Students To Flock Here For High School Festival

Hundreds of high school students will invade Macampus for the nineteenth annual High School Festival, held tomorrow.

High school seniors and their sponsors from a selected list of schools have been invited. Various activities are arranged for the 300 or 400 students expected. Miss Jessie Brown reports a heavy registration for the music contest held in connection with the festival.

A main event of the festival will be the dinner at six-thirty at the college church parlors where Ida Shockley, Deva of Women, will be hostess and S. M. Dell, Dean of Men, will be host. William Thompson, president of the Student Body, will act as toastmaster. The Reverend Bernard King will give the invocation.

Addison Saathoff will welcome the visitors on the part of the college and also on the part of the college president, Dr. V. F. Schwalm who will be out of town. The president of the McPherson high school seniors, Russell Eisenhise, will respond. Dr. Claude Flory will give the address of the evening.

Special music under the direction of Loren Crawford will be presented during the meal. This will consist of several numbers by the college men's quartet and a trumpet solo by Berle Miller.

Ether Atkinson of the home economics department has charge of the preparation and serving of the dinner.

During the day, high school seniors may participate in the adult division of the music festival directed by Miss Jessie Brown, dean of music at the college. The adult competition will be in voice, piano, violin, and cello. Juvenile competition will be in piano and violin. Prizes for the contest are special music tuition scholarships. Judges will be the music faculty of the college.

A tennis tournament under the direction of Coach "Buck" Astle, will attract many entries. Single and double competition is planned with gold medals as prizes. College students may participate in the contests. Prof. R. E. Mohler is handling registrations.

West Grabs Spot In State Meet

Local Orator Wins $20 With Third Place Oration

Addison West, winner of the local peace contest, grabbed third place in the Kansas state peace oratorical contest held at Kansas Wesleyan university last Friday night.

M. C.'s traditional rivals, Bethany and Bethel took first and second place honors. Bethany's entrant, Miss Barbara Laquement of Canton, became the first woman ever to win the state peace title with her oration, "They That Take Up the Sword."

First prize was $50. Bill Staerkel of Bethel won second place and a $30 award with his oration, "A Dash Blow to Mars." West's oration, "A Call To Service," won the third prize of $20. This prize brought to a total of more than $400 the winnings of McPherson College entrants in the state peace contests over a period of many years.

At the meeting of the representatives from all the colleges in the Kansas Peace Oratorical Association, McPherson was selected as the city for the 1940 contest to be held on next April 12. Macampusans will be hosts to visiting orators, with Prof. M. A. Hess directing the meet.

Number Of Books Near 15,500

Miss Margaret Heckethorn, head librarian, has announced that the stock of books in the library is only $6 short of 15,500. She is certain to acquire 50 within the next few days, leaving only 46 lacking in the number.

The McPherson college library is one of the best and largest in the state, and its administrators made this week Library Week on the campus.

Mohler Talks Of "Keeping Level"

Last Sunday night Professor R. E. Mohler of the college gave a brief talk to the student BYPD group on the general subject of "keeping level."

Prof. Mohler's subject stressed the high rate of speed with which we are moving today and the immediacy of the fact that it is with "one foot in an airplane and the other in an ox cart." In the matter of conveniences, of luxuries, of scientific progress we are traveling in the airplane age; we are far ahead of anything money could possibly buy a few years ago. And yet in our choice of modes, of books and even of friends we are on the ox-cart level.

What we expect of our leisure time is definitely inferior to what we expect in utilities and luxuries, concluded Mr. Mohler.

Class Visits Industries

The general shop classes went to Wichita yesterday to visit various industries.

Invite Honor Students

All McPherson college students who are members of the National Honor Society are invited to attend the annual banquet of the McPherson chapter which will be held Tuesday night at the Senior high school building. For information concerning said banquet see Autumn Fields.

Prevent Another Disaster

The local gas company placed an air tight casing around the gas main in front of the physical education building in order to prevent another disaster as occurred when the New London school house exploded a year or two ago, to kill hundreds of children.

The casing prevents the seepage of gas under the foundation of the gym. Should there at some future time be a break in the original casing, the casing would carry escaping gas to an outlet away from the buildings.

Students Plan to Secure Non-Aryan To Come Here

As an active front against race hatred and as a positive action for world peace, the major student organizations of Macampus are hoping to make it possible to secure a refugee non-Aryan student from Germany to come to live in the dormitory next year and attend the college.

Already assured of cooperation from the college administration, the Student Council, the International Relations Club and the S. C. M., in cooperation with other student groups, will next Wednesday begin an extensive financial drive among the students.

It will take about $400 to assure the success of the plan. The college administration has promised to do its share, and part of the money will come from service clubs and from women's clubs of the campus. The Cosmos club already has given $25 to the fund, and since some money has so soon come in from the students, already one-eighth of the necessary fund are available, without counting the promises of the college officials.

This shows that the plan is practical and can be carried out successfully, assuring students the privilege of having as their constant companion a student who is aware of the European situation and Hitler's purge.

The student will be secured through the American Friends Service Committee and the Intercollegiate Committee to Aid Student Refugees. A Christian student can be secured and the local students may choose from a large list that the student they desire. Sex, age, and even looks may enter into the choice.

Initiating the student campaign, which is hoped to reap at least $200, will be a chapel program with Dr. Burton Metzler as chairman and speaker. He will explain the plan and the desirability of aiding a refugee.

The solicitation will begin Wednesday and, aided by "I have contributed" signs, will end Friday noon. Three days, April 24, 25, 26, will constitute the duration of the drive.

Since most Macampusans work their way through college, student leaders here think it only fair that any student who is aided here should be willing to work also.

All the major student clubs and organizations are represented on the central planning committee headed by Luther Harshbarger.

"M" Club President Bob Wiegand will work with Lenora Shirk of the W. A. A., Don Newkirk, International Relations; Phil Myers, Men's Council; Rosalie Fields, Women's Council; Vera Heckman, S. C. M., and Bill Thompson, Student Council representative. Dale Stucky is publicity director of the campaign.

Heading the sub-committee to work with the different clubs of the town is Bill Thompson, aided by Harshbarger and Heckman. Recently announced his resignation to become head of the department of history at Washburn college Topeka.

Dr. Bolinott has been head of the department of education of the college since 1925. He was the first choice of the large majority of the faculty for this elevation to position and received the unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

The new dean has had experience in high school administration as well as a college instructor. He received his A. B. degree from Heidelberg college in 1921, his A. M. from the University of Virginia and his Ph. D. in 1926. His ability as an organizer and as a school administrator.

Elect Stucky, Coppedge To Edit Organs

Student Council Chooses Business Managers Soon

At a special meeting last Monday evening the Student Council elected Raymond Coppedge and Dale Stucky as editors of the 1939-40 student publications.

Coppedge present sports editors for the Spectator as well as a regular reporter for the McPherson Republican, will edit next year's Quadrangle, while Stucky will remain in his position as Spectator editor.

Both editors studied journalism under Miss Edith Haight in McPherson High school, where Stucky was editor of the High Life.

The positions of business managers of the two publications have not as yet been filled, however May 1 has been set as a deadline date for selection. There are several applicants for the positions and a special council committee has been set up to investigate qualifications and interview the applicants.

When asked about his plans for next year Coppedge said, "Stucky and I hope to cooperate in making a weekly and year-book that will be among the finest in the history of the college."

Stucky grinned when asked about his plan and said, "We will try to publish a weekly and year-book of which McPherson college will be proud."

"This is the first year that the editors have been chosen by the Student Council; previous they were chosen in a student body election."

Boitnott Gets Nod For Dean Post

Mohler Boosted To Position Under Prexy

Dr. John W. Boitnott will become dean of McPherson college at the start of the next school year, Dr. V. F. Schwalm announced yesterday. He will succeed Dr. J. D. Bright who recently announced his resignation to become head of the department of history at Washburn college Topeka.

Dr. Boitnott has been head of the department of education of the college since 1925. He was the first choice of the large majority of the faculty for this elevation to position and received the unanimous vote of the board of trustees.

The new dean has had experience in high school administration as well as a college instructor. He received his A. B. degree from Heidelberg college in 1921, his A. M. from the University of Virginia and his Ph. D. in 1926. His ability as an organizer and as a school administrator.

Pictured above are committee chairmen who will be active on the campus next week in their efforts to bring a non-Aryan student to the campus. Heading the central committee is Luther Harshbarger. Vera Heckman, co-chairman of the S. C. M., will be active in club solicitation. Bill Thompson heads the committee contacting off-the-campus organizations, while Phil Myers will govern student-faculty solicitation.

Myers Elected Head Clubber

Phil Myers was chosen president of the "M" Club at a meeting held yesterday noon.

Ray Robertson was elected by the athletes as vice-president, while Cliff Funk was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Myers is a football letterman, while Robertson has lettered in football, basketball and track. Funk is a football and track letterman.

At the meeting it was decided that football and basketball captains will not be elected for next year's teams, but that a captain be appointed by the coach for each game, and an honorary captain elected by the squadmen at the end of the season in both sports.

Rollin Wamsucker and Tony V. shall were nominated as honorary captains for this year's track team. The captain will be elected at the "M" Club banquet next Friday evening.

Bob Wiegand is the retiring president of the "M" Club, and La Verne York has been this year's secretary-treasurer.

Choir Presents Program

With striking tone quality, precision and power, the Bethany College Choir presented an inspiring program Sunday evening, April 16, in the Trinity Lutheran Church. An outstanding performance was given by Miss Margaret Walmer, soprano the organ beautifully in his organ soloist. Mr. Ralph Harrel played solo.

Dr. Haglund Hrase is nationally recognized for his distinction in choral direction. The choir distinguishes itself not only by the balance of voices and solidity of background and range of expression, but also by the impressive numbers consisting of some of the best voices in the repertoire of a Cappella music.

The Bethany Choir offered this program as a tribute program with the McPherson A Cappella Choir who will present their program in Presner Hall, May 7.

H. F. Stauffer, McPherson College trustee, spent a part of last week doing work for the college in Colorado. Mr. Stauffer is the father of Urna Stauffer.

Stephen Stover, present treasurer of the Student Council, was elected president of next year's Council in a special student election last week.

Stover, a junior, lives in McPherson and is a member of the Marsalek-Who's Who.

Returns Here

Evelyn Amos returned to college last Friday afternoon from her home in Independence. She had been ill ever since the Easter holidays.

Young Experimenters Hit on New Idea For Mike

Crill, Hammersley Develop Invention In Physics Lab

It seems that everything has natural frequency of vibration if you bump into it or hit it with something. With this germ thought in their minds, two students from the McPherson college physics department, James Crill and Jonathan Hammersley, have evolved a new plan for a microphone.

With patent rights they secured, pending the two aspiring physicists have revealed the details of the new invention, an original model which utilized a principle that has never been tried in microphones before. The patent office has no record of anyone ever trying to make a similar microphone. The local apparatus is yet in the experimental stage.

Beam is directed at vibrator

Just as everything has a natural midio frequency, similarly sounds, voices, organ pipes and almost anything has a natural radio frequency at which it will vibrate if excited. Taking advantage of this fact, the invention consists of a radio beam which is directed at some vibrating object, like a coil of wire.

As the sound waves strike the vibrator the same time as does the radio beam, the reflected beam, a resultant of the two, varies in intensity as the sound waves change frequency. The modulating beam may be translated directly into sound, weak though it may be, by any powerful, high frequency rectification system, or it may be amplified and wirecasted.

Have practical difficulties

Crill and Hammersley say that the theory will work, but the practical considerations almost outweigh the theory. When asked about their work, Crill said, "The best results we have been able to obtain have been at a distance of only twenty feet. The voice was barely distinguishable and only rarely understandable. A sound such as the ringing of a bell was recognizable."

As all true investigators in the field of science, the young experimenters are hesitant to predict any result. The plan on paper has unlimited detecting possibilities, but as yet lack of precision equipment prevents perfecting the idea to a practical device.

Improving any work

There is even the fantastic possibility that a common bandaging could be the hoped-for efficient reflecting coil. Who knows? Perhaps McPherson college's physics department under the direction of Prof. J. L. Howman, will become famous for its work that is being done by its students!

Hess Traces History Of College Library

Shows Growth From "Privileged Times" To Modern Civilization

After call to worship by the chapel choir, on Wednesday morning, Dr. V. F. Schwalm led in prayer. The chapel choir sang "I Cannot Put the Presence By."

In keeping with Literature Week, Prof. Marjorie A. Hess spoke in an interesting manner on "The Development of McPherson College Library for Faculty and Students."

Prof. Hess said, "The library was built in 1906 as a gift of Andrew Carnegie. There was a small collection of books before 1906, which era we may call the prehistoric period." The years between 1906 and 1914 showed great activity and Prof. Hess chose to call this the dawn of civilization.

Using a number of college catalogs for various years, Prof. Hess traced the growth of the library. In 1921 the library proper occupied the first floor and one room in the basement. There were about 7,000 books, pamphlets, and magazines at that time.

By 1928 the library was subscribing to over one hundred current periodicals, more than 600 books were being added annually, and as a special gift Dr. Kertis had given one thousand books.

In 1934 bookish Lincoln was lar in the field of college curriculum has been demonstrated in the past year while he was serving as chairman in the revision of the curriculum of the college.

President Schwalm also announced that Prof. H. E. Mohler, the senior member of the faculty who has served continuously since 1913, has been elected by the trustees to a position of responsibility as the executive assistant to the president. In the absence of the president, Mohler will have responsibility of an executive and administrative nature. He has in the past been associated with the president on problems of public relations. His responsibility will be increased to include other duties, not only when the president is off the campus, but will be closely associated with him in formulating administrative policies.

Professor Mohler already holds several offices of responsibility in the educational field in Kansas. He is president of the board of education of the McPherson city schools and is also president of the Kansas School Board of Christian education of the church of the Brethren.

Author Speaks Of Old West, Frontiersmen

Writer of "Sod-House Frontier" Tells Story

Dr. Everett Dick, professor of history at Union college, stopped on his way to Memphis, Tennessee, to tell a full chapter last Monday morning that the frontier is what has made Americans Americans.

The author of "Sod-House Frontier", which has been just added to the college library, told of many interesting deeds of the frontiersmen. He stated that in many ways we now have the optimism of the frontiersman, the optimism which is illustrated by Daniel Boone, who said he had "never been lost in the wilderness, but had been mightily bewildered for three days."

"In those days there were many difficulties," stated Dr. Dick. "The frontiersman had a hard time writing down in statute books the layout of his land."

Dr. Dick went on to explain that towns were called cities, as the City of Topeka, until they grew large enough to be known as cities without being called cities. Towns tried to get newspapers in town for them so that their lots could be sold to people living in the East. In the town of Vienna, there was no need for any houses to be built because the lots there were all already sold before any house could be built.

"There was also much paper money printed in those days. Banks were started without any financial backing, not even the confidence of the proprietor." Most people bartered rather than to use the paper money of the Platte Valley River Bank or any other "strongest financial institution in the world," explained Dr. Dick, who is a well-known authority on frontier life.

Students laughed when the historian told them how two men from Indiana sold money indicators which proved certain money valuable and followed it up by selling paper money which passed this indicator. "In those days men were versatile," said Dr. Dick. The barber of the town was the saloonkeeper and houseplanter. The blacksmith of one town, after very little apprenticeship, was also the druggist.

"In order to get a divorce one had to get a real Bill of Divorce from the state legislature," laughed Dr. Dick. Kansas was a record for giving a divorce in a short time by giving a lady of Massachusetts a bill of divorce in five hours. Another legislature was puzzled about giving a divorce to one applicant, so it referred to the Committee on Public Buildings. From there it was referred to the Committee on Internal Improvement.

Dr. Dick autographed a copy of his book for the library. Dr. J. D. Bright received his doctorate with Dr. Dick at the University of Wisconsin in 1930. Dr. Dick is head of the bureau of vocational guidance and placement at the Lincoln school.

Stover Over Phil Myers; Naylor Wins

Elections Are Close: Adopt New Constitution

Comfortably edging out victory fullback Phil Myers, Lovewell's gift to Palmetto Hall, Stephen Stover, junior of McPherson, was elected to the presidency of next year's Student Council in the general election last week. Stover's margin was 128 over Myers' tally of 82. Stover, present treasurer of the Student Council, is an honor graduate of McPherson high school.

In a sophomore race for treasurer, Nick Naylor squeaked in victory over Don Newkirk to win a still closer race. With 104 votes against the 86 garnered by Newkirk, Naylor probably won with tally from Arnold Hall, where it is rumored he ran strong.

The incoming officers will work close to the present executives until the end of the present year to learn the ropes.

Bill Thompson, president of the Student Council, was greatly pleased over the result of the voting on student referendum which approved a revision of the Student Body constitution for the next year. With only eleven opposed to adoption, the new constitution had easy sliding.

Groff Wins BYPD Election

Forest Groff was elected president of the Brethren Young Peoples Department of the local college church in the annual election last Sunday evening. He succeeds Raymond Phry, retiring head of the group.

Marianne Krueger was chosen vice-president after serving a year as secretary-treasurer. She succeeds Avis Smith, the retiring vice-president. Harold Bowman was chosen secretary-treasurer, and Dean of Women Ida Shockley was selected as adult adviser of the group.

Give Exchange Program

Students from Tahoe college, Hillsboro, presented several numbers in a regional program last week. Roland Wiens presided over the program which included a men's quartette which sang "Serve Ye the Lord" and "Proudly as the Eagle".

Miss Vera Elder then played a piano solo, "By the Waters of Minnesota", after which the quartette sang "Thank Me Thy Way" and the Tahoe college alumni, members of the quartette were Menna Lorenz, Elias White, Paul Ratzlaff, and Elvin Buller.

Miss O'Conner Here To Help Oranize

Miss Evelyn O'Conner, the representative from the Rocky Mountain District of the S. C. M. spoke to the S. C. M. members on Thursday, April 20.

The purpose of Miss O'Conner's talk was to acquaint each member with the organization and to relate each student to his place in the National and International organizations. The Rocky Mountain District is made up of christian organizations from five states—Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Utah, and New Mexico. Of these five states Kansas has more organizations.

Miss O'Conner told of National and International Conventions which have been held during the past year. It is the purpose of conventions to try to bring about and understanding between different localities and countries in order to promote world peace.

William Thompson announced that next year it is the intention of various organizations to cooperate in an effort to bring to the campus a foreign student. Students will be solicited to help in bringing this student to this campus.

Following a prelude by Kathryn Brullier, Jerry Spohn led in devotions.

To Bethel Soon

Next Wednesday or Thursday afternoon, the McPherson college tracksters will travel to Bethel for a dual meet with Coach Otto Urub's Graymarocs. This will be the final dual of the season.

Tracksters Trounce Coyotes 83-48

Despite a cold wind which whipped up dust on the track and field, the McPherson college tracksters won ten firsts and eight seconds to defeat the Kansas Wesleyan Coyotes 83 to 48 last week in a dual meet.

No outstanding marks were turned in by the this-clade, but Cramer rushed through the 100-yard dash in 10.1 seconds while Wansmaker leaped the high hurdles in 13.5 seconds and Funk heaved the javelin 148 feet, eleven inches. Other McPherson winners were Sanger, mile and two-mile; Cramer, 220-yard dash; Funk, low hurdles; Reinecker, pole vault; Wansmaker, high jump; and Van Vleet, broad jump.

Kansas Wesleyan turned in only four firsts and eight seconds in the top-rated victory. However, Gene Johnson's lads pushed the Bulldogs to the limit in low hurdles, broad jump, and field events. Only three fences separated the winner of the broad jump and third place.

In the mile, high hurdles, two-mile, pole vault, high jump, and javelin, McPherson placed the first two men in one-two order. Wesleyan led the field in the 440 and discus but not without close competition.

Geology Class Visits Places Of Interest

By Asta Ostlund

Preachers and their "wives", nearly married, and a few hybrid individuals comprised the personnel of those going on the geology trip last Friday.

The first stop was at a volcanic ash deposit about six miles north of McPherson, where a few of the students with Scotch blood in their veins filled some jars with the ash to use as a cleaning powder.

From there the group drove up on Coronado Heights where they observed the rock stratifications and the work of erosion. Frances Campbell with a feather in her hat, welcomed the rest of the party with ladies war whoops and a dance on the top of the Heights.

The visit to the Indian Burial Pit was especially enjoyed. A great number of bones, remains of Indians have been exposed, and it is believed that altogether about one hundred burials will be found. Ten miles north of Salina the class stopped to search for iron concretions, and Leonard Vaughan found—o cactus, and Prof. Mohler found a most interesting form of volcanic glass.

After the passengers in Eugene Eisenble's car had stocked up with apples and cookies, the group set out for Rock City, southeast of Minneapolis. All the inhabitants of this town are very obese and stone-deaf. After clambering up and down these rock formations, all enjoyed dinner of fried steak sandwiches—even if the meat was a little rare in spots—and bananas.

At Brookville the class visited a home which had a wonderful collection of rocks.

The next stop was at Arcola Hatch where Roy Robertson found and distributed literature on Hereford cattle. The geological interest, however, was the Arcola canyon which was beautiful.

"I'll let you see Indian Cave cheap; all you can go for two and a half dollars." A hole in a rock in the pasture was all there was. If she had not relented and let the group go free, they would have asked for a refund. In response to the lady's sudden generosity, Ernest Vandenberg left his Chevrolet in her yard until he could return with a new drive shaft.

Evidently "Gracie" Allen doesn't want a million and a half bacteria around when he does his lovin'; at least he didn't want to expose a certain girl.

At Mushroom Rocks a number of boys demonstrated their athletic liability in climb to the top of one of these unusual formations. At last Vaughan had enough, and he had complained on Monday that he all had some in his pants.

Late in the afternoon these potential geologists with sunburned noses, wind-blown hair, and dirty feet returned to Macamopus.

Netsters Crash Win Column

Suddenly breaking into life, the McPherson College netsters turned back the Kansas Wesleyan racketeers in a dual meet. McPherson won five matches and lost two.

In singles, McPherson won four and lost one. Crouse lost to Shaw, 6-4, 6-2. Johnson upset Huchlen, his former doubles partner, 7-5, 6-7, 6-4. Yoder won from Riley, 6-1, 6-5, 7-5. Reed vanquished Archer, 6-1, 6-3. Stauffer conquered Trager, 7-5, 6-1.

In doubles, McPherson won one and lost one. Reed and Johnson were stopped by Shaw and Rucklen, 2-6, 6-1, 7-5. Crouse and Stauffer defeated Archer and Trager, 8-6, 7-5.

Thursday the same five McPherson netsters played Houghton Junior College in a meet there. This afternoon a meet will be played with the College of Emporia on the local courts.
