Bands that have been invited are from Inman High, Moundridge High, Galva High, Windom High, Hillsboro High, McPherson High, Buhler High, Ness City High, Silver Lake High, Genesee High, Sharon High, and Quinter High.

McPherson's band and director are making plans to entertain the visiting band member. Mr. August San Roman of the local high school is in charge of the half time activities in which one or more bands will march. Mr. Delbert Crabb, Mac College band director, has invited Mr. Leslie Sperling, director of the Inman High School band, to have the Inman band march at the half time.

As of October 1 four bands had stated that they plan to attend the festivities. They will bring about 150 high school students to the campus.

Plans are being made to secure additional seating for the visiting students in order to prevent crowding of the regular grandstand seating. The plan to have all the bands play two numbers before the game has been taking shape and the numbers will be the "Strangled Banner" and "Our Director."

The alumni supper is at 6 p. m. in the church. The meal will be served by the church ladies. The price is $1.25.

The game begins at 8:30 p. m. The opposing team is College of Emporia. Doughnuts and coffee will be served to the alumni after the game.

The Macollege band and the College of Emporia band will be on hand for the festivities. Michael F. Polowitz is the conductor of the College of Emporia band which has 32 members.

ACP Awards Rowan Keim "First Class" Rating

Fred L. Kildow, director of the Associated Collegiate Press, announced that the All American Critical Service has awarded to The McPherson College Spectator a "first rating," for superior journalism practice and page make up.

Miss Rowan Keim, college junior, was editor of the college paper for the semester that the award was made.

This is the highest rating that the Spectator has received since becoming a member of Associated Collegiate Press. According to Mr. Kildow, Miss Keim and her staff are to be congratulated for their achievements in the field of college journalism.

Miss Keim while editor of the "Spec" made several changes in the make up of the Spec which was a great deal of help in obtaining such a high rating according to Miss Sarah Mae Vandell, sponsor.

These included the going away with column rules, which according to many journalistic experts is the coming trend. Also the title head of the paper was changed from old English script to a modern brush style of lettering.

Besides ACP awards making various layout changes Miss Keim attempted to keep the writing of the news items on a strict news, not editorial type of level.

College papers from all over the United States participate in the critical service of the Collegiate Press.

McPherson College Spectator is entered in the competition with other colleges of the same size as McPherson.

By doing this the smaller papers do not have to compete with papers from the major universities of the nation.

Letter To The Editor

Mr. Don Ford,
Editor
McPherson College Spectator.
Dear Don:

October 1, 1951

It was with a great deal of interest that I read your editorial entitled "Congratulations But—" I know that most of the 300 students on the campus of the college read that editorial—perhaps it was the first time they have read the editorial column this year. If so, then you at least accomplished that much by your crusading type editorial.

I am not writing you to complain about what you said; for having been the editor of the Spec during my sophomore year, I can appreciate your position in writing about something you feel needs to be rectified on our campus.

However, in your editorial you mentioned that some of the lettermen eligible for membership in the "M Club" refused to join because of certain initiation practices, practices which these men considered wrong and perhaps immoral. I am a member of the club and as yet have never witnessed anything degrading or immoral in the initiation or the club.

Although some of the initiation may seem to be rather childish to the outsider, it is entered into by initiates and members in a spirit of fellowship and comradeship. Sometimes we have gone too far; but if these men have stayed out because they disapprove of the practices of the club, then that is where they have made their mistake. Who ever heard of improving anything or doing anything constructive merely by standing off and criticizing?

I personally had hoped that these men would have joined our organization, for there is always a need for men with ideals. I know we have men in our club who have high ideals and who will be leaders in their communities when they leave college; look at the leaders of the college and church communities now, and you'll find that these men were constructive in their criticism. And when they saw places in which an improvement was needed they put their leadership and vitality to the wheel and thus brought about the desired improvements.

While editor of the Spectator, I received a great deal of criticism for things I wrote and things I didn't write, but a good friend told me that criticism is the easiest thing in the world to give—some people criticize because they do not know any other way to express themselves.

Frankly I am glad you wrote your editorial, but I still think that "M Club" is part of the community we here are striving for and that, if the club falls short of the ideals, eligible members think the club should attain then they are in the wrong by staying out of the club. I personally invite them in with the other men of the club to cooperate and help us all to work for a better and more constructive "M Club."

Sincerely and respectfully yours,
Max McAuley.

Innocent Or Guilty?

Flash! Bulletin! Flash! The local police department has picked up that scoundrel who has been taking more than his share of McPherson College Spectators.

The judge says that it will possibly go pretty hard on the girl, but since she is popular on the campus and is known to be usually a dependable, honest person there may be some allowance in her case.

The judge went on to say that he should make an example of this girl to the other students who are taking two or more copies of the Spec or sending some home to their folks. One would think that a paper is incidental, but reports show that each Spec costs five cents, and according to the Business Manager, it is hard enough to have ends meet with the prices on everything rising as they are.

The Editing Staff of the Spectator wishes that all students would cooperate with them and the Student Council in seeing that all students and faculty members get their one copy of the Spec.

Also, the staff asks that if there are any subscribers who failed to get any one of the four editions of the Spec, please notify them and they will mail one out to you.

26 Tour Mexico

Dear Sister Lil:

Here's that long awaited letter which clues you in on the higher up—this time it's about that wonderful trip to Mexico which I told you I'd be taking this summer.

Remember Professor Flory? He was our instructor for the trip. They couldn't have picked a better guide, nurse, teacher and all around good guy! And speaking of good "guys", the best of Mac went with us, namely Elina Kurtz, Betty Ann Murray, Betty Byers, Jake Shaeffer, Mrs. Alice Martin, Harold Fulkerson, Gene Sloan, Velva Wagner, and 18 others, which showed up at the opportune time.

Class was held on Mac campus August 6, 7, and 8. The morning of the 8th we were informed that we could leave for Mexico that afternoon. "Mexico, here we come!" nearly raised the roof.

That night we stayed at Duncan, Oklahoma.

August 9, was spent in San Antonio, Texas. The main attraction there was the Alamo and San Jose Mission.

On the 10th we arrived at Laredo, Texas, and was that a thrill! You should have seen the cowboys! You can bet your boots I'm heading for Laredo next summer!

The Rio Grande River was a big disappointment to the whole gang. I guess we expected a large river as shown on the maps, but all there was, or maybe all that we could find was a small creek.

We went through customs that day, too, as well as exchanging our good old U. S. dollars for Mexican pesos. Another "last" was drinking all the water we wanted. We had been warned by the officials that water in Mexico was not too good to drink, so soda pop was one of the main items on our diet while traveling "south of the border."

Monterey, Mexico, was our destination that night. A very romantic supper was eaten by the gang under the palms. The breeze was blowing gently, a very beautiful moon was shining, and music was being softly played in the background. For some odd reason they kept playing "I Get Ideas", and I had mine; yep, right in Laredo, Texas! On August 11, we ate at Victoria, Mexico, in a cafe that has the only ebony wood floor in the world.

We passed the Tropic of Cancer soon after that and hit the tropical jungles which, we found, were very beautiful. Banana trees, pineapple fields, parrots and other tropical flora and fauna met our astonished respective gazes as we traveled farther and farther into Central America.

When we found that we could buy 15 large bananas for 12 cents bananas became dessert for most of us. Soda pop and bananas you should try it sometime! The next day found us in the markets of Tamazunchale or "Tom and Charlie."

Sunday is market day and if you want to see how the poorer class of people make their living, just visit the Mexican markets.

August 13th: Everyone piled in the bus and headed for the center of the city. Here we all paired off into two or three. Street markets, leather shops, banks, postoffices and Sears and Roebuck were assigned to the different groups and we started off to see how each functioned in Mexico. All this, as we didn't try the taxi system, took a lot of walking, and I have never seen such a tired man as we twenty-six when we all crawled on the bus that evening.

Tasco, the silver capital of the world, was reached on the 14th. On the way there we stopped at Cuernavaca and saw the cathedral which was started in 1529. Near the cathedral are the Barden Gardens and Guadalupe church. Naturally, we couldn't go by without seeing them. In Tasco, we visited a jewelry factory. Everyone found this interesting as all the work is done by hand. Here for the first time we went, all twenty six strong, to a Mexican movie.

You should have seen Cortez's palace and the oldest pyramid in Mexico! We saw these on the 15th on our way back to Mexico City.

The national palace, cathedral, pawnshops and the Chapultepec castle were on the agenda for the 16th. This castle in Chapultepec was once used as an old Aztec fortress and was later used as the home for Spanish rulers and Mexican presidents. It has now been converted into a national museum. We rode the trolley going back to our hotel and the electricity went off while we were on it. About 30 minutes elapsed before it came back on again.

Puebla, 100 miles southeast of Mexico City, was our destination for August 17. We stopped at Chahuila which is located in a valley and is composed mainly of 365 churches. Three hundred sixty-three of these churches were built for the Spanish and two for the Indians. Only twenty of them are open each day, but all are open on special occasions.

Have you ever heard of the cathedral built on a pyramid? Well, we saw it. This church is unique in that it has a television antennae on it!

In Puebla we visited a pottery and onyx factory. It was very interesting to watch the workers mold the clay to the shape they desired.

August 18: We went out to the archeological zone of San Juan Teotihuacan. This is the location of the city of pyramids. These pyramids were built hundreds of years ago; no one knows the exact date, but the Indians have many legends about them. San Juan's zone covers an area of eight square miles in a little valley. Half of the pyramids have still to be uncovered. A strange feature of the pyramids is that they are connected by a street appropriately called "The Avenue of the Dead." What a strange feeling to walk down a deserted valley with strange buildings on either side of you!

All of the pyramids were built 15 degrees north of West. You can see that these Aztecs were a highly developed people in building, but as far as I can see that was about all. These pyramids were used for their human sacrifices!

We went to church at the Guadalupe Shrine in Mexico City on the 19th. They have a 100-voice male choir and one of the largest organs any of us had ever seen. Gold predominates in the color scheme of the church's interior.

After church we went to the floating gardens. These gardens consist of islands separated by a canal about seven or eight feet deep. Ferns and flowers cover the islands. The boats are decorated with flowers and are all named after a girl. Musicians in boats will sing to you—if you pay them—and women sell orchid corsages for one dollar along the banks. It takes about two hours to complete the ride.

At four o'clock we went to the bull fights, the national sport of Mexico. These fights are held each Sunday, and six bulls are killed each time.

August 20: We went to the Embassy building and were fortunate to have a conference with William O'Dwyer, the U. S. Ambassador to Mexico. He gave us a 30-minute speech which was very inspiring. The main point of his speech was "Do not call Mexico a backward country, but a new country!"

Council Holds Steak Fry

On the evening of October 1 fifteen forms could be seen moving back and forth before the fireplace north of Harnly. These shapes were carrying various sizes and shapes of kettles, bottles, and sacks.

No, these forms weren't ghosts, they were Women Council members and their sponsor, Dr. Mary Fee, having a steak fry. Each girl contributed part of the food, while Miss Fee furnished the steaks.

In case you're wondering what was in some of those containers, there was potato salad, baked beans, carrots and green peppers, chocolate milk, chocolate cake, and homemade ice cream plus bottles of catsup, pickles and other trimmings.

Before supper, Anita Rogers led the group in playing games and singing.

After supper, each girl staggered home with her belongings, not feeling nearly as empty nor nearly as well as she had a short time before!

Concert Series Will Not Be Held In McPherson
No community concert series will be held in McPherson this year. However, Prof. Lloyd Speers, Dean of the School of Music at Bethany College, invites all students interested to attend a series of five programs to be held at Lindbergh this winter.

A ticket for the whole series will cost $2.50. Among the numbers on the series will be a program by the Don Kossack Chorus and illustrations on Mount Palomar, where the world's largest telescope is found.

Cards were sent out to local citizens last spring concerning the continuing of a community concert series, and, although there has been excellent response from the students during the past years, there did not seem to be enough people in McPherson interested to hold a concert series.

Bulldogs Win Over Concordia Teachers

Last Friday, the McPherson Bulldogs outplayed and outmaneuvered a determined Concordia Teachers team from Seward, Nebraska, to the tune of 47 to 6. This win gave the Canines a 2 win and none loss record for the year.

The Bulldogs completely outclassed the Nebraska team which except in the final period never got deeper than the 30-yard line into McPherson territory. When Concordia scored Coach Woodard had most of his fourth team on the field.

Eddie Ball, the former McPherson High star, was the big gun in the McPherson College lineup in the first quarter. On the second play after Concordia kicked off, Ball took the ball and sidestepped his way through left tackle to go 61 yards to pay dirt. Eugene Elrod's attempted kick was blocked.

Later in the first quarter, Bob Kerr raced 29 yards for a first down on the Nebraska 18 yard stripe.

Gene Smith was thrown for four yards loss and then Ball took the ball on the 21-yard line and scored. Elrod's kick was good for the extra point.

Late in the first quarter, Concordia made two first downs in a row only to lose the ball on the McPherson 30. The Bulldogs took over, but lost the ball on a fumble on the 29 just before the period ended.

Kerr scored first for McPherson in the second quarter when he sidestepped his way for 21 yards through the Concordia team to cross the goal line.

Elrod's kick was no good for the extra point.

Later in the same period Ball clipped off 19 yards and a first down on the Nebraska 33. Kerr carried the ball to the 25 and Howard Mehlinger passed to Ball for 23 yards and a first down to the 2-yard stripe. Kerr then went over for the touchdown. Elrod's kick was good for the extra point. At the end of the half the scoreboard showed the score to be in favor of the Canines 26-0.

McPherson's first TD in the third period was setup when the Bulldogs blocked a Nebraska punt and recovered the ball on the Nebraska 4. After a few ground plays, Kerr broke for 10 yards and a first down on the Concordia 17. Smith, Ball and Kerr pushed the ball to the Concordia 3-yard stripe and then Kerr went over for the tally. Bob Wilson kicked the goal for the extra point. A Concordia punt was blocked by Eddie Franz, a freshman from Conway Springs, Kansas, and McPherson recovered on the Concordia 17-yard stripe. Mehlinger then passed to Don Hoch for 16 yards and a first down on the 3-yard marker. Hoch made another yard off tackle and then Bob Bean smashed over from the 2-yard line to score. Wilson again kicked the goal for the extra point.

Later in the final period, the Bulldogs recovered a Concordia

Sports As Seen— By Jay

You might be interested in knowing that three of our Mecon College track stars, placed very commendably in the upper ranks of the Midwest National Inter-Collegiate Track and Field Championships at Emporia last June.

Dale Carpenter placed second in the Broad Jump with a distance of 22'7 1/2". Dave Metzler set a new McPherson College record in the Half-Mile event with a time of 1:58.5 to rate a third place in the event.

Hob Bechtel also set a new Macollege record when he placed fourth in the Two Mile with a time of 9:51.5. These fellows deserve a round of applause because they competed against teams from 12 different states.

The Macollege baseball team of last spring will long be remembered here in McPherson. Here is a quote from the summer bulletin: "The Bulldog baseball team made athletic history this spring by completing the best season in McPherson's baseball history. The team played 13 games and won 10 of them."

This team defeated Emporia State behind the pitching of Bill Moore, who won four games and first down on a 13-yard dash. Hoch clipped off three more and Bean another yard to the five. Mehlinger then passed to Clive Sharpe in the end zone to score. John Robinson kicked the goal for the extra point.

Late in the fourth period Seever passed to Richard Walthor for 24 yards and a first down for Concordia on the McPherson 30-yard line. Beck made seven yard through the line and Wendt three more and a first down on the 20. Concordia was penalized five yards for being offside, and then Omar Dittmer passed to Walthor who went over to score. Seever attempted to kick the goal for the extra tally but it was no good.

was undefeated during the season. Glen Gayer won five games and lost only one to show his stuff as a freshman. Chuck Petefish led the team in batting with a fat .455 average.

Loren Blickenstaff and Earl Grindie, captain, turned in some nice batting performances to aid the team's offense. Some of the top defensive players were Wayne Blickenstaff at first base, Roland Delay at second base, and Gene Smith in center field.

Every man on the team came through with his share of good playing. Three cheers for this great team.

The tennis courts have been getting a workout when the weather permits. Bring your lob shot and your broken strings and come on out and join us some afternoon. Jerry Neher seems to be an ace ping pong player. He challenges anyone of his size to a game in the recreation room of the gym.

One Hundred Students Attend Folk Game Party

Between seventy-five and one hundred students participated in the Folk Game Party which was held at the Gym after the football game Friday night. The evening was spent playing folk games directed by Elsie Kindley.

Professor and Mrs. Milton Dell were sponsors at the party in absence of the regular Social Committee Sponsors. The party was planned by the School Social Committee.

1951 Baseball Team Wins 13, Loses 3

Macollege 1951 baseball team ended its spring season with 13 wins and 3 losses. Although the team was upset in the first round of the Kansas Conference tournament by Bethany, the season was the best in many years.

Coach Dick Wareham's Bulldogs were upset twice by Bethany. Emporia State gave the other defeat.

Macollege had an eight-game winning streak before Bethany upset the team's "applicart" in the conference tournament. The Bulldogs beat the defending conference champs at College of Emporia by 25 to 2 and scuttled Emporia State in a return game here.

This was the second season in a row that Macollege has upset the Central Conference champions.

Coach Wareham's team showed superiority to its opponents in all fields, outpitching them .278 to .217, outfielding them .899 to .885 and outpitching them.

The Bulldog pitchers had a combined earned run average of 3.86, compared with 7.25 for their opponents.

Glen Gayer, local righthander, dominated the pitching staff with five wins against one loss and topped the staff with a 2.28 earned run average. Gayer also pitched the most innings, 43 1/3.

Bill Moore, the fastballing senior from Chicago, shared honors with Gayer. Moore, who usually drew the tougher pitching assignments, received credit on the winning side for four pitching decisions, led the team in strikeouts with 43 and held the opposition to a combined batting average of .194.

Bulldogs Improve Football Record

A copy of last year's Sept. 15 Spectator painted a rosy picture indeed of the football picture at Macollege when it stated, "Subtract the series with Sterling, and McPherson College would have a losing streak of 24 consecutive games and no non-conference wins since 1941."

This was the situation as Coach Woodard entered the picture last year.

Oblivious of past records and backed by an enthusiastic group of supporters, his Bulldogs compiled a record of 3 wins against 5 de-

For the second season in a row, Charlie Petefish, the slouch-stated shortstop from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, led the club at bat. Chuck Whacked a torrid .455 with 25 hits in 55 times at bat, and also was the club leader in triples, homers, total bases and runs batted in.

Coach Wareham had four regulars hitting better than .300 — Chuck Petefish, Loren Blickenstaff at .341; Earl Grindie at .327 and Glen Gayer at .319.

Blickenstaff was the club's base-running star, scoring 19 runs and stealing 13 bases. Grindie topped the team with six doubles and was runner-up to Petefish with 15 runs batted in.
