

Mac Students To Observe Annual Sadie Hawkins' Day

Macollege students, male and female, are again observing the annual and traditional Sadie Hawkins' Day. The males are the pursued and wily females are the pursuers as the students attempt to reenact "Dogpatch Days" as presented by Cartoonist Al Capp.

THE BEGINNING

Sadie Hawkins' beginneth on the twenty-fifth day of Oct. in the year 1951 of our Lord. The by-laws have been laid and persecution shall fall upon those who do not comply.

There are thus stated:
1. Female pursuiteth male.
2. The pursuit shall commence on the twelfth and one-half hour, Thursday, Oct. 25, with the assembling of both sexes on the end of the gridiron.

3. Men have advantage of ten paces in the starting line-up.
4. At the shot of the cannon the race is on.

5. For one hour from the above stated time, there shall be an open free-for-all at which time the pursued shall not enter a building or leave the premises of the campus. Any man found within the boundary of a wall within this hour can be legally caught by seizure. Failing to adhere to this regulation the pursued has the authority to establish claim on the pursued.
6. From this point the chase will be continued until high noon on Friday, Oct. 26.

7. The procedure for catching a man will be hereto limited by:
a. Not over six rambunctious females to one defenseless male—unless accompanied by a responsible faculty member.

b. The hunted is safe within the walls of all campus buildings after the hour free-for-all, as no female can chase or drag them from the above realms. The penalty is the catch becoming null and void.
c. Last, but not least, due to the severe drought in California, no water shall be used for drowning of the opposite sex.

8. To legalize the catch, both male and female must present themselves to the license bureau located on the Arnold Hall veranda for purchase of a two-cent marriage license, and a twenty-five cent refreshment fee, to be presented as admittance to the grand finale Saturday night. Licenses can be purchased at the gridiron for all those uncatched and those that didn't catch. All singles pay whole sum total of twenty-five cents, so it pays to catch and be caught.

THE CONCLUSION
The Sadie Hawkins' Party will be in the gym, Saturday night, Oct. 27, at 7:45. Girls, be sure you don't forget your dates' corsages. Jerry McConkey is chairman of the Foods committee, Don West, Faye Ellen Trostle, and Glenn Bellah are the other members of the committee.
The chairman of the Recreation and Program committee is Wayne Blickenstaff. The other members on the committee are Velva Wagner, Gerald Neher, and Elsie Kindley.
Don Fike is the chairman of the Decoration Committee. Alice Flory, Bob Hampshire, and La-Faugh Hubbard are the committee members.
WPA Week is Oct. 28 to Nov. 3. More plans for this week will be announced later.
Everyone is to wear a costume to the Sadie Hawkins' Party.
There will be judges of the costumes, and prizes for the best ones. So don't forget to come as Daisy Mae, Lil Abner, or some other Dogpatch character.

Craig Arrives On Macampus

Our latest addition to our swelling number of foreign students arrived upon the campus last Sunday. He is James Craig from Katsina, Northern Province, Nigeria, W. Africa.

The trip from his home in Africa to Macollege took three months. He traveled by boat to New York where his mode of transportation changed to the train.

Craig is a freshman in college and plans to major in Rural Life.

Before coming to America he attended high school at Kings College at Lagos, Nigeria and the Teachers Training Center at Zaria, Nigeria. He taught elementary school in Jos, Nigeria which is a city of 30,000 population.

He speaks very good English and says he has spoken English all his life.

He also speaks the Hausa language which is the native tongue of the northern tribe in Nigeria of which he is a member.

Thanks To You

The Spectator Homecoming float took third place and the prize of five dollars.

We want to thank all the staff, reporters and others for their cooperation in making our float a success.

Especially do we want to thank those who were directly responsible for the actual planning and work on the float.

These persons include: Lorene Marshall, Marjorie McClung, Sarah May Vancil, Dale Birkenholtz, La-Faugh Hubbard, Esther Kemper, Ruth Papa, Faye Ellen Trostle, Esther Mohler, Kenneth Brown and Margaret Yost.

Macollege student ministers will present a program at an old folk's home in McPherson Sunday, Oct. 21. Beryl McCann and Leland Willey are in charge of planning the program.

The group will meet at 2:30 p. m. in the SUR.

Bob Boyer and Bob Powell are making plans for the student ministers to attend early morning mass at the Catholic Church. The date for this visit has not been set.

At the meeting Oct. 2, Robert Fryman was elected to replace Don Ford on the steering committee. Other members of the steering committee are Walter Blough and Alvin Zunkel.

Dean James M. Berkhile spoke on "The Virtues of a Student Minister Should Possess."

The student ministers invites other students to take part in their activities. Members of the steering committee may be contacted by those interested in the program at the old folk's home or in the visit to the Catholic Church.

Students Invited To Visit Faculty Homes

Faculty members are opening their homes for student visiting tonight, 7:30-10:30. Students may get a schedule of the homes to be visited from Social Committee members in the SUR at 7:30 p. m.

THANKS A LOT!

To all the W. A. A. members who helped make the float, the Queen's throne, and the concession stand at the game a success, thank you a lot.

It was only through the cooperation of each of you that we were able to do these things.

Also special thanks go to Betty Ann Murray and Donna Sooly for all the extra help they gave us at the concession stand.

Govt. Students Will Visit District Court

The students of U. S. Government class, taught by Professor Raymond Flory, will attend a district court session Monday morning, Oct. 22.

The class is studying government agencies and expenditures. They plan to attend legislative sessions in Topeka soon.

Bible Is Honored October 15-21

The world's most famous book—the Bible—is being honored throughout the nation this week from October 15-21. The Laymen's National Committee, sponsors of National Bible Week, urge everyone to make the week an occasion for special prayer, a period in which to plant in the hearts of everyone belief and faith in God, and our American way of life.

Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota is National Chairman for Bible week. He urges all civic and religious organizations in the community to concentrate on Bible week.

"The Bohemian Girl" Is Austrian Opera

"The Bohemian Girl," an opera by Balfe, which will be presented by Macollege dramatics club Nov. 15, takes place in Austria in the 18th Century.

The story is about Arline, the daughter of Count Arnhelm, who is kidnapped by a roving band of gypsies when she is but a small child.

The second act takes place twelve years later when Arline and one of the gypsy tribe are married by the jealous queen who plans revenge. Arline is accused of theft and brought before her father's court. When recognized by her father she is restored to her rightful position.

In the third act her father agrees to her marriage to the gypsy, who is of noble birth, and the jealous queen is killed by her own cunning.

District Elects Zeller Moderator

New moderator for the Southwest District of Kansas in 1952 is Rev. Harry K. Zeller, Jr., pastor of the College Church of the Brethren.

Rev. Zeller was elected at Annual District Conference held at St. John, Kansas, in The Eden Valley Church of the Brethren, October 12-14.

Guest speaker at the conference was Edward K. Ziegler, evangelistic director for the Church of the Brethren.

New district CBYF officers were also elected. Those who will continue in office for another year will be Bryce Miller, president; Eula Mae Murray, secretary-treasurer; Lorene Clark, editor; and Faye Bowman, editor.

Officers are Kenneth Brown, president-elect; Almota Ramsey, secretary-elect; and Darius Miller, editor-elect.

As a climax to the conference, a McPherson College program was presented on Sunday afternoon, October 14. The McPherson College Ladies' Quartet, composed of Phyllis Bowman, Florence Hale, Ruth Crumacker, and Claudia Jo Stump, sang several selections.

Dean Berkhile gave an address on the progress of McPherson College.

Last spring the first faculty open house was sponsored by the Social Committee. The committee reports that student and faculty reaction favored another open house this year early in the fall.

The Social Committee recommends this evening of visiting as a chance for students to see their professors in their homes with their families.

At the recommendation of the Social Committee no refreshments will be served.

Faculty homes have been listed in order of the distance from the campus. To avoid having large groups at any one home at the same time, students will be assigned the order in which they are to visit the homes on the home at which they are to begin.

The committee recommends visits of from ten to fifteen minutes in each home so that the students may visit all of the homes which will be open.

Since a few professors have previous engagements, the committee requests that students participating in the visitation get a list of homes from the SUR and follow that schedule.

Jake Shaffer is chairman of the Social Committee. Other members are Elsie Kindley, Ina Dittmers, Peggy Sargent, Glendon Button, Dick Wareham, and Sarah May Vancil.

Cast Is Chosen For One-Act Play

The cast for "The Terrible Meek," Players' Club production for Regional Conference, has been announced.

Marlin Walters will play the captain's part. The soldier will be played by Glenn Bellah. Donna Phelan will take the part of the woman.

Judges for the try-outs were: Mrs. Harry K. Zeller, Miss Virginia Harris, and Prof. Roy E. McAuley.

Three more one-act plays will be presented this year and also a three-act play. Many more students will have opportunity to take acting parts in these plays.

Ladies Trio Tours Middle Northwest

Members of the college Ladies Trio, Marilee Grove, Anita Rogers, and Donna Waggoner, their accompanist, Berwyn Olman, and sponsor, Bob Myers, left at 10 this morning for a 10-day fall tour of Brethren churches.

Churches included in the trio's itinerary are Enders, Nebr., Froid, Mont., Minn., N. Dak., York, N. Dak., Cando, N. Dak., Carrington, N. Dak., Guthrie, Minn., Barnum, Minn., Minneapolis, Minn., and Worthington, Minn. Enroute from Enders to Froid the group plans to drive through the Black Hills.

Macollege Is Proud

It was a thrill to see so many out for the Homecoming game last Saturday. We feel sure that there were many and varied reasons why so many attended the game and also had such a fine spirit during the whole of Homecoming.

Possibly the main reasons could be these:

The athletic program has been on the up-grade ever since Coach "Woody" Woodard has come to the college. With his efficient teaching and coaching system and his superior coaching staff the whole athletic program has gone far ahead of some of our expectations.

The calibre of the teaching staff of the college has been improved much during the past few years and we feel sure this, too, has helped in the progress of Macollege.

We would not belittle the unique spirit that has caught the students and faculty alike in its grip. This spirit, termed "the family spirit" by President Bittinger and others, has done more to mould the students and faculty into a well-formed coordinated group than has all the contributing factors.

Macollege is proud of her students and faculty, her greatly improving athletic program and superior teaching faculty, and of the fine spirit with which the members of "the family" unite together in work, study, worship and play. D. T. F.

A Lament On Sadie Hawkins'

To flee, or not to flee; that is the question
Whether 'tis better in the chase to suffer
The glares and torments of outrageous females,
Or to give in amidst a horde of chasers,
And by submitting end all? To trip; to fall;
Just once; and by a fall to say we end
The back-ache and the thousand painful shocks
The chased is heir to, 'tis a situation
Devoutly to be wished. To trip, to fall;
To fall; perchance by fate: ay, there's the rub;
For in that fall of fate what hags may pounce
When we have lost all hope of liberty,
Must give us chills: there's the respect
That makes Sadie Hawkins' of so great dread!

Trustees Change Medical Plans

The college trustees voted to change the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Hospitalization and Medical Expense Plans of the faculty members and their families. Previously the faculty has paid the entire amount of dues on these plans. The trustees voted to pay one-fourth of the total expenses on dues of the faculty who are members or wish to become members of Blue Cross and/or Blue Shield.

Both Blue Cross and Blue Shield are National Medical Expense Plans, endorsed by hospitals and doctors. Several faculty members benefited from these plans during the last year.

Bulldogs Work In Cannery

Last spring several of us male students from Macollege heard about the possibility of going to Oregon to work in the pea canneries. We wrote letters to a few companies and finally decided upon one cannery which is called the Utah Canning Company. Seven of us decided to go out for the summer.

We arrived at Milton-Freewater, Ore., at different intervals. Some of us rode the bus, while others "rode the thumb." The seven who arrived ready for work the first week of the canning season were Bob Bechtel, Dave Metzler, Bob Powell, Maurice Richards, Loren Prantz, Eugene Neff, and Bob Wilson.

We were shown our places of residence in which we were going to spend the nights of the canning season. They were small brick cabins in which four boys were supposed to stay. They were furnished with bunk beds, a table, and a shelf cabinet.

When we started to work, we were not acquainted with the cannery and the warehouse. These interested all of us very much.

During the first week we called Loren Blickenstaff at his home in Nampa, Idaho, and asked him to come up. He came up and that made a total of eight boys from McPherson. We had the most fellows from any college which was represented there. Some of the other colleges represented were Pacific University, Arizona State, and Oregon State.

All of us were put on stacking crews except Eugene Neff. He worked at night in the cannery. The rest of us worked in the warehouse in the daytime. At least, we were supposed to work during the day; but after the cannery got into full swing of operation, we were there until 11 and 12 many nights although we went to work at 7 a.m.

We batched; but since we really didn't have too much time to cook our meals, we really got tired of lunch meat and tuna fish which seemed to be very popular among us for sandwiches. When we had time, however, we would have pretty good meals. The male cooking talent which Macollege has in its midst is quite surprising.

The work of the stacking crews was primarily to stack cases of peas in the warehouse. This was pretty strenuous work, and we usually didn't stack over eight hours a day. The rest of the time we loaded and unloaded cans, and labeled orders of peas for dealers.

The nearest town, Walla Walla, Wash., was 12 miles from Milton-Freewater. They had excellent swimming pools and theaters, and we would take advantage of our spare moments by going to Walla Walla. We went to church on Sunday if we had Sunday morning off.

Household duties such as our washing and the cleaning of our cabins took part of our time, and these things usually came first before our recreation.

Our work was hard, and we worked long hours, but not everything was work. We had water fights which sometimes ended by someone's getting thrown into the cooling tank. There was a basketball goal in one of the warehouses, and the company had a couple of basketballs. Once in a while we would choose up sides and have a game.

We had the pleasure of working with some foreign boys. Several were from Hawaii. They were students at either Oregon

State or Pacific University. Our standard dress was a pair of gym trunks, swimming suit, or something very similar, and tennis shoes. That dress afforded comfort to our feet on the cement floors, and also it was cool.

The cases of peas were piled into stacks which had as many as 10,000 cases in them. If you ask any of the boys, they will probably tell you how we stacked the peas; and they will probably add some of their personal experiences.

The weather was very agreeable. The temperature never got above 95 degrees. Even that temperature must have been rather hot for the location, because the native residents complained about how hot it was when none of us Bulldogs even noticed it.

The chigger is non-existent there. Three-fourths of the people don't know what chiggers are. Because there are practically no mosquitoes, we found it was very pleasant to lie on the grass in the evenings; that is, if we had any time.

Wanted! A Jeep

"Do you have an amphibious jeep for sale?" Dr. Hess would like to have one. At least, the all-believing Chevrolet dealer apologized for not having one when Dr. Hess asked him that question.

While travelling near Sawyer, Kansas, on the weekend of October 6 and 7, Dr. Hess found need to cross Sand Creek with his automobile. At this hour water was flowing over the bed of the particular bridge that awaited him.

Willing to test the depth of the water, Dr. Hess cautiously ventured the vehicle into the water. The water reached only to the hubcaps, and calculating that under normal conditions nothing could deter his progress, he pressed the car on across the stream.

But this bridge did not observe normal conditions. Suddenly an abrupt dip in the bridge lowered the car into the stream up to the top of the tires.

Water threatened the engine, and with the service of a few enduring cylinders the faithful 1951 Chevrolet engine chugged on to victory.

Freshmen Wonder About Green Caps

"Where are our green caps?" is what the freshmen are saying. "Don't doff that tradition!"

In a burst of old-time school spirit, the University of Kansas has put the traditional beanie back on the heads of freshman. But it's strictly voluntary now. The days of "murder the frosh because he forgot his bonnet" are gone, commented the University Daily Kansan.

The Union director said, "I hope, however, the freshmen will think enough of the University of Kansas to want to wear freshman caps."

Meanwhile, at Wayne State Teachers College, Nebraska, the beanies have been unceremoniously disposed of.

What is the case here at Macollege? Freshmen would like to know.

Czaplinsky Family Asks Help From Mac Students

Mr. and Mrs. Vladimir Czaplinsky and their two boys are new members of the McPherson community. They arrived on June 1 and are trying to learn English and American ways of living.

The Social Action Committee of the Church of the Brethren in McPherson had made a request to the Brethren Service Center, New Windsor, Maryland, that they be sent a D. P. family. On Wednesday, May 30, 1951, a telegram was received saying the family had arrived and would be here on the following Friday.

A job and a house had already been provided, but as yet the house was unfurnished. After much rushing they found furniture and other necessary equipment for the house. The family arrived on Friday, June 1.

The family is from the Ukraine, and consists of four members. The father is 50 years old, and his name is Vladimir. His wife is 29, and her name is Vera. They have two boys George, age 7 and Eugene, age 6.

At present the boys are attending Harmony school which is about one-fourth mile east of their home.

The family speaks three different languages: Russian, Polish, and German. They had always spoken Russian until during the Nazi regime. They escaped to Poland and had to learn Polish in order not to be discovered.

Since the children have started to school the family seems to be learning English better. They would like for the college students to help teach them English. In return they will help the students with their German.

Before the Czaplinsky family came to the United States, Mr. Czaplinsky was in charge of a dairy farm in Poland.

He was not too well acquainted with the use of modern machinery, but has been able to overcome this to a great extent.

When the family first arrived, the heat bothered them somewhat, as it was quite different from their homeland. They are very much frightened by electrical storms.

Mr. Czaplinsky is employed by Rex Curtis. He is assisting in farm work.

The strength of a country or creed lies in the true sense of loyalty it can arouse in the hearts of its people.—Rev. L. C. Gerstein.

"Bulldogs" Suffer First Loss As C. of E. Upsets Mac 30-19

The McPherson College Homecoming fans were given a real treat Saturday night at the Macollege football stadium. An estimated 4½ thousand persons saw a rough and tumble game between the Bulldogs and the College of Emporia Presbies. It was an exciting game, however the Presbies upset the Bulldogs 30-19.

The weather was wonderful Saturday night. The crowd was the largest ever to attend a football game in McPherson, and the Bulldogs played the game for all they were worth.

But when the McPherson crowd filed out of the stadium after the game, the gloom in the air was heavy enough to have been cut with a knife.

The reason for all this unhappiness was that the McPherson Bulldogs had suffered their first loss of the season by being dumped roughly by the Presbies from Emporia 30-19.

The Bulldogs started wheeling and dealing from the opening kickoff and scored a touchdown nearly every time they came in possession of the pigskin.

The Canines kicked off to the Presbies who moved the ball in a couple of quick plays to the McPherson 31-yard line. But then the Bulldog line dug in, and the Presbies lost the pigskin on downs on the McPherson 27-yard line.

This set the stage for the Canines' first TD. The Bulldogs advanced the ball to the Emporia 48 in two first downs in a row. Here Cannonball Ball and Gene Smith took over and carried the ball to the Presbies' 21 and a first down.

Wayne Blickenstaff then called for a pass, which he threw to Co-Captain Bob Kerr. Kerr made a beautiful one-handed catch of the ball right on the goal line to score McPherson's first tally.

Gene Elrod attempted the kick for the extra point, but failed as the ball went wide of the uprights.

A little later in the same period Jim Naughton, a fast Presbie back, broke away from the Bulldog defensive team for a gain of 38 yards to put the oval on the McPherson 2-yard stripe. On the next play Myers smashed over the center of the line to draw first blood for Emporia.

Automatic Beeson kicked the extra point, and Emporia went into the lead 7 to 6.

Emporia punted and Kerr, following some good interference, sidestepped his way to the Presbies' 36; and the Bulldogs started another drive that was to net them another 6-pointer.

With Smith, Ball, and Blickenstaff leading the ball the Bulldogs drove to the Presbies' 29; and then Ball did some broken field running; after dodging a host of Emporia would-be tacklers, he crossed the final yard marker to score.

Elrod again attempted to kick the extra point but failed.

Going into the second period, the Bulldogs were leading 12 to 7. Then Loren Blickenstaff, who played a great defensive game for Coach Woodard, blocked an Emporia punt; and the Bulldogs recovered on the Presbies' 27.

With Dale Carpenter and Eddie Ball running, the Bulldogs advanced the ball to the Emporia 13. From here Ball again scooted through the Emporia defensive to rack up his second touchdown for the evening and put his team out in front 18 to 7.

Bob Wilson then came in to kick the extra point, and the Bulldogs led 19 to 7.

Late in the second quarter Lem Harkey, a colored freshman from Lawton, Okla., and Kenneth Long of Manhattan started to click for the Presbies. These two lads were thorns in the McPherson defensive lineup the rest of the evening.

Harkey returned a McPherson kickoff 37 yards to the Bulldogs'

47. From there quarterback Long called on Myers and Harkey to do some running, and they did not fall him. In two first downs they advanced the ball to the Canines' 7-yard marker.

Harkey then took a handoff from Long and danced his way around the Bulldogs left end to score for the Presbies. Beeson came into the ballgame and calmly kicked the extra point.

The half ended with the Canines out in front 19 to 14.

Emporia kicked off at the start of the second half, and McPherson started off with a bang by making three large gains on the ground.

Then something happened to the Canines that broke every Bulldog rooter's heart the rest of the evening. Coach Woodard's football team developed an acute case of fumble-itis.

The Bulldogs just could not hang on to the ball. The ball would squirt out of the ball handler's hand as if it were a wet piece of soap. The Presbies recovered the pigskin, and after a few ground plays, Emporia punted to the McPherson 4-yard stripe. Wayne Blickenstaff, after calling for a couple of ground plays which did not bring the Bulldogs much yardage, called for a punt.

The ball club from Emporia then started a drive on ground plays with Harkey, Naughton, and Long carrying the oval. The Presbies moved to the Bulldogs' one-foot line and here the Canines dug in and fought for their lives and held the Emporia club to no gains for two consecutive plays.

Then Harkey fairly flew over the center of the line to put the Presbies out in front for the rest of the classic. Beeson's kick was no good.

Later in the period Emporia recovered a tumble by Kerr on the McPherson 24. Myers, Long, and Harkey pushed the ball to the 10-yard line, and from here Beeson place-kicked a field goal for three

Six Teams Still In Lead

The same six teams that held the top positions last week were still ahead in the running by Monday evening, Oct. 15.

Two of the teams, Metsker (5-1) and Sheaffer (5-1), were to play later in the week, but Monday night, the four other teams were matched.

At 7:30, W. Blickenstaff (5-1) tangled horns with the Faculty team (5-1), and after three games had been played, the Blickenstaff team emerged the winner.

Then at 8:15, Petefish (6-0) met head on with Sharpe (7-9). After the smoke had cleared from this round, the Sharpe team held the edge 2-1.

Many other teams are now showing much improvement, and no one can be sure of a lead. One thing we can be sure of though, everyone is having fun!

Bulldog "B" Lose To Presbies 31-13

The Macollege B team journeyed to Emporia last Monday evening for a football game on the College of Emporia's gridiron. The score of the game was 31 to 13.

The Emporia team sported a vicious passing attack which accounted for most of the Presbies' scoring.

Bulldog ground plays, which did show up rather well, produced twice. Bob Bean and Bob Cyphert scored for McPherson. Elrod attempted both extra points and made good in one. Bob Wilson kicked off for McPherson.

Those who reported for the trip to Emporia were: Jim Batson, Bob Bean, Dick Carter, Bob Cyphert, Leonard Doughty, Laverne Eck, Eugene Elrod, Bill Goering, Paul Heidebrecht, Don Hoe, Calvin Hock, Duane Jamison, Joseph Johns, Jim Kerns, Ken McMurray, Howard Mehlinger, Harvey Miller, Milton Molz, Bill Moore, Vernon Petefish, Jim Sears, Tom Taylor, Howard Todd, and Bob Wilson.

Early in the final quarter Emporia made a first down on the Canines 38 but lost the ball on downs when the Bulldog's defensive line stiffened. Then the Bulldogs punted and John Hart took the ball on the return and ran along the sidelines for 53 yards to tally for the Presbies, putting them ahead 11 great big points.

Beeson again kicked the goal for the extra point to end the scoring for both teams in a game that had held many thrills. Although the Bulldogs went down in defeat, they had played a great game.

"Bulldogs" Will Encounter K. W. "Coyotes" Saturday

Saturday night Coach "Woody" Woodard and his fighting Bulldog squad will leave their home field and journey to Kansas Wesleyan, where they will meet the Coyotes at Martin Stadium at 8:30.

The Coyotes will be out to show their stuff for Saturday night is Homecoming for the ball club of Coach Wally Forsberg.

Last year the Ottawa Braves shut out the Coyotes' chances of winning the homecoming tilt by the score of 16-0. The rumor has it that the Wesleyan club does not want this to happen again.

The Bulldogs will be out to quench their thirst for another victory this weekend after losing their homecoming classic to the Emporia Presbies Saturday night.

Coach Woodard's Bulldogs will be shooting for a win over the Coyotes, who beat them 20-19 in last year's meeting between the two ball clubs. When the gun went off at the end of the game, the Bulldogs were just three short yards from a very important six-pointer, that would have given them the game.

Although the Coyotes are not as strong as they were last season, they have been giving their grid opponents a great deal of trouble.

Coach Forsberg has 11 lettermen around whom he has built his 1951 grid offering to the Kansas Conference.

Harold Frazell, 180-pound athlete, has lettered in football, basketball, and track; Ronnie Gillan, a sophomore, at K.W.U., wheels and deals from the quarterback slot for the Coyotes.

Bert Hiltcock, a five-foot-six and one-half inch, 165-pounder, is a returned letterman from Burlington, Colo. Don Johnson, a Salina High graduate is playing his third year. Gaile Keeling, a six-foot two and one-half inch letterman, is playing his fourth year of varsity ball. He received the K-C-AC football honorable mention in 1950.

Kenard Kelly is a senior from St. Francis where he won letters in football, basketball, and track. Kelly will be in one of the terminal spots at game time Saturday evening.

Clancy King halls from Junction City where his football playing won him a berth on the all CKL team. Clancy maneuvers in the backfield for the Wesleyan club.

Phil Nemeth has lettered for Coach Forsberg his last two years

Sports As Seen By Jay

The intra-mural volleyball teams are stronger this year than ever before. One of the main reasons for this is that the fellows have given the girls a chance to play and have found that most of them do a pretty good job of holding down their position. Good teamwork by all has given many teams their strength.

The chief statistician and head manager for the athletic program is Bob Augsburg. Bob does his job well and is appreciated very much by players and coaches. He is a handy man around the analgesic table and the training table.

Our two other managers are Glenn Gayer and Ed Rhine, who do plenty of work to make our football season a success. They deserve a lot of credit for their interest, time and efforts.

Charles Selden, the tornado from Clyde, Kans., is in the backfield again this season after playing some great ball for the Coyotes last year. Charles is 21, weighs 190 pounds, and is a running ace with letters in football and track.

Besides the lettermen, Coach Forsberg has 25 other capable men from whom to pick to field a grid team against the Bulldogs tomorrow night.

The Bulldogs are favored to come out on top of the dog pile in the scoring column tomorrow night. The Canines have been playing some great ball this season. Coach Woodard is again demonstrating his ability to put together a group of men that will work together like a well-oiled machine.

The Wesleyan Coyotes have not been having a very good year, but any team is tough on its homecoming tilt. The game tomorrow night should be a great one.
