

Roll Shrinks As Grades Go Down

Thompson, Grove Top List Of Ten Students

Shrank by a mid-term let-down, the Honor Roll for the first nine weeks of this term now stands at ten, in comparison with the eighteen that crowded in the scholastic heights at the end of last semester. These figures were revealed by tabulations late last night.

Verda Grove and William Thompson tied for high honors with forty-seven grade points, three points below the high at last semester by Lillian Pauls, who made only forty-two honor points this semester to come in ninth.

Juniors and seniors have four representatives on the list, while sophomores have two. No freshmen were successful in attaining over forty honor points.

Forrest Groff trailed the leaders with forty-six points, and Esther Sherry pressed him hard with her total of forty-five. Raymond Flory, forty-four, and Astana Fields, Dwight Horner, and Edna Keeler followed with forty-three. Rowena Frantz completed the list with forty-one immediately below the forty-two attained by Lillian Pauls.

The list of honorable mention earned two spots as Harold Carnes and Asta O'Neill won 39 grade points to lead sub-honors. Carroll Cronan had the last 38. Those who had 37 points were Arlene Barley, Rosalie Fields, Virginia Harris, Opal Hoffman, Donald Newkirk, and Virginia Kerite. Several students had 26 points, Delbert Harley, Elmer Daddison, Lois Florman, Roseana Feltz, Jonathan Hammerley, Winton Shaffer, Jay Smith, and Leonard Vaughn. Maurine Anderson and Marlane Krueger scratched in, over the deadline, with 37.

Physical Education Traps Many

Dean's List Much Smaller Than At Semester's End

It was evident after last night's tabulations that unless you are a vigorous athlete, the physical education department is the stiffest in the college.

Tripped up by the multitude of "C's" which swarmed from the physical education department, seven students tumbled from the Dean's List, while nineteen others fell by the wayside for other reasons. Two students who were on the list at the end of the first semester had dropped from school.

Only sixteen held coveted spots on the all-star list of Dean J. D. Bright, which is less than half of the forty-two who made all grades above "C's" at the end of the first semester.

Any regular enrolled student who has no grade below a "B" is eligible for the Dean's List. No freshmen made the list, while the sophs scored three times. Six juniors will have the special privileges offered them by Dr. Bright, while the seniors lead with seven.

It was impossible for a student to make the list unless he was on it at the beginning of the semester. Thus the drop does not tell all the story.

Those on the Dean's List for the last nine weeks of this school year are Maurine Anderson, Arthur Baldwin, Elmer Baldwin, Raymond Flory, Roseana Frantz, Verda Grove, Forrest Groff, Virginia Harris, Edna Keeler, Asta O'Neill, Lillian Pauls, Winton Shaffer, Esther Sherry, Stephen Stover, and William Thompson.

Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute students recently curbed the faculty experts with student-written technical questions in a program of the "Information Please" variety.

Hoffman, Harshbarger Thompson Chosen

Take Leads In Senior Class Play, "The Merchant of Venice"

Leads in the senior play, The Merchant of Venice, which is to be presented near the end of the school year, will be taken by Opal Hoffman, Luther Harshbarger, and William Thompson. These names were revealed in a tentative casting made by the committee. Miss Della Lehman, Miss Ruth Koerber, and Dr. Claude R. Flory, after try-outs late yesterday afternoon.

Hoffman has the feminine lead in playing the part of Portia, a rich heiress, while the masculine leads of Shylock, a rich Jew, and Antonio, a merchant of Venice, will be played by Harshbarger and Thompson respectively.

Other members of the cast are as follows: Gladys Shank will play the part of Nerissa (Portia's waiting-maid), Rilla Hubbard will be Jessica (Shylock's daughter), Addison Southoff, Hansio; Frances Campbell, Laurelet Gobbo; in clown; Harold Larsen, Old Gobbo; Delbert Barley, Gratiano; Charles Sheller, Prince of Morocco; and Dwight Horner, Duke of Venice. The parts of Allano, Salerio, Prince of Aragon, Stephano, and Tubal will go to Arthur Baldwin, Bob Wiegand, Carl Smucker, and others.

The quite important part of Lorenzo, who is in love with Jessica, has not yet been cast as several seniors were unable to attend try-outs. The director has not as yet been selected.

Concert Drive Is To Begin Next Monday

Members Will Hear Six Concerts In Season

The membership campaign for the Columbia Collegiate Concert Association in McPherson will start Monday evening and last throughout the following week. Mr. Alton of the New York Opera Association will be here in person to conduct the campaign.

Members of the 1939-1940 season will attend six concerts, three of them will be in McPherson and three will be in Lindberg. This same number were presented last year. There will be no reciprocal tickets with Newton.

No definite arrangements as to concert numbers will be made until after the membership campaign. However, the committee will endeavor to obtain a voice choir similar to the Mozart Boy's Choir as one number. Concerts will be chosen on the basis of the number of association members.

All workers will be guests at a dinner to be given at the country club on Monday evening to open the membership campaign. Dr. W. C. Heaton is the president of the McPherson association. The chairman for the membership drive is Mrs. Gene Mingenbach. Della Lehman is the McPherson College representative. Five college students will attend as workers on the campus.

The campaign closes Saturday evening at six o'clock. After that time no new members will be admitted to the association, so more tickets will be sold. The Student Council will, however reserve a block of tickets for the new students who will come to college next fall.

The price of membership will be the same this season as last. The regular price is three dollars a member, but all students in school now may belong for only one dollar and a half. This means that college students pay twenty-five cents a concert.

Newton will conduct its own concert series without reciprocity with McPherson. The latter and Lindberg will have a larger and better series.

Chapel Speaker

Schwalm Gives Inspirational Talk

Says Victories Must Be Fought In Human Heart

For the chapel program Wednesday, the chapel choir sang "I Had My Heart This Side." Dr. V. F. Schwalm led in devotional address which he gave most effective and inspirational talk on "Christ in Gethsemane."

Dr. Schwalm said, "Agonizing there alone in the Garden, Jesus fought out the great conflict in His heart. In his loneliness He fought out the greatest struggle there on His knees. Without Gethsemane there could have been no Golgotha, no resurrection, no empty tomb."

Most of life's victories are fought in the human heart, and there, too, Golgotha and Resurrection follow just as surely. Jesus had to choose between God's will and the easier way, but he realized his death on the cross was vitally related to human redemption; he had a sense of complicity of the sin of the world.

Suffering love is redemptive; vicarious love hatches many hearts. If we want to be a disciple of Christ, we must take up His cross and follow Him, and let us face that cross in the spirit of Him who said "Not my will, but Thine be done."

Christian Colleges Hope Of World

Johnson Says Educational System Doomed Otherwise

More than 100 people attended McPherson college's greatest social event of the year, the colorful Homecoming Banquet last Friday night in Convocation Hall. The banquet celebrated the annual financial campaign which netted $2,100 to the bank of tickets.

Dr. Oscar Johnson, St. Louis Baptist minister, was given the main address, held the attention of his audience throughout his entertaining and inspiring address. "Keeping Your Balance," Johnson stressed his subject to a man walking a tight wire across a deep chasm. He must keep his balance or fall.

"The hope of the world as it is," Johnson said "lies in Christian education which will help us keep our balance. The crazy man or two crazy men can ruin the world. You can't see straight and think crooked. It is so apparent that straight thinking is hard to get. Our Christ was a straight thinker."

"We need God to supply us with something to stabilize ourselves for the rocky road ahead. Any life that does not have room for God is not a balanced life. That is why I believe in Christian education." Dr. Johnson continued saying that something comes to people in a Christian college that they don't get elsewhere. "Unless the Christian colleges stay in business, the whole education system in the United States is doomed," was his conclusion.

Homer Ferguson, McPherson business man, acted as toastmaster for the affair at which Dr. T. W. Hutcher, president of Emporia State college, also spoke. Fifty Marching bands assisted in the preparation of the food and in waiting tables.

Mohler Sees Lack Of Popular Education

Local Prof. Warns Level Of Average Mentality Low

Prof. R. E. Mohler spoke in chapel Friday morning about education for civic responsibility.

One interesting thought of Prof. Mohler was in no time in history have people increased in schools and school facilities as has the United States, while the increase in crime was equally rapid.

Professor Mohler brought attention to a series of posters called "The Purpose of Educating in American Democracy." There are twelve of these posters. It was suggested that students take special notice of the posters when they are placed on the bulletin board.

"There are three American flop houses," he said, "the radio, the movie, and the reading material. There are twenty-seven million radios in the twenty-eight million American homes."

Prof. Mohler explained that a survey was taken of the program most enjoyed by the American public and it was found that they were programs suited to the mentality of a nine-year old child. It was also brought to the students attention that forty-nine million copies of monthly publications which are not permitted to be sent through the U. S. mail, are sold in the United States after being shipped by express.

Professor Loren Crawford played a still more Andante from the Spanish Symphony by Bach.

Calendar Revised; Leap Year Starts Friday

Person, Family Relations Group To Sponsor All-School Party

Marampanans who feel a pang of desire for hastening the arrival of leap year should take heed to the following announcement.

On next Friday and Saturday their big chance will boldly confront them, for as has been the custom in years past, a week-end for ladies clubs will again be observed under the sponsorship of the Personal and Family Relations Commission of the S. C. M.

Entertainment suggestions will start with the girls on Friday evening, April 11, and Saturday night festivities will be climaxed with a gala all-school party in the S. U. R. Girls and men alike are looking forward to abandoning the convention during this next week-end and having a good time in a different manner.

Mrs. Nininger Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. E. Nininger of McPherson was the guest speaker of the S. C. M. Easter service.

In addition to Mrs. Nininger's interesting talk were two special numbers, a reading by Kathryn Marshall, and a musical number by Frances Campbell.

Following a prelude by Ruth Smith, Wilbur Lewallen took charge of devotions.

Monday Chapel Is Enjoyable

An enjoyable program was given in chapel last Monday. After a hymn led by Professor Fisher, Dr. Mohler read a message in the Scripture. Then Vera Flory and Miss Brown rendered the first movement of the "Piano Concerto in A Minor" by Edward Grieg.

Dr. Schwalm made a few announcements, concluding the program.

Come Back Tuesday

Vacation starts for Marampanans today; afterwards at 4 o'clock. Many students plan to go home for short visits. After spending the Easter vacation which extends through Monday, collegians will start classes again on Tuesday, at 7:50 A. M.

Applications Due Soon

The Student Council urges that all applicants for positions as either editor or business manager of the Spectator or Quadrange, be submitted to the secretary of the council before April 15, next Saturday. Opal Hoffman is secretary of the governing body.

Bill Thompson, council proxy, has announced that only one or two applications have been thus far received. The race for the positions is still wide open. He urges that any student who would like to work in these responsible positions and has satisfactory qualifications, apply at once.

"Facing The Cross" Is Schwalm's Topic

Marine Services To Be Held Easter Sunday Morning

Tomorrow morning at 11:15 o'clock at the college church, Dr. V. F. Schwalm will speak on "Facing the Cross" at the Good Friday service. There will be a large feast and communion service tomorrow night at 7 o'clock.

The college church will hold an Easter sunrise service Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock with music and meditation. The usual services will be held Sunday night, because of "The Messiah" presentation at Lindberg.

Committee Has Released New Curriculum

Many Changes; Seniors Must Take Comprehensive

The special curriculum committee, composed of Dr. J. W. Bollnot, chairman, Dr. J. D. Bright, and Professors Maurine A. Hess and R. E. Mohler have completed their work on revising the curriculum and requirements for a bachelor's degree.

A considerable number of old courses have been dropped from the former curriculum and about an equal number of new ones have been added. The number of departments granting a major has been reduced from sixteen to eleven. The revised curriculum will go generally into effect next year.

The revised distribution requirements are as follows:

- 1. Before graduation, each student must complete at least 16 semester hours in the Division of Languages, Literature, Arts, 13 semester hours in the Division of Natural Sciences. The divisional requirements shall include the specific requirements stated below all of which should be completed in the Freshman and Sophomore years, unless otherwise stated:

1. Physical Education, 4 semester hours.
 2. Natural Science (Biol., Chem., Phy., Math.), 8 semester hours.
 3. Social Science (History, Pol. Sc., or Econ.), 6 semester hours.
- This requirement must be met in history unless two senior high school units in history are presented for entrance.
4. English (oral and written composition), 6 semester hours.
 5. Literature, 6 semester hours.
 6. Foreign Language, 12 semester hours.

This requirement must be met in Latin, French, or German. Each unit of foreign language presented for entrance reduces this requirement by three semester hours, provided the same language is continued in college.

Six semester hours of science and six semester hours of mathematics may be substituted for the requirement. The science substituted must be laboratory course in Biology, Chemistry, or Physics, and it must be in a department.

Students Elect Council Officers Next Thursday

Stover Vs. Myers, Newkirk Vs. Naylor In Hot Race

Out of the smoke and fire of enthusiastic political activities next Thursday, April 13, will emerge the winners of the campus election for the 1939-40 president and treasurer of the Student Council.

The polls will be open for two or three hours in the morning, and possibly part of the afternoon. It was announced yesterday by Bill Thompson, student council president. During the general election, the student body will also vote on the new Student Body constitution, which is to supplant the present Student Council constitution.

Phil Myers, varsity football and president of Fabmstock Hall, will angle for the presidential position with Stephen Stover, treasurer of the Student Council and an honor student. Don Newkirk and Kirk Naylor, sophomores, will lock horns for the treasurer spot.

Thursday in the chapel at the regular 3:40 activity period, students will hear stump speeches on behalf of the candidates. Gordon Yoder will cross the grades of Kirk Naylor, while Dale Stachy will give the merits of a Newkirkian grasp on the council's purse-strings.

Speakers for the president candidates have not been chosen as yet. The polls will not be in the rear of the chapel as in the past, but will be placed in some room of Sharp Hall to avoid the confusion and the rush which has in the past existed during the elections.

The polling will occur without any primary election, for only two candidates ran for both offices. All indications point to an extremely close recount on both positions.

Because the proposed Student Body constitution was drawn up by the present Student Council, called for the election will not all be members of the Student Council, as they have been in the past, but the president of the Senior class, Addison Southoff, and President Raymond Flory of the Junior class will aid in counting the votes.

Another period for the discussion of the proposed constitution is being arranged for. This forum will give students a chance to express their opinion about the new plan.

Constitution Submitted To Student Approval

Marampanans will vote next Thursday, the date of the general school election, on the adoption of a constitution for the governing of the Student Body. The constitution, submitted by the Student Council, is a result of the work of the '37-'38 Student Council as well as the present body.

The new constitution will provide for the organization of the Student Body as an active governing group. The constitution states the powers of the Student Council and the duties of its members, and provides for the control of all extra-curricular activities and duplications.

Students have been given copies of the proposed constitution and are urged to study it carefully before voting.

Myers Has Keys

The Student Union Room will not be regularly open Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. Phil Myers, however, will have the key to the room, and anyone who wishes for the room to be opened may see him in Fabmstock Hall.

Myers is the student council member in charge of S. U. R. supervision.

Exactly 2,369 organized events were held in the University of Wisconsin Memorial Union building last year.

The Spectator Sees

Better They Should Stuff Ballot Box Than Not To Vote At All

It would be a much better indication to see students trying to stuff the ballot-box as though it were a Thanksgiving turkey, than to see the apathy of students who refuse to vote.

The devil-may-care attitude which accompanies the failure to vote is more dangerous than any Kansas City Pendergast gangs. It is the foundation upon which such political machines are founded.

Not that there is danger of a machine on Macampus, but students must vote to insure the success of student government.

Only two-thirds of the student body voted at last year's general student election for Student Council posts.

In view of the fact that Dr. Theodore H. Jack, president of Randolph Macon Woman's college, recently has said, "Student government is the finest type of laboratory for the inculcation, development, and practice of the principles of democracy," this lax attitude on the part of students is alarming.

Student government is a distinctively significant and essential part of the college course. Through participation in the activities of student government, collegians may learn the lessons of cooperative life. They learn to select leaders, to plan for life, and to evaluate.

Democracy is based on the assumption that every one will exercise his right of franchise. It is only when this duty and privilege is carried out completely that democracy can be made efficient. Active participation of the citizens in the selection of representatives and in determining fundamental principles is necessary for the continuation of democracy.

All this being true, how can college students fail to vote? Let's all vote next Thursday!

Hard Nuts To Crack Will Meet Doom If Girls Do Their Duty

The Personal and Family Relations Commission of the S. C. M. has decreed that next week-end social events will turn topsy-turvy and leap-year will be in full swing.

All other schools the nations round have used this old custom to crack some of the hard nuts of social circles.

There is always a variety debater that just won't "go out." Persistent girls can make him melt. And there is the fellow, a jolly lad, who says that he doesn't care for "dates," but would just rather play around. He gets trapped too. As does the shy lad who is just afraid. And the studious chap with horn-rimmed glasses.

Then there is the boy who never is seen anymore with college girls because he has "someone back home." If he is a good sport he too will submit to unconventionality.

One college columnist reports that a certain boy liked a certain girl all along, but thought she didn't want to date him. So she got a leap year date and both are happy now.

Let's make the campus ring with laughter and good fun next week-end, and girls, don't let a single eligible bachelor get by without being dated. Even the guy who always says he is invulnerable, and says that he is immune. The cynic. Some girl will find that, like Achilles, he has a heel.

Within These Walls—

Mother Emmert now has to administer to Detroit those little pink and brown pills. Remember, two every three hours. Yes, she is on the sick list and we really wish her a lot.

Winter vacation has saved Frances Campbell from growing stale while Roy Robertson has the mumps.

Evidently our college girls were unable to lighten the heart of Evrol Flynn or "swim a cowboy." I see Edna Hubbard and the Venable sisters are back from Dodge City.

In Arnold Hall—

Our mamma is sick! Her absence certainly makes us realize how much we fail to appreciate her and all her services. And her illness has also brought another fact to light—that we girls can be quiet (almost) hospital quiet.

It seemed almost like old times to have "Mum" Vozan out here again. Of course she was in the wrong dorm, but nevertheless, we'd like to have her come around more often.

Imagine how my heart jumped when I walked into my room tonight and a cat jumped out of the clothes closet—and a black cat at that! Just like in Poe's story.

And while I'm on this heart-jumping subject, I was very much surprised how little I was thrilled when I saw the male star at Dodge City last week end. Well—Erol Flynn is big and handsome with broad shoulders, and John Payne wasn't so hard to look at! And I just had to laugh when I saw Frank McHugh. Priscilla Lane was passy on the eyes and probably made many a male heart flap over a couple times. But I was really more interested in that "bicycle built for two" going down the street.

"Honey Boy" Cramer falls to rate with one of the girls in our midst. She even goes to bed to avoid a date with him. Go on, Albo Lindgren he promises not to bite!

Huger and Enas are footloose and fancy free again. But a habit has grown on one, and at 7:30 that first night of freedom, Huger found himself twiddling her thumbs.

Mickey Morrison really has that swing! She sure goes to town on "Hold Tight"—with all the added attractions. Not stuff!

Edna Mae is getting around again, and this time she has been seen frequently with one of the "Miller" boys. But then, she was also seen with "Treaty boy" Vaughn recently.

Whoop! another vacation! Happy Easter Bunny to you all!

Fifty Attend BYPD Party

About fifty college young people were in "April Fools" last Saturday night at the college church in spite of the fact that they were forced to dash from one door to another to find the "Open Sesame" to the April Fools party which had been planned by the Recreation Council.

Gordon Yoder as the genial master of ceremonies kept the enthusiasm at a high point. Interesting to all was the solemn initiation of four new members into the Barnyard Society—and anyone who hasn't seen A. H. Bathoff lay an egg, just hasn't been around!

Refreshments, too, carried out of the April theme—do have some more of these delicious chocolate covered lima beans! The climax of the evening followed a number of songs led by Opal Hoffman, when devotions closed the party.

The women's quartet of the college sang a group of numbers at the Women's Federation of Clubs meeting last Monday afternoon at the Congregational Church.

Here Is What They Look Like On Paper

Taking a quick squint at the candidates, Stever and Myers, who are in battle for the Student Council presidency, and Newkirk and Naylor, who are running for the treasurer position.

Stephen Stever, a junior and treasurer of the students council this year, is a member of the National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll. During his high-school career he was a class officer all four years and was active in H-Y work. As editor of the McPherson High Life, he gained experience in executive work. He won the American Legion Award as the most distinguished student both when he was in Junior high and Senior high. Last year, when a sophomore, he was business manager of the Quadrangle. Today president of McPherson's Episcopal League, Stever is active in the Theological Club, the R. C. M. Cabinet, and the M. Club. Stever has been a class officer all three of his years at college and is an honor student.

Phil Myers, varsity footballer for two years and president of the boy's dorm both sophomore and junior, has shown his executive ability by his work as president of the Men's council. A member of the Student Council, he is in charge of the S. H. R., one of the council's biggest "problem children." Myers was the leading salesman for the Newton Ice Co. through school for four years, and has helped his sister through two years. Mae in Falmestock say that the dorm has had one of its most successful years during his presidency. Phil was valedictorian of his high-school graduating class.

Donald Newkirk, a sophomore and varsity debater for two years, is president of his class. As treasurer of his class last year, he gained recognition through his 4-H work. Newkirk has been a member of the R. C. M. cabinet as co-chairman of the Rural Life Commission, and is a member of the National Honor Society.

Kirk Naylor, a past member of the Student Council, for three years was bookkeeper for the Inland Utilities Co., where he gained experience in treasurer's work. A basket ball player, Naylor taught school for a year before coming to McPherson. He was vice-president of the Osborne County Teachers' Association, and has for the past three years been vice-president of the Freshmen Northwest Kansas Young People's organization. He has gained experience as a store clerk and filling station attendant, and for the last five years has successfully held responsible positions.

Penguins Have Viewpoint Of Boater Banquet

The Penguins and Jittersburgs, as well as the more conservative waiters and waitresses, had a heap of fun at the Boater Banquet last Friday night. Imagine Emily Pearl's chagrin if she could have seen those ladies and gentlemen eating chicken with their fingers, and doing everything from outside the salad to buttering the rolls with a spoon!

Dick Barver devised a new technique of tray-carrying. He balanced it on his head; when he arrived at the desired destination, he steps very suddenly, and the tray slides gracefully into his waiting hands.

Imagine Orville Beecher's embarrassment—as well as the lady's—when he served dessert to a lady whom he thought had been overlooked, to have her say, "Oh, thank you, but I've already had mine."

Behind the scenes one might have seen Dwight Horner eating his fifth or sixth pie quite early in the course of the evening, or Leonard Vaughan surreptitiously slipping an occasional cranberry pie to any cute girl nearby, or Merrill Meyers trying to get away with a pie right before Miss A's very eyes.

Looking out over the audience, someone remarked, "This looks more like an Indian tribe judging from the feathers sticking in women's hair."

Was Vernon Kraus' countenance grim and did he wish he had had his arm where it was not it when Rev. C. O. Johnson looked right at him and said, "I'll quit before she goes to sleep on your shoulder!"

And did you notice that about ninety-nine and forty-four hundredths per cent of the applause for the men's quartette came from the quarters of the kitchen help?

The guests had scarcely left their seats before the starved waiters went hurriedly from table to table eating salads from empty places, digging in the pickle hole to see if an olive might have escaped, or finding a delicious pecan pie "which hadn't been eaten on."

A new club for enthusiasts, called the Jacobus Club, has been formed at Stevens Institute of Technology.

Spring Term Brings New System Of Chapel Seating

Manchester college—For the first time in the history of Manchester college fellows and girls may choose their own seats and sit together in daily chapel.

The new chapel seating plan, which will go into effect this spring term at McPherson's sister college is the result of a poll taken of the student body in which the vote was 450 to 101 that chapel seating should be changed.

The student-faculty committee recommended that the change be put into effect the spring term, and students are given the opportunity to plan for whatever seat they desire.

Early registration results indicate that there will be a very noticeable change in the seating for next term.

Campus agitation here shows that there is some demand on Macampus for different chapel seating arrangements.

Progressive Party Attracts Many To Fun Scenes

Fun, safety, hilarity, and even silliness are words scarcely adequate in describing the progressive party given by the town girls for all dormitory and off-campus girls.

Carload after carload of giggling, excited girls swept into the lovely homes at Ramona Fries, Audrey Humman, Lois Flomen, Doris Dreyer, Gladys Bell, and Anna Jean Curran Friday evening, March 24. Other town girls added in the success of the party by being assistant hostesses and by offering the use of their cars.

Cowboys, Tennis, Fish are Subjects of New Books

Library Contains Many Of Season's Outstanding Books

During this slack before the final fish, students may read the year's most outstanding new books. The most recent additions to the library's shelves are the following:

"Hamilton Fish" by Allen Neuma, the Pulitzer Prize Biography, reveals through Fish's diary the political secrets, scandals, and corrupt acts during the sensational years when as Secretary of State under President Grant from 1869-1877, Hamilton Fish loomed up as the guiding influence of the Grant Administration in all its better phases.

"The Lac of a Cowboy" by Andy Adams "is the finest piece of literature that the cattle country has produced" say some. It is a record of the daily doings of a party of typical Texas Cowboys, accurately related—"As faithful as it is thrilling."

"Table Tennis" by Coleman Clark, the former U. S. Ping Pong champion tells how to get the most fun out of the game, what strokes battle your opponent, how to make quick scientific shots. It is the inside story of America's indoor sport.

"Mathematics for the Millions" by Laureate Hogben gives simple fascinating explanations to such questions as "Why do we use 10 as a base number, why do we square numbers to find area?" Also, the book shows the importance of mathematics to world progress. H. Q. Wells says "It should be read by every intelligent youth who is trying to get the hang of things in this universe."

"Human Affairs" edited by Cottell, Cohen, and Trauer, professional psychologists, have induced fourteen famous scientists to cooperate in this authoritative exposition of what science can do for man. Written for the general public, it reads easily and interestingly.

"A Short History of Art" from pre-historic times to the present day has been translated from French for the use of students and general readers by Andre H. Blum. It is such a new addition to the library's supply of books that it almost failed to be included in this review. It is most interesting for its many pictures.

"Democracy and the Curriculum" by Harold Ruzer, publication of the John Dewey Society, is "an outspoken hard-hitting and far-sighted analysis of traditional education. It includes constructive and specific recommendations for curriculum reorganization." Marguerite preparing to teach will find this book especially interesting.

"A History of the United States since the Civil War" by Ellis Patton Oberholzer in 10 volumes. It has been written in a lively entertaining way by including many details about many personalities. New light is thrown on many events of the stirring Civil War days, and will be especially interesting to history majors.

"Benjamin Franklin" by Carl Van Doren is "simple in conception yet overwhelming in execution," since it contains new material written as Franklin himself might have written in his Autobiography. The new episodes have been written with a gusto and deep affection that is thoroughly distinctive.

"Men Must Act" by Muncford Lewis is an urgent appeal to America to abandon their passive attitude in a profane world and by preparedness and non-surrender, with dilators to act vigorously in defense of democracy.

"Eliza Ross" by Philip Carré Jenson is a scholarly and candid but sympathetic biography of the conservative statesman noted for his ability and legal acumen as attorney, Sec. of War, Sec. of State, and U. S. Senator. He was distrustful of progressive movements or legislation and his biography unusually interesting.

"New Horizons for the Family" by Mrs. Una M. Salt is a college text which attempts to discover from a study of the family in the past and present, what the future possibilities are. The table of contents includes chapters on finance, sex, education, wife-occupation, birth-control, instability, and homemaking.

"Union Now" by Clarence K. Root is an International Relations Club book and contains a proposal for a Federal Union of the democracies of the North Atlantic and a philosophy of man's freedom.

"The Old South Struggles for Democracy" by William K. Dodd presents the story of the old South from the first years of English settlements to the end of the essential nineteenth century. His account of changing colonial policies, conflicts among neighbors, struggles between man and nature in the everyday life of the lonely new world makes a varied and illuminating chronicle.

"The Barber Rahbers" by Matthew Josephson; "Who were they?" John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, Leland Stanford, J. Pierpont Morgan, Commodore Vanderbilt, and others. Why? They were cruel, relentless, greedy, shrewd. Read this account of how they acquired, used, and sanctified power, and again, what catastrophes they made possible.

"Origin of the Hoopla" by Floyd V. Filson is a readable, nontechnical and up-to-date survey and evaluation of recent trends in the study of Gospel origins.

"The Nationalizing of Business, 1878 and 1898" by Ida M. Tarbell. This volume is exceptionally interesting and illuminating because in the years mentioned the foundation for our present economic order were laid and because the problems of this period were so closely parallel to those we now face.

"A Paradox in Babylon: The Story of Calvin Coolidge" as told by William Allen White shows the contrast between the curious and vivid character and the vivid epoch of baffling markets and economies in a new and thoroughly entertaining way.

"Through the Telescope" by E. A. Fath is a story of the stars and involves a visit to the great astronomical observatories in California. An effort has been made to tell a connected story which includes main facts and interesting theories in the astronomical field.

"Science and Music" by Sir James Jeans has interesting discussions on "twinkling stars, vibrations of strings, of air, harmony and discord, and how to hear."

"Peace with Honour" by Alan Alexander Milne, presents an argument for peace that is logically irrefragable and possible over amplified, but it is a logical presentation of the needlessness of war and it places the chief responsibility on statesmen.

"Japan in China" by T. A. Simson presents a detailed history of the oriental conflict. The book is the outgrowth of travel and investigations in 1927 made possible by a fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation. The book may be secured from the International Relations Club.

Recent Biographies: "Roger Sherman" by Boardman; "The Big Four" by Oscar Lewis; "George Mason, the Constitutionalist"

by Helen Hill, and "Don Pedro" by M. W. Williams.

"The Mediterranean in Politics" by Elizabeth Mowatt, recipient of a Rockefeller fellowship on two long journeys around the French and Italian interests and the role of smaller countries.

"Old Frontiers" by John P. Brown is the story of the struggle of the Cherokee Indians to hold the land of their fathers against white encroachment. The book is a collection of authentic stories from many sources of the Cherokees from the earliest times.

"The National Mind" by Michael Demianchewich is the recorded conclusions of the author's belief that in the study of comparative politics, philosophy, and the fine arts, one may find a composite picture of the mind or character of great peoples. Thus he presents the attitude of these people toward the problems of life.

New Curriculum

other than the one selected to satisfy requirement number two. The six hours of mathematics may be reduced by three semester hours provided two senior high school units in mathematics are presented for entrance. These substitutions for foreign language may be made on the B. S. degree only.

7 Fine or Applied Arts (Art, Music, Speech, Home Ec., or Ind. Art), 3 semester hours.

8 Bible, 2 semester hours. Three hours of this requirement may be met in the Junior or Senior year.

10 Orientation, 1 semester hour. 16 Electives, 18 semester hours. Not more than six of these eighteen semester hours may be elected from any department except as follows: Fifteen hours may be elected in music; nine hours may be elected in home economics and industrial art, provided the credit is not applied toward a B. A. degree.

A suggested course has been worked out for the first two years to meet the distribution requirements for general education in the most effective manner.

A group of concentration requirements, formerly designated as major requirements, has been carefully outlined, the first of which is the completion of a major of not less than 24 semester hours in one of the departments offering a major. A minimum of 12 hours of this requirement must be met in courses open to juniors and seniors only. The second one is the completion of a minimum of 11 semester hours in supporting courses related to the major, but not in the same department as the major.

Requirements one and two are listed in more detail under the departmental requirements.

A new feature of these requirements will be the satisfactory performance on a comprehensive examination covering the work of the major and the supporting courses. This examination will be in two parts, written and oral. It will be administered in April by a committee composed of the head of the department in which the student has majored, the Dean of the College, and at least one other examiner selected by these members.

Another requirement which has not been effective previously in a complete tentative program of courses for the junior and senior years, incorporating the requirements stated above, designed by the student and approved by the student's major professor and the Dean of the College, not later than the beginning of the student's junior year.

"Dummheit War Gemacht"

There are only two kinds of people—those who are German and those who are not. There are aren't because those who wished they were last Tuesday night when Dr. Goebbels had his first outing in the city park. Need it be added that "Dummheit war gemacht"—and "a good time was had by all?"

"But don't let the 'Gentiles' frighten you." "The Goebbels' extends its hospitality to everyone who claims a drop of the blood of Europe for who doesn't mind a diet of 'mass' and 'speech'. So here's to a bigger and better Goebbels in the future."

Chem. Club Shows Films

A large group of students enjoyed a number of one-reel sound movies, presented by the Chemistry Club, Wednesday evening.

Two of the films, "American Marching On" and "Frontiers of the Future" featured Lowell Thomas, popular news commentator. The popularity of these films is evidenced by the fact that they had to be ordered four months in advance of the showing.

Stucky Chosen Local Sponsor

National Committee Meets With Favorable Response

March 29, 1939, New York City.—The Student Committee Against Participation in Japanese Aggression, a national undergraduate organization for the embargo of Japanese war materials, announced today that Dale Stucky, Spectator editor, had become one of its sponsors.

The Student Committee, recently initiated by a group of eleven student leaders, numbers among its local sponsors the presidents of college student governments, college newspaper editors, and the leaders of campus Christian associations. Purged for the purpose of bringing to the attention of undergraduates the fact that they, as citizens of the United States, are assisting in the re-education of the war in the Far East, the Student Committee has met with a favorable response among students.

In a poll conducted by the Student Committee Against Participation in Japanese Aggression, the returns revealed the fact that students generally are in favor of an embargo of Japanese war materials by the raising of a fire to one. Many students, the poll showed, were undecided and wished more information before making up their minds.

Polls on the subject of American economic aid to Japan in her war on China are now being conducted in ten colleges; additional colleges have signified their intention to conduct such a poll.

Students, the Committee feels, should be concerned with the situation because "we are outgrowing the idea that students should become citizens only upon graduation. While our world of tomorrow is being founded, we wish to express our desires as to what that world should be like. It should be a world of peace and freedom for democratic expression. It should be a world which includes a Japan at work to enter the economic problems by cooperation with other nations and a world in which an independent China is left free to build a unified modern state."

The Student Committee has expressed its stand. "We do not believe that the people of the United States wish to join the Home-Illia-Tekin axis. We do not believe that they wish to support a war against China."

But we now act as if we were partners in the sale; we are supporting Japan's aggression in the Far East. American multination firms all companies and scrap iron dealers are supplying Japan—their funds this country the source of 64 per cent of her war materials! We believe this should be stopped.

"American students are dismayed that our government finds it necessary to increase armaments this year. But there is no surer way of guaranteeing further increases than strengthening the fascist war party which rules Japan and makes likely a future war between our country and theirs."

"As students we are being asked to help war victims in China. Does it seem consistent that we should continue to sell Japan the instruments with which to make more war victims?"

The Student Committee has launched a drive to secure student signatures in petitions to the embargo of Japanese goods. The Secretary of the Committee, Margaret Evers, Smith '38, announced that petitions may be secured free from the office of the committee, 113 West 104th Street, New York City.

The members of the initiating committee for the Student Committee Against Participation in Japanese Aggression are: Wang Chen, Harold Colvin, A. R. Elliott, Margaret Honey, Mable Hook, Joseph P. Leah, Mary Jeanne McKay, Helen Morison, Edward Newington, Herbert O. Sulzer, and Mally Yord.

Modern Play Given By BYPD Group

Next Sunday night begins at Easter and the "Mensch" in Ladsburg, there will be an BYPD motion picture held at the college church.

Last Sunday night a college group presented a modern one-act play "The Christian Trail". The theme revolved around the story of a family concerned only with the rush of going, doing, seeing and spending, and their complete unawareness of the fact that there was any point in life outside their narrow cycle which to them mattered "every thing". When a stock crash swept away their entire savings they were prepared to call life a failure until changed by the far-seeing ideals of "grandmother" and a stranger who represented man's quest for the truth. Characters in the production were:

Father Wilburn Lewellen
Mother Milton Kimmel
Daughter Ruth Stump
Son Dick Berger
Grandma Margaret Kasper
Man Forrest Stern

This dramatic Easter production was ably directed by Mrs. Arthur Baldwin and the musical background was arranged by Herbert Harley.

Canton Man Gives Additions To Museum

Includes Indian Jew, Tooth, Kansas Indian Artifacts

The McPherson college museum continues to grow. Last winter Mr. Lester Phillips of Canton, Kansas, visited the museum. He evidently was impressed, because last week Mr. Phillips brought the museum a collection of articles and even included a case in which to display them. Included in the loan is a rhinoceros jaw and several rhino teeth, the fossilized heads of several small fish, a large fossil turtle, a leg bone of a camel, some fossilized seed, etc. There are also a number of interesting and unusual Indian artifacts including some beads from an Indian grave and a fine collection of arrow points.

Tracksters To Hays Today For First Meet

Twenty Men Compete To Open The Season

Today approximately 20 Bulldog tracksters are competing in a meet at Fort Hays State college. The boys left McPherson this morning and will return after the meet, which opens the 1933 season.

Thirty men have been participating in workouts in recent weeks and show promise of developing into a strong squad. The triangular meet was postponed indefinitely and may be cancelled, because of recent inclement weather.

Following are members of the squad this year: Jake Cramer, Hurl Welbie, Elmer Ratslaff, Charles Baldwin, Rob Hunt, Raymond Meyer, LaRue Owen, Jack Vetter, Rollin Wasmaker, Dave McGill, Tony Vothell, Bob Cook, Stephen Stover, Bob Seidel, Kenny Morrison, Eldon Maloney, Vance Ronger, Leslie Rogers, Wilbur Fullinger, Harold Duncan, Glen Funk, Richard Van Vleet, Andy Jones, Bill Koch, Merrill Myers, Andy Colliati, and Herb Stauffer.

Coach "Buck" Atte announced today the spiked shoe artists will match Kansas Wesleyan next Friday afternoon for another dual meet on the local cinders.

Match Colorado State Friday

Flory's Noteters Lead Seven To Bethany

The McPherson Bulldog tracksters lacked their traditional tenacity, losing a meet to the Bethany Noteters in seven matches. In No. 1 position, Carrol Crouse was beaten by Maurice Lyzell, 6-4, 5-2. In No. 2 position, Raymond Johnson was pushed back by Elger Olson, 7-5, 6-3.

In No. 3 position, Gordon Yoder was founced by John Altshager, 6-2, 5-2. In No. 4 position, Calvin Jones was upset by Art Holander, 6-2, 3-4, 6-3. In No. 5 position, Delmar Atchison gave way to Carl Jacobson, 5-3, 6-2.

The doubles teams were conquered in a similar fashion. Raymond Johnson and Ernest Reed were vanquished by Lyzell and Olson, 6-2, 6-2. Calvin Jones and Bernard Nordling lost to Holander and Altshager, 2-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Tomorrow the tennis team will pay Colorado State here. Play will probably begin in the morning and continue during the afternoon.

McPherson Fan Clubs Promote Good Will

With Quarterback and Redoubter clubs fully organized and active for two years, McPherson college is several jumps ahead of other institutions in athletic relationships with downtown fans.

At St. Mary's University, San Antonio, Texas, officials recently formed such an organization to promote interest in school athletics.

They are adopting a ticket plan, which might be considered by local members of the respective clubs. The club at St. Mary's offers 516 memberships with $25 worth of tickets.

The tickets provide two paid admissions in each athletic contest and a reserved seat in choice sections. The tickets are transferable.

Eight Track Vets On Bethel Cinders

North Newton—Coach Otto Urubrh's Bethel track squad this year contains eight lettermen. McPherson and Bethel may schedule a meet later in the season.

The lettermen are Erik Friesen, Javelin, broad jump, high jump, shot put, discus, pole vault, and middle distance; Charles Roswell, Gb Gallo, and Henry Gehr, middle distance; Roy Hoff, pole vault and broad jump; Chet Urubrh, pole vault and low hurdles; Bill Urubrh, half mile and high hurdles; Roland Loney, mile.

Good prospects are Roy Barnd, Marvin Funk, Ed Stover, Ben Youngquist, Orlando Egg, and Henry Urubrh.

Twelve Lettermen On Ottawa Squad

Champion Tracksters Fear % of E. And Baker

Ottawa—Twelve lettermen form the nucleus of Coach Dick Godlove's championship Ottawa university track squad this spring.

The veterans are Jack O'Neil, dashes; Omar Brenton, Leonard Ferguson, and Tom Allan, middle distance; Albert Roberts, distance; Bill Matile, Edward Wibera, and Walter Hasmann, hurdles; Iva Meek, Roy Wigpatrick, and T. C. Bandy, weights; and Jack Ramsey, pole vault.

O'Neil, Brenton, Ferguson, Matile, Meek, and Ramsey were outstanding performers in the conference last year. The Braves fear College of Emporia's Ed Baker as strong contenders.

The Ottawa schedule opens against Baker at Baldwin on April 5 and will include the Hastings relays, K. U. relays, and Kansas conference meet.

Local Writer Shows Promising Talent

Helenes Reading Which Shows How Fishing Is Like Courting

A young aspiring McPherson college writer has written the following reading, which has caused no end of giggles on Marampus. It is entitled "Courtin' an' Fishin'."

"Y' now 'a I set here on the bank a fishin' 'n' takin' in every thing that goes on around, all the way from a couple a birds a hill'n and a coo'n 't each other there in the tree 't a lovable couple a walk'n along the bank. I got 't think'n how much this bank uses of court'n 'n' like fishin'."

Now the part of the fisherman I give 't galle cut from all I see the boys 't the fish."

Most all the gals on a fishin' 'n' like all fishers they're after his game. 'N' the ways they play on lak's 'em are as varied as the hats they wear. Some're out 't grab, and doll, and spruce up with all kinds of they du-dads 'n' hops they c'n lure a poor fish close 'nuff 't grab 'im. Most fisherman don't vary a lot from the ordinary 'n' depend on lise 'a bait to hook'n. Some put hops 'n' fancy line, but luck with that's so poor that they generally try something else. Fishermen vary in the kind of bait they use."

Some have dough that they c'n use which usually brings results. Some put their bait into one whole ball of sweets; as others try goo-goo eyes and still others get their fish with a good brand of neck. The more wise ones use a combination. Some of 'em fish 'n' fish and never get a thing. Others are so anxious to turn a nibble, they take reality that when the first hopeful splash appears they jerk the line and scare all the poor fish away. Some after a lot of 'n' and chang'n' bait, 'n' lise, finally land some little sucker. Of all the fish them 't the most appreciated, for they save the

As Students Look From Chapel Stage

Frequently one hears comment as to the stage appearance of chapel performers or public lecturers; not so frequently has any thing been said as to the appearance of the student body from the chapel stage.

Without using names your reporter wishes to describe the various vital chapel. Most conspicuous in the audience is the small group of jolly, cut-throat boys who see and laugh at everything that could possibly be considered laughable. At three other sections in the rooms are three two or three boys who, not so fortunate in the seating arrangement as the first group, have to stretch their necks to communicate their mirth.

Concentration on the speaker's message is interrupted for one girl who most frequently takes her eyes away from the speaker in order to peek out those of her blind here a few seats distant. Disconcerting indeed must be the effect of that one pair of lovers on the speaker; for they are interested only in themselves.

Interesting too is the futile effort of certain faculty members to conceal their amusement and the stiff looks from the corner of the eye which they think no one will see. Also, not too far back, is one who is fighting a losing battle with the sandman.

From the platform, late-comers look too funny for words, the way

Time Out For Scoops—

Hee of Knapport. Although College of Emporia dropped a track meet to city rivals, Knapport State, several stars loom on the Presby track horizon.

In the dashes, Neill and Truman Haskell appear to be conference contenders. Steve Sharpe, as usual, carried away the honors in high and broad jump. Wertsberger and Wall Newland, the weightlifters, are tops in the weights competition under "Bud" Solver. Washburn and Foscaunt were high in the pole vault.

With a balanced, experienced squad, C. of E. may offer plenty of competition this spring, especially in later meets.

Net Bubble Harsets—

Tennis hopes of Macollege were somewhat punctured last Monday afternoon against Bethany's veteran squad, but Coach Flory's proteges are expected to turn on the heat here tomorrow afternoon with Colorado State college furnishing the competition.

Johnson, Croust, Yoder, Jones, Nordling, Reed, Atchison, and others are showing much improvement and may be booming further in the season.

Underway, we are notified that the senior members of the Kansas conference again hold a monopoly in track this year.

Ottawa, the defending champion, College of Emporia, and Baker have strong, point-gathering squads with many conference stars still carrying the honors.

In this back of the woods, Bethel and McPherson are competing with various opponents while Bethany and Kansas Wesleyan devote more attention to spring football practice.

Cage Haul Changes—

College cage coaches favor the elimination of intentional fouling in their only recommendation for rule changes to become effective next year.

It seems that many teams, behind in the scoring, intentionally foul the other quintet to gain possession of the ball after the free throw. The next question will be, "When does a referee know an intentional foul?"

The team fouled will be allowed the option of a free throw or taking the ball out of bounds nearest where the foul was committed.

This year the Bethany track squad nucleus will be Ernest Ireland, javelin, pole vault, and broad jump; Kenneth Dick, javelin, broad jump, and middle distance; Alven Tillberg, middle distance; Leland Mattison, dashes; Harry Peterson, broad jump, middle distance, and javelin; Ernest Polanco, low hurdles and quarter; Frank Pedraza, dashes; Leland Anzell, mile; and Marshall Koppert, weights.

Ireland and Dick are the two lettermen. From this group, Coach Ray Hahn hopes to enter a few men in the conference meet and perhaps other meets during the season.

they tip-toe across the back of the room and hesitatingly take secondary notice of attention as they venture to a seat. Enough! Enough!
