, they participate in the various organizations on campus; however, sometimes this is hard for many since they go to school and also hold part- or full-time jobs.

Tough team tackles troubles

Never give up was the spirit of the 1985 Bulldog players. They never let their 1-8 record get them down as they entered each game with the traditional McPherson Collegiate spirit.

Mud and rain seemed to improve the spirits and talents of the battered Bulldogs. They battled against the Ottawa Braves in a memorable game to score a glorious 13-6 victory in the cold and pouring rain.

Outstanding defensive end Ed Crumpacker was named to the first team all-KCAC defensive squad. Senior Lonnie Heigle was named to the second team defensive squad. Players receiving honorable mention were Billy Jamison and Kevin Pote.

Men's, women's basketball

The men's basketball team finished the year at 10-14 and 5-13 in the conference. All-conference seniors Kurt Kinnamon and Bill Wempe led the team in scoring, rebounding, and assists. Wempe was named Academic All-American.

The Lady Red, peaking as the season closed, finished at 11-14 and 7-11 in the KCAC. Carol Zink led the team in scoring and rebounding and received all-conference honors. The team was coached by Jill Pitt, filling in for Paul Graber, who was on sabbatical leave.

Volleyball

A winning record was achieved by the volleyball team, who finished 19-18 overall and 11-7 in the KCAC.

The team was led by Denise Race, a unanimous all-conference first team selection for the second consecutive year, and Cindi Harrison, selected for the second team all-conference.

Other members included Kayla Corbett, Sandy Nichols, Anne Davis, Tonya Kingery, Janet Cordel, Pam Herman, Karen Walter, Kelli Grote, Lisa Wagner, Michelle Streit, Vicki Albrecht, and Lisa Mick.

Academics

The division of Humanities is comprised of the following majors: Art, English, Foreign Languages, Music or Music Education, Philosophy and Religion, and Speech and Theatre.

The Art Department tries to meet the needs of those who wish to teach art, those who plan to become artists, or those who want to refine their aesthetic values.

The courses in the English and Speech and Theatre Departments are required for all majors to better themselves in the world outside of McPherson.

The Foreign Languages department offers students the opportunity to study German or Spanish or any other languages to be taken independently.

The Music Department allows students to increase their awareness/explore the many aspects of this field. Students can study to teach music or perform it.

The Philosophy and Religion Department presents students with the various philosophies and religions that exist in our world today.

Humanities

1) Dr. Dale Goldsmith attempts to enlighten his classes. 2) Dr. Larry Kitzel always has a smile on his face for anyone who needs a smile. 3) Dr. Jan van Asselt relaxes at his home after a busy week on campus.

1) Dr. Corinne Hughbanks is always willing to speak to students about any topic that they wish. 2) Prof. Susan Taylor serves as both Spectator and Quadrangle advisor which means that she is constantly on the top of progress in these areas. 3) Dr. Stephanie Graber is photographed during choir. 4) Dr. Herb Smith checks his mail.

Natural Sciences

Within the Division of Natural Sciences are three departments along with three different majors for these departments.

Within the Department of Biological Sciences are the areas of biology and agriculture.

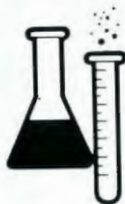

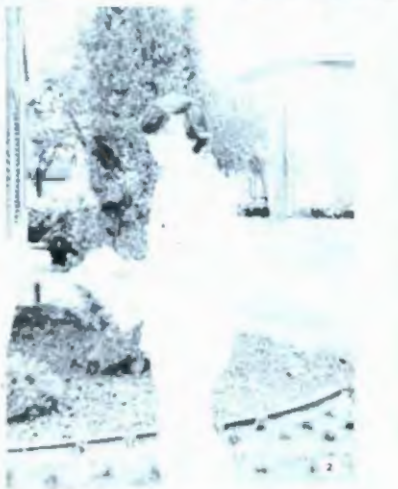

Chemistry, Physics, and Physical Science are offered in the Department of Physical Sciences.

Finally, Computer Science and Mathematics are offered by the Department of Mathematical Sciences.

Courses in the Division of Natural Sciences range from Astronomy to Multivariate Mathematics to Swine Production.

Every student at McPherson College is required to take 8 hours from this area. For those students who are not majors in this area, they are forced to tackle the problem of deciding between Biology, Chemistry, or Environmental Science.

One can say that this area could be considered as one of the most-feared areas on campus since most students would prefer to stay away from it as they did in high school.

1) Prof. Glenace Estelner Shank takes her work seriously when it comes to her classes. 2) Prof. Raymond Flogg on his way back to Hanny Hall after a faculty meeting.

1) Prof. Robert Ward pauses to speak with Judy Butler. 2) Dr. Gifford Wrenberry takes a great amount of interest in the progress of his students. 3) Dr. Wren DeClairsey on his way to chat awhile at the Snack bar. 4) Dr. John Burkholder making his way over to the Student Union.

Social Sciences

The Economics/Business Administration Department is one of the departments found within this division. This department offers various emphases for those interested in the business world: Economics Emphasis, Accounting Emphasis, and even an International Trade Emphasis.

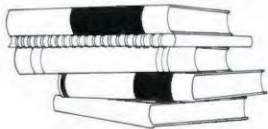

Within the Department of Behavioral Sciences, students can choose between two options: psychology or sociology. Within the sociology major, students can also major in the Administration of Justice if they are interested in police, probation or parole or the corrections field.

The Department of History falls within this division. These students who are majors are required to take a minimum of 32 hours in History plus 16 hours of Politics and/or Economics.

Finally, one finds the Department of Education within this area. It offers degrees at the various levels of teaching along with a degree in Special Education.

1) Attorney Lowell Flory teaches business courses at McPherson; here he is shown in one of the many he teaches. 2) Dr. Leiland Lengel can often be found reading the newspaper during his free time before his classes.

1) Professors John Burden and Richard Wright take a few moments to speak to one another before class time. 2) Dr. Raymond Fick is grading 20th Century Europe tests. 3) Prof. David O'Neil preparing to teach one of his accounting classes.

Applied Arts and Sciences

A total of 4 hours is required of every student to be taken in the area of Applied Arts and Sciences.

Students have a wide variety of courses to choose from. For instance, Human Relations Lab is offered within this department and helps students to become aware of how to deal with relationships that we all come in contact with every day.

Students can also take courses offered within the area of being fit or teaching others the joy of being fit. For instance, one can get credit for Tennis I or II, Canoeing, Weight Lifting, Rhythms and Dance, or even the martial art of Karate for self defense. Naturally, it does not hurt for one to be able to give first aid in an emergency situation.

Finally, there are the various courses offered in Templeton Hall to develop students' creative abilities. For instance, Machine Woodworking, Photography, or Graphic Communications develop students' appreciation for the technical aspects in the working world.

1) A meeting on the minds??? Prof. Gary Mahoney, Dr. Richard Zenger, and Prof. Richard Wright meet at the crossroads of the campus. 2) Prof. Rod Custer takes a break before going back to the shop to teach his Auto Body Restoration class.

1) Prof. Dennis Richter is attempting to open his mailbox in the Student Union. 2) Prof. Dan Huffman taking a break in the Snack bar. 3) Dr. Donk Caspuck is writing a test, perhaps? 4) Dr. Paul Graber is making his way back to the Sports Center after a faculty meeting.

Convocations

Every full-time student receives one-half hour of credit each semester for attending convocations. Convocations are planned in order to meet the following goals: to build a sense of community, to provide opportunities for recognition of student achievement, to promote college activities and events, to highlight quality and strength of academic departments, to build loyalty to the College, and to provide a broad range of cultural and intellectual experiences (as stated in the McPherson College Catalog).

This past year various speakers or performers entertained members of the campus. The presentations ranged from Brethren Volunteer Service to the U.S. Armed Forces. Performers, such as Dr. LaVon Widegren, Rupel and Linda Thorne, enriched the cultural side of our McPherson community.

1) Dr. Stanford Lehmborg, the Monier Lecturer, speaks to a class about the cathedral lay-out. 2) Doro Holderread (Sr. Newton, KS) finds Dr. Lehmborg a fascinating speaker. 3) Convocation audience was caught in the spell of soprano Elisabeth Braden.

Vice-President Tucker Resigns

As of June 30, 1986, Dr. Norma Tucker resigned from her position as Vice-President of Academic Services. Her resignation was handed to Dr. Paul Hoffman on March 21.

Dr. Tucker served the College for 15 years; for the last six, she served as Vice-President for Academic Services. She began her career at McPherson as Assistant Professor of English and Journalism and simultaneously serving as Director of Publicity. In 1976 she was appointed as Associate Dean of the College. Three years later she became Dean of the Faculty.

Academically, she received her baccalaureate degree from McPherson College in 1967; the M.L.S. from the University of Oklahoma, the Sp.E. from Wichita State University, and the Ed.D. degree from the University of Kansas.

While Vice-President, she also taught part-time and published various articles in different publications.

Dr. Tucker resigned her position in order to seek new directions in the years to come.

1) Tucker is busy all week at her office when our photographer shows her picture. 2) Mrs. Betty Barichsky, Academic Services Sec. and Dr. Tucker were seen together whenever it deals with the concerns of students. 3) Dr. Norma Tucker.

BCA/International Students

Students on McPherson College's campus have the rare opportunity to be able to learn abroad for a year. This year some of the students who are abroad are Merrie Cline, Steven van Asselt, Sue Matterson, Maria Ullom, Wayne Ritchie, and Galen Switzer.

Also, in exchange, McPherson opens its doors to international students from abroad. This year's list includes Bosedede Nikki Iyewarun (Nigeria), Edward Blankers (Netherlands), Juan Camps (Spain), Anthonia Ekwensi (Nigeria), Kenji Hino (Japan), Joel Knoery (France), Joseph Mugenyi (Uganda), Albert Nyakatura (Uganda), Larry Ojeyele (Nigeria), Ralf Schimmer (Germany), Ginko Ueshiba (Japan), and Shadrack Waira (Kenya).

1) Shown here are Ralf Schimmer, Juan Camps, and Anthonia Ekwensi. 2) Both Ekwensi and Ginko are both very involved in ISC. 3) Wayne Ritchie (r. Roanoke, IA) is in with many. 4) Sue Matterson (r. Oregon, Ill.) is also in Germany.

Second Semester Students

Susan Drake is a freshman majoring in Psychology. She transferred from Central Missouri State.

Ed Summers has an A.A. degree from Hesston College; transferred from Bethel College. He's an Industrial Arts major.

Robert (Dr. Bob) Palmer is from Lyons, Colorado. He is majoring in Psychology and Drama.

Jerry (Jerel) Robbins is from Rifle, Colorado. He is a freshman.

Every second semester there comes in a batch of students who are new to McPherson, yet, they are rarely ever recognized in the yearbook because they are too late for student photos and often times for organizational pictures. This year the yearbook would like to recognize a few of those new students since they, too, are a part of our student body here at McPherson. A lot of students are transfer students from other schools, but some are also students beginning their first year of college. Welcome to McPherson!

IN CONCLUSION...

There are many thank you's to be expressed in this year's yearbook: to Tammy Sweeney, for designing and doing the color pages and individual photos in this book; to Renee Pflatzgraft for designing and taking care of the sports section which is a major section of this book. "Thanks" to Jason Barrows for taking organizational pictures and photographing other parts of the yearbook. I also wish to express my appreciation to Professor Wesley Pauls for without him this yearbook would not have the great picture of Harnly Hall on the cover. "Thank you" to Ellen Herschelman and Craig Spitzer for taking a majority of the Homecoming pictures, along with others in here. Cathy Holderread, thank you for proofing copy. Pam Doucette and Shawn Payne, thank you for getting the advertisements to support this book. Also, a big thank you goes to Professor Susan Taylor for helping as she did (especially at the last moments).

By far, the biggest thank you goes to the student body, professors, personnel, etcetera, who are the story in this yearbook.

Although we have had a lot of times of despair and doubt, it all came out in the wash with the copy of this yearbook that you are holding in your hands.

Sincerely,

Genda Skarpohl, Editor
